Today

One Election Over
Paderewski Is 75
Guy Fawkes Day
News From Ethiopia

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1935, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright and all other rights reserved.

The news columns tell you about the election. Politicans will tell you the meaning of the election. If it goes their way it will mean everything, if not it will mean nothing.

President Roosevelt voted with Mrs. Roosevelt and his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, who is eighty years old.

The President's mother was surprised when the election clerk asked him who he was. It took the President less than half a minute to vote what was probably a straight ticket.

A reverend colored gentleman in New York's Harlem, named "Father Devine," called "God" by his followers, feared that his followers would not be allowed to vote. They had registered under new "heavenly" names, such as "Willing Jeremiah," "Gracious New Haven," "Beautiful Delight" and insisted on voting under those names.

The election board was puzzled, but "Beautiful Delight" and the others were allowed to vote, after they registered their real names.

One lady from "Father Devine's Kingdom" almost refused to vote when she gave her name as "Loveliness Rest" and was asked "what's your right name?" It was necessary to change the name of Miss "Cinnear Hart" to read "Sincere Heart." After that everything went smoothly.

"Father Devine" appeared in person, crying, "Peace."

Today Paderewski celebrates his 75th birthday; his Polish compatriots and all the world will celebrate with him. A man of great dignity and courage, as well as musical genius of the highest rank, Paderewski represents admirably the Polish nation that has produced so many men of true greatness, including Copernicus, who informed the human race that it lives on a little ball revolving around a big sun and is by no means the center of the universe.

When he first came to the United States, Paderewski told the writer of his experience as a boy, when he requested a great German violin teacher to give him lessons. The teacher listened, then said:

"Young man, you will never be a musician. So, play the piano. Do not attempt the violin."

Paderewski did play the piano; had he insisted on the violin he might have been as great as Paganini.

Yesterday was Guy Fawkes Day. English children still recite "Remember, remember, the fifth of November, the gunpowder, treason and plot," more than three hundred years after Guy Fawkes failed to blow up the House of Commons.

For a powerful study of an interesting character, read Hazlitt's account of Guy Fawkes. An earnest, religious fanatic, he believed that he would serve his Creator by killing off British members of Parliament.

Torture was necessary to make Fawkes confess the names of his confederates. The torture, so terrible that he could hardly sign his confession, was ordered by King James.

Fawkes was so weak after he had been drawn "on a hurdle from the Tower to the Parliament House," where he was executed, that he needed help in climbing the ladder to the scaffold.

He had stored under the House of Commons enough gunpowder to blow up several "Commons."

Rome gives confirmation of the slaughter of six thousand women and children by Ethiopian warriors taking vengeance on the fathers of the children who deserted to Italy. Rome also reports the killing of 500 Ethiopians by Italian bombing planes and "an attempt to assassinate Haile Selassie by an unnamed American Negro."

Haile Selassie of Ethiopia has "flung the last available man into the battle line," relying on old men, young boys and women to run his government, reminding you of the late Czar's announcement that he was going to send "his last moujik." He did not live to do that.

Selassie has not yet carried out his plan to shed his blood on the battlefields, but expects to go soon.

The difficulty is to find "the front," which sometimes takes the form of airplanes overhead, sometimes of tanks that roll over everything they meet.

Richard the Lion Hearted, himself, could not do much if he were Emperor of Ethiopia. But Haile Selassie will go and shed some blood as soon as other things are attended to.

The Emperor's wife will go with him when he starts to fight. She thinks she ought to

Continued on Page 2, Column 5

Lynn High School Boy Jailed in Slaying

PRESIDENT CALVIN COOLIDGE, addressing the tenth semi-annual meeting of the business organization of the government. Washington, D. C., January 30, 1926.

"Past experience has shown that a reduction of taxes has been followed by increased prosperity. As the volume of business increases the federal revenue increases . . . thrift is the material groundwork on which the whole fabric of society rests."

THE WEATHER

Fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight with lowest temperature near 40; west to northwest winds.

High tides 9:45 a. m., 7:10 p. m. Sun rises 6:23; sets 4:53. Light all vehicles at 5:02.

A. M. TEMPERATURES

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| BOSTON ..... | 39 | Chicago ..... | 34 |
| Washington ... | 34 | San Francisco . | 48 |
| New York ..... | 36 | Los Angeles ... | 52 |

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER
The only Boston evening newspaper with three direct news services—Associated Press, International News Service and Universal Service
VOL. XXXII—NO. 194
Copyright, 1935, by N. E. Newspaper Publishing Co.
Entered as second-class matter at Boston Postoffice.
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1935 PRICE 2 CENTS ZONE PRICE 3 CENTS

DEFEAT STUNS DEMOCRATS; RECOUNTS DEMANDED HERE

LYNN BOY, 16, ACCUSED OF MURDER

Howard Goodell, 16, Lynn English High sophomore, deliberately shot and killed a boy companion who taunted him about being a poor marksman, police charged today.

He was jailed without bail on a charge of murder. Howard Jones, 17, of Cedar street, Lynn, was the victim, shot through the head yesterday following target practice in the Lynn woods.

Hysterically sobbing, the accused boy cried:

"I didn't mean to shoot him! It was an accident.

"I tripped and the gun went off."

TWO GIRLS SHOT

The murder charge, a surprise move, followed announcement by the Lynn authorities that 10 days ago Goodell shot two young Lynn girls with an air rifle.

These were Marion Whitmore, daughter of John W. Whitmore of Rockdale avenue, Lynn, and a playmate whose identity was not divulged. Marion was shot in her leg, the other girl in her forehead.

Police said they investigated on complaint of Whitmore and that they learned Goodell did the shooting. They found him with the air rifle at his home in Wyoma street and talked with his mother, who said she would destroy the gun. Whitmore did not wish to bring charges, police said.

The weapon used in yesterday's tragedy was a cut-down 22 calibre

Continued on Page 4, Column 4

4 CHILDREN DIE IN MAINE FIRE

Caribou, Me., Nov. 6 (AP)—Four small children were suffocated today by smoke in a fire which swept a small home on the outskirts of Caribou.

The victims were: Donald Martin, one year old; Dianne Bouchard, eight; Donna Bouchard, six and one-half, and Ronald Bouchard, two.

Donna Bouchard died in a hospital four hours after firemen had rescued three other children and carried the bodies of the dead children to the street.

The three rescued children were Doris Martin, three, Davis Bouchard, four and Richard Bouchard two months.

Mrs. Aleida Martin and Mrs. Maxime Bouchard, awakened by crackling of flames made their way to safety.

Their husbands were in the county jail in Houlton, serving six months each for failure to support their families. Both families received relief from the town.

Balances and Receipts

Washington, Nov. 6—Today's Treasury balance, $1,102,545,694; U. S. Customs receipts, $4,330,664.

Curley Puts Names to Council

Governor Curley is expected to send approximately a dozen appointments to the Council today at its regular weekly meeting for approval.

Chief among these will be the naming of J. Arthur Baker, Republican councillor of Pittsfield, to fill the vacancy on the superior court bench caused by the death of Judge Frederick J. MacLeod.

While the governor has not talked with the councillor he has been told that Baker will accept the appointment. This appointment, however, can not be confirmed, under the constitution, for one week.

The governor intends to name Attorney Morton H. Burdick, Democrat, of Easthampton, to the Council in Baker's place as soon as the Pittsfield man is confirmed.

FORBES OUT

Of outstanding interest also is the governor's choice for clerk of the Cambridge district court. Clerk William A. Forbes of Arlington will not be reappointed. He has been a holdover in the position since October 8.

A bitter row among Cambridge Democratic factions is responsible for the delay in this appointment. Attorney General Paul A. Dever is behind the candidacy of Senator Charles T. Cavanaugh of Cambridge. Daniel O'Brien, prominent Cambridge leader, is backing Reginald Murphy. Murphy has the endorsement of the Jefferson Club and some other organizations.

John F. Carr was being mentioned as a compromise candidate and the name of Morris Frankel was also heard.

CAVANAUGH HOPEFUL

Before leaving for the West, it was understood that the governor inclined towards Murphy. Dever's friends were saying today that most of the opposition to Senator Cavanaugh had been cleared up and that Cavanaugh's appointment now seems assured.

Others whose commissions expired during the absence of the governor are: William A. Bryan, Worcester, board of registration of nurses; Roscoe Walsworth, Revere, trustee, Boston Metropolitan district; William D. Desmond, Stoneham, state supervisor of marine fisheries; Harlan W. Angier, Hardwick, medical examiner, 10th Worcester district; Clyde H. Merrill, Marlborough, associate medical examiner, 9th Worcester district; and Patrick A. O'Connell, Brookline, and William H. Claflin, Jr., Belmont, managers, Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary.

MANY IN DUCE ARMY SLAIN, FOE SAYS

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

(Copyright, 1935, by International News Service)

Addis Ababa, Nov. 6—Two Ethiopian counter-attacks in which hundreds of Italians were slain were reported by the Ethiopian government in an official communique today.

One occurred at Makale, strategic northern Ethiopian city. An Italian scouting detachment had occupied the town last night in a surprise advance, despite the widely announced two-day halt in the north ordered yesterday.

Soon after the Italians entered the city, peacefully, a strong Ethiopian force attacked, killing ten Italians and capturing four. The Italian forces withdrew to the north.

CHANGES WAR PICTURE

This changes the picture on the northern front, since it is now officially declared the Ethiopians intend to hold Makale at all costs against the advancing Italian force of 120,000 men. Previously they had intended evacuating the city.

The second counter-attack was at Gorrahei, on the southern front. Italian planes bombarded this fortified city, the Ethiopians announced, but killed only seven Ethiopean soldiers.

At night Ethiopians counter-attacked and massacred a large number of Italians, according to the official Ethiopian account.

ONE GUNNER KILLS 400

One machine-gun officer alone was credited with slaying 400 Italians.

This officer, whom the army has ordered cited, with one machine-gun held off an entire division of Italians with rapid fire from his nest.

No prisoners were taken. All captured Italians were treated in the traditional manner, the Ethiopian warriors taking back to their tribes virile trophies of combat.

Other War News on Page 4.

John Erskine Injured in Crash

Brighton, Mich., Nov. 6 (INS)—John Erskine, famous New York author and lecturer, was injured today when the automobile in which he was riding collided with a truck, near here.

He was rushed to Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit with a broken nose and possible internal injuries.

Kingsford-Smith Arrives in Greece

Tatoi, Greece, Nov. 6 (AP)—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, making a second attempt within a month to fly from England to Australia, arrived here at 4:30 p. m. today (9:30 a. m., E. S. T.).

He left England eight hours earlie

Nation's Voters Slap At 'Raw Deal'

Following is a summary of yesterday's elections:

MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON—Dr. Charles E. Mackey and Maurice Tobin, reelected and Henry J. Smith named to school committee. Councillors, Englert, Fish and Donovan defeated for reelection to city council.

CAMBRIDGE—John D. Lynch elected by 267 votes. John W. Lyons demands recount.

SOMERVILLE—Mayor James E. Hagan beaten by Leslie E. Knox, Republican.

WORCESTER—"Raw Deal" candidate for mayor, State Representative E. J. Kelley beaten by Walter J. Cookson, Republican.

OTHER CITIES—Medford, Mayor John J. Irwin reelected. Fitchburg, Mayor Robert E. Greenwood, reelected. Everett. Frank E. Lewis, Republican, defeats Mayor James A. Roche. Lowell, Dewey G. Archambault, Republican, elected mayor over Charles R. Flood, Democrat. Lynn, Mayor J. Fred Manning defeats Harlan A. McPhetres. Waltham, Mayor Frederick A. McDonald reelected. Marlboro, Charles A. Lyons reelected mayor. Springfield, Mayor Henry Martens, Republican, reelected, and Pittsfield, Mayor Allan H. Bagg, Republican, reelected.

NEW YORK

Republicans capture nine new seats in General Assembly, giving them complete control of that body, after campaign fought on straight opposition to Roosevelt administration. Democrats retain seats in two New York city congressional fights.

PENNSYLVANIA

Republicans elect mayor in Philadelphia and judge in state wide vote, and gain mayoralty and council seats in other cities.

NEW JERSEY

Republican majority in the Assembly and retained control of the Senate. Hudson's mayor, Frank Hague, wins again by huge majority which Democrats say means "New Jersey for Roosevelt in 1936."

OHIO

Cleveland elects Republican mayor and Democrats lose power in smaller cities.

KENTUCKY

Vote counting begins in the final result of bitter campaign in doubt.

HEAVY BUYING BOOMS STOCKS

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The stock market, following its election recess, swung into a broad advance today with heavy buying lifting prices $1 to $3 a share.

Du Pont jumped $3 to $139.87, General Motors was up $2.12 at $54.50 on a 15,000-share transfer and Chrysler and Auburn gained $2 each at $86.25 and $41, respectively.

Other active favorites included American Telephone at $145.87, Goodyear at $22.27, Bethelehem Steel at $41.62 and U. S. Steel at $47.12.

The revival of bullinsh sentiment was attributed partly to continued optimistic trade reports and to efforts of Mussolini to ease the tension between Great Britain and Italy.

BRUNO GUARDS LOSE AT POLLS

Flemington, N. J., Nov. 6 (AP)—Two men who had custody of Bruno Richard Hauptmann before he was sent to the death house were defeated at the polls.

Sheriff John N. Curtiss, who ran for Hunterdon county freeholder, and Harry O. McCrea, warden of the county jail, who ran for sheriff, were defeated by their Democratic opponents.

Mayor Couzens Leading 4 to 1

Detroit, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mayor Frank Couzens, son of Michigan's senior United States senator, received overwhelming endorsement for re-election in Tuesday's balloting.

Continued on Page 2, Column 3

ROOSEVELT LINES SMASHED IN EAST

Election News and Tables, Pages 2, 5, 6 and 7

Election Highlights

1—Roosevelt "Raw Deal" lines smashed throughout nation, particularly in Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania—with Democratic leaders stunned.

2—Boston has startling upsets, with three councillors unseated. Two recounts loom, one in the fight for school committee and the other in the council balloting.

3—State police guarding ballots in Cambridge election pending a recount demand by President John W. Lyons of city council, barely defeated for mayor by Banker-Druggist John D. Lynch.

4—Governor Curley comments that yesterday's national results were not unexpected and should be regarded as "most gratifying" because of small majorities in Republican victories.

Guard Ballots in Cambridge

Climaxing some of the bitterest vote-battling in years, state police guarded Cambridge ballots today pending a recount, while in Somerville the "Raw Deal" had been slapped down and high taxes hit by the electorate.

The state police guard placed over the Cambridge ballots resulted from the closest mayoralty fight in the city's history.

John D. Lynch, North Cambridge banker and druggist, scored a victory over his surprisingly strong opponent, President John W. Lyons, of the city council—but the margin was only 267 votes.

In Somerville, Mayor James J. Hagan went down in defeat at the hands of former Alderman Leslie E. Knox, whose campaign was directed against the "Raw Deal" and against Somerville's high tax rate with its $6.80 boost.

BALLOT GUARD ASKED

If many election officials in Cambridge are not suffering from fluttering hearts today it is no fault of the balloting yesterday.

Back and forth the figures wavered, until finally a near riot came when unofficial telephone figures from precinct clerks gave Lynch a lead of but 43 votes shortly after the polls were closed.

Both candidates rushed to the election commissioner's office in Central square, where a crowd of more than 2000 persons had gathered.

LYONS ASKS RECOUNT

When the official results—18,147 votes for Lynch as against 17,876 for Lyons—the defeated candidate telephoned Governor Curley and obtained the state police guard

Blow Dealt Roosevelt

Washington, Nov. 6 (US)—Rolling up amazing election victories, Republicans have smashed Roosevelt administration lines in New York and Pennsylvania, both key states for the 1936 presidential contest.

In New York State they captured the assembly, apparently gaining at least nine seats to switch their present 73-77 minority to an 82-68 majority, with chances of a larger seating.

In Philadelphia, where the odds were considered to favor Democratic candidates despite a 50-year Republican reign, the G. O. P. standard bearers virtually swept the field from mayor on down.

On both battlefronts, the Republicans had made the Roosevelt administration the major issue, and the challenge had been accepted by the Roosevelt followers.

DELAY IN KENTUCKY

On the third battlefield—Kentucky, where a bitter gubernatorial fight was waged—the ballots will not be counted until today, state law requiring the delay.

In addition, Republicans retained control of both houses of the new Jersey legislature, but there were no national issues involved.

Democratic political leaders were stunned at the amazing Republican strength developed. Postmaster General James A. Farley, who triples in brass by also being Democratic national chairman and Democratic New York State chairman, found the returns dissatisfying.

President Roosevelt, at his home in Hyde Park, found one bit of

Continued on Page 3, Column 4

G. O. P. HAILS N. Y. VOTE AS ASSURING '36 VICTORY

REPUBLICANS WIN ASSEMBLY, PRIME FOR DRIVE ON DEAL

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6 (INS)—New York State Republicans, jubilant over their 82 to 68 Assembly victory in President Roosevelt's home state, today acclaimed the outcome as a body blow to the raw deal and an indication that the conservative east will be in the G. O. P. column next year.

The Republicans, who made national issues their chief talking points in a campaign which started last May, smashed down the Democrats in Erie and Monroe, largest up-state counties, to overturn an existing Democratic margin of 77 to 73.

They gained three seats in Erie and as many more in Monroe, in addition to defeating Democratic incumbents in Green county, the sixth district of Kings and the second of Rensselaer. The G. O. P. also retained all of their present seats.

DEMOCRATS CITE TOTAL

Democratic leaders, including Postmaster General James A. Farley, refused to concede the assembly outcome as a new deal repudiation. They pointed out that the 68 successful Democratic candidates polled more votes than the 82 Republican victors and stressed the fact that Democratic mayors were elected in such G. O. P. strongholds as Watertown, Ogdensburg, Poughkeepsie, Cohoes and Auburn.

The New York state election was given national emphasis when President Roosevelt, who took no active part in the campaign, voted from his Hyde Park home. Incidentally, the Republican assembly candidate from the Roosevelt district, Emerson D. Fite, a Vassar College professor, was re-elected over John Mack, Jr., son of the man who nominated Roosevelt for the presidency at the 1932 Chicago convention.

Although the measure was overshadowed by interest in the Assembly election, the voters approved the $55,000,000 unemployment insurance bond issue.

The outcome of yesterday's election means that New York State will be convulsed by a continuous political campaign from now until November, 1936. The Republicans intend to drive home their advantage by firing broadside after broadside at the Roosevelt administration.

Election of a Republican Assembly will call a halt to Governor Herbert H. Lehman's hopes of jamming through the Legislature the bulk of his recommendations.

EYES ON GOVERNORSHIP

Some Democrats feel the Governor has gained by the G. O. P. victory. They point out that Governor Smith's Democratic foes rose to their greatest popularity when they had one or both houses of the Legislature opposing their "popular" legislation.

The Republicans already are looking ahead to next year's gubernatorial election. Re-election of Mayor Rolland B. Marvin of Syracuse by a wide margin in a city place that youthful municipal executive in the foreground of possible G. O. P. candidates.

Two congressional districts in New York City elected Democrats. Vacancies in the State Senate were filled by the election of Assemblyman Harry F. Dunkel of Gloversville, Republican, and Jacob H. Livingston of Kings, Democrat. This means that the Senate remains 29 to 22 Democratic.

New York state Democrats gleaned some satisfaction from the re-election of District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan of Kings County over Joseph D. McGoldrick, fusionist, and the reduction of fusion strength in the New York city board of aldermen to three. They declared that the points to Democratic victory in the next New York city mayoralty election.

They also expressed satisfaction over retaining their assembly seats in Oneida and Schoharie counties, where the Republicans had staged major drives, and in gains made in Tioga and Seneca counties, normally Republican, which they lost by respective votes of 140 and 275.

KNOX IS VICTOR IN SOMERVILLE

Continued from First Page

over the ballots, declaring that he will seek a recount.

Having led his rival in the primary by 2200 votes, and having the support of Mayor Richard M. Russell and City Treasurer William J. Shea, experts figured Lynch to win the election easily.

"I will ask for a recount," said Lyons. "I will not be satisfied that I have been defeated until every ballot is counted again."

Said Lynch:

"I will give the city of Cambridge the best administration of which I am capable. I shall stand for decency and honesty in government."

In the battle for school committee places, James J. Cassidy and Ralph W. Robert were re-elected, with William F. Calgay the new member. Mrs. Cora Butler Grant, the only woman candidate, ran a poor fifth.

John C. Haverty and Bernard F. Fallon were re-elected to the city assessors, Haverty receiving the largest vote of any candidate on the ballot.

Thomas F. Gibson was re-elected councillor-at-large. Patrick J. Delaney, former councillor, staged a comeback when he also was elected.

Final tabulations in other Massachusetts cities showed startling upsets with Republicans replacing Democrats in Lowell and Worcester.

Republicans were retained or replaced members of that party in Medford, Everett, Waltham, Springfield and Pittsfield.

The list of cities holding elections yesterday, typical as a cross-section of state opinion, were practically unanimous in reversing Democrats when the "raw deal" was made an issue.

In Worcester, where the issue was sharply defined during the campaign, Walter J. Cookson, Republican candidate, led Representative Edward J. Kelley by 2125 votes.

In Lowell, Dewey G. Archambault, Republican, had a plurality of about 3000 votes over his Democratic opponent, Charles R. Flood.

Republican Mayor Henry Martens of Springfield ran on a platform denouncing the "raw deal" and romped to an easy victory over three candidates.

Medford's mayor, John J. Irwin, Republican, scored nearly a two to one victory over his Democratic opponent, former Mayor John H. Burke.

In Everett Frank E. Lewis defeated Mayor James E. Roche, both of whom are Republicans.

Waltham's Republican mayor, Frederick L. McDonald, scored a two to one victory over his Democratic opponent, representative Thomas J. Flannery.

In Pittsfield Mayor Allen H. Bagg, Republican, was re-elected over Alfred C. Daniels by a margin of 375 votes.

Mayors were re-elected in the other three cities, Lynn, Fitchburg and Marlboro.

Mayor J. Fred Manning was an easy victor in Lynn over former Mayor Harland J. McPherren. Mayor Manning became the first Lynn mayor ever to receive a fourth term.

In Marlboro Mayor Charles F. Lyons, in defeating Paul F. Shaughnessy by 345 votes, became that city's first chief executive to be elected to a third trm.

The single exception to "new deal" chieftains in the elections was in Fitchburg where Mayor Robert E. Greenough was re-elected by the largest vote ever given a candidate for that office.

Opposed by former Mayor Joseph N. Carriere, Mayor Greenwood was forced to halt his campaign last week because of serious injuries suffered in an auto accident.

Lerner May Stick To Harvard Post

Max Lerner, lecturer on Government at Harvard, whose forthcoming book has been widely criticized as attacking the Constitution, is undecided about resigning his post as professor, the Harvard Crimson, undergraduate daily, said today.

He has been offered the position of editor of "The Nation," a task handled by a group of men since the resignation from the publication of Ernest Gruening.

Formerly a Yale faculty member, Professor Lerner began teaching at Harvard at the beginning of the present term, and has since been openly accused of "left wing" tendencies.

Candidates on Hand for Close Cambridge Ballot Count

MRS. HELEN KNOX — LESLIE E. KNOX — MRS. JEAN KNOX

(Pictures from International News Photograph Service)

Smiles come easy today to the faces of these members of the Knox family of Somerville, thanks to Leslie E. Knox's election as mayor over present Mayor James Hagan. Beaming at news of the victory are Mrs. Helen L. Knox, the mayor-elect's mother; Mayor-Elect Knox, himself; and Mrs. Jean Knox, his wife.

Right on hand to protect their rights as ballots come in to be counted in Cambridge's close mayoralty race are Candidates John D. Lynch and John W. Lyons and their attorneys, Francis J. Roche and George A. McLaughlin. Also present is Councillor F. J. O'Connor.

BLOW TO ROOSEVELT

Democrats Lose Two Key States

Continued from First Page

solace. His town elected a Democrat supervisor for the first time in years, but remained Republican in all other respects.

While the result was surprising in New York as to size, it was even more spectacular in Philadelphia's close mayoralty fight.

HOPES BLASTED

The results generally appeared to blast all Democratic hopes of obtaining a substantial foothold in Pennsylvania for the 1936 presidential election.

In Kentucky, Governor Ruby Laffoon broke from the Democratic candidate, A. B. "Happy" Chandler—his own lieutenant governor—after President Roosevelt intervened in state party affairs. Campaigning against Judge King Swope, Republican, Chandler declared that "a vote against me is a vote against Roosevelt."

Swope was given unexpected ammunition when it was found federal relief clients had been circularized from Washington with letters saying they must vote for Chandler to continue their dole.

Chandler was given an edge in advance prognostications, but his chieftains frankly expected the 80,000 majority of Laffoon of four years ago and the 182,000 majority of Roosevelt in 1932 to be slashed when Kentucky's vote is tabulated tomorrow.

3 KILLED AT POLLS

Two persons were killed and two wounded in shooting and cutting affrays in Kentucky, and there were some fist fights in Philadelphia. Elsewhere the day passed off quietly.

Melvin C. Eaton, Republican state chairman, hailed the Empire State vote as "clearly showing a trend towards the New Deal."

Postmaster General Farley, Democratic national and state chairman, countered by saying the state had sustained the national administration by giving it about a 500,000 majority. He charged gerrymandering of districts had made it impossible for Democrats to gain a majority of assembly seats except in case of a national landslide.

Edward W. Curley, Democrat, defeated Victor Santini, Republican, for Congress from the 22nd New York district. His plurality of almost 23,000 compared with 19,000 in the same district in 1934. Curley will take the seat of the late Anthony J. Griffin, Democrat.

William B. Barry, Democrat, with a plurality of 101,000 over Joseph M. Conroy, Republican, as against 92,214 in 1934, won the congressional seat in the second district which was vacated by William J. Brunner, Democrat, who was elected sheriff of Queens County.

Chairman Farley saw his own district in New York go Republican in the assembly voting. This also happened in the President's home of Hyde Park.

SOLID SOUTH

Mississippi went through the formality of electing Hugh White, Democrat, its new governor, and its Democratic Legislature, while Virginia sent its usual Democratic majorities to the State House.

Informed of Republican victories in New York and elsewhere, Representative Bolton of Ohio, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, said:

"I think the people are beginning to wake up now and see what's going on, and are taking an interest in municipal government."

Representative Fish (R.-N. Y.) declared the returns in the Empire State amounted to "a powerful rebuke to the unsound and socialistic New Deal experiment."

JERSEY G. O. P. MAKES GAIN

Newark, N. J., Nov. 6 (AP)—Republican control of the 1936 legislature was assured today.

In the off-year election, which New Jersey Republican leaders said would furnish a final test of New Deal sentiment, the Republicans increased their majority in the assembly by capturing seven counties heretofore strongly Democratic.

They also retained control of the Senate by winning at least four of the eight contested seats.

Hudson County, stronghold of New Jersey democracy, gave Democratic Assembly candidates a majority of 137,000, a record high, which was interpreted by Mayor Frank Hague, Democratic State leader, as a "vindication of the New Deal."

G. O. P. GLOATS, BUT DEMOCRATS GRIN AT 'LOSS'

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, Nov. 6—Republicans were cheerful today and Democrats could find little to cheer about over the results of yesterday's scattered balloting in half a dozen states.

The Republicans regained control of the New York state assembly, on President Roosevelt's home grounds, and they won a bitterly contested mayoralty election in Philadelphia upon which the Democrats had set high hopes as a preliminary to carrying Pennsylvania next year.

Insofar as these results may show the "trend" which politicians were looking for, it is away from the Roosevelt raw deal.

Only to Kentucky, where counting of the ballots begins today, can the Democrats look for any real solace out of yesterday's tuneup for the 1936 election.

DEMOCRATS SPLIT

In Kentucky, there was a bitterly contested state-wide fight, with the Democrats hopeful of holding the governorship in spite of a party split.

Discounting much of the Republican rejoicing and Democratic sibbling, neutral observers were cautious, however, about reading too much significance in New York and Philadelphia results.

To many, it appeared that the political pendulum, which has swung so violently Democratic since 1932, has begun a slow and inevitable swing backward in the direction of political normalcy.

The Democrats have controlled the New York assembly only once in 24 years; they haven't had a mayor of Republican Philadelphia since 1811, a stretch of more than 50 years.

"RECAPTURE" OF N. Y.

Therefore the Democrats were inclined today to shrug off the outcome in New York and Pennsylvania as "the Dutch capturing Holland." However, the fact remains that insofar as New York is concerned, the Republicans "recaptured" Mr. Roosevelt's own state in a contest which the Republicans insisted upon throughout was a test of the Roosevelt New Deal.

And the Republicans retained Philadelphia in a contest which was featured by the injection of the question of the national administration's popularity.

In a national sense, and in terms of the 1936 presidential election, the outcome strengthened the belief that the political drift along the Atlantic seaboard and in the East generally is away from the Roosevelt administration, and that if Mr. Roosevelt is to be re-elected next year he will have to look west of the Alleghenies.

The Democrats by no means concede this, but the Republicans are confident of it. The Republicans believe the drift away from "Washington spending" and "Roosevelt experimenting" is so strong in the Eastern states that they can afford to devote most of their attention in the next nine months to cultivating the Mid-West and West. They take yesterday's scattered—and by no means conclusive—balloting as confirming their theory in this respect.

MARTENS WINS IN SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, Nov. 6—Mayor Henry Martens, Republican, was re-elected over his three opponents, as foes of the "Raw Deal" swept all opposition before them at the polls here.

Matthew Campbell, sponsored by United Labor, was second in the count, with the Springfield Central Labor Union candidate, James A. Redden, last.

Republicans elected the entire board of aldermen and all but four members of the Common Council.

The new aldermanic board is George H. Cote, John W. Dunlop, Robert L. Hinckley, Irving C. Hayes, Harold E. Parsons, Kirby S. Baker, A. Olin Sinclair and Fred Barker.

"Raw Deal" opponents also took possession of the school committee, electing Alfred M. Glickman, Theodore V. Quinlivan, Mary Cheney Stephenson, Julian S. Albee and Herbert H. Prentice.

Elected to the common council were Daniel J. Brenahan, D. John P. Long, D. (ward 1); Daniel B. Breslin, R. Francis A. Doyle, D. (2); Norman E. Cowles, R. Vincent A. Curto, R. Henry D. Miller, R. (3); Keith F. Fletcher, R. Gertrude C. Hayward, R. Troy T. Murray, R. (4); William G. McCauley, Jr., R. John M. Turner, R. (5); Charles S. Albert, R. Archie E. Bruce, R. (6); Clarence R. Brooks, R. (7); Carl H. Colwell, R. Ernest H. J. Duquette, R. (8).

American Praised For New York Win

New York, Nov. 6 (US)—Melvin C. Eaton, Republican state chairman, issued a statement today praising the New York American for its fight against the New Deal and for its campaign in behalf of a Republican assembly. He said:

"The Republican party in this state is grateful for the fight made against the New Deal by the New York American and associated newspapers and for that paper's splendid support in the drive of the Republican state committee to recapture the assembly for the Republican party."

New Hampshire Retains 4 Mayors

NEW HAMPSHIRE WINNERS
CONCORD—John W. Storrs.
KEENE.—*George F. T. Trask.
MANCHESTER—Damase Caron.
NASHUA—Alvin A. Lucier.
(*Re-elected)

Concord, N. H., Nov. 6—Mayors of four New Hampshire cities were re-elected in final tabulations of municipal contests today.

Mayor John W. Storrs was the winner in this city in a close nonpartisan contest with Perley B. Phillips. Mayor Storrs received 3533 votes to 3155 for Phillips.

In Nashua, Mayor Alvin Lucier swamped Jeremiah Hagerty with a 4500 plurality in a contest that drew out 10,557 votes.

Mayor George F. T. Trask of Keene was unopposed for re-election.

Manchester had a closely contested mayoralty fight with Mayor Damase Caron being returned the eventual winner after piling up a late lead.

Today

By Arthur Brisbane

Continued from First Page

go because the Empress Taitu, wife of King Menelik, went with her husband to the battle of Aduwa in 1896, when 6000 Italians were slaughtered.

In case Haile Selassie does go to the front, if he can find it, with the Italians moving so rapidly, twenty automobiles and trucks, filled with journalists and movie cameras, would insist on going with him. That makes it difficult—too good a target for bombs.

Chancellor Hitler's government contributes two news items: Anna Schroers, a Catholic nun, known as Sister Libora, is sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, accused of smuggling currency. Members of the Catholic Dominican order are sentenced to prison and a fine of 70,000 marks for "exporting capital from the country."

Germany does not seem to be a very "gay" country in which to hold the Olympic games of 1936. A country in which the principal "game" seems to be persecuting Jews and Catholics hardly needs any additional games.

Owners of beauty parlors with what are known to the trade as "stickers," goods unsold, will want to know that the government has asked bids for "rouge, eyebrow pencils, cold cream and powder puffs," all to be used by WPA actors and actresses in theatrics to show that the government is organizing "to relieve depression."

Another gang killing in New York. Charles Sherman, known to the gangsters as "The Chinaman," is found naked, covered with quicklime, his skull crushed, in a shallow grave.

"Dutch Schultz" Fliegenheimer, while lying, half delirious, mentioned "The Chink" among others. That may explain the "rubbing out" of one more.

G. O. P. STUDIES PENN VICTORY

Philadelphia, Nov. 6 (AP)—Pennsylvania Republicans, victorious in the state's two election contests of major interest, studied the results of the balloting today for indications of sentiment on the Democratic New Deal—both state and national.

They pointed to the victories of Judge Jesse E. B. Cunningham to retain his seat on the superior court bench, and of S. Davis Wilson in the bitter fight for mayor of Philadelphia, as evidence of the party strength in the state.

With returns in from more than half the state, Judge Cunningham held a lead of more than 367,000 over Robert L. Myers, Jr., the Democratic candidate, while Wilson, a native of Boston, was in the lead of almost complete returns, was well over 45,000 ahead of John B. Kelly.

Mother Guilty Of Dole Fraud

Mother of six children, three of whom police say were employed, Mrs. Josephine Arena, 42, of Kendrick avenue, Quincy, was found guilty in Quincy court today of larceny of $42.50 from the welfare department.

Sentence was suspended three months to permit her to make restitution.

Mrs. Nenna's conviction is the second in Quincy's drive to wipe out welfare frauds.

R. H. WHITE CO.

Boys . . . Girls win this beautiful
PINTO PONY

That's right, this real western pinto pony will be awarded to the boy or girl who draws the best likeness of this beautiful pony. See the pony now in White's Boys' Clothing dept., 2nd floor . . . get an official entry blank . . . you may be the lucky owner. Contest closes November 9th at 5:30 P. M. No cost . . . no obligation.

This Pinto Pony is given through the courtesy of Col. W. T. Johnson's Championship Rodeo Show now playing at the Boston Garden.

White's Boys' Clothing, 2nd Floor

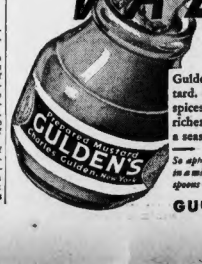
Greater VALUE



Gulden's is a double purpose mustard. Choicest mustard seeds and spices, skilfully blended, give it richer flavor both as a relish and a seasoner in cooking.

So upholstering! Corned beef hash brownes to a mixture of butter and Gulden's (3 teaspoons Gulden's to a tablespoons butter).

GULDEN'S MUSTARD

THE LUXURIOUS TWIN OCEAN LINERS
ACADIA AND SAINT JOHN ARE NOW BACK ON THE BOSTON-NEW YORK
RUN OF THE
EASTERN STEAMSHIP LINES
Make Reservations Early for Armistice Day
Sailings daily at 5:00 P. M. to and including Nov. 9, also Monday, Nov. 11. Sailings daily except Saturday thereafter. All sailings from India Wharf, Pier New York 3:00 next morning. $5.50 one way, 90-day round trip $9.50. Regular week-end steamer leaving Friday, returning leave New York the following Sunday or Monday, $7.50. Week-end of Nov. 8 excursion leaves Friday or Saturday, returning not later than following Monday night.
AN AMPLE NUMBER OF LOW-PRICED STATEROOMS FROM $1 UP—GOOD FOR TWO PERSONS
• 70 Boylston St. (Little Building), Telephone Liberty 2810, 80 Franklin St., Liberty 5580; or India Wharf, HAncock 1700.

"My 'Round-World Honeymoon"

First Visit to Hollywood Thrills Mary Curley

Air Trip Over Malibu Beach Fire Is Exciting Feature

(This is the fourth installment of the Journal of Mary Curley Donnelly's 35,000-mile wedding trip. The fifth installment will be published in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.)

By ANN MARSTERS

Copyright, 1935, by Boston Evening American.

Up the mountain side, through wide gateways that lead to the William Randolph Hearst ranch, in San Simeon, Calif., go Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Donnelly and Governor James M. Curley.

Mary Donnelly would like to dwell on this part of her wedding trip around the world, for all the ancient castles of the land did not impress her nearly as much as did the castle of Mr. Hearst.

"The house itself," she said, "is about 15 minutes from the airport. You drive up through three different gateways, and on either side of each is an enclosure filled with all sorts of wild animals.

Blooded Cattle

"Not exactly an enclosure, because the animals aren't closed in and there are no bars between you and the animals.

"But fortunately, there IS protection in the form of a gulley which the animals have discovered is too wide for them to jump over.

"The first group of animals is made up of blooded cattle and deer and sheep. In the next section are buffalo, giraffe, zebra and gnus.

"A profusion of flowers is all around, and as you near the house, the gardens become more luxuriously cultivated.

"And just in back of the house, there are more animals —panthers and leopards, I think—but these are enclosed with bars.

"Mr. Hearst's castle is about in the center of the 30 square miles which the ranch covers, and the guest houses surround it.

Vast Museum

"As for the works of art—it would take weeks to see and appreciate them all. To wander around and look at them is like going through a compilation of all the museums of the world.

"I believe Mr. Hearst has the most beautiful collection of pictures outside of the Metropolitan museum.

"And you could spend days just going through rooms and admiring them. Each one is either an original or a reproduction of some famous room out of history.

"From the steps of the castle, you are able to look down on Mr. Hearst's private landing field where he keeps his huge plane, ready to take off at a moment's notice.

"But the most impressive thought about the ranch as a whole is that here is an empire really being made use of. Nothing is stagnant here. Mr. Hearst is so alive with the sense of going on with things.

There were only three days in which to crowd the wonders of the Hearst ranch—then Governor Curley and the Donnellys flew back to Los Angeles.

"We flew over the fire that was raging at Malibu Beach. We looked down and saw ten miles of flame and smoke, and we tried to see the men who were fighting it—but perhaps we were too high up.

Film Luncheon

"When we got to Los Angeles, Louis B. Mayer gave a luncheon for the governor at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio. There were one hundred and fifty people there, most of them movie celebrities.

"We had seen 'The Return of Peter Grimm' at Mr. Mr. Hearst's theater, and it was fun to meet all the principals, headed by Lionel Barrymore, at the luncheon.

"My visit in Hollywood completely changed my idea of the movie world. We watched a picture being made, and I discovered that there is no glamour in the actual process of picture making—it's all in the reproduction.

Charming People

"It's tedious, tiring work. They must pose over and over again, jumping from one scene to another and back again. There's not even the stimulus of a continuous thread of action.

"So the actors and actresses of Hollywood are very hard-working people. They don't have time to be glamorous—but they must always appear so.

"Anyway, they are charming people, and we met quite a lot including Dolores Costello, Constance Collier, Wallace Beery, Sophie Tucker and the Duncan Sisters.

"We had known the Duncan Sisters before. About ten years ago, when they were in Boston in 'Topsy and Eva' they had entertained us at the governor's house in Jamaicaway.

"We called at the Warner Bros. studio, but very few people were there because it happened to be the day of a big football game."

Now, from Los Angeles, the Donnellys and Governor Curley boarded the train for Chicago.

"We took the Union Pacific route," said Mary, "because father was very anxious for me to see the Royal Gorge in Colorado."

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

Although it was in Shanghai that she was obliged to undergo an operation for appendicitis, Mrs. Mary Curley Donnelly has many pleasant memories of the weeks she spent in China during her 35,000 mile wedding trip. Among her souvenirs of the Orient is this becoming evening gown in the Chinese style. It is of apricot brocade.

Brocaded Gown Among Far East Souvenirs

Constance Morrow Hit on Stage

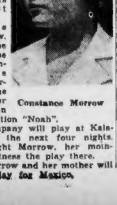
Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 6 (AP) —Constance Morgow, sister of Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh gave an impressive performance in her Michigan stage debut as a member of the cast of the Kalamazoo Civic Players here last night.

Miss Morrow, using the stage name of Constance Reeve, portrayed the character of Ada in the production "Noah".



Constance Morrow

The company will play at Kalamazoo for the next four nights. Mrs. Dwight Morrow, her mother, will witness the play there.

Miss Morrow and her mother will leave Sunday for Mexico.

DRAKE'S CAKES

For Sunday Supper—our delicious Pound Cake!

U. S. A 'SHOW ANGEL'

Also Pied Piper, Tap Dance Teacher

Washington, Nov. 6 (US)—An official survey today placed the federal bill for boondoggling, which Work Relief Administrator Hopkins believes the American public is "too dumb to understand," at 250 million dollars.

Under the guise of projects for the "white-collar" unemployed, the taxpayers' money has been poured out with a lavish hand to promote some activities.

NO WONDER THEY LAUGH

Even Hopkins' aides, who are convinced there is merit in the program, could not suppress titters today as they went over the list of work relief "stunt" projects, known as boondoggling. It included:

Making the government an "angel" for the "show" business, with a 27 million dollar investment in theatrical and musical productions to give jobs to impoverished actors and musicians.

Supporting a rat catching campaign in New York city factories.

Teaching tap dancing to the Chesapeake bay lobstermen and clam diggers.

Providing free maid service to ailing relief families.

Giving cooking lessons by radio to mothers of large families.

Counting caterpillars on trees in several thousand country towns.

Encouraging community singing and dancing.

WAYS TO SPEND

Vertical and horizontal research into practically every field in the realm of science, history, economics and sociology.

Planning and searching for new ways to spend government funds.

Relief officials said they could recall only two proposed boondoggling projects which were turned down. The first was a suggestion to build a roof over the United States and the other was to subsidize hungry poets.

Auto-Milk Team Crash Injures 2

Two Roxbury men went to City Hospital today as a result of a collision in Columbia road between an automobile and a milk wagon early today.

They are Vincent J. Lozie, 22, of Dacia street, auto operator, and George Kelly, 21, of Mayfield street, wagon driver.

RODEO

TONIGHT at 8:15

And Every Night Thru Nov. 11 Mats. Sat., Sun., Mon. at 2:15

55c-$1.10-$1.65-2 Per ♦ $2.20

Tickets at Jordan's, Filene's, Arena, Garden

100 CHAMPION COWBOYS AND COWGIRLS

EVERY EVENTS COMPANY

BOSTON GARDEN

LADY ALICE ## BRIDE OF KING'S SON

WALES BEST MAN AT WEDDING

London, Nov. 6 (INS)—Lady Alice Montegu-Douglas Scott and the Duke of Gloucester, third son of King George V and Queen Mary, were married shortly before noon today in the chapel of Buckingham Palace.

A crowd of thousands outside cheered enthusiastically as the news that the ceremony had been performed was relayed to them.

The Prince of Wales was best man. The bride's brother, the new Duke of Buccleuch, gave her in marriage.

The crowd lingered about the palace all day, and cheered loudly in admiration again as the royal newly-weds motored through the streets to St. Pancras railway station, where they entrained on their honeymoon, bound for Boughton house, Northamptonshire, country estate of the bride's family.

Lady Alice had driven to Buckingham Palace with her brother in a glass coach down Constitution Hill from her family's Mayfair House through cheering throngs.

Rare November sunshine greeted her as she came into the street to enter the coach. Her ivory satin gown emphasized her brunette beauty and her happy smile stimulated the enthusiasm of the crowd.

Only 120 Guests

One slender arm was lost in the sleeve of her stalwart brother resplendent in the scarlet uniform of the Grenadier Guards. The other held her bridal bouquet. She poised for a moment on the threshold, then tripped down the steps to the coach.

It was the public's first view of the day's event. Behind the doors of Buckingham Palace only 120 persons, practically all of them members of the Royal Family or of the Royal household, witnessed the ceremony in the chapel.

At the altar the bride met Gloucester in the blue, gold and scarlet uniform of the Royal Hussars.

The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York, his brothers, were wearing the uniform of the guards. King George V was in the uniform of an English field marshal.

Royalty in Line

King George of Greece, who has just been recalled to his throne, and Queen Maud of Norway, were behind the King of England and Queen Mary.

An England's King and Queen looked on approvingly, the Archbishop of Canterbury pronounced the Royal couple man and wife.

The Mendelssohn wedding march was played on the organ as the couple, followed by the King and Queen, left the chapel.

A few minutes later the patient crowd got its second look-in on events as the Royal newlyweds appeared on the balcony of the Palace accompanied by the Royal family.

A tremendous cheer, surpassing all those which had occurred before, went up from the crowd.

With his brothers standing with their wives, the Prince of Wales looked quite alone on the balcony. The day's event left him the only one of the four sons of the Royal family who has not married.

Boy Brought Back

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

Melrose boy lost six hours from home of his grandmother in Jamaica Plain is returned to his mother by "kidnaper" for whom police are now searching.

Police today sought the abductor car" from in front of 62 Boylston of Francis Sherry, 21-months-old street, Jamaica Plain, near the son of Mrs. Sadie Sherry, of Ash- home of his grandmother, Mrs. mont street, Melrose. Elizabeth Trombley, with whom he

The child was taken, he told his had been staying. mother, by a man in a big black

THE STORE FOR MEN

JORDAN MARSH COMPANY

An Extraordinary Offer!

SALE! Men's new SUITS and overcoats usually $35 to $40

$29.75

The Overcoats

- English-style RAGLANS in fine (32 and 33-oz. FLEECES)!
- Mohair-and-wool coats in Box and RAGLAN styles!
- Savings of $5.25 to $10.25 on every coat!

Extra salesmen, extra fitters and tailors will be ready to serve you!

The Suits

- Custom shades of BLUES, BROWNS, GRAYS, fancy two-tones, neat overplaids, checks, pencil-stripes!
- They're hand shaped. All the underpressing is done by HAND instead of by machine. All this is unusual in a suit at this price!
- Custom worsteds in these suits cost 33 1-3% more than in usual suits at this price.
- 3-ply TWISTS, Saxonys, unfinished and clearfaced Worsteds.

Double or single-breasted models, semi-conservative, sports backs, yoke backs. Duke of Kent models with long roll lapels. Regulars, shorts, longs, ½ stouts, full stouts, short stouts.

• Pay in 3 monthly payments (on the 10th of each month)

SECOND FLOOR STORE FOR MEN

"Two Trouser Jim-that's me"

"—and I'm just what the doctor ordered, when it comes to getting more for your money."

"I'm an exclusive sort of fellow, too! Bond's is the only place where you'll find me—the only place in town that always gives you 2 trousers with every suit."

"But being exclusive doesn't make me expensive. I don't cost a cent more than you'd pay for a good suit with only ONE pair of pants. Guess that's why I'm so popular—and why the Bond folks are making such a heap of friends."

"With me on your side, you can forget all about Public Enemy No. 1—'The Wear-'Em-Out Kid.' I'm as tough as they come, 'cause there's always 2 of me to soak up hard knocks."

"Look me up, when you pick your new suit. I'm a doggone handy fellow to have around. Like I said before, you'll always find me with every Bond suit."

$25 $30 $35

including two trousers

"Two Trouser Jim" forgot to tell you about our Ten Payment Plan. It permits you to pay out of your income, either weekly or twice a month. And it costs nothing extra!

BOND CLOTHES

corner Washington and Essex

OPEN SATURDAY EVENING UNTIL NINE

ITALIAN ARMY TO ADVANCE TOMORROW

Copyright, 1935, Associated Press.

Asmara Eritrea, Nov. 6—Italian general headquarters announced today that the army would start its advance into Ethiopia again at dawn tomorrow—all along the line.

Deep mud formed by yesterday's torrential rains was already dry, and roadbuilding had been so rapid that supplies could now reach the front with ease.

The column based at Aguia, about 18 miles northeast of the objective city of Makale, will go straight south to Dolo, just east of Makale, it was announced, while the main force will proceed from Hausien to Makale.

Ras Haile Selassie Gugsa, former Ethiopian governor of Makale, who deserted to the Italian side, still expected to have the honor with his tribesmen of being the first to enter the city.

The "mystery column" of Danakil warriors on the east has reached a point where it affords protection for the left flank of the advancing army, authorities said.

Italians felt little fear of an attack this side of Makale, most of the natives having deserted the Ethiopian side as soon as the Fascist forces appeared.

Italians Capture Town 12 Miles From Makale

Rome, Nov. 6 (INS)—Capture of the strategic town of Aguia, only 12 miles northeast of Makale, and steady progress by all advance patrols of the northern front was reported in the Italian government's official military communique No. 38, issued today.

One patrol, according to the official report from Asmara, reached Makale last night and found it deserted, with white crosses painted all over the convent as a token of surrender.

Geneva, Nov. 6 (INS)—Germany today balked plans to include coal in the League of Nations anti-Italian sanctions list.

Although League circles considered it certain that all non-members—including the United States—would agree to limit oil exports to last year's figures, it is understood the Reich has declined to limit coal exports.

The sanctions committee of 18 will meet this evening to consider Germany's reported attitude.

SHERMAN DEATH UNDER PROBE

Investigators today sought to link the slaying of Charles "Chink" Sherman and an unidentified man with the recent slaughter of "Dutch Schultz" Flegenheimer and three henchmen.

Sherman's body, hacked with an axe, was found buried in quicklime in a barn in Monticello, N. Y. Fingerprints furnished the identification.

The unidentified man, found in Knauth's lake, near Clarktown, N. Y., was at first believed to be "Bo" Weinberg, missing lieutenant of the slain Schultz.

Telephoned classification of the dead man's fingerprints, however, caused New York police to announce last night they were not those of Weinberg.

A copy of the fingerprints is expected to reach New York police today and an attempt will be made to identify the victim, who was apparently beaten to death and tossed in the lake 10 days ago.

Although Sherman, Boston gangster and under indictment here for murder, was a gangland foe of Dutch Schultz, police do not believe his death was in retaliation for the Schultz killing.

Mexican Ruler Lynched in Rising

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Nov. 6—Jose Lucas, president of a "Neighbors' Committee" which had taken over the government of Constitution De Cuxquisite, Vera Cruz, was lynched today by enraged townspeople after Federal troops had restored the rightfully elected town council.

Lucas was hanged to a tree.

A group headed by Lucas seized the government three months ago, with testimony that she went out with another man.

'American' (One) Star's Only Love

New York, Nov. 6 (INS)—Jean Parker, young film star, made it clear today that she prefers American men.

One American man, to be exact.

Jean Parker

Miss Parker, who returned to New York from England on the Cunarder Aquitania last night, said:

"British nobles may have dignity and polish, but Francis Lucas of Los Angeles is still my only love.

"I guess nothing will come of it, though, because he feels that my being more or less in the limelight makes a difference."

Lucas is a young bank clerk, whom Miss Parker said had been her sweetheart since childhood.

LYNN BOY HELD IN PAL'S DEATH

Continued from First Page

rifle which Goodell, Jones and five other boys took into the woods to fire at tin can and bottle targets.

Police said the other boys taunted Goodell about his poor marksmanship and that he swung the rifle in their direction.

The boy's own story is that he stumbled, discharging the rifle by accident, and that the bullet ricocheted off some object, striking Jones.

The bullet entered Jones' head at a point behind the right ear. Medical Examiner Nathaniel P. Breed began an autopsy to determine the course of the death slug and this, police said, would be checked with Goodell's story.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Goodell was arraigned before Judge Ralph W. Reeve at a juvenile session of the Lynn district court.

He pleaded not guilty and was ordered held without bail on a continuance of one week.

State Detective William F. Murray joined city police working on the case.

Goodell is the son of Mrs. Mary Goodell, a widow. He will be 17 next month.

Other boys in the group, police said, were Arthur Bakoian, 18, of Broadway, Arthur Lan, 14, William Sears, 14, Morgan Meehan, 13, and Thomas Garon, 14, all of the Wyoma section of Lynn.

Sears' mother, Mrs. Marion Sears, today found the death gun in a clump of bushes where it had been discarded after the tragedy.

British-Italian 'Truce' Reported

Paris, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Mediterranean problem was reported in diplomatic circles today to be "settled," leaving Premier Laval a free hand to discuss the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian war with Rome and London.

It was stated the British are expected to take some of their warships out of the Mediterranean in exchange for further withdrawals of Italian troops from Libya, but that no announcement is expected until after the British elections November 14.

A diplomatic source said Great Britain probably will withdraw at least one ship after November 14. This action, it was stated, will be followed by Italy withdrawing another division of troops from Libya with the understanding that Great Britain will further reduce her battle fleet in the Mediterranean.

Baby Born With Full Set of Teeth

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 6 (INS)—The one-day-old daughter of Mrs. Mildred Armstrong had an appointment with a dentist today!

Born with a full set of teeth, the six-pound baby, held in awe by members of the medical profession, was forced to relinquish all but two of her teeth because they were crooked.

There was a man in our town
And he was wondrous wise;
He had a little motor car
Which he did highly prize.
When winter came he changed his oil
To Gulflube Winter Grade;
The finest 25¢ oil that anyone has made!

Change now to
GULFLUBE WINTER GRADE
MOTOR OIL 25¢ A QUART
Watch for a new Gulf Jingle every other day
GULF REFINING COMPANY

Naval Conference Date Set for Dec. 5

London, Nov. 6 (AP)—Postponement of a conference of naval powers from December 2 to December 5 was officially announced today to give Japanese delegates sufficient time to reach London.

At the same time, it was announced that France and India had accepted invitations to the conference.

The United States has not yet replied to the invitation. Italy has not yet accepted but has sent experts for preliminary discussions.

Wife to Appeal Children Award

Salem, Nov. 6—An appeal was being considered today from the decision of Judge Edward B. O'Brien who awarded custody of Margery Ann Doucas, 10, and Dorothy Louise Doucas, nine, to their father, Louis V. Doucas of Peabody.

Mrs. Mary B. Doucas, Lynn telephone operator, lost her suit for separate support and custody of the children. She became hysterical when Judge O'Brien made his decision. The wife charged cruelty, but the husband countered

2 BLENDS—2 PRICES

RED LABEL America's finest quality | BROWN LABEL High quality, low price

'SALADA' TEA

118-A

THURSDAY—SECOND DAY

JORDAN MARSH COMPANY GREAT BASEMENT STORE

Remarkable Values Ready in Our Great Annual

November Sale

50% Irregulars—50% First Quality
Women's M. K. M. AND OTHER
Silk Stockings

CHIFFONS—42 gauge with picot tops, liberal welt, run stops, after welt. Lisle plaited heel and foot for service. Sheer and clear. Cradle foot. French heels. Sizes 8½ to 10½.
SERVICE—with picot tops, lisle garter welt, run stops, heavy longwearing lisle foot. Reinforced lisle toe and heel. French heels. Cradle foot. Sizes 8½ to 10½.

50c

Two Groups Misses'-Women's
$1.69-$1.98 Slips, Gowns

Group 1—of SILK CREPE Tailored or lace trimmed styles. Slips have adjustable shoulder straps, sizes 34 to 44. Also some printed silk gowns, sizes 16-17. $1.24

Group 2—of HEAVY SATIN Gowns with V necks, tailored or lace trimmed, sizes 16 and 17. Slips with straight or V tops, adjustable straps, sizes 34 to 44. $1.49

Sale . . . *new dressy styles in Women's 59c to 79c
Fall Neckwear

Fall Neckwear, rayon satin or acetate crepe. Colorful plaids. White and pastels with new tinsel trims. Some with cuffs. 39c

Women's Wool Plaid Scarfs.....48c

Misses' --- Women's --- Juniors'
Fall Dress Values

Featuring the new acetate crepe fabrics in "snake-ring," "blister" and matelasse weaves. Tunic effects, wraparounds, one piece types with smocked necklines, jewelry trims, nailheads, frogs and buckles. All new—and in sizes 11 to 17—14 to 20—38 to 46—46 to 52—18½ to 24½. Great choosing—plan to be here early. $3.88

Also "High Fashion" Dress Values . . . $5.90

Just Think Ahead to Christmas—What Wonderful Gifts They'll Make the MUFF Bag

In Suede . . . First Time So Low to Our Knowledge!
Also leather grained fabric bags with covered zippers, several pockets, prystal ornaments. Black, brown, navy, wine or green. Initial 25c Extra $1

Fur Trimmed or Tailored Styles
Tots' $10.50 to $12.95
Three Piece Coat Sets

Girls' suede cloth coat and muff, with Persian curl or leopard plush fabric cape collar. Sizes 4 to 6½.
Girls' suede cloth coat, with beaver dyed rabbit or leopard trimming, hat, legging to match, high shades. Sizes 2-6½.
Boys' cravenetted shower-proof checked wool fleece coat, legging and helmet sets, wool lined, tan or navy, sizes 2 to 6.
Toddlers' suede cloth coat, hat and legging sets with yoke tuckings, fur trimmed sleeves, 2 to 4½.
Boys' all wool "HEIGH-HO" cravenetted chinchilla coats in brown or navy with wool linings. Sizes 2 to 6. $8.88

Men's $19.75 to $24.50
Winter Coats

Balmacaans, double-breasted raglans, double-breasted box coats; thru-and-thru fabrics; half-belt styles; checks, overplaids; bing, swagger coats for football games or motoring. Sizes 36 to 46. $14.50

Just 180 Men's Suits, EACH.....$8.95

Men's $1.19 Stetson Shirts
NON-WILT Collars

First quality; vat-dyed, fast-color plain or fancy broadcloth. Collars won't shrink, won't crush, won't wrinkle, won't curl, and need no starch. Sizes 14 to 17. 79c

Men's Usual 59c Neckties, Each.....39c

Boys' $3.95 Slide-Front
Cossack Jackets

In New Plaids of red, brown or blue. All-wool cossack jackets with full-length, slide-fastener; two muff pockets and adjustable side-straps. Sizes 8 to 18. $3.29

Boys' 89c-98c Shirts or Blouses.....68c

50-inch Usual 69c
Drapery Damask

Heavy quality rayon-cotton drapery damask, wide enough to split for overdrapes. First quality, fine colors. Rust, deep red, green, blue, brown, eggshell or gold-color. YARD 39c

$3.50 Coarse NET Curtains, Pair.....$1.59

Reversible, Cotton
Chenille Rugs

1-3 to ½-price! Sizes 24x36, 24x40, 22x44 and 24x48. For the children's room, bathroom or chamber. Rose, blue, green, orchid, black-and-white. No mail or phone orders. EACH.. 98c

$1.89 to $2.25 Stair Carpeting, Yd...$1.49

STEVENS' All-Linen Crash
Dish Towels

Size 15x28¼-inches! Laundered-finish, no lint. Absorbent towels with loop for hanging. Ecru-color center with all-around colored borders. EACH..... 11c

$1.39 Unbleached Mattress Covers .....97c

Charge Accounts—Free Deliveries—Mail or Phone Orders—Hubbard 2700 until 10 P. M.

Demeter to Ask School Committee Vote Recount

Two recounts loomed today out of Boston's off-year municipal election, marked by startling upsets, unseating of three city councillors and re-election of two school committee members by overwhelming pluralities

Representative George Demeter, nosed out for school committee by 1100 votes, made application to the election commissioners for a recount fo the entire school committee vote.

It was indicated also that Councillor George P. Donovan of South Boston, who lost re-election by 30 votes, would ask a recount.

They have until 5 p. m. Friday to file signatures of registered voters on a recount petition with the election commissioners.

Candidates backed by two retiring city councillors were also defeated as voters upset the dope.

TOBIN GETS BIG VOTE

In the school committee contest, Maurice J. Tobin was re-elected with 80,899 votes, one of the biggest in his career.

Dr. Charles E. Mackey came in second place with a total of 69,058 ballots.

Henry J. Smith of Brighton, investment broker, proved a surprise winner of the third place with 27,334 votes.

DEMETER NOSED OUT

Representative Demeter, Back Bay, led most of the way for the post, but was edged out in a stirring finish by Smith. Demeter garnered a total of 26,224 votes.

In the council fight, voters handed surprise packages to Councillors Donovan, Ward 6; Eddward L. Englert, Ward 11, and Albert L. Fish, Ward 16.

George A. Murray, polling a total of 2713, defeated Donovan.

Former Representative James J. Kilroy handed Englert a decisive defeat, his total of 3828 votes giving him a plurality of 1007.

In Ward 16, Councillor Fish, seeking his fifth term, went down before John J. McGrath who tallied 4435 votes to 3942 for Fish.

Upsets were also recorded in Ward 2, Charlestown, and Ward 14, Dorchester, where Councillors Thomas Green and Murray Goldman are retiring.

Despite the opposition of the Green machine, James J. Mellen secured 4983 votes to hand a decisive beating to their candidate, John P. Doherty.

In the Dorchester Ward, Sidney Rosenberg, with a 4073 total, slipped in ahead of the Goldman-backed candidate, Charles Kaplan, who secured 3514 votes.

In Ward 13, Dorchester, where Councillor Joseph McGrath is retiring, former Representative Peter J. Fitzgerald was an easy winner.

Sixteen of the 22 councillors now incumbent were re-elected.

John I. Fitzgerald in Ward 3 polled 5734 votes, over 2000 more than the combined total of his four opponents, scoring a smashing victory for the Hendricks Club, which dominated West End politics under the late Martin M. Lomasney.

The election was marked by little disorder in Boston until last night when a near race-riot broke out in Ward 5, where City Councillor Richard D. Gleason was re-elected.

CURLEY SEES NEW HOPE FOR 1936 RACE

The outcome of yesterday's elections throughout the nation was not unexpected and should be regarded as "most gratifying," it was declared today by Governor Curley.

"The policies enumerated by President Roosevelt, and for the adoption of which he has labored so unceasingly, have not been secure in operation at the present time, and when their objective is rightly understood by the American people there will be no occasion for fear on the part of Democrats as to the outcome in 1936.

"When the election took place in Rhode Island several months ago, the Democratic party was unquestionably at its lowest ebb, and while defeat was suffered generally throughout the country in yesterday's elections, majorities are not so great as to be either disturbing or distressing.

BUSHNELL URGES FIGHT

"That prosperity is here now and will increase in 1936 is accepted by even the most bitter critics and opponents of Franklin D. Roosevelt and his policies.

"With prosperity in the nation in 1936 there is little likelihood that the American people can be induced or stampeded into supporting the Republican Party, which has been responsible for the worst years of misery and deprivation in the history of the nation."

Robert T. Bushnell, president of the Massachusetts Republican Club, took a view decidedly opposite that of the Governor. Bushnell said:

"The elections yesterday show that hard fighting can win, but we must remember that wrist-slapping and pink teas cannot.

"DEMAND HONESTY"

"Every Massachusetts victory yesterday was due directly to our fighting candidates, backed by a devoted group of plain, ordinary people, so aroused that they made up their minds they would carry the fight to the last trench, and they did so. They can make it statewide next year."

Representative Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., who will be Republican candidate for United States senator next year, declared:

"The elections here are a clear sign that people are as tired of impossible promises as they are of smug inaction. They show a strong demand for honest administration and for concrete measures which obtain."

G. O. P. Chief Sees 1936 Victory Sweep

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Downfall of the Democratic party in 1936 was forecast today by Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican national committee on the basis of yesterday's elections.

He referred to the triumph as "but the forerunner of what will happen next year." He said:

"The boondoggiers are on their way out. The Republican party is on its way back to power. New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland tell the story.

"The American people are becoming thoroughly aware of the sham of 'New Deal' pretenses and the menace of 'New Deal' policies."

"It's Victory for Us," Says Farley About N. Y.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6 (INS)—The widely conflicting views of Democratic and Republican leaders on the outcome of the New York state elections was indicated by a statement from James A. Farley, who is both state and national Democratic chairman, and by Melvin C. Eaton, Republican chairman. Farley said:

"This election gave our party one of the largest representations it ever had, approximately the same as came in with Roosevelt in 1932.

"Accepting that the New Deal was the issue, New York state voted in favor of it by a majority of about 500,000."

Eaton said:

"The assembly was recaptured by the Republicans despite the efforts of the New Deal administration and Democratic state committee to halt the Republican tide through the use of patronage and money. They failed in their efforts to buy this election. Our victory gives Republicans throughout the nation added strength and energy to defeat the New Deal in 1936."

"G. O. P. Victory Dooms Guinea Pig," Says Fish

New York, Nov. 6 (INS)—Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., New York, one of the most persistent critics of the New Deal, today hailed the Republican victory in New York state.

"The results throughout the country show that not only Republicans, but dissatisfied Democrats took this occasion to vote against the New Deal," Fish said.

"The days of the guinea pig are over and we are on our way to days of prosperity."

Saint Rose Alumni Dansant Tonight

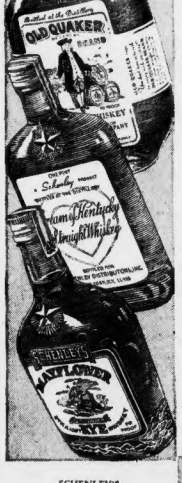
The annual dancing party of Saint Rose High School Alumni of Chelsea is to be held tonight at the American Legion building in Chelsea.

The dansant is under the direction of Miss Blanche Mockler, president of the alumni, and a committee headed by Miss Margaret O'Leary and Miss Catherina Cahalane.

Schenley's AUTUMN FESTIVAL

"Harvest-time" specials at your Schenley dealers! These and many others at real old-fashioned prices!



SCHENLEY'S
OLD QUAKER
BRAND
STRAIGHT WHISKEY
"You don't have to be rich to enjoy rich whiskey." Friendly to your taste, to your throat, to your purse

SCHENLEY'S
CREAM OF KENTUCKY
STRAIGHT WHISKEY
Straight from the heart of the Bluegrass of old Kentucky. People who know good whiskey call it "double rich."

SCHENLEY'S
MAYFLOWER
PENNSYLVANIA
STRAIGHT RYE WHISKEY
The smooth, mellow flavor of this straight rye whiskey will delight you. Real rye whiskey made the American way.

SCHENLEY'S
GOLDEN WEDDING
BLEND OF STRAIGHT WHISKIES
America's premier blend. It tastes better—because it is made of finer, costlier straight whiskies—blended for better taste. It's ALL whiskey!

SCHENLEY'S
RED LABEL
BLENDED WHISKEY
Here's the good-to-the-taste whiskey you've wanted—at a price you can afford to pay. Smooth and mellow—"It's the Cream."

THE WILKEN FAMILY
BLENDED WHISKEY
Harry E. Wilken Sr. says, "It's our family's whiskey, neighbor—and neighbor, it's your price!" Made from an old family recipe and priced under a dollar.

SCHENLEY PRODUCTS CO., INC. 20 W. 40th St. New York
Executive Offices

Charge in November—Pay in January

White's Thrift Basement
R. H. WHITE CO.

This Dollar Bill

is heading for fame . . . and our November Dollar Day. When he comes out, he may be 5 pair of hose, a pair of shoes, a warm winter union suit, or a thousand and one other useful things. When have you seen a dollar buy so much? Come Thursday and see this miracle worked on YOUR dollar . . . it's the value thrill of the season.

THURSDAY at 9.30

Dollar Day

mostly $2, some $3 and $4 values in these factory "imperfects"

Women's SHOES $1 pair

come early, because we'll be crowded

—Many arch shoes
—built up heels
—some Factory imperfects (won't hurt the wear)
—some sport oxfords
—one own $2.98 growing girls' patent straps
—sizes 3½ to 9 in group, plenty of wide widths

All sales final—no mail or phone orders

$1.15 irregulars "Kant-run" top chiffons 89c irregulars nationally known service weight 79c 1st quality. $1 "Ringless" chiffons

Full Fashioned Silk Stockings 2 Pairs $1

Silk chiffons with picot tops. Service weight with lisle top and feet. Sizes 8½ to 10½.

Men's, women's higher priced slippers. Hard leather soles for men, soft soles with heels for women. $1 Pair

WARM FOOT NOTES
—women's wool, rayon, cotton stockings, irregulars ..... 4 pairs $1
—children's wool, rayon, cotton long stockings, irregulars ..... 4 pairs $1
—wool and cotton ankle and skating socks, irregulars ..... 4 pairs $1

A mighty low price for such luxurious

Satin or Silk Costume Slips $1

Tailored models or lovely lace trimmed styles. Sizes 34 to 44. Tea rose shade.

Irregulars of higher priced rayon taffeta

Costume slips 2 for $1

Trimmed with fine lace or trimly tailored.

Irregulars of 39c, 12½, 20½

WOOL SNUGGIES 4 for $1

12½ wool, 87½% cotton, or 20% wool, 80% cotton. Vests or panties. Small, medium, large.

our usual $1.69 to $3

Skirts-Sweaters-Blouses $1 each

SKIRTS: Fall tweeds, pleated or gored styles. Sizes 26 to 32.

SWEATERS: Seconds, samples, in long or short sleeves. Sizes 34 to 46.

BLOUSES: Seconds, samples, odd lots, silk, satin, jersey. Sizes 34 to 46.

1587 regular 69c, 79c men's broadcloth SHIRTS 2 for $1

Collar attached in white or fancy printed vat dyed full color stripes. Fancy pattern neckband style, some with matching separate collars. Broken sizes 14 to 17.

Seconds of 98c to $1.39

Men's nightshirts $1

Broadcloth, percale or Amoskeag flannelette. 2 for $1

Sizes 15 to 20 in lot.

Men's 19c Sox 8 pairs $1
Famous reinforced throughout toes. Sizes 10½ to 13.

Men's Chambray Work Shirts $1
Genuine blue chambray. Triple stitched. 2 pockets. Sizes 14½ to 17. 2 for $1

Men's Serviceable Pants $1
Stripe and mixtures in grey, brown, those sizes 29 to 42. Waists 28 to 42.

Men's Pajamas $1
Broadcloth or cotton Amoskeag Flannelette. Coat style. Sizes 14 to 20.

Men's 10¢ Wool Union Suits $1
Ribbed, wool mixed, winter weight. Ecru color. Button or Winter knee length. Sizes 34 to 46.

Men's $1.98 all wool and other Sweaters $1
Some import styles. See them! Famous labels.

Dollar Values for the home

Irregulars of higher priced Heavy Turkish Towels 10 for $1

16x36 inches

24x48 ..... 3 for $1
20x40 ..... 4 for $1
18x36 ..... 6 for $1

Our Regular $1.29 WHITE SHEET BLANKETS $1

70x90 extra size

All finished with neat overlocked ends. Fluffy, warm—and white.

$1.59 Pepperell "Crown Tested" rayon taffeta ruffled DRAPES $1 SET

Complete with tie backs. Soft boudoir shades of green, blue, rose, orchid, peach, gold, eggshell.

8-piece marquisette cottage set or tailored curtains. 2 pair $1

Kapok filled damask Pillows (rayon, cotton) ..... and 2 for $1

49c two-tone Filet Scarfs 3 for $1

$1.29 mattress covers $1

Irregulars of $1.89 Filet Table Cloths $1

$1.39 linen crash Table cloths $1

79c cotton chenille rugs 2 for $1

Sicilian Damask drapes $1

Irregulars of 79c sheet blankets 2 for $1

$1.49 Pastel sheet blankets pair $1

25c bleached pillow cases 5 for $1

69c Cocoa door mats 2 for $1

Our regular $1.44 imported ORIENTAL TYPE RUGS 22x40 inches $1

Just 100 of these popular rugs. Colors of reds, blues, rose.

Irregulars of $1 and $1.19. And they remind us of Christmas. Jaunty—Colorful

BERET AND SCARF SET 2 for $1

Perfect for school, for sports, and for gifts. Dashing colors, striking styles.

Dollar Values for Children

Girls' $1.10 pantie dresses 2 for $1

close out from high grade maker. Limited quantity in sizes 7 to 10.

Tots' regularly $1.98 wool or corduroy SKI-ALL and SKI PANTS sizes 2 to 6 $1

All the new winter shades.

Irregulars of $1.15 Tuck Stitch or Balbriggan Pajamas 2 for $1

Choice of the younger set for winter. Soft cotton, and launders easily.

Girls' coat or slipon sweaters $1

Tots' all wool sweaters 2 for $1

Children's union suits 2 for $1

Girls' lambskin muffs $1

Children's leather shoes $1 Pair

Boys' $1.39 knickers $1

Tots' dresses and suits 2 for $1

Boys' $1.39 all wool and other sweaters $1

Irregulars of 85c to $1.50 2 for $1

WOMEN'S cotton flannelette gowns and pajamas 2 for $1

Solid color or pastel stripes. Sizes 16, 17.

Regularly $1.40 to $2.50

MATERNITY and other FOUNDATION GARMENTS $1

Corsettes, girdles, stepins, and a splendid maternity or abdominal corset. Styles and sizes for every figure.

Values that make your Dollars go far

Misses'—Women's—Samples, Limited Quantity Fur Felt and other Hats $1

Bright football colors, newest styles. Also a collection of sport hats in head sizes 22 and 24.

Just 350 hats that are an unusual opportunity at 2 for $1

Women's satin or silk costume slips $1

Tailored models or lovely lace trimmed styles. Sizes 34 to 44. Tea rose shade.

Just 85 women's Blanket Robes $1

Sizes, medium, large.

Irregulars of 89c Women's Bemberg undies 3 for $1

Vests, bloomers, pantie, stepins. Regular and extra sizes.

Irregulars of 25c 4 for $1
12½% or 20% Snuggies

irregulars of $1.15 Tuck stitch or Balbriggan Pajamas 2 for $1

The choice of the Younger Set for winter. All of soft, easy to launder cotton.

Irregulars of $1.88 Beret and scarf sets $1

Dashing collection of styles and colors.

Women's 12½% wool union suits 2 for $1

12½% wool, 87½% cotton, with rayon stripe. Sleeveless and knee length. Sizes 34 to 44.

Men's, women's $1.39 to $3. Kid, lamb, cape, suede, mocha, pigtex and other GLOVES, Pair $1

Lined or unlined. Sizes 5½ to 7½ for women, 7½ to 10 for men.

$1.39 felt base rugs $1

Add that set perfect.

Adjustable lace Curtains Irregulars of $1.19 to $2.98 $1

Attractive ranch weave. Pair .....

Children's regularly 69c and other WARM SLEEPERS 2 for $1

Sizes 4 to 14 in flannelette, cotton. Striped, some frog trimmed. Sizes 2 to 6 in knit, pink or blue sleepers.

1,356 pair usual 59c to 79c samples, odd lots, imported and other Woolen Gloves or Mittens 2 for $1

Men's—women's—children's multi-colored gloves or mittens from high grade makers.

Complete Boston Vote for School Committee

| | WARD 1 | WARD 2 | WARD 3 | WARD 4 | WARD 5 | WARD 6 | WARD 7 | WARD 8 | WARD 9 | WARD 10 | WARD 11 | WARD 12 | WARD 13 | WARD 14 | WARD 15 | WARD 16 | WARD 17 | WARD 18 | WARD 19 | WARD 20 | WARD 21 | WARD 22 | TOTAL |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| SULLIVAN | 1531 | 1014 | 2178 | 474 | 473 | 1559 | 942 | 606 | 707 | 503 | 949 | 775 | 902 | 651 | 816 | 1054 | 785 | 1036 | 890 | 3193 | 499 | 786 | 20334 |
| MACKEY | 5089 | 3074 | 2387 | 1629 | 897 | 6023 | 5453 | 1936 | 2064 | 2022 | 3151 | 1772 | 3041 | 2384 | 3438 | 4618 | 3221 | 3702 | 2642 | 4300 | 2433 | 3023 | 69038 |
| DEMETER | 944 | 561 | 1453 | 2938 | 2315 | 389 | 439 | 329 | 857 | 765 | 737 | 981 | 695 | 750 | 777 | 1534 | 1857 | 1498 | 1262 | 3578 | 1288 | 838 | 26214 |
| MURPHY | 538 | 372 | 670 | 516 | 338 | 499 | 420 | 187 | 516 | 450 | 613 | 323 | 370 | 335 | 587 | 794 | 1192 | 783 | 421 | 1016 | 383 | 602 | 11849 |
| GILDEA | 666 | 398 | 360 | 235 | 110 | 264 | 272 | 187 | 448 | 1395 | 1923 | 438 | 321 | 265 | 420 | 658 | 546 | 1473 | 901 | 1575 | 292 | 789 | 14832 |
| KAPLAN | 310 | 107 | 564 | 202 | 208 | 124 | 214 | 72 | 243 | 158 | 215 | 1095 | 201 | 3142 | 152 | 190 | 642 | 374 | 107 | 221 | 464 | 137 | 8850 |
| FLAHERTY | 985 | 1088 | 1139 | 376 | 331 | 1210 | 1035 | 271 | 785 | 618 | 730 | 354 | 1035 | 855 | 1596 | 2424 | 1248 | 1819 | 770 | 858 | 516 | 979 | 20090 |
| CARP | 113 | 72 | 179 | 72 | 54 | 58 | 52 | 39 | 147 | 42 | 118 | 511 | 61 | 1751 | 52 | 81 | 214 | 165 | 47 | 173 | 358 | 111 | 4440 |
| EISENSTADT | 129 | 69 | 212 | 86 | 58 | 49 | 87 | 313 | 184 | 62 | 160 | 1176 | 101 | 183 | 62 | 67 | 157 | 180 | 93 | 184 | 173 | 79 | 3904 |
| MATTHEW W. KELLEY | 1942 | 390 | 284 | 100 | 70 | 193 | 249 | 82 | 178 | 167 | 218 | 96 | 161 | 130 | 256 | 242 | 230 | 157 | 158 | 176 | 153 | 248 | 5850 |
| COPPOLA | 3621 | 1932 | 96 | 116 | 208 | 235 | 188 | 175 | 534 | 613 | 76 | 147 | 149 | 179 | 191 | 147 | 498 | 203 | 561 | 100 | 177 | 9107 | |
| TOBIN | 5162 | 4377 | 2681 | 1830 | 1196 | 6040 | 5743 | 1838 | 2530 | 3513 | 3835 | 2307 | 3412 | 3190 | 3838 | 5332 | 4084 | 3863 | 4033 | 6019 | 2345 | 5005 | 80899 |
| PAUL T. BURKE | 422 | 312 | 188 | 111 | 121 | 284 | 330 | 149 | 558 | 198 | 339 | 143 | 382 | 485 | 783 | 993 | 1801 | 1162 | 339 | 586 | 145 | 332 | 9339 |
| JAMES T. BURKE | 218 | 132 | 176 | 90 | 73 | 154 | 160 | 108 | 283 | 179 | 312 | 456 | 155 | 291 | 1561 | 231 | 356 | 456 | 147 | 227 | 100 | 515 | 4569 |
| TAMKIN | 76 | 48 | 139 | 208 | 544 | 43 | 47 | 33 | 189 | 288 | 168 | 392 | 84 | 1174 | 58 | 99 | 163 | 165 | 135 | 270 | 341 | 140 | 4505 |
| REGAN | 676 | 358 | 471 | 296 | 137 | 571 | 502 | 1471 | 370 | 858 | 620 | 383 | 602 | 337 | 625 | 685 | 529 | 571 | 488 | 890 | 528 | 2217 | 14178 |
| McCARTHY | 447 | 415 | 353 | 209 | 264 | 765 | 1003 | 152 | 566 | 424 | 347 | 271 | 504 | 1107 | 730 | 831 | 502 | 527 | 294 | 457 | 311 | 335 | 9117 |
| CONCANNON | 467 | 326 | 304 | 205 | 103 | 404 | 418 | 127 | 152 | 191 | 361 | 115 | 339 | 158 | 601 | 2455 | 686 | 285 | 175 | 260 | 226 | 414 | 8768 |
| PALAZA | 2129 | 100 | 1026 | 48 | 73 | 237 | 149 | 148 | 144 | 75 | 82 | 223 | 395 | 302 | 151 | 112 | 109 | 183 | 77 | 108 | 55 | 79 | 6905 |
| KOLODNY | 942 | 124 | 396 | 275 | 270 | 90 | 98 | 267 | 681 | 271 | 411 | 2108 | 308 | 5490 | 290 | 270 | 648 | 551 | 311 | 607 | 672 | 375 | 17097 |
| DAILEY | 186 | 304 | 494 | 244 | 127 | 303 | 242 | 378 | 378 | 311 | 358 | 323 | 216 | 137 | 312 | 407 | 364 | 196 | 216 | 290 | 167 | 391 | 6361 |
| SMITH | 1133 | 886 | 787 | 764 | 1852 | 930 | 848 | 398 | 579 | 1057 | 929 | 497 | 753 | 567 | 968 | 1470 | 1565 | 1004 | 1467 | 2850 | 2511 | 5319 | 27358 |
| DONAHUE | 208 | 129 | 126 | 89 | 89 | 161 | 102 | 220 | 665 | 187 | 180 | 116 | 98 | 81 | 108 | 136 | 83 | 94 | 104 | 99 | 69 | 115 | 3159 |
| WILLIAM F. KELLY | 410 | 172 | 144 | 69 | 58 | 158 | 117 | 84 | 211 | 464 | 167 | 55 | 107 | 67 | 141 | 110 | 121 | 109 | 128 | 134 | 85 | 135 | 3204 |
| McCULLY | 145 | 4636 | 187 | 45 | 19 | 84 | 147 | 35 | 124 | 85 | 103 | 129 | 130 | 51 | 92 | 187 | 114 | 85 | 85 | 127 | 44 | 96 | 6744 |
| O'HARA | 285 | 1135 | 187 | 115 | 51 | 164 | 123 | 192 | 271 | 158 | 149 | 108 | 63 | 81 | 104 | 406 | 79 | 127 | 129 | 141 | 68 | 184 | 4320 |
| MORIARTY | 785 | 824 | 623 | 406 | 1353 | 417 | 629 | 307 | 361 | 562 | 792 | 323 | 547 | 540 | 534 | 1032 | 847 | 459 | 355 | 746 | 318 | 482 | 14335 |
| McCULLOCH | 442 | 455 | 289 | 162 | 134 | 523 | 1496 | 293 | 155 | 242 | 213 | 159 | 973 | 180 | 621 | 1013 | 717 | 400 | 282 | 720 | 238 | 429 | 10127 |
| CASEY | 233 | 159 | 182 | 88 | 57 | 212 | 610 | 108 | 156 | 215 | 158 | 91 | 723 | 176 | 389 | 438 | 340 | 195 | 250 | 286 | 165 | 229 | 5436 |

Vote in Everett

MAYOR

| | Frank E. Lewis | James A. Roche |
|---|---|---|
| Ward 1 | 2025 | 664 |
| Ward 2 | 1990 | 1790 |
| Ward 3 | 3248 | 2053 |
| Ward 4 | 1466 | 1486 |
| Ward 5 | 684 | 756 |
| Ward 6 | 1627 | 1144 |
| Total | 9380 | 7919 |

COMMON COUNCIL

WARD 1

| | |
|---|---|
| James DePiano | 309 |
| *Louis Enfanto | 461 |
| James F. Horner | 278 |
| John R. Madden | 298 |
| *Austin M. O'Malley | 366 |
| *Gilbert W. Starbie | 401 |

WARD 2

| | |
|---|---|
| *Franklin E. Bailey | 1602 |
| Harry M. Lack | 1162 |
| William O'Donnell | 850 |
| *Harold W. Stevens | 1623 |
| *William A. Tabb | 1728 |
| Morris Wolpe | 896 |

WARD 3

| | |
|---|---|
| Alfred H. Anderson | 1636 |
| Edward D. Chisholm | 1802 |
| *Lawrence H. Davis | 2020 |
| *William M. Foberg | 1986 |
| Everett M. Grieve | 1569 |
| *John F. Riley | 2432 |

WARD 4

| | |
|---|---|
| *Leslie L. Barney | 1192 |
| Peter R. Burke, Jr. | 756 |
| Eugenio L. Capuano | 1007 |
| *Chester A. DeVivo | 1076 |
| George A. Hickman | 901 |
| *George W. Lowe | 1134 |

WARD 5

| | |
|---|---|
| *Herbert W. Card | 556 |
| Frank D'Agostino | 489 |
| *John J. Florentino | 325 |
| Alexander Shea — Galbraith | 474 |
| Christopher L. Hall | 401 |
| *Guy Taschetta | 628 |

WARD 6

| | |
|---|---|
| *Joseph B. Doherty | 1083 |
| John M. Gregson | 1019 |
| *James A. Hare | 1109 |
| Bertram B. Harrison | 763 |
| *Edward P. Hogan | 1196 |
| Cornelius Shea | 887 |

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Ward 1

| | |
|---|---|
| *Hall | 7834 |
| Strachan | 6113 |

Ward 3

| | |
|---|---|
| *Jameson | 7492 |
| Bruce | 6791 |

*Elected.
(No contests in other Wards)

ALDERMEN

Ward 1

| | |
|---|---|
| *Marshall | 7858 |
| English | 7285 |

Ward 2

| | |
|---|---|
| Pearson | 4119 |
| *Burke | 10,576 |

Ward 3

| | |
|---|---|
| Monohan | 6369 |
| Leggat | 8386 |

Ward 4

| | |
|---|---|
| Mackey | 7333 |
| Harrington | 6948 |

Ward 5

| | |
|---|---|
| Savage | 8348 |
| Fitzgerald | 6498 |

Ward 6

| | |
|---|---|
| Hogan | 7648 |
| Galbraith | 6885 |
| *Re-elected. | |

SCHOOL COMMITTEE-AT-LARGE

| | Ward 1 | Ward 2 | Ward 3 | Ward 4 | Ward 5 | Ward 6 | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| *Murdock | 648 | 1575 | 2654 | 1442 | 765 | 1346 | 8416 |
| Listernick | 276 | 2013 | 2342 | 1023 | 536 | 1333 | 7523 |

*Elected.

ALDERMAN-AT-LARGE

| | Ward 1 | Ward 2 | Ward 3 | Ward 4 | Ward 5 | Ward 6 | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| O'Gara | 484 | 1709 | 2599 | 1229 | 690 | 1475 | 8276 |
| Chisholm | 561 | 1477 | 2201 | 1121 | 512 | 1015 | 6887 |

Medford Vote

MAYOR

| | John H. Burke | John J. Irwin |
|---|---|---|
| Ward 1 | 948 | 1700 |
| Ward 2 | 966 | 1693 |
| Ward 3 | 1936 | 3819 |
| Ward 4 | 880 | 1939 |
| Ward 5 | 1782 | 1866 |
| Ward 6 | 2587 | 2587 |
| Ward 7 | 577 | 1093 |
| Total | 6018 | 10,698 |

ALDERMEN AT LARGE

| | Ward 1 | Ward 2 | Ward 3 | Ward 4 | Ward 5 | Ward 6 | Ward 7 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Carr | 1028 | 1034 | 2057 | 1168 | 1514 | 1754 | 581 |
| Bailey | 1109 | 1077 | 481 | 1158 | 1199 | 1000 | 1016 |
| Ward 3 | | | | | | | |
| Twombley | 841 | 749 | 1550 | 831 | 1056 | 1116 | 726 |
| Campbell | 1230 | 1683 | 2310 | 1621 | 1500 | 1762 | 681 |
| Ward 3 | | | | | | | |
| Dwyer | 1049 | 911 | 1228 | 1129 | 1550 | 1127 | 673 |
| Bonney | 890 | 1198 | 2309 | 1129 | 977 | 1623 | 576 |
| Ward 4 | | | | | | | |
| Scott | 692 | 780 | 1539 | 1071 | 1439 | 1086 | 548 |
| Prior | 1134 | 831 | 1086 | 1412 | 1286 | 1459 | 665 |
| Ward 5 | | | | | | | |
| Higgins | 1296 | 1221 | 1756 | 1392 | 2270 | 1198 | 808 |
| Cooper | 411 | 389 | 755 | 1454 | 856 | 897 | 1419 |
| Ward 6 | | | | | | | |
| O'Brien | 1153 | 1441 | 1082 | 1396 | 1107 | 1012 | 713 |
| Bacon | 729 | 1889 | 926 | 971 | 960 | 2637 | 533 |
| Ward 7 | | | | | | | |
| Norton | 1028 | 1034 | 2057 | 1160 | 1514 | 1754 | 581 |
| Callahan | 1109 | 1077 | 1481 | 1158 | 1199 | 1000 | 1016 |

WARD ALDERMEN

WARD 1

| | |
|---|---|
| C. B. Harrington | 1342 |
| M. S. Inman | 1245 |
| Geo. W. McCarthy | 857 |
| M. F. Skerry | 1083 |

WARD 2

| | |
|---|---|
| Edward A. Cronin | 1010 |
| James J. MacDonald | 1291 |
| Edw. A. J. Putnam | 844 |
| Wm. F. Shine | 1151 |

WARD 3

| | |
|---|---|
| Howard F. Alden | 1906 |
| Cyril N. Buckley | 1539 |
| Willard Nelson Price | 1602 |
| Thomas E. F. Rawson | 1608 |

WARD 4

| | |
|---|---|
| James Cronin | 857 |
| Edward Holland | 1283 |
| James G. Lane | 1458 |
| James F. McCarthy | 1348 |

WARD 5

| | |
|---|---|
| Geo. A. Cataldo | 1444 |
| Louis Forti | 1440 |
| Daniel J. Kelley | 1676 |
| Ernest Martini | 1676 |

WARD 6

| | |
|---|---|
| Fdk. E. Bean | 2098 |
| Daniel H. Goodnow | 907 |
| Walter E. Lawrence | 2338 |

WARD 7

| | |
|---|---|
| Albert J. Duff | 515 |
| John V. Gibbons | 983 |
| S. T. O'Sullivan | 835 |
| Joseph W. Trainor | 406 |
| Guy E. Healey | 6351 |
| Arthur E. Crowley | 9092 |

Ward 2

| | |
|---|---|
| May E. Songster | 8596 |
| Aimee V. Hockaday | 6024 |

Ward 3

| | |
|---|---|
| Ellen Ruth Hayes | 8497 |
| Joseph F. Brawley | 7466 |

Ward 4

| | |
|---|---|
| Robert W. Meserve | 8588 |
| John J. Connors | 7554 |

Ward 5 (No Contest)

Ward 6

| | |
|---|---|
| Lyman R. Walker | 7165 |
| James C. Connors | 9848 |

Socialist Mayor Sticks to Economy

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 6 (AP)—Jasper McLevy, practical Socialist, who places rigid economy and governmental efficiency above all adherence to Marxian principles, looked forward today to two more years as mayor of this industrial city of some 140,000.

McLevy has had little time to devote to his trade of roofer since he took over the governmental reins of his native city two years ago, but he remains plain and unaffected.

Council Vote In Boston

Vote by Wards

WARD 1

| | |
|---|---|
| Coffey | 3985 |
| Fenlon | 1600 |
| McIntyre | 618 |
| Del Gross | 451 |
| Di Pesa | 183 |
| Sciarella | 5185 |
| Clark (sticker) | 44 |

WARD 2

| | |
|---|---|
| Mellen | 4985 |
| Corcoran | 403 |
| Morey, Jr. | 135 |
| Doherty | 5342 |

WARD 3

| | |
|---|---|
| Fitzgerald | 5714 |
| Lo Presti | 534 |
| Di Mattia | 362 |
| Penta | 1360 |
| Pennacchio | 436 |

WARD 4

| | |
|---|---|
| Gouldey | 1597 |
| Roberts | 3662 |

WARD 5

| | |
|---|---|
| Sullivan | 941 |
| Shattuck | 3381 |

WARD 6

| | |
|---|---|
| Scannell | 1573 |
| Sheehy | 907 |
| Murray | 2713 |
| Donovan | 2683 |
| Gorman | 1425 |
| Skerry | 306 |

WARD 7

| | |
|---|---|
| Kerrigan | 6155 |
| Connelly | 3120 |

WARD 8

Dowd—No Contest.

WARD 9

| | |
|---|---|
| Gleason | 2149 |
| Bryant | 576 |
| Coletta | 86 |
| Curran | 1032 |
| Fuller | 69 |
| Cooke | 1545 |
| Smith | 425 |

WARD 10

| | |
|---|---|
| Graham | 1398 |
| Dalton | 78 |
| Power | 1021 |
| Murphy | 673 |
| Doherty | 3566 |

WARD 11

| | |
|---|---|
| Kilroy | 3829 |
| Englert | 2322 |
| Doyle | 818 |

WARD 12

| | |
|---|---|
| Thornton | 1399 |
| Kerrigan | 328 |
| B ackman | 4875 |
| Smith | 271 |

WARD 13

| | |
|---|---|
| McInnes | 2305 |
| Fitzgerald | 3377 |
| Thompson | 393 |
| Costello | 570 |

WARD 14

| | |
|---|---|
| Ansell | 849 |
| Gell | 159 |
| Chahan | 58 |
| Cherry | 1514 |
| Cox | 3544 |
| Rosenberg | 4073 |

WARD 15

| | |
|---|---|
| Tobin | 4016 |
| Kelly | 5490 |

WARD 16

| | |
|---|---|
| Fish | 3942 |
| Galvin | 2373 |
| McGrath | 4455 |
| Mitchell | 946 |

WARD 17

| | |
|---|---|
| Askin | 455 |
| Cotter | 3733 |
| Williams | 4736 |
| Keenan | 3430 |

WARD 18

| | |
|---|---|
| Norton | 5335 |
| Alberto | 1357 |
| Horowitz | 640 |
| Falcone | 615 |
| White | 697 |

WARD 19

| | |
|---|---|
| MacHale | 1149 |
| Murray | 4596 |
| Tower | 510 |

WARD 20

| | |
|---|---|
| Welch | 210 |
| Finley | 3830 |
| Carroll | 3339 |
| Barton, Jr. | 2342 |
| Sullivan, Jr. | 7246 |
| McCarthy | 226 |

WARD 21

| | |
|---|---|
| Mahoney | 627 |
| Carroll | 1962 |
| Agnew | 2654 |
| Zinta | 459 |
| Berry | 582 |
| Gagnon | 171 |

WARD 22

| | |
|---|---|
| Mullay | 290 |
| Madden | 3515 |
| Gallagher | 4604 |
| Morahan | 194 |
| Donelan | 97 |

Somerville Vote

MAYOR

| | W1 | W2 | W3 | W4 | W5 | W6 | W7 | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| James E. Hagan | 2391 | 3548 | 2449 | 2294 | 2828 | 1585 | 1913 | 16,608 |
| Leslie E. Knox | 1999 | 3339 | 2318 | 2260 | 3306 | 3231 | 3387 | 18,855 |

ALDERMEN-AT-LARGE

| | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Walter W. Cenerazzo | 1283 | 1425 | 883 | 1243 | 1569 | 694 | 838 | 7,745 |
| *John F. Foster | 1672 | 971 | 1910 | 2726 | 2268 | 3384 | 3133 | 16,655 |
| Francis J. Greeley | 1269 | 2388 | 1441 | 1499 | 1103 | 1145 | 1399 | 10,520 |
| George J. Moran | 2322 | 3242 | 2191 | 2024 | 2063 | 1288 | 1583 | 14,665 |
| George W. Pratt | 1604 | 1482 | 3347 | 2835 | 1962 | 2869 | 3247 | 15,924 |
| Eugene J. Redmond | 1076 | 1168 | 1033 | 1722 | 2191 | 1254 | 1253 | 9,693 |
| *Irving L. Stackpole | 2169 | 1750 | 2572 | 3242 | 2819 | 3033 | 3338 | 18,865 |
| *John E. Whitney | 2124 | 1893 | 2479 | 2782 | 2035 | 2312 | 2202 | 16,215 |
| *Elected | | | | | | | | |

WARD 1

Ward Alderman

| | |
|---|---|
| Walter J. Moran | 2193 |
| Elmer F. Walsh | 1926 |

WARD 2

Ward Alderman

| | |
|---|---|
| Timothy J. Cronin | 2522 |
| James F. Stynes | 2192 |

WARD 3

Ward Alderman

| | |
|---|---|
| Francis A. Dardis | 2217 |
| Arthur S. Walsh | 2345 |

WARD 4

Ward Alderman

| | |
|---|---|
| *G. Edward Bradley | 2999 |
| Walter E. Struble, Jr. | 2440 |

WARD 5

Ward Alderman

| | |
|---|---|
| John L. Carroll | 2393 |
| Charles L. Mooney | 2399 |

WARD 6

Ward Alderman

| | |
|---|---|
| J. Stanley Fudge | 2106 |
| Allan Roy Kingston | 2421 |

WARD 7

Ward Alderman

| | |
|---|---|
| Frederick L. Bosworth | 2319 |
| Edward A. Rose | 2380 |
| *Re-elected | |

WARD 1

School Committee

| | |
|---|---|
| Catherine E. Falvey | 2121 |
| Thomas E. Hegarty | 2105 |

WARD 2

School Committee

| | |
|---|---|
| Lawrence J. Donovan | 2669 |
| Joseph E. Harrington | 2032 |

WARD 3

School Committee

| | |
|---|---|
| James H. Buckley | 1618 |
| *Edward M. McCarty | 2906 |

WARD 4

School Committee

Waltham Vote

MAYOR

| | |
|---|---|
| Thomas J. Flannery | 6215 |
| *Frederick L. MacDonald | 8457 |
| Edmund A. Broe | 6127 |
| G. Chauncey Cousens | 7516 |
| *Anna W. Fogg | 6383 |
| William A. Hitchcock | 5836 |
| Joseph M. Maher | 6257 |
| Waldron E. Sawyer | 6140 |
| James V. Smith | 5796 |
| *Raymond J. Tracey | 6247 |

WARD COUNCILLOR

Ward 1

| | |
|---|---|
| Hugh T. Clasby | 1361 |
| Brenton E. Tyler | 1663 |

Ward 2

| | |
|---|---|
| John J. O'Toole | 1408 |
| Albert J. Wolfrath | 1282 |

Ward 3

| | |
|---|---|
| Stephen J. Halloran | 925 |
| Edward J. Mace | 713 |

Ward 4

| | |
|---|---|
| John C. Collins | 1168 |
| Francis R. Turner | 1069 |

Ward 3

| | |
|---|---|
| *Louis B. Connors | 1040 |
| Charles E. McBride | 256 |

Ward 6

| | |
|---|---|
| *Ball Bartlett | 1377 |
| Robert W. Hicks | 1163 |

Ward 7

| | |
|---|---|
| *Joseph D. McCarthy | 746 |

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

| | |
|---|---|
| *Benjamin M. Bliss | 6507 |
| Charles H. Bright, Jr. | 6813 |
| *Jeanette C. Chisholm | 8036 |
| *Warren E. Glancy | 6540 |
| Thomas W. Lawless | 6242 |
| Harold L. Reilly | 5492 |

COUNCILLOR-AT-LARGE

| | |
|---|---|
| W. Hearne Morgan | 291 |
| *Re-elected. | |

Joe Shaute, Ex-Ball Player Elected

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 6 (AP)—Joe Shaute, former Brooklyn and Cleveland pitcher, was elected county treasurer in the Democratic upset of Republican control in Lackawanna county yesterday.

Shaute is manager of the Scranton Miners in the New York-Pennsylvania league.

Vote in Cambridge

MAYOR

| | Joan D. Lynch | John W. Lyons |
|---|---|---|
| Ward 1 | 1485 | 2302 |
| Ward 2 | 1092 | 1891 |
| Ward 3 | 983 | 2349 |
| Ward 4 | 1328 | 1780 |
| Ward 5 | 1355 | 1737 |
| Ward 6 | 1116 | 1339 |
| Ward 7 | 1537 | 1253 |
| Ward 8 | 1367 | 858 |
| Ward 9 | 2140 | 2128 |
| Ward 10 | 2071 | 1433 |
| Ward 11 | 3551 | 892 |
| Totals | 18145 | 17576 |

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

| | |
|---|---|
| *James J. Crowley | 17932 |
| Cora Butler Conant | 11606 |
| John Lacey Delaney | 16611 |
| Richard C. Ewarts | 16533 |
| William F. Galgay | 17785 |
| *Ralph W. Robart | 18708 |
| (*Re-elected) | |

ASSESSORS

| | |
|---|---|
| Timothy E. Carroll | 8869 |
| James B. Casey | 10251 |
| *Bernard F. Fallon | 20468 |
| *John C. Haverty | 23266 |
| (*Re-elected) | |

WARD COUNCILLORS

(One elected)

Ward 1

| | |
|---|---|
| Daniel F. Finn | 1781 |
| James E. Mahoney | 1861 |

Ward 2

| | |
|---|---|
| Patrick C. Coyle | 1080 |
| Thomas M. McNamara | 1347 |

Ward 3

| | |
|---|---|
| C. Brendon Noonan | 1278 |
| Francis L. Sennott | 1850 |

Ward 4

| | |
|---|---|
| Howe Coolidge Amee | 1100 |
| Chester R. Bish | 1690 |

Ward 5

| | |
|---|---|
| *William D. Hills | 2172 |
| Thomas E. McKenna | 729 |

Ward 6

| | |
|---|---|
| Robert H. J. McCoy | 963 |
| Michael A. Sullivan | 1570 |

Ward 7

| | |
|---|---|
| N. Russell Cazmay | 1251 |
| Michael J. Dee | 1518 |

Ward 8

| | |
|---|---|
| Victor H. Brown | 963 |
| *Benjamin F. Wyeth | 1300 |

Ward 9

| | |
|---|---|
| Edward H. Donovan | 2306 |
| Joseph P. Murphy | 1885 |

Ward 10

| | |
|---|---|
| Horace D. Skilton | 1107 |
| John J. Tierney | 2213 |

Ward 11

| | |
|---|---|
| M. Walter Madigan | 1169 |
| Jeremiah J. Sullivan | 2412 |

Referendum

| | |
|---|---|
| Yes | 15825 |
| No | 15842 |

COUNCILLOR-AT-LARGE

(Four elected)

| | |
|---|---|
| Patrick J. Delaney | 12218 |
| John Gordon Duffy | 12537 |
| *Thomas F. Gibson | 18276 |
| Eugene A. Hamilton | 12866 |
| Stephen J. Harrington | 11907 |
| Timothy F. Murphy | 13226 |
| *Hyman Pill | 16806 |
| John J. Toomey | 14458 |
| *Edith L. Hurd | 3378 |
| Dominick F. Keegan | 3061 |

WARD 5

School Committee

| | |
|---|---|
| John P. Clair | 2383 |
| *William J. Kors | 3863 |

WARD 6

School Committee

| | |
|---|---|
| *Edwin A. Shaw | 2416 |
| John R. Wiseman | 2294 |

WARD 7

School Committee

| | |
|---|---|
| *Charles A. Campbell | 3692 |
| Warren S. Johnston | 2330 |
| *Re-elected | |

Vote in Lynn

MAYOR

| | W1 | W2 | W3 | W4 | W5 | W6 | W7 | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| J. Fred Manning | 1509 | 1974 | 4487 | 3745 | 3120 | 3644 | 1493 | 18,972 |
| Harlan A. McPhetres | 614 | 747 | 1853 | 1322 | 1886 | 1955 | 514 | 9,081 |

COUNCIL-AT-LARGE

| | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| *Charles W. Ames | 1072 | 1441 | 2920 | 1813 | 2384 | 1831 | 788 | 12,359 |
| Walter A. Cuffe | 762 | 876 | 2400 | 1710 | 2135 | 3168 | 1017 | 12,068 |
| John M. Duggan | 463 | 668 | 1691 | 1321 | 1752 | 3018 | 1191 | 9,389 |
| Arthur J. Frawley | 1001 | 1256 | 3032 | 2315 | 2772 | 3742 | 955 | 15,073 |
| Irving A. Hadley | 1089 | 1330 | 2714 | 1440 | 1229 | 1165 | 561 | 9,708 |
| G. Raymond Hanson | 1184 | 1747 | 2460 | 1597 | 1883 | 1647 | 727 | 10,514 |
| Medley T. Holdsworth | 842 | 1845 | 2372 | 1577 | 1261 | 1176 | 584 | 8,767 |
| *John J. Joyce | 1044 | 1467 | 3768 | 2623 | 2657 | 3353 | 1039 | 15,963 |

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

| | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Amelia L. Bishop | 880 | 1082 | 2513 | 1972 | 2209 | 2096 | 811 | 11,563 |
| Edward I. Buckley | 916 | 1256 | 2983 | 2094 | 2836 | 3736 | 1291 | 14,924 |
| Edmund J. Canning | 447 | 705 | 1838 | 1391 | 1336 | 1591 | 365 | 7,683 |
| Louise S. Earle | 1341 | 1568 | 3476 | 2081 | 2958 | 1943 | 836 | 12,383 |
| William M. Grady | 550 | 445 | 975 | 777 | 1214 | 2246 | 844 | 6,756 |
| *M. Elizabeth Ingalls | 1265 | 1448 | 2828 | 1891 | 2105 | 2174 | 1012 | 12,723 |
| Garfield Morgan | 1506 | 1865 | 4030 | 2311 | 2161 | 2081 | 1071 | 15,027 |
| Vernon G. Morrow | 1271 | 1611 | 3413 | 1992 | 1806 | 1584 | 723 | 11,774 |
| C. Carroll Moynahan | 325 | 491 | 1067 | 796 | 1774 | 2238 | 541 | 7,252 |
| George E. Nihan | 987 | 1397 | 3005 | 1816 | 2142 | 2339 | 743 | 15,413 |
| Francis P. O'Neill | 683 | 735 | 2044 | 1490 | 1872 | 2531 | 667 | 8,813 |
| Oliver Pinkham | 1342 | 1521 | 3273 | 2015 | 1975 | 1924 | 866 | 12,916 |

WARD COUNCILMEN

WARD 1

| | |
|---|---|
| George A. Jackson | 846 |
| *Thomas F. Worth | 1204 |

Ward 2

| | |
|---|---|
| Louis W. Holden | 862 |
| Edward A. Sisson | 1832 |

WARD 3

| | |
|---|---|
| *Frank E. Newhall | 3338 |
| Arthur E. Richardson | 2868 |

WARD 4

| | |
|---|---|
| Edward H. Cahill | 1811 |
| *Edward J. Harrington | 2242 |

WARD 5

| | |
|---|---|
| James S. Hayes | 2666 |
| George J. O'Shea | 2190 |

WARD 6

| | |
|---|---|
| Fred L. Kennedy | 2307 |
| *John I. Upton | 3173 |

WARD 7

| | |
|---|---|
| James P. Fox | 415 |
| Stuart A. Tarr | 1583 |
| Re-elected. | |
| *Elected. | |

Greenwood Hears Victory News

Fitchburg, Nov. 6—Mayor Robert E. Greenwood, recovering from critical injuries at Boston City Hospital, was elated today by news of his re-election by nearly two to one majority.

Greenwood, injured in an auto crash two weeks ago, defeated former Mayor Dr. Joseph N. Carriere by 3919 votes to 4818.

Self-Setting Personality PERMANENTS

The only method that keeps your scalp refreshingly cool during the "steaming period."

A NEW CROQUIGNOLE in MANY ALLURING STYLES

Oil of Almond Process

Know the joy and satisfaction of possessing waves and curls easy to care for, arranged with Ringlets on crown and back of head. Smart creations for young or old. A reliable chemical avoiding future dryness of hair, leaving hair as luxurious.

$3 Shampoo and Finger Wave Included

Have Your Ends Curled Permanently. All the Ringlets You Need. As high as necessary. $1.50 Special

Shampoo and Finger Wave 50c Our $1 Value. Now—Complete

Dorsay Beauty Salon

7 West St.—Near Washington

With or Without Appointment

Open Evenings DEV. 8066

Immediate Service

Record-Low Price!

TABLE-TOP CRAWFORD ELECTRIC RANGE

now only $65 (AND YOUR OLD STOVE)

NO DOWN PAYMENT EXCEPT YOUR OLD STOVE

TERMS LESS THAN 7¢ A DAY

FREE WIRING For Edison Service Customers, except in a few cases due to location.

Will you accept $10 for your old stove? For a limited time only, we will allow $10 on every old range traded in for this beautiful $75 Crawford—thereby reducing the actual price to $65.

Less than two years ago, table top electric ranges of this size and make were retailing everywhere for $125 or more. Today's price thus gives you a saving of almost one-half — plus numerous improvements usually found even now in only the most expensive ranges. Also a deluxe 4-burner model at only $78.50 and your old range.

For sale at all stores listed below.

JORDAN MARSH R. H. WHITE CO. GILCHRIST'S HOVEY'S THE EDISON SHOPS

And at all Electrical or Contractor Dealers

Worcester Vote

MAYOR

| | Coakson | Kelley |
|---|---|---|
| Ward 1 | 5588 | 1830 |
| Ward 2 | 4841 | 3554 |
| Ward 3 | 1810 | 4963 |
| Ward 4 | 2992 | 5343 |
| Ward 5 | 1609 | 4479 |
| Ward 6 | 3861 | 3015 |
| Ward 7 | 4122 | 3642 |
| Ward 8 | 2663 | 3181 |
| Ward 9 | 4553 | 2733 |
| Ward 10 | 3032 | 2135 |
| Total | 36219 | 34095 |

ALDERMAN

Ward 1

Albert E. Hall (R) ..... No contest

Ward 2

William F. Hayes (R)..No contest

Ward 3

Alfred A. Bianchi (D)..... 4033
William J. Morrison (R)..... 1580

Ward 4

Charles H. Hildreth (R)..... 1958
Maurice V. O'Toole (D)..... 5408

Ward 5

John H. Quinlan (D)....No contest

Ward 6

Gustaf A. Carlson (R)..... 3766
Cornelius A. McCarthy (D)... 2906

Ward 7

William A. Bennett (R)..... 3960
William D. Fleming (D)..... 3864

Ward 8

William B. Lynch (D)..... 3226
Edward P. Werner (R)..... 2312

Ward 9

Gordon Dillon (D)..... 2461
John H. Toomey, Jr. (R)..... 4473

Ward 10

John F. Donahue (D)..... 2110
Harry C. Higgins (R)..... 4765

ALDERMEN-AT-LARGE

C. Vernon Inett (R)..... 35081
Harold D. Donohue (D)..... 33727

SCHOOL COMMITTEE AT-LARGE

Mrs. Evelyn C. Bjorkman (R) 34139
Cornelius S. Donoghue (D).. 33869

COMMON COUNCIL (3 Elected)

Ward 1

Harold R. Lundgren .....
John R. Fyne (R) .....
Arthur T. Swenson (R) .....

Ward 2

Thure Hanson (R) ..... 4697
John F. Hynes (D) ..... 2460
Roy G. A. Patterson (R) ..... 4598
Earle S. Stanton (R) ..... 4744

Ward 3

William S. Askins (D) ..... 4229
John H. Edwards (R) ..... 1685
Anna E. Kane (D) ..... 4457
Charles E. Scott (D) ..... 4283
Harold T. Thayer (Ind) ..... 675

Ward 4

Lawrence J. Bouchard (D) .... 5318
Anthony C. Bourke (R) ..... 1912
William T. Coggins (D) ..... 4897
Stephen V. Loughlin (D) ..... 4046
Howard O. Stanton (R) ..... 1665

Ward 5

Stanley F. Jarzobski (D) ..... —
Charles F. Sullivan (D) ..... —
Edward F. Sullivan (D) ..... —

Ward 6

John A. Anderson (R) ..... 3371
Joseph F. Bowler (D) ..... 3693
William F. Brennan (D) ..... 2742
Daniel F. Grady (D) ..... 2447
George J. Groves (R) ..... 3061
Edmund J. Wahlstrom ((R) .. 3454

WARD 7

Hollis H. Ball (R) ..... 3649
Raymond P. Dubois (D) ..... 3241
Thomas J. Germain (D) ..... 3998
Joseph V. Ladner (R) ..... 4167
Harry Longwell (R) ..... 3695
Nicholas F. Powers (D) ..... 3281

WARD 8

Michael Hogan (D) ..... 3142
George H. Lee (R) ..... 2284
David J. McGrath (D) ..... 3008
William J. Sullivan (D) ..... 3105
Ralph C. Willoughby (R) .... 2333

WARD 9

John F. J. Barnicle (D) ..... 2358
Leo A. J. Charbonneau (R) .. 4037
Hyman S. Gordwin (D) ..... 2718
Benjamin Hynes (D) ..... 2111
Walton F. Lewis (R) ..... 3785
Burton E. Loring (R) ..... 3791

Ward 10

George A. Beams (R) ..... 4586
F. Burnett Clarkson (R) ..... 4615
Walter E. Henry (D) ..... 2349
Irving E. Taylor (R) ..... 4569

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Ward 1

Harold W. Eaton (R) .....

Ward 2

Merton W. Clement (R)..... 4876
Cornelius F. Collins (D)..... 2263

Ward 3

James J. Marshall (D) .....

Ward 4

James P. Dyer (R) ..... 2560
Joseph F. Leahy (D)..... 4791

Ward 5

Anthony E. Golembeski (D)..3636
Joseph R. Tivnan (D)..... 3074

Ward 7

William S. Henrickson (R)..3693
Francis A. Powers (D) ..... 3558

Ward 8

Olive M. Bridgham (R)..... 2481
Jeremiah T. Shea (D)..... 3256

Ward 9

John A. Clough (R)..... 4194
John H. Meagher (D)..... 2747

Ward 10

Nathaniel F. Chandler (D)....3324
Albert Farnsworth (R)..... 4748

ROOSEVELT NOT WORRIED OVER VOTE UPSET

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP) President Roosevelt in genial spirit at his regular press conference today, declined to comment for publication on yesterday's election results, but it was emphasized at the temporary White House that the Democratic plurality in the popular vote for the State assembly was regarded as normal. Mr. Roosevelt recalled he made it a rule since 1928 to make no comment on election results.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 6 (INS)—President Roosevelt refused today to concede any nation significance to the Republican victories in New York state and Philadelphia off-year elections.

He had, however, made arrangements for personal appearances in various sections of the country clear into next June which will have a marked bearing on his personal fortunes a year hence when he stands for re-election.

Also, a close watch is being kept on the ballot count in Kentucky. The President's friends concede this border state to the Republicans.

As the President's immediate traveling schedule now shapes up, he will head south from Warm Springs, Ga., about a week before Thanksgiving. On November 29 he will address a huge "home-coming" rally in Atlanta.

It is reported this rally has been arranged to demonstrate that Governor Talmadge of Georgia, is criticizing the Roosevelt administration does not reflect the sentiments of his state.

Next on the schedule will be a speech in Chicago on December 9 before the American Farm Bureau Federation.

In June, Mr. Roosevelt will go to Dallas to attend the Texas Centennial. This trip has double significance.

The President will be going into Vice-President Garner's home state at about the time the Democratic national convention is meeting. The visit will amount to notice to the delegates that Mr. Roosevelt wants Garner for a running mate again.

Here at Hyde Park today, the executive was waiting for a tabulation of the popular vote in the New York state assembly elections. He had anticipated the Republicans would regain their normal control but his aides believed New York city's Democratic vote would over balance upstate Republican gains and enable them to claim the Empire state as still Democratic.

Aided by several hundred jubilant neighbors, the President made considerable capital last night out of the fact a Democrat had been elected supervisor of his Hyde Park home for the first time in 25 years.

An old-fashioned torchlight parade, led by a fife and drum corps, marched on the Roosevelt estate.

Women rushed up and kissed the smiling President. Men embraced him in their exuberance.

Recount to Be Asked In Ward 7 Contest

A recount will be asked today in Somerville's Ward Seven aldermanic contest.

Surprise feature of this fight was the victory of Alderman-elect Edward A. "Eddie" Rose, supporter of Mayor James E. Hagan, as the only Hagan survivor in seven wards.

Rose took Alderman Frederick L. Bosworth, Republican, into camp in a close vote.

The fact that Ward 7 is usually Republican made the Rose victory more remarkable.

WALSH ALSO DEFEATED

Vice-President Elmer A. Walsh of the Board of Aldermen, Hagan supporter, fell before the anti-Hagan landslide.

Alderman-elect Walter J. Moran took him into camp in Ward 1, with 2195 votes, as against 1926, giving him a majority of 269 votes.

In a definitely anti-Hagan battle, the only one in which Mayor Hagan took a stand in the primary contests, Alderman Timothy J. Cronin, anti-Hagan alderman, was re-elected over Alderman James F. Stynes, supported by Hagan in the primaries.

This was the bitterest battle of the ward and several fights resulted.

Alderman Cronin has a margin of 439 votes over his opponent.

Alderman Arthur S. Walsh, anti-Hagan Alderman, defeated Alderman Frank A. Dardis, Hagan supporter by 128 votes.

BRADLEY BEATS STRUBLE

In the Ward four battle, Alderman G. Edward Bradley, anti-Hagan Alderman who endorsed Mayor-Elect Leslie E. Knox defeated Alderman Walter E. Struble, Hagan friend, by 559 votes.

Alderman Bradley finished one vote ahead of Alderman Struble in the primaries.

Alderman Bradley got the greatest margin of victory in Ward four of any of ward alderman-elect with a margin of 559 votes in a battle replete with thrills.

The anti-Hagan forces again rode supreme in Ward five, when Alderman John L. Carroll, anti-Hagan member of the board, defeated Charles L. Mooney by 290 votes.

Alderman Allan Roy Kingston, anti-Hagan Republican in the Board of Aldermen, ran 315 votes better for re-election than J. Stanley Fudge, another Republican, in the Republican city stronghold, Ward six.

Queer Things that Happen To Sleep Walkers. Woman Who Ate 87 Tablets of Aspirin and Never Knew It, and Other Strange Freaks of Somnambulists. An Article in The American Weekly, the Magazine Distributed with the Nov. 10 Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Advertisement

STOP A COLD THE FIRST DAY!

Don't let it run and become a menace! Take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at the first sneeze or chill. It usually "knocks" a cold quickly because it does four things—opens the bowels—combats the infection and fever in the system—relieves the headache and grippy feeling—and tones the system. At all druggists.

Grove's LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE

Rossi Sets Record In San Francisco

San Francisco, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mayor Angelo J. Rossi had another term ahead of him today after his re-election by the largest plurality ever given a San Francisco mayoral candidate.

Returns from the 1055 precincts in yesterday's non-partisan election gave Rossi 96,655 votes, 37,326 more than his closest competitor, Supervisor Rudolph Uhl.

NOW.. The Nationally-Known

HOUSEHOLD LOAN PLAN

comes to CAMBRIDGE

LOANS on your Own Signature

Single persons or married couples are eligible to borrow. Loans made without security—or on furniture—or on automobiles. Repay in monthly installments.

REDUCED RATES
Household's rate is 3% per month on the first $100 and only 2% on balances above.

Come in and learn about Household's free consultation service and free educational literature on Money Management and Better Buymanship.

To apply for a loan

just write, call or phone and ask for an appointment.

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE CORPORATION
OF MASSACHUSETTS
303 CENTRAL SQUARE BLDG., 5th Floor
678 Massachusetts Ave. Phone: Trowbridge 8322
LICENSE NO. 66
CAMBRIDGE

BOSTON OFFICES:
4th Fl., 408 New Studio Bldg. 110 Tremont Street Phone: Liberty 5274 License No. 336
8th Fl., 804 Hiuka Bldg. 59 Temple Pl. at Wash. St. Phone: Liberty 4636 License No. 393

Tune in Edgar A. Guest—America's Household Poet every Tuesday evening at 8:30 over NBC

OPEN EVERY EVENING UNTIL 9:30 P. M.

SEARS SUPER-VALUE DAYS!

SALE STARTS TODAY AT 9:30 A. M.

Big Sale SPECIAL SAVINGS Now!

Two-Tone Reversible Pastel Shades

FULL SIZE ALL WOOL BLANKETS $3.66 each

3 Inch Sateen Binding. Regularly $6.45

For Full or Twin Beds

UNBELIEVABLE BUT TRUE!

Full Fashioned-Perfect

SILK HOSE

ALL PERFECT

Compare Compare Compare 39c

Regularly Priced 59c a Pair

1—Full Fashioned
2—Pure Silk
3—Perfect
4—French Heels
5—Picot Top
6—Sizes 8½ to 10½

CHIFFON OR SEMI-SERVICE

NOTE: Due to the value—Only 3 pairs to a customer. No Mail or Phone Orders.

Innerspring Mattress—3 Kapok Filled Pillows!

Sale Studio Couches

Twin Beds or Full Size Bed

17.88 Delivered

- Innerspring Mattress supported with coil spring base.
- Hardwood frame—legs finished in walnut.
- Opens to twin or full size beds.

Big 32-Inch Clawfeet Front and Back!

Gov. Winthrop Desk

With Secret Compartments and Four Drawers

$17.88 Delivered

- Rich Serpentine front.
- Authentic Colonial hardware.
- Hand rubbed mahogany finish over gumwood.

Powermaster 3-Speed Electric Mixer, Beater

$7.97

Regularly $10.95

Mashes and beats food, extracts fruit juices, etc. Powerful three-speed motor. Large and small bowls.

Sturdy, Large Size Unpainted Chair

69c

Regularly 89c

Made of solid birch with comfortable seat and back. Easy to paint. And you can paint them to match your home color scheme.

3 Pc. All Wool Tots' Snow Suits

$2.99

Regularly $5.98

All wool fleece, in navy, green, or brown. Jacket kasha lined. Sizes 2 to 6.

Sears Famous Seroco Coffee Special Brand

2 LBS. 25c

Fresh Ground While You Wait

Delicious coffee . . . fragrant . . . roasted and packed exclusively for Sears. You'll like the taste!

4 Lb. Famous Middleby Jam

49c

Regularly 69c

Raspberry, strawberry, orange marmalade, apricot, pineapple and cherry. Full 4-lb. jar.

Miller Electric Kitchen Clock

99c

Regularly $1.95

Now at an astounding low price. Diamond style, black numerals, feont starter and setter. Green or ivory color.

Brother and Sister Suits of Jersey

88c

Regularly $1.29

Made of Wool Jersey. Wide array of popular styles. Brown, red, navy, Copenhagen and green. Sizes 2 to 6.

Women's Smart Fancy Silk Scarfs

49c

Regularly 69c

A last minute purchase just arrived. Silks and cotton rayons and wool. Colorings certain to be most favored.

Reg. 16c Modess Package of 12

10c

Lowest price that these sanitary napkins have been sold so far as we can find out. None to dealers—No Phone or Mail Orders.

Women's Fashionable New Neckwear

29c

Regularly 49c

One of the finest assortments of collar and cuffs — jabots — round and square collars—we have ever shown. All new.

SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO.

BOSTON Park Drive at Brookline Ave. — FREE PARKING SPACE — CAMBRIDGE 1815 Mass. Ave. Near Porter Sq.

* Starred Items Also Sold at Quincy—1143 Hancock St. Waltham—715 Main St. Malden—330 Main St. Woburn—443 Main St. Norwood—607 Wash. St.

Betty Alden on 'Beacon Hill'

Mrs. Bartlett Harwood Hostess To Red Cross Supporters

By BETTY ALDEN

SOMETIMES WE FEEL tempted to write a column describing some of the beautiful interiors which are nestled behind those severe brownstone fronts along the Avenue and Beacon street . . . Like many people, they look so cold and forbidding on the surface that it is surprising to find such warmth and beauty within . . .

In most cases the homes along society street reflect the individuality and refinement of their inhabitants, rather than the whims of interior decorators as many believe . . .

BETTY DUMAINE

Yesterday we had the opportunity of peeking behind another frosty exterior when we attended the Red Cross reception and tea, and so added Mrs. Bartlett Harwood's home to the list of friendly, welcoming Back Bay mansions which we have visited in the course of our quest for social news . . .

The reception was given in honor of Miss Mabel Boardman of Washington, secretary of the American National Red Cross, who briefly addressed the several hundred guests before meeting them all around the tea table for informal conversation and refreshments . . .

Mayor and Mrs. Mansfield were among the many prominent people received by Mrs. Harwood, who was an extremely gracious hostess, and who looked very pretty in an exquisite tea gown of ruby velvet with a French blue tunic and ruby slippers . . .

Mrs. Edward A. Taft, wearing a cafe au lait taffeta gown with a full ruff around the neck and flaring cuffs, assisted Mrs. Harwood in dispensing hospitality and taking charge of the pourers . . . the latter group included Mrs. Mansfield, Mrs. Eliot Wadsworth in a black dress with dainty shirring at the neckline and a simple strand of pearls, Mrs. Robert F. Herrick also in black, Mrs. Robert Lovett and Mrs. Richard Saltonstall, Mrs. Phineas Sprague and Mrs. A. C. Ratschesky.

* * *

Socialites in Gathering

FAR FROM BEING just a light, frothy social tea party, the occasion was one of great dignity and impressiveness with the society girls who have volunteered for the Red Cross Motor Corps present in their formal uniform and workers from all the different branches of the Red Cross wearing their colorful veils and cuffs over crisp white uniforms . . .

Also in the throng were many socialites who do their bit for the Red Cross quietly and without acclaim, such as Mrs. E. Fenton Gilbert, charming in a black dress with silver and white vestee; Mrs. J. A. Lowell Blake, Rachel Warner, Helen Moseley in a deep rose suit and visor hat; Betty Dumaine in a rust wool suit trimmed with sable; Juliet Richardson, Miss Rose Dexter, Miss Elinor Colburn in a ruby velveteen dress and tricky velvet hat with pompons over one eye; Mrs. Joseph R. Hamlen, and Mrs. Edward Warren . . .

Among the Motor Corps girls we encountered were Jane Butler Smith, Priscilla Phelan, Patty Gray, Priscilla Dennett, and many others . . .

* * *

Civic Federation to Meet

THE POSTMAN IS BUSY delivering notes to Mrs. James Bourne Ayer acknowledging invitations to the annual meeting of the National Civic Federation which will be held at the Chilton Club on November 12 . . . Mrs. Barrett Wendell will be one of the principal speakers . . .

* * *

It is difficult to imagine tiny and animated Mary Elizabeth Keever, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Keever, holding down the full-sized job of assistant dean of girls at Penn Hall Junior College in Chambersburg, Pa. . . . but Mary Elizabeth was recently appointed to this position and is already a great success in helping the undergraduates with their problems . . . problems which just one year ago might have seemed like mountains to her as a member of the senior class . . .

* * *

Bride and bridegroom, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Franklin Bland have just returned from their honeymoon in Europe and are settled in their new home on Linnean street, Cambridge . . . the bride is the former Frances Poinier . . .

* * *

Four Debs to Make Bows

AT LEAST A dozen dinner parties are being given around town this evening before the ball at the Somerset at which four of the season's debs will make their curtsey to society . . . The stars of the evening will be Dorothea Merriman, Mary Dwight Clark, Anne Homans and Anne Richards, whose respective parents are sharing the responsibilities of launching their budding daughters into the social world . . .

The four debs will dine at the Somerset Club as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Clark, parents of Miss Mary, and their dinner partners will include all of the younger ushers . . . Professor and Mrs. Roger B. Merriman will entertain the older ushers and their wives at a large dinner at the Masters' Lodgings at Eliot House, Harvard, and Mr. and Mrs. William Homans of Ponkapoag are entertaining a group of young people in honor of their house guest, Miss Margery Peabody, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Malcolm Peabody of Chestnut Hill, Pa. . . .

Isabel Gardiner and Frances Lowell, two other debs, are being honored at another dinner party at which Dr. and Mrs. Conrad Wesselhoeft of Marlborough street will be hosts . . .

* * *

'Alliance Francaise to Open Season

INVITATIONS HAVE BEEN ISSUED to the first meeting this season of the Alliance Francaise, that distinctly highbrow organization which holds its lectures in French and which limits its membership to those socialites who are really students of the French language . . . The meeting will be held Saturday at the Copley-Plaza and the speaker will be M. Raymond Lang, who will discuss the prevailing opinions of his countrymen on current world problems . . .

* * *

Mr. Howard Harrington, tenor of the Peoples Symphony Orchestra, and Miss Bertha Wells, were among the many enjoying the Russian atmosphere and cuisine at the Jar Ptiza last evening . . .

DEBUTANTES COMBINE SPORTS WITH LUNCHEON HONORING NEW SOCIAL BUD

MILLICENT LEEDS EDITH SPERRY ANNE BEMENT MARGARET SPERRY LOUISE HERMAN

IT IS QUITE UNUSUAL for girls to arrive at a debutante party with sneakers and tennis racquets under their arms but it was quite all right yesterday for their hostess, Anne Bement, invited them to play tennis and golf after her coming out luncheon at the Wellesley Country Club. Here's the hostess ready to referee a fast set of doubles on the courts. Left to right are Millicent Leeds, Edith Sperry, Anne Bement, Margaret Sperry and Louise Herman.

Debut

Isabel Gardiner To Be Honored At Dance

MISS ISABEL GARDINER, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic M. Gardiner of Brookline, has completed the plans for her tea dance which will be held at Stelhenbasch, the Gardiner home on Goddard avenue in Brookline, on Friday, November 15.

Post-debutante Miss Alice O. Spaulding will head the ushers and will be assisted by Miss Patricia M. Preston, Miss Frances Lowell, Miss Betsy Jaques, Miss Dorothy Pierce, Miss Sallie M. Kite, Miss Eleanor A. Smith, Miss Jean D. Holloway and Miss Ursula R. Fiske.

The tea and dancing will be followed by a buffet supper, for the house guests and others. Miss Kite, Miss Holloway, Miss Fiske, Miss Smith, and Mrs. Edwin M. Finletter will be house guests at Stelhenbasch for the occasion.

Miss Gardiner, who is a sister of post-deb Evelyn Gardiner, attended Miss Porter's School and is a provisional member of the Junior League.

Mrs. Coburn Entertains

MRS. William H. Coburn of Chestnut Hill presided at the luncheon yesterday noon at the Women's City Club in honor of Miss Mary Young, one of Boston's favorite actresses who is now appearing at the Copley Theater.

Mrs. Coburn wore a reasonable frock of tomato and white printed material and her guest of honor was attired in a dark gray Connek style coat with a small green hat. Apologizing for her stage makeup, crimson nails, bushy blonde curls and long sensuous eyelashes, Miss Young briefly addressed the gathering before dashing off to the dress rehearsal of "Katydid, So What?"

Other guests at the luncheon included Mrs. Alvan Tufts Fuller, Miss Eleanor Allen, Mrs. Henry Montague, Miss Mabel Jones, Mrs. Herbert Ewer in a tailored suit of salt and pepper mixture.

Cecilian Guild's First

CECILIAN GUILD, with an elaborately planned winter program will open the season on Wednesday, November 14, at the Milton Country Club with a social evening and penny sale to benefit the fund for the club's charitable work.

Mrs. John Herlihy will be chairman of arrangements, with Mrs. Joseph F. Leary Milton general chairman.

Heads of the various committees are Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, Jr., of Milton, Mrs. Walter Rooney of Roxbury, Mrs. Joseph Rugo of Milton, Mrs. John Ahern and Mrs. John Crimmins of Milton, in charge of prizes; Mrs. George Coyne of Somerville, Mrs. Edward Arcand of Brighton, Mrs. Thomas Cavanaugh, tickets.

Other workers are Mrs. John G. Donohue, president of the club, assisted by Mrs. Henry Foley, in charge of publicity; Mrs. George Garrity of Brookline, Mrs. William Kirby of Hyde Park, Mrs. Thomas J. Kelly, Mrs. John G. Downing of Newton, Mrs. Edward Kickham of Brookline and Miss Marie O'Brien of Boston, responsible for decorations.

A popular group of auctioneers, under the direction of Mr. John Crimmins of Milton, will include Messrs. Frank Lane, John Ahern, John F. Fitzgerald, Jr., Frank Reddy of Lexington, Henry Smith, John G. Donohue, Henry Foley, William Kirby, George Coyne, William Arthur Reilly, Thomas Kelly and Joseph F. Leary.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Hallahan of Chestnut Hill announcer at a tea at their home on Resevoir avenue, the engagement of their daughter, Alice Stephanie Hallahan, to Harold Francis Clary, son of Mrs. Sarah E. Clary of Arlington.

No wedding date has been announced.

* * *

The next formal dance of the Saturday Evening Club will be held on Saturday evening at the Copley-Plaza. This seventh season of social affairs for the club looms up as the biggest and best with an active board in charge of affairs.

The list includes Miss Helen Amhouse, Miss Dorothy Keenan, Mr. Roy Collins, Mr. Henry Gaffney, Mr. Gerard Hayes, Miss Dorothea Leary, Mr. Wallace Stearns, Mr. Edward J. Stevens, Mr. Philip Watson, Mr. Harold E. Stratton, Mr. G. Stanley Lowell, Mr. Roger A. Lutz and Mr. Daniel Warren, Jr., Mr. N. Grant MacKinnon and Harold Young.

Name Models For Bazaar Benefit

JUNIOR LEAGUE members will act as models in the fashion parade at the 25th annual bazaar for the benefit of that very worthy charity, the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion.

The style show of cruise clothes will be but one of the many attractions at the bazaar which will be an all day affair at the Copley-Plaza both on Wednesday and Thursday, November 20 and 21.

Included in the group of deb and post-deb mannequins are Mabel Gardiner, Anne Soule, Anne Howard, Elizabeth Ware, Nancy Byron, Betsy Byron, Dorothy McKay, Edith Lewis, Faith Barney, Mary Trumbull, Reinetta Plimpton, Carolyn Pierce, Nancy Ames, Betty Watson, Miriam Little, Rosamond Pier, Polly Gardner, Elise Sortwell, May Gilbert, Constance Mallen, Anne Clark, Barbara Brewer, Louise Stevens, Frances Lowell and Anne Richards.

Mohr Hopes Stork Will Bring Twins

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 6 (AP)—The stork was awaited momentarily today at the home of Evelyn Venable, screen actress, and her husband, Hal Mohr, cameraman-director.

"And we hope we get twins—a boy and a girl," said the expectant father.

Club Calendar

TODAY

Milton Woman's Club, 8:00 p. m., at the clubhouse, meeting and lecture.

Newton Centre Woman's Club, 6:45 p. m., at the clubhouse, international dinner.

Medford Junior Women's Club, 7:30 p. m., at the clubhouse, meeting.

New England Women's Relief Assn., 2:30 p. m., Hotel Bradford, meeting and lecture.

Arlington Woman's Club, 10 a. m., Robbins Library Hall, parliamentary law class.

Boston Colony, National Society of New England Women, 12:30 p. m., luncheon and bridge.

Hyde Current Events Club, 2 p. m., at the clubhouse, lecture.

Thought and Work Club, 2 p. m., at Ames Memorial Hall, president's afternoon meeting.

Belmont Woman's Club, at the clubhouse, all day program.

THURSDAY

Musical Guild of Boston, 8:15 p. m., at 1 Arlington street, meeting.

Women's Auxiliary to the Morgan Memorial, all day, at 89 Shawmut avenue, annual bazaar.

Harvard Woman's Club, 2 p. m., Hotel Vendome, meeting.

The Quota Club, 6 p. m., at 264 Boylston street, dinner meeting.

Ladies' Physiological Institute, 1:30 p. m., in Meyers Hall of Tremont Temple, board meeting and lecture.

Melrose Woman's Club, 8 p. m., in Winthrop School Hall, guest night meeting.

Professional Women's Club, 5 p. m., Hotel Statler, meeting.

Reading Woman's Club, 2:30 p. m., in Security Hall, meeting.

Eastern Star Women's Club, 2 p. m., Hotel Touraine, musical program.

West Newton Women's Educational Club, 2:30 p. m., at the Second Congregational Church, meeting.

Boston Section National Council of Jewish Women, 3 p. m., tea.

Chelsea Woman's Club, all day meeting at the First Universalist Church.

Women in Council, 3 p. m., Masonic Hall, Roxbury, meeting.

Boston Zonta Club, 6:30 p. m., at the Boston Chamber of Commerce, meeting and speakers.

FRIDAY

Sigma Phi Sorority, 8:00 p. m., Hotel Somerset, dance.

Women's Auxiliary of the Morgan Memorial, at 89 Shawmut avenue, all day, annual charity bazaar.

Reading Woman's Club, 2:30 p. m., in Security Hall, meeting.

Eastern Star Women's Club, 2:00 p. m., Hotel Touraine, musical program.

West Newton Women's Educational Club, 2:30 p. m., at the Second Congregational Church, meeting.

Boston Section National Council of Jewish Women, 3:00 p. m., tea.

Chelsea Woman's Club, all day meeting at the First Universalist Church.

Women in Council, 3:00 p. m., Masonic Hall, Roxbury, meeting.

Boston Zonta Club, 6:30 p. m., at the Boston Chamber of Commerce, meeting and speaking.

Guild of the Infant Saviour, 9:00 p. m., Copley-Plaza, supper dance.

Watertown Junior Woman's Club, 7 p. m., at the clubhouse, election of officers.

Council of Jewish Women, 3 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Max Bernkopf in Brookline, meeting.

Division of Literature, Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, 10:30 a. m., at the Federation headquarters, round table meeting.

Cantabrigia Club leaves clubhouse at 12:45 p. m. for a tour of Morgan Memorial Industries and Stores.

First Needlework Guild of Boston, 11 a. m., Hotel Brunswick, donation meeting.

SATURDAY

Delta Phi Delta Sorority of Boston University, 8:00 p. m., Hotel Somerset, dance.

Nurembega Woman's Club, 2:30 p. m., in Memorial Hall, Charlestown, meeting.

Women's Republican Club, 2:30 p. m., at the clubhouse, monologues, character sketches.

Mrs. Coolidge Heads Talk Sponsors

MRS. CALVIN COOLIDGE, heads the list of sponsors for Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's lecture in Symphony Hall on Tuesday evening, December 3.

The affair is under the auspices of the Boston University Women Graduates' Club and the proceeds will be used to assist in establishing a permanent scholarship fund. The committee includes Mrs. Lara Anderson, Dean Lucy Jenkins Franklin, Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Dr. Mary R. Lakeman, Mrs. Daniel L. March, Mrs. Lyman C. Newell and Judge Emma Fall Schofield.

Other sponsors are Dr. Ellen Fitz Pendleton, Mrs. Charles F. Adams, Mrs. I. Tucker Burr, Mrs. Myron R. Clark, Mrs. James O. Foss, Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Friend, Mrs. Louis A. Frothingham, Prof. and Mrs. George R. Franklin, Mrs. William E. Huntington, Prof. and Mrs. Norton A. Kent, Mrs. George A. Mirick, Mrs. Robert W. Sayles, Mrs. Edwin P. Brown, Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Shepler, Miss Harriet E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Jones and Mr. Merton Brown.

Tea Honors Author

Mrs. Henry I. Harriman gave a tea at her home on Center street in Newton today in honor of Mrs. Lena David Murray (Ella Enslow) the author of "Schoolhouse in the Foothills."

Miss Enslow is not only famed as an authoress and for her cooperation with the "Save the Children Fund" in its Southern mountain work.

Among the Boston members of the fund are Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Jr., Mr. Alfred H. Avery, Dr. Dwight Bradley, Dr. Rex S. Clements, Mr. Karl T. Compton, Mr. Albert C. Dieffenbach, Mrs. Samuel L. Elberfield, Mrs. H. L. Hartman, Mr. L. O. Hartman, Mr. Ralph Harlow, Mr. Daniel L. Marsh and Miss Mary E. Woolley.

Symphony

By ANN AMES

Dr. Sergei Koussevitzky and the Boston Symphony Orchestra opened a series of six Tuesday afternoon concerts at Symphony Hall yesterday afternoon with an all-German presentation of Symphonies by Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven.

The program, as interpreted by Dr. Koussevitzky was less an example of German "Gemutlichkeit" than of 18th Century classic sensibility. Especially was this true with the shorter and lighter works of Haydn and Mozart.

Haydn's G major symphony opened the program. With the delicate melody of the slow movement the orchestra was particularly happy. The melodic finale came smoothly from the finely-tuned Koussevitskian instrument.

Melodic gracefulness marks Mozart's E flat symphony and here again the conductor appeared fully at home. Clarinets drawing forth the "love and melancholy" of the andante and the delicate trio of the minuet brought applause exceptionally cordial for a Tuesday audience.

Premiere Fashionables

Those who arrived for the opening performance of "Katydid, So What?" last evening were surprised to find the Copley Theater made over into the semblance of an ocean liner with the ushers dressed as gobs and a sign "purser" over the ticket window.

In the throng which enjoyed a pleasant voyage with much laughter and little seasickness, we noticed Miss Caroline Oveson of Milton who was accompanied by a stalwart escort. Miss Oveson was smartly garbed in midnight blue set off with a spray of orchids. Mrs. Wilder Wheelwright was in black with gold trimmings.

BURTON on 'DREAM'

Up-to-Date as Winchell, He Says

Dr. Richard Burton, Rollins College faculty member and for 40 years the outstanding authority on Shakespearean drama in the United States, was guest of honor here at a luncheon to the Boston press in the Parker House Dickens Room.

Professor Burton is in Boston under auspices of Warner Brothers' Productions and "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which opens at the Majestic Theater Friday evening, November 8, for the Boston premiere. He revealed himself as a New Englander who has been successively Trinity College (Hartford) student, actor, playwright and newspaperman.

He declared:

"If it weren't for the word 'classic' Shakespeare today would be regarded as the most entertaining writer in the English language."

"No more obscene word exists in English—so far as the harm it has done—as the word, 'classic,'" Dr. Burton said. "It scares people away from the works of a writer who is modern in his tempo, as up-to-date in his treatment of a subject as Walter Winchell.

"If William Shakespeare could come back to Boston—or any of the other large cities where 'A Midsummer Night's Dream' has been shown thus far he would see his immortal phantasy as he imagined it—and for the first time. No modern writer for the screen can compare with Shakespeare as a 'gag' man; as a dialogue writer; as a master of continuity.

"To my mind the Warner Bros.-Max Reinhardt production of 'A Midsummer Night's Dream' marks the start of a cycle of Shakespeare in film that will never end in our time."

SHE CAPTURES LOVE

Depression Fails to Deter Her

She was young. She was beautiful. She was in love—but there was a depression over the land. She had to defy convention to capture her love.

Such is the theme of the newest novel from the facile pen of Eleonore Meherin, who first gave you the exciting stoory of "Chickie" and the just as exciting story of "Chickie's Daughter."

In next Monday's Boston Evening American begins this newest story of a girl who defied convention to capture love during the depression.

"I Want You Only" is the title of the new novel, a story around one of the most amazingly real characters ever created by this brilliant author.

With Nell Doran, beautiful heroine of Miss Meherin's newest novel, you will sympathize and you will weep over her trials.

Begin "I Want You Only" in the Boston Evening American next Monday.

"Boy! I can breathe now!"

Just a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril reduces swollen membranes, clears stuffiness, brings prompt relief. Used in time, helps prevent many colds.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

REGULAR SIZE 30c . . . DOUBLE QUANTITY 50c

PAINFUL FEET

Leg, Knee and Back Pains

New process of restoring sore, painful, abused feet to normal. Old method such as corrective shoes, stock arch supports, braces, etc., do not take into consideration that no two feet are exactly alike, not even the right and left of the same person.

New sensitive machines show the slightest variation of each foot. No guesswork. Sure, positive relief. Consultation Free.

DR. J. M. BERNSTEIN

REGISTERED FOOT SPECIALIST

140 Boylston St. Opp. Common

YOU are cordially invited to use the

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE READING ROOMS

Free to the Public

Located at

333 Washington Street

Opposite Milk Street

Entrance also at 24 Province St.

Statler Office Building

Park Square

60 Norway Street

Cor. Massachusetts Ave.

Authorized and approved literature on Christian Science may be read, borrowed or purchased.

THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, IN BOSTON, MASS.

U. S. BUSINESS LEADERS MAP TAX WAR

Washington, Nov. 6 (U8)—"Cut taxes."

With this their battle cry, the nation's leaders in business and industry are preparing a non-partisan attack on "the high cost of government" in a country-wide drive beginning next month.

Aiming their guns at mounting burdens imposed by federal, state and local governments, they will show that it is the consumer who really pays the taxes.

Their emblem will be a lapel-button hatchet, George Washington style, colored red, white and blue. On the blade will be emblazoned their slogan:

"Cut taxes."

Though some are Democrats and some Republicans, these chiefs of business meeting in New York to organize their campaign agreed on this principle:

RECOVERY THROTTLED

The increasing tax load which business must collect from the consumers is throttling recovery. It prevents the wage-earner and the farmer from getting a dollar's worth of value for a dollar spent. It absorbs working capital which business would like to use to expand employment and raise wages.

One of these business leaders declared:

"This will be a campaign to tell the people the hard facts of excessive taxation. Politics is out. We have no political axe to grind, but we do want to use our hatchets to prune the sprawling tax tree."

"51 TAXES ON BREAD"

To prosecute their war on taxes, they have dug through fiscal records to bring "tax facts" to public consciousness. They will show:

1—That there are 51 taxes involved in every loaf of bread. Half the loaf is eaten by taxes.

2—There are 113 kinds of taxes levied on food trades which housewives must reckon with in their food budgets. Of these, 37 are federal, 51 are state and 25 are local taxes.

3—Consumers pay double taxes on 800 items used in their daily life.

4—It costs as much in taxes to drive a car as it does for all expenses of operation, including the original purchase price.

Missing B. U. Mascot and Pal Who Seeks Him

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

Her pal, Dapper Danny II, B. U. mascot, is missing, and among hundreds of frantic searchers for the lost terrier today is pretty Janet Adair, who posed for this picture before Danny's mysterious disappearance.

CRIMSON URGES 'ATTACK' ACTION

The Harvard Crimson editorially called upon the Cambridge police to straighten out the uncertainty surrounding the attack on Frank Foster, jailer, in front of the Dunster House, October 28.

The college daily said that since only one man is reported guilty of the beating which sent Foster to Baker Memorial Hospital with serious injuries, no more than one man should be under the shadow of the blame.

Bennet Y. Ryan and Eugene George are still facing charges in the case, which will come up on the calendar November 14.

Foster's condition was said by hospital authorities to be "fair" today.

Police investigation of the case continued in the pre-hearing stage, mostly concerning itself with informal questioning of possible witnesses.

ASK ROOSEVELT LIFT WPA BAR

A change in ERA and WPA rules, which limit employment to those on relief rolls, was asked today by Senator Edward C. Carroll of South Boston in a letter to President Roosevelt.

He suggested that all meritorious persons be declared eligible for WPA work, according to their dependents and qualifications.

"Under present regulations," the communication read, "it is very difficult to place at work people who have not been on some agency of relief. Worthy cases after case has been called to my attention of those who are exhausting their meagre savings and selling their insurance in an effort to keep their homes together without applying for relief."

Both WPA Administrator Arthur Rotch and Colonel Thomas H. Sullivan, ERA official, Carroll declared, are in favor of changing the rule which rejects men and women who had not applied for or been on relief prior to May 30, 1935.

MOVIE MIXUPS

BY ART MOGER

TOMORROW AT THE RKO KEITH BOSTON THEATRE

HITS!

Take the suggestion of RKO Divisional Director Charles W. Koerner and visit the RKO Keith Boston Theater tomorrow, where the stage attraction is a brilliant revue, "Let's Swing It," featuring three of the above "Movie Mixups" characters. The screen offers Vina Delmar's story, "Bad Boy."

At this popular RKO Keith Boston Theater you will see all of the above movie celebrities. Unscramble their names from the batch of mixed up letters near their likenesses and answer the question pertaining to the career of one of them. Save your complete set of six drawings and send them to: The Movie Mixups Editor, Boston Evening American, Boston.

Luxurious prizes including 40 Automatic Tom Thumb radios, with all new 1936 features; $150 in cash and 300 guest theater tickets are to be distributed by the Boston Evening American free! An additional grand award of the 1936 Automatic console radio, with 20 features, including all-wave, nine all-metal tubes, and "Vision Ray," latest radio invention which actually "sees" your station selections is to be given free at the end of this radio tie-up.

Neatness, accuracy, promptness and originality in presentation are deciding factors in this series. To share in the grand award, send your "Movie Mixups" in every week.

Headline Test Ends Tonight

Entrants in the Boston Evening American headline-writing contest must have their headlines in this office by 8 P. M. today to be eligible for the awards.

For the best headline caption above a photograph of Betty Field, leading lady of the laugh-show "Three Men on a Horse," now playing at the Plymouth Theater, will bring a $10 award.

Ten other winners will be awarded 10 pairs of tickets for the fast-moving comedy.

UTILITIES 'PAID' BOTH PARTIES

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—A report showing public utility officials and directors contributing $68,900 to Republican campaign funds and $137,650 to Democratic funds in 1924, 1928 and 1932 was put today into a trade commission hearing record.

The report was prepared by W. B. Herne, commission investigator, as part of the commission's congressionally-ordered utility investigation.

One of the largest contributions was $22,000 by John D. Ryan, director of Brooklyn Edison Company and president of Montana Power Company—$5,000 in 1924 and $27,000 in 1928—to the Democratic National Committee.

In 1928 George F. Baker, Jr., director of General Electric Company, gave $25,000 to the Republican fund, and in 1924, $5000.

Murphy to Lay P. O. Cornerstone

U. S. Marshall John J. Murphy will be master of ceremonies at the exercises attending the laying of the cornerstone of the new post-office in Union square, Somerville, Saturday, November 16.

Governor Curley, Congressman Healey, Postmaster Peter F. Tague and Mayor Hagan of Somerville will be among the speakers.

JENNEY HY-POWER

The regular Jenney Gasoline—high anti-knock, powerful

NOISY HARVARD BOYS

Cambridge Woman Can't Sleep

By THE NOISE EDITOR

Noise haters are marshaling!

Scarcely had the Noise Editor offered a chance to all noise haters to protest against what they consider the five noisiest noises in Greater Boston than one woman sat down and wrote out her pet hates.

Within a short time the Noise Editor expects to be deluged with letters and to be handing out pairs of tickets for "Three Men on a Horse," and sifting out the letters to find the best—the writer to receive an additional $25 award.

But please do not do as the Cambridge woman did in sending her list and letter. She signed it merely, "Mrs. J. W. S., Cambridge," with no name and no street address. Please include your name and address, and if you do not wish these published, include a request that only initials be used.

Here is the letter from Mrs. J. W. S.:

"Here are my five noisiest noises:

"1. Harvard boys running up and down the fire escapes of our building.

"2 Apartment radios operated by persons who apparently are deaf.

"3. The drip, drip, drip of my bathtub faucet.

"4. Taxicab horns.

"5. Cambridge street cars.

"You want to know what I would do to abate these noises. Well, if I could stop the Harvard boys from romping up and down the fire escape, I can stand the rest of the noises.

"I have considered (A) putting soap on the fire escape, (B) borrowing a shotgun, (C) moving out and (D) speaking to them about it, but I am a lady. They are so noisy I missed the earthquake the other night.

"Do I get a pair of tickets?"

No, Mrs. J. W. S., you don't get the tickets—at least not until you send your name and address, so that we will know where to mail them.

The rest of you noise haters—send in your noisiest noises.

Five of the letters, with their tabulations of noisiest noises, will be published each day and for each letter published the writer will receive a pair of tickets. Then there is the $25 award for the best of them all.

Address your letters—and they must not be more than 200 words in length—to The Noise Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop square, Boston.

Danny II, Mascot New, Flees B. U.

All Boston University joined in a dog hunt today—for Dapper Danny the Second, the university's Boston terrier mascot, is lost, strayed or stolen.

Danny disappeared Sunday from Nickerson Field house in Weston where he was quartered with the football team. At first it was believed he was merely rustling up a squirrel or two in the woods.

Monday and yesterday a quiet search was carried on and today the bad news was told in classes. Danny isn't to be found.

Perhaps, some suggested, Danny has met Mrs. Walter O'Hara's wandering terrier and they have gone bitch-hiking.

Or perhaps Danny has met the fate of his predecessor, Dapper Danny the First, who was drowned in the Charles when bested in battle by a large mud turtle that mistook him for a hot dog.

The terrier, gift of George Demeter, B. U. alumnus, defeated yesterday in the school committee contest, has been regarded as a lucky piece for the football team and his loss is keenly felt because Saturday's game is with arch-rival Rutgers.

Danny is 14 months old, black and white and a typical Boston.

N. H. Mill Home Evictions Charged

Providence, R. I., Nov. 6 (INS)—Charging that workers were being evicted from their mill homes "on the verge of winter" tob reak the United Textile Workers of America unions, Horace A. Riviere, vice-president, today prepared to take action against the Cocheco Mills of East Rochester, N. H.

Riviere announced behh whould "present documentary evidence of violations of the provisions of the Wagner-Connery law" to the New England regional labor board within 48 hours.

FIN. COM. O. K.'S MARKET LOAN

Mayor Mansfield today made public a letter from the Finance Commission giving unqualified approval to the council order of October 28 authorizing the $460,000 PWA loan to rehabilitate and repair the Quincy Market.

When originally passed the city council order was held up at the request of the Finance Commission, pending investigation by architects and engineers of the economic phases of the modernization program.

In its letter to Mayor Mansfield today the Finance Commission referred to the fact that the 110-year-old building housing Quincy Market yields an annual revenue of $80,000 which "makes it the best real estate investment in Boston."

Chinese Have No Word For 'It'

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—A pretty little Chinese woman intrigued New Yorkers today by saying she's never heard of "sex appeal."

"Sex appeal?" Dymia Hsiung, whose first name means "Black Plum Blossom," looked puzzled.

"I never heard of such a thing in my life," she said.

She tapped her satin-sandaled foot and insisted that "knowledge is a woman's most appealing trait. —knowledge, and 'jen-pin.' "

This, she explained, means "character."

Her husband is Shin Hsiung, author of the play "Lady Precious Stream," now being produced on Broadway.

At 30, Mrs. Hsieng looks 18, has five children, has published two books of poetry.

$3500 Fall River Theft

Fall River, Nov. 6—Peck's Dress Shop on North Main street was robbed of $3500 worth of wearing apparel during the night.

STAVISKY CHIEF TELLS OF GEMS

Paris, Nov. 6 (AP)—Henri Hayotte, manager of Serge Stavisky's "Alex Enterprises," was called to testify today in the mass swindle trial of 20 defendants.

Judge Barnaud questioned Hayotte regarding alleged pawning of false jewels at municipal pawnshops at Bayonne and Orleans. Hayotte is charged with having peddled false pawnshop bonds

Two defendants previously had been cross-questioned. They were Raoul Desbrosses, former director of the Orleans pawnshop, who told how Stavisky made him sign the bonds by threatening to commit suicide in the director's office.

"I was afraid of the scandal of having his body found in my office," Desbrosses told the court.

Emile Farault, former appraiser in the Orleans pawnshop, denied he had valued false jewels for the man the prosecution calls the "Master Swindler."

Nauset Station Retreats Again

Eastham, Nov. 6 (AP)—The old Nauset coast guard station station, which has done duty amidst storms and gales for 50 years, will give way this winter to a modern structure to be built wel back from the shore.

The old building has been moved back twice on account of encroaching waves and the beach now has washed away.

Double Hit

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 6 (AP)—Fred Gray, 15-year-old air rifle marksman, hit the bull's-eye and went to a hospital as a result.

The target was a .22-caliber bullet. The BB shot hit the percussion cap and the brass shell bounded back into the boy's abdomen as the bullet exploded.

JENNEY AUTO-OIL

(popular priced)

A highly refined and filtered paraffine oil.

JENNEY ETHYL

(premium grade)

A combination of Jenney Hy-Power and Ethyl Fluid

Tune in

EVERY SUNDAY EVENING STATION WEEI 8 to 9

The Jenney Concert

New England's finest radio program ... an hour of musical entertainment ... featuring a group of 24 outstanding artists ... under the direction of Ruby Newman

FUR COAT Bargains! $15 AND UP

Brand New, Unrepossessed and Used

Northern Seals (Coney), Muskrats, Leopard Calfs, Kangaroo, Northern Beaver (Coney) $15 to Snappy Lapin Swagger Prizes! Regardless to Cost, $9.75 Special lot of used coats. A sample lot of beautiful fur trimmed cloth coats $9.75 to Many Small Amounts Over

MAX'S LOAN OFFICE 185 BROADWAY—BOSTON Directly from Metropolitan Theatre

Exclusive distributors for PENNSYLVANIA VALVOLINE MOTOR OILS

the original Pennsylvania oil

You're Welcome

to every one of the many facilities provided for your comfort and convenience when you drive in at a Jenney Station.

Clean, comfortable rest-rooms, telephones, road maps and reliable information about local travel conditions are at your service.

Courteous attendants are ready and willing to give you quick intelligent service, whatever your motoring needs may be.

Expense Trouble

Economy . . . Pleasure . . .

Change to Jenney Aero Gasoline and you substitute economy and driving pleasure for trouble and unnecessary engine expense.

Jenney Aero is heavier than any other gasoline and yet is highly volatile.

The extra weight gives your car more power—mileage—economy. The high volatility means satisfaction—superior performance.

There is no substitute equal to Jenney Aero.

JENNEY MANUFACTURING CO., Boston. Established 1812

JENNEY Aero GASOLINE

ADVICE on LOVE and MARRIAGE by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

How to Treat the Treater

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I go around with a mighty snappy girl and I like her, too, but I can't get over the impression that she's just working me for a good time.

When I take her to a swell restaurant, she never seems to come out of her trance until the food comes on.

When I take her out in my car, it's the same way; she never seems really interested in anything I say. She'll always go out with me, but don't you think, when I spend so much on her, that she should show more attention when she is being treated to the best?

SAM.

Good taste, to say the least, demands she should show more interest in such a generous friend. Maybe this girl who never comes alive in a restaurant until the food appears is an unlovely object, and I should suggest your taking out some one more appreciative.

We've had books on every subject; one on "How to Treat the Treater" would be useful to girls of this type.

* * *

HE HAS NO EDUCATION

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

We are both devotedly in love, and this is no kid affair, as we are both over 25 years of age. I have a high school education, and my fiance none at all. He lacks even a special trade or training of any sort, though he's a good worker and steady at anything he gets.

My family and friends have told me that I would be taking a great risk in marrying him, that an education is absolutely necessary today, and that I would be very much ashamed when people found out these things about him.

M. S.

While it is astounding the number of people in these United States who lack education, it is even more astounding that they do not take advantage of the opportunities offered to correct this humiliating disadvantage.

Almost every city, town and village in this country offers free night school classes in rudimentary subjects. Why doesn't this young man enroll in some such class? And why don't you help him?

Consider the case of President Andrew Johnson, and the assistance given him by his schoolteaching wife. If you love this young man as much as you think you do, you will see that he does not go through life with this handicap.

* * *

COUSINS PLAN AN ELOPEMENT

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

We're first cousins and terribly in love. I am 28 and she is 33. On the sly we've gone together five years. We've both tried to find other company that would interest us, but we're made for one another, and it just doesn't work.

From what I have read, it's legal in some states for first cousins to marry. Would you advise us to elope? And if so, do you think we ought to tell our mothers first? We both think they would forgive us in time.

WARREN.

The marriage of first cousins is a subject to be discussed with your family doctor rather than the most sympathetic of correspondents. Other first cousins marry and have perfectly normal children. Again, there are very unfortunate results of such intermarriage in families. Please don't think of eloping; tell your mothers by all means before you take this most important step.

MENUS FOR THANKSGIVING

ALTHOUGH TURKEY is the national choice for the Thanksgiving feast, you can use other fowls for the main course, and give your family cause for gratitude and festivity.

Dorothy Marsh, of Good Housekeeping Institute, suggests these menus: Begin with an oyster bisque, followed by stuffed roast capon, giblet gravy, parsnaised sweet and white potatoes, parsleyed diced turnips, scalloped corn and tomatoes, jellied cranberry salad and baked Indian pudding with ice cream and coffee.

Or start with tomato juice and toasted cheese crackers, and then stuffed roast duck, spiced apple rings, riced potatoes, gravy, creamed onions, grape and nut salad, cocoanut pumpkin pie, mints and coffee.

With a chicken dinner begin with a pineapple juice and ginger ale cocktail, followed by chicken pie with mashed potato crust, buttered diced beets and celery, quince jelly, lettuce salad with grated cheese, French dressing and for dessert serve hot spiced raisin cake with foamy sauce and coffee.

Beautiful Play and Picture--Midsummer Night's Dream

Beatrice Fairfax advises you to see the Shakespearian picture that Nell Brinkley illustrates here so beautifully.

In one of her most beautiful pictures Nell Brinkley, combining a modern boy and girl and their love troubles with Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," borrows from that romantic play the line so often quoted, "The course of true love never did run smooth."

If true love's course "ran smooth" it would be less interesting. A flat country, without mountains or valleys, is dull; a love affair without its doubting and wondering, its reproaching and "making up" is dull also.

You know the story of Shakespeare's play, and now you should see the marvelous picture, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," that Warner Brothers are showing at the Hollywood Theater in New York.

In the central picture Nell Brinkley shows the old story of Titania, the fairy queen, whose husband, King Oberon, to punish her, rubbed on her eyes the juice of a magic plant that made her fall in love with the first thing she saw when she awoke from sleep.

The first thing happened to be a man, temporarily ornamented with the head of a donkey—the good-natured and much amused "Bottom" of the Shakespeare play. Titania thought she loved the donkey, which is surprising, because the donkey was not even rich.

The sort of love affair sometimes happens in "society"—when the donkey has money as well as long ears.

In "A Midsummer Night's Dream" all ends happily, and in the two little modern pictures on either side of Titania and her donkey all ends happily also.

When you see the picture, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," you will look forward eagerly to other picture productions of Shakespearian pictures. He wrote as though he had moving pictures in mind and knew that they were coming. What no stage and actor can show moving pictures can show. They have power to make real the genius of Shakespeare, his unequalled imagination, surpassing all others ever born on the earth.

Don't fail to see "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Menu For Tomorrow

BREAKFAST
Sliced Bananas
Cereal
Crisp Bacon
Wheat Toast Butter
Coffee

LUNCH
Corn Chowder
Crackers
Green Salad, French Dressing
Ribbon Cake with Seven Minute Frosting
Tea

DINNER
Kidney Pie with Biscuit Crust
Boiled Potatoes
Broccoli
Bread and Butter
Rice Custard Pudding
Coffee

Home Institute

Plan Party Fun

BREAKING THE ICE WHEN THE PARTY BEGINS

THERE'S NEVER a dull moment when the Baxters give a party!

The high school crowd loves to be invited to young Nancy Baxter's house, and the friends of her parents are just as keen on their entertainments.

At the last party they gave, they had the ice broken before it had ever formed. The minute you had your wrap off, Bill Baxter handed you a card which read in large letters, "CHEESE."

"Who's a cheese?" said you, but as soon as you found out that Dan Hughes was Apple Pie, you were mighty glad to be a cheese —and his partner in the games that followed.

Little Nina Nevitt was Liver, and did the crowd snicker when Jim Anderson, instead of her fiance, turned out to be Bacon! And the Bostonian antics put on by Hal and Katie as Baked Beans and Brown Bread were a sketch —you didn't know they had such talent in them.

Next thing you knew, everybody had a chance at acting. The Baxters passed out paper headdresses—a Cleopatra cap, a Napoleon hat, and so on—and you acted like the character whose name was buzzed in your ear when you got your "bonnet." The way Henry the Eighth lived up to his lady-ogling reputation was simply terrific—put on by quiet Ralph Dunne, of all people!

There was the best-tasting supper you ever ate; tiny broiled sausages, and savory batter sandwiches; a grand Florentine salad, and stuffed celery, and the daintiest cakes and ices.

All the Baxters' parties are like that. And Mrs. Baxter can certainly think of clever things for a church entertainment. In fact, we begin to suspect that Mrs. Baxter gets a lot of helpful hints from somewhere.

Maybe she finds them in our 40-page Home Institute booklet, GOOD PARTIES. There is surely something in it for you. It supplies you with new riddles, conundrums, tricks, and stunts to spring on your friends; new games that will liven up any crowd; ideas for parties for special occasions, for menus and for effective decorations.

To order your copy, use coupon.

Boston Evening American Home Institute, 109 W. 19th St., New York, N. Y.

Enclosed find 10c for booklet.

No. 4—Good Parties

Name .....
Please print name and address plainly.

Street .....

City and State .....

FASHION FLASHES

YOU'LL BE matching your shoes to your costumes this fall.

If your new tweed suit has a wine flec'k, then wine-colored calfskin walking shoes and handbag will accent the color scheme.

If you go for that new hunter's green, you'll find shoes and other leather accessories to match.

Oxblood is one of the favorite shoe colors for fall. It has that all-important wine tone, and besides it comes in sturdy walking shoes with built-up leather heels, made to stand the gaff.

Square heels as well as toes appear on some of the newest street shoes for sub-deb wear.

Given In Marriage

HARRIET NEAR HYSTERIA IN HER ROOM

CHAPTER 491

By ADELE GARRISON

HARRIET was not asleep.

I would have been astounded if she had been, after what Edwin had told me of his blunder, so obtusely masculine, in sending his wife away from Lee Chow's sick room while keeping Katherine with him.

Under any set of circumstances other than the one in which these two married lovers were involved, Edwin's action would have been a most natural one, and Harriet would have accepted it in good faith as evidence of his solicitous care of her.

I knew, of course, that tender care for his wife's physical welfare had been the motivating power behind Edwin's action. Katherine's presence in the sick room was a necessity because of her special knowledge of the experimental treatment which Doctor Braithwaite was giving to Lee Chow.

As soon as the necessity for two nurses was ended Doctor Braithwaite had sent his wife back to bed, forgetting in his zeal for her physical comfort, that he was dealing a murderous blow to her peace of mind.

But the mischief had been done, and the unfortunate contretemps had put the finishing rasp upon Harriet's already frayed nerves. I was not surprised to see her groans upon my bed, her whole body shaking with uncontrollable sobs.

ON VERGE OF HYSTERIA

I had used my own key to open the door according to the agreement I had made with her, but, mindful of her frayed nerves, and afraid of startling her, I spoke her name as I closed the door after my entrance, and uttered it again just before I laid my hand upon her shoulder.

But so absorbed was she in the effort to control her grief, that she did not hear me, and when I touched her she started up with what would have been a shriek if it had not been stifled by the towel crammed to her mouth.

I bent over her and tugged gently at the self-administered gag.

"Harriet!" I said imperatively. "Open your mouth this instant and let me have that thing! You are positively shocking yourself! And it's so absurd! I've found out the truth about everything—do you hear? The truth! There is no need whatever for any of this tragedy."

Only her eyes told me that she had heard me. Her sobs were too uncontrollable to stop in an instant. But with thankfulness I saw that they were lessening in volume and intensity.

When I finally was able to loosen the towel which she had crammed into her mouth, and which she did not relinquish until her sobs were inaudible, she was past the violent stage of an outburst of sobbing.

I did not speak until she was ready for utterance. At last her voice came, reedy and tremulous, but with a note of hope in it.

"Do you mean," she quavered, "that you have seen Edwin?"

"Yes, I have," I answered, "and Harriet, he has cleared up everything — everything—do you understand?"

"Do you know?" she said shakily, "that Edwin sent me back here to sleep while he kept Katherine there with him?"

Evidently that last well-meaning blunder of her husband's had proved to be the final straw. I saw that I must work quickly if I were to keep her from another emotional breakdown.

"Of course, I know it," I said with just a touch of scorn in my voice. "It was the only proper thing for him to do. But I'm not going to waste time on that now. I have more important things to tell you. Look here, Harriet! Did you ever know Edwin to tell a falsehood?"

"Never!" she said. "He is utterly incapable of falsehood. That is why I never would have dared to ask him about—Katherine. I was afraid to know the truth."

"Then it's time you found out," I said with a trace of acerbity in my voice. "I've been torturing yourself needlessly all these years. Katherine is not the woman whose photograph you saw in your husband's hands.

Continued Tomorrow

Luring The Birds

HOW to prepare an acceptable fare for the birds to keep them near at hand through the winter, is of interest now. Sometimes the stereotyped feeding trays seem to lack allure, and need to be supplemented by a more convenient dish. Try the following: Take half an orange, dry the scooped-out peeling, put a wire in one side and fill the tiny receptacle with suet, peanuts and bird seed. The birds all on the edge and find the special morsel they like the best. Put them all around in the bushes; they provide a bit of color, besides using something that otherwise would be thrown away. Take pine cones, place them in heat in the house until they expand, and then fill them with suet and bird seed, the former melted and seed or chopped peanuts added; when it cools rub into the cone. Fasten on the outdoor branch by an eight-inch piece of wire.—From House Beautiful.

HOME HINTS

DRAPERY is the theme of winter's new fashions for the evening, advises Helen Koues, Fashion Director of Good Housekeeping. Drapery arranged in a variety of different ways.

Sometimes it's in front, sometimes in back, sometimes in bodice or skirt, or both. And fabrics expressing this change lend themselves to these arrangements. Rich and supple lames in gold or silver, heavy sheers, chiffons, soft velvets, silk crepes, satins—all take to the matter of shirring and puckering: soft fullness, floating panels, or pleating.

Health

Treatment of Pleurisy Cases

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

LET ME give you another timely warning against the pitfalls of the winter months.

There is always danger in overfatigue, wet feet, chilling and undernourishment, but the danger is greater in cold weather.

Failure to guard against seasonal changes leads to colds, influenza, pneumonia and other of the so-called respiratory diseases.

Today, I want to tell you about pleurisy. This often follows neglect of the common cold and failure to guard against or to treat infections of the upper air passages.

Pleurisy, as its name indicates, is an inflammation of the pleura, the thin membrane lining the chest cavity. There are two layers of this membrane. One part covers the inside of the bony framework of the chest. The other covers the lungs which are suspended in the chest cavity.

COMMON IN CHILDREN

A fluid lubricates the pleura, so that the lungs can expand and relax without any difficulty. The delicately-covered lungs slide over the inside of the chest wall without the slightest friction. This is not the case if the pleural tissue becomes inflamed.

Germs may reach the pleura from an infection in the nose, nasal sinuses, throat, tonsils, teeth or bronchial tubes. These germs get into the blood stream and are carried to various parts of the body, including the pleura.

Pleurisy is more common in young people than in adults, and seems to affect boys more than girls. It may involve both sides of the chest but usually is confined to one side.

As a rule the disease is ushered in without warning. The victim complains of sharp pain and discomfort in the involved area. Cough may be present. Breathing is difficult and pain is increased by deep breathing, coughing or sudden change of position.

VARIOUS FORMS

There are various forms of pleurisy. Some are known as "dry," and others, "wet" pleurisy. In the dry type the inflammation is localized and no fluid is present. The pain is most severe.

In wet pleurisy the fluid accumulates. The secretion of fluid lessens the pain, but if there is an excessive quantity of fluid it may seriously interfere with the movements of the lungs.

Sometimes it is necessary to tap the pleura and drain away the fluid. When the infection is purulent in its nature and a good deal of pus accumulates, it may be necessary to make a more radical operation to remove the pus.

Answers to Health Queries

A Friend. Q—How much should a boy 15 years old and 5 feet 2 inches tall weigh? 2: How can I gain weight?

A—Considering your height and age, you should weigh about 124 pounds as determined by examination of a number of people. The diet should be well balanced and nutritious. You should have plenty of sleep. For full particulars restate your question and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

G. P. C. Q.—Will you please tell me what to do for hemorrhage of the mouth.

A—This condition requires careful medical attention. You should remain under the care of your doctor and it would be well to have your dentist examine your teeth and gums.

Advertisement

A Fountain of Youth for Hair!

Lovalon is that wonderful new odorless, vegetable rinse which brings lustrous highlights and a natural, silken softness to the hair. Lovalon is the easiest thing in the world to use and will give your hair beauty beyond your expectations. Lovalon does not bleach or dye—it is a rinse which will not color the scalp or affect the hair in any way except to make it more lovely—more radiant. Try Lovalon—you'll thank us for telling you about it.

25¢ for 5 rinses

LOVALON

white, blonde) . black . henna . chestnut brown . dark brown . shades of platinum (for gray, reddish brown . golden brown . medium brown . reddish blonde . golden blonde . light blonde . medium blonde.

ON SALE AT ALL Liggetts THE REXALL DRUG STORES

ROUMANIAN REDUCING DIET

Easy Method of Losing Weight

By Arline Gould

DID YOU KNOW that the average woman today eats ten times more concentrated protein than is required for tissue replacement?

This my seem a hard to accept fact, but it's the sworn-to statement of Dr. Wiliam Howard Hay, one of the most famous dietary experts in the world.

It would seem that neither are our food theories all that they should be, for Dr. Hay further adds that it isn't the quantity nor the richness of the foods we eat that adds to our weight so much as the wrong combinations we indulge in.

It is those incompatible mixtures—carbohydrates with protein—that not only cause excess fat but help to bring on acidosis, old age and chronic indigestion.

In Dr. Hay's dietary regime are three principle laws: First, never combine carbohydrates with acids. Acid fruit completely retards the chemical chance and digestion of carbohydrates and starch.

Second, separate starches and carbohydrates from proteins. Third, avoid too much protein-concentrated foods, such as cheese, meat, eggs and fish.

If you believe as we do that a reducing diet should also be a health diet, you'll be interested in a new method which hails from far-off Rumania. This diet was originated by a famous Rumanian physician to keep an alkaline balance in the body and prevent acidosis and toxic poisoning, both of which are principle causes of old age.

If you would like to obtain this Rumanian health and reducing diet send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Arline Gould, Boston Evening American, Boston.

Beauty Answers

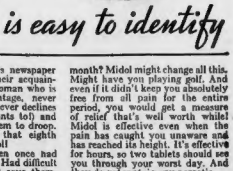
By ARLINE GOULD

Question—Where can I get my eyelashes dyed? I am tired of using mascara which always seems to smear over my face. I have been told that you can have lashes dyed by an expert and that it will last for several months. Anita F., Providence.

Answer—Eyelashes and brows can be dyed and this work can be done satisfactorily in many of the better beauty parlors. Nearly all of the large department stores have operators in their beauty salons who also do this type of work. It is unwise to attempt the job yourself, as it is too easy to trickle the dye onto the surrounding area. The color will last for several months. However, there is a new dark lashener on the market which is run-proof and which is nearly permanent as anything you could wish for. One application will last from five to six weeks. To learn the name of this lash darkener send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Arline Gould, Beauty Editor. Trade names are not mentioned in this column.

Advertisement



"NO. 8"
She is easy to identify

MOST readers of this newspaper number among their acquaintances a woman who has never, never at a disadvantage, never breaks engagements, never declines dances (unless she wants to!) and whose spirits never seem to droop.

She is apt to be that eighth woman who uses Midol!

Eight million women ones had to suffer every month. Had difficult days when they must save themselves, and favor themselves, or suffer severely. But a million have accepted the relief of Midol.

Are you a martyr to regular pain? Must you favor yourself, and save yourself, certain days of every month? Midol might change all this. Might have you playing golf. And even if it didn't relieve you entirely free from all pain for the entire period, you would get a measure of relief that's well worth while! Midol is effective even when the pain has caught you unaware and has reached its height. It's effective for hours, so two tablets should see you through your worst day. And they do not contain any narcotic.

You will find Midol in any drug store—usually right out on the toilet goods counter. Or, a card addressed to Midol, 170 Varick St., New York, will bring a trial box postpaid, plainly wrapped.

GLITTERING GIRL

By May Christie

CHAPTER XXXII

Mrs. de Bray, still with the smile glued on her face, widened her eyes dramatically at the speaker. "Vernon—my dear child—you've gone perfectly mad—this necklace trouble has turned your brain—why, I came here as the friend I've always been—I came to help you directly I learned from Ivan here that you'd lost the necklace! Why, if I'd only known sooner, I'd have been on your doorstep several days ago! See, dear, what I found in the Gypsy Pavilion after you'd gone that night!"—and to Vernon's amazement, out of her small handbag she drew what appeared to me an exact replica of the necklace!

Jake Tyson took the diamonds from her, turning them over in the palm of his hand. "These are the real ones, you say? He shot her a piercing glance from under his shaggy eyebrows.

"Of course they're the real diamonds!" exclaimed Mertina. "This foolish little Vernon must have dropped them just before I got to the Gypsy PAvilion!"

"That isn't true. It's a trumped up yarn," Vernon cut in.

Mertina gave a shrill, unpleasant laugh. With a swift, panther ish movement she snatched the diamonds from Jake Tyson's open palm and slipped them into the hand of her accomplice. "Ivan, dear, I think we'd better go. This child simply doesn't want to be helped! We'll take the necklace straight back to the jeweler's."

"Oh, no, you won't. McGraw won't let you leave this apartment till I say so," exclaimed Vernon.

"Father, will you please telephone Drouet's? This is my mess, and it's up to me to straighten it. If this necklace is a second fake, for the sake of public safety I'm going ho have you both arrested."

Mertina snapped, like a trapped python: "Then everyone will know, in town and out of it—that you spent the night alone with Ivan in his apartment! The papers will ring with what I have to tell them. Beside's we'll sue you for defamation of character!"

Jake returned from the bedroom from whence he had telephoned Drouet's. He suspected the very worst now of these people, and had taken the precaution of slipping his revolver into his trouser pocket.

"It's no use to try and bluff it out," he said heavily. "This girl of mine has all the evidence against you. She even went back to the hotel in Hot Springs to get all the dope on you she could, from these ladies who knew you and the real Prince Karinoff in Europe. You madame, were never summoned back to town by telegram. You were afraid to face them, and so both of you left.

"That makes me laugh."

"Also it's my belief that those identification papers of yours, sir, are faked, or that you stole them from the real prince at some time or other. Another point we have against you is that you never declared that necklace on entering the United States. We can set the federal agents on you."

"Shut up, you s-s-social-climber!" His meticulous foreign accent slipped from him as the Prince snarled at Jake.

It was all Jake could do, rugged Westerner that he was, to keep from smashing his huge fist into that treacherous face.

But Vernon's reputation held him back. Were the police to be called in, the story that would break in the newspapers would do nothing to help either her or her mother in their social climb!

Necklace Returned

He did not realize that Vernon was already weary of so-called "Society." Her heart and mind were filled with a real man, who now—through her own folly in encouraging this impostor—did not want her. And his name was Terry Shannon.

• • •

"Yes, this is the real necklace. These are the missing diamonds," said the manager of Drouet's some twenty minutes later, in the dining room.

"What have you to prove," Vernon asked quickly, "that this is the genuine Karinoff necklace, Mr Drouet?"

Mr. Drouet opened his wallet and produced declaration papers showing that duty amounting to $5500 had been paid by Prince Karinoff to the Customs House, on his necklace.

"Thank you, Mr. Drouet. Will you take this necklace back now and give me a receipt for it?" Vernon asked quietly

"No, thank you. We are not in the market for them." She showed the two men out and then quickly returned to the dining room.

"Since the Inquisition is over, I presume we may now take our leave?" inquired "Prince Karinoff" sarcastically.

Vernon Acts

"Not until I have given you my ultimatum," Vernon rejoined quietly. Her glance went from her father to the Prince, and then on to the woman knowns as Mertina de Bray. "I could have you committed to prison, Mr. Metchaeva, because you deliberately stole that necklace from me.

"As for the customs papers which Mr. Drouet just showed us, where you are alleged to have paid a sum of $5500 on this historic 'antique,' there is no record of any such transaction at the customs house—therefore those papers are a forgery. I shall advise Mr. Drouet to have them examined tomorrow morning by an expert."

"Since you're so smart, what are you going to do now, Miss Sherlock Holmes?" Mertina suddenly spat out.

"I'm going to give you a chance to clear off before the exposure," Vernon answered calmly, "and if my parents and I ever run into either of you again, we do not know you." She opened her handbag. "Here, take your passport. You may need it. Remember, however, that I have in my possession a photostatic copy of it."

Mertina grabbed the passport wordlessly. At a nod from Vernon, she and her accomplice hurried from the apartment.

In a cosily upholstered corner of the small Pilgrim Restaurant, Nan Rushington—a pretty picture in her riding clothes—was lunching with her equestrian companion of the morning, Terry Shannon.

Terry had ordered an appetizing lunch. He had masterful ways that, even if they sometimes irked her, spoiled child that she was, yet gave him added appeal.

She said now, her eyes turned soulfully up at him, and Nan's eyes were perhaps the best feature in her piquant little face: "Oyou know, Terry, I simply love you when you're bossy!"

He grinned boyishly, his teeth a flash of white in his tanned face. "Then you'd go mad about me if you saw me in my native element! I can be a perfect ogre, I assure you."

"It must be heavenly out there. I'd adore it. There's nothing I'd love better than to go with you, Terry."

"Nonsense. You'd be bored to death in a couple of days. You're not the sort for roughing it."

"But I am. I tell you you don't know me. Just because you see me here in this kind of a setting you misjudge me. You think I'm a hot-house lily, when I'm really a—a—"

"Cactus plant?"

"You mean I'm prickly? That's horrid of you!" she pouted.

He laughed. "Shall I say, a rose with thorns, since you like pretty speeches? Come, Nan, you can't deny you were a bit barbed with your pretty cousin less than an hour ago when we ran into her in the Park?"

"Oh! Vernon!" Nan shrugged her shoulders nonchalantly. But she was thinking: "Now is the psychological moment to get in the good work!" She said: "I didn't feel particularly sweet to Vernon. I'll admit I was a bit tight at the Gypsy Pavilion after the Pageant, when you insisted on taking me home, you sweet thing! But Vernon, for all her shy manner, went me one better! Oh yes, It's true, Terry, that those pitiful girls so to lenrita we loiter ones wouldn't—that still waters run deep—"

"She's 22 if she's a day—and her mother's simply desperate to have her 'marry into society,' as she calls it. Why, she offered Prince Karinoff goodness alone knows how much hard cash if he'd marry Vernon! I suspect he balked for further money—I don't know where the hitch lay, or if they're engaged or not, really—but I know that after we left the Gypsy Pavilion, Vernon spent the remainder of the night in his apartment."

Terry said bluntly: "I don't believe it."

Light, Soft and Cosy Rabbit Wool

By ANNICE BRINK

FOR a clear, rich brilliance in high shades, and a dusky loveliness in pastels—the soft rabbit woolens seem to have a particular talent. And they are so caressingly warm and tissue-light to wear that no feminine football fan should consider her sports outfit correct without one. For campus, for business, for general daytime wear the two frocks illustrated above are particularly adaptable. Above,there is a contrast of high and soft shades—green and brown, rust and brown, green and black, or blue and black. Notice the smart diagonal closing with its three buttons, the nail-head studded belt, and the dark ascot. Right, flaring double revers flare across the bodice of the easily cut frock with a ridged suede belt. The high neck has a tiny turnover collar and a suede clip. Comes in shades of rust, green, grape, and brown. Both frocks are $17. For shopping details, phone Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, LIBerty 4000, or write her.

Bridge — Ability to Count to Thirteen

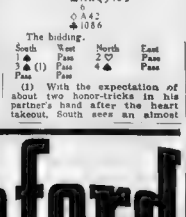
We hear much about mysterious and awesome mathematical laws, averages, percentages and probabilities in Bridge, usually from profound mathematicians —who play very badly.

As a matter of fact, the most important mathematical proposition in the game is the simple ability to count to 13.

The addition, substraction and division of this one small number, properly applied, piles up the points, wrecks many a bright young hope of the opponents and sometimes destroys a beautiful mirage.

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable



The bidding.

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1♠ | Pass | 2♡ | Pass |
| 3♠ (1) | Pass | 4♠ | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

(1) With the expectation of about two honor-tricks in his partner's hand after the heart takeout. South sees an almost certain game and makes the semi-forcing jump bid.

With three of his partner's suit, a singleton and a solid heart suit, North should have made a Slam try by bidding five hearts or spades.

His raise to game was a conservative bid which he intended out, saved points for his side

West opened the King of clubs and when dummy went down South inwardly bemoaned the fact that he and partner hadn't somehow reached such a lay-down sam.

East's six hearts in dummy, plus six in his own, made 12.

Subtracting that from 13 left only one. If West had it, there wasn't any hope anyway, since South, on the bidding, was marked with the Ace or King of diamonds.

But if South had the missing heart, all was not yet lost.

So he put the low club back in his hand, overtook the King with the Ace and returned a heart

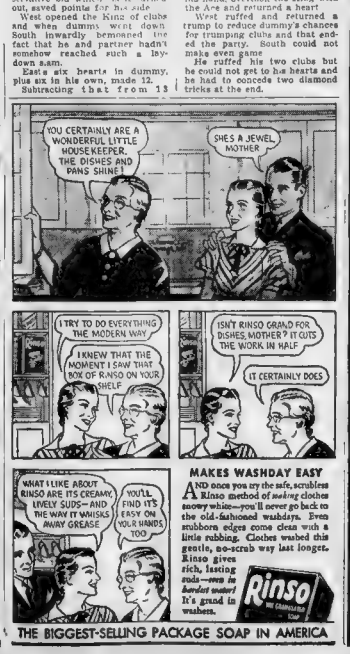
West ruffed and returned a trump to reduce dummy's chance for trumping clubs and that ended the party. South could not make even game

He ruffed his two clubs but he could not get to his hearts and he had to concede two diamond tricks at the end.

Rumford helps bring out the flavors of good ingredients

The scientific efficiency of the double raising action of Rumford is why this pure all-phosphate baking powder helps develop and blend the flavors of all the other good ingredients in a baking. This characteristic of the perfect leavener is very important to every home baker of cakes, pastries and hot breads. It assures baking success . . . light even texture and delicious flavor. Remember,—Rumford will never leave any bitter "after-taste!"

Buy Rumford, the wholesome all-phosphate Baking Powder.



YOU CERTAINLY ARE A WONDERFUL LITTLE HOUSEKEEPER. THE DISHES AND PANS SHINE!
SHE'S A JEWEL, MOTHER
I TRY TO DO EVERYTHING THE MODERN WAY
I KNEW THAT THE MOMENT I SAW THAT BOX OF RINSO ON YOUR SHELF
ISN'T RINSO GRAND FOR DISHES, MOTHER? IT CUTS THE WORK IN HALF
IT CERTAINLY DOES
WHAT I LIKE ABOUT RINSO ARE ITS CREAMY, LIVELY SUDS—AND THE WAY IT WHISKS AWAY GREASE
YOU'LL FIND IT'S EASY ON YOUR HANDS, TOO
Rinso

MAKES WASHDAY EASY

AND once you try the safe, scrubless Rinso method of making clothes snowy white—you'll never go back to the old-fashioned washdays. Even stubborn edges come clean with a little rubbing. Clothes washed this gentle, no-scrub way last longer. Rinso gives rich, lasting suds—even in hardest water. It's grand in washers.

THE BIGGEST-SELLING PACKAGE SOAP IN AMERICA

Try Pumpkin PIE WITH Ginger Snap CRUST

From Martha Lee's Wednesday Morning Broadcast Over Station WAAB

NOVEMBER is the month of chrysanthemums, turkeys, cranberries, crackling and golden brown pumpkin pies and pastries.

Although the traditional and time-honored way of serving pumpkin pie is as a custard filling in a pastry crust, many are making, as a variation, a pumpkin chiffon pie in a ginger snap crust.

For the children a pumpkin custard made from the same recipe as the pumpkin filling and baked in individual custard cups would be a desirable variation of the plain custard.

Although the recipe below for pumpkin doughnuts did not come to us from early days, we are sure that Colonial wives would approve of them.

REFRIGERATOR PUMPKIN PIE

1 tbsp gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1½ cups pumpkin, cooked
½ cup milk
½ tsp ginger
½ tsp nutmeg
½ tsp cinnamon
½ tsp salt
1 cup sugar
3 eggs

To slightly-beaten egg yokes add one-half cup sugar, pumpkin, milk, salt and spices. Cook until thick in double boiler. Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatine on top of water Add to hot pumkin mixture, mix thoroughly and cool. When it begins to thicken, add remaining sugar and fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pour into previously baked pie shell or ginger snap crust Chill in refrigerator or cool place Serve with topping of whipped cream, into which has been folded cottage cheese.

GINGER SNAP PIE CRUST

1½ cups ginger snap crumbs
2 tbsps. powdered sugar
¼ cup butter, scant

Crush the ginger snaps and mix with butter and sugar. Pat mixture firmly into a pie plate Place in refrigerator or cold place. Allow to stand for several hours, then fill with any desired filling, and chill.

Kitchen Ensemble

By MARIAN MARTIN

Here's a kitchen ensemble worthy of that spic and span kitchen of yours. It's a brand new idea, and one you'll want to pass on to your friends.

There's an easy-to-make frock with yoke and sleeves cut all in one piece, and a perky puff to the sleeves.

Make the apron of gingham or percale, to contrast with a plain colored frock or vice versa, for contrast's the vogue

Pattern 9639 is for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 Size 16 apron requires 1¼ yards 36-inch fabric; dress requires 3¼ yards.

Send your order to Boston American Pattern Department, 212 West 18th street, New York, N. Y.

MOHICAN MARKETS

LOW PRICED SPECIALS

—IN ALL DEPARTMENTS—

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

NEW ENGLAND BOILED DINNER

| | |
|---|---|
| 4 lbs MIDDLE RIB CORNED BEEF | .76 |
| 2 lbs MAINE POTATOES | .04 |
| 1 lb CUT CARROTS | .03 |
| 1 lb BLOOD BEETS | .04 |
| 2 lbs CABBAGE | .04 |
| 1 SHOPPING BAG | .02 |
| VALUE | .93 |

ALL FOR → 59¢
An Economical Meal For Six Persons

CUT FROM HEAVY CORN-FED STEER BEEF

STEAK SALE — PORTERHOUSE, SIRLOIN, TOP ROUND, FACE RUMP — POUND 29¢

FRESH MUSHROOMS lb. 25¢

FRESHLY GROUND HAMBURG 2 lbs. 29¢

FRUIT BARS HERMITS 2 DOZ. 19¢

CINNAMON BUNS DOZ. 13¢

THURSDAY ONLY

"MOHICAN MARKETS"

ABOVE SPECIALS ON SALE AT ALL GREATER BOSTON STORES

BOSTON—98 Washington St.
JAMAICA PLAIN—656 Centre St.
ROXBURY—2182 Washington St.
ALLSTON—127 Harvard Ave.
NEWTON—256 Washington St.
SOUTH BOSTON—423 Broadway

Eat Whatever YOU WISH AT Restaurant

By MRS. REECKMAN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend of mine has made it a habit when at dinner parties in restaurants with groups of friends to refuse to order soup, even when the meal is table d'hote.

Her friends have suggested that she at least order a cup of consomme, in order not to embarass those who may desire the soup course. Do you think she's right in refusing, to take the soup course, or do you recommend that she "go through the motions?"

INTERESTED READER.

There's something to be said for both sides of this question. First, there is no reason in the world why a group of friends ordering a table d'hote meal or an a la carte one either, for that matter, should feel the slightest embarrassment when one of the group doesn't order one of the courses.

They should be perfectly casual about it, and she can be perfectly casual about it. If she doesn't like soup—and some people have no interest in it—there doesn't seem much point of her ordering it.

However, if she feels that her not ordering it does cause any embarrassment or inconvenience, then her manners should quickly come to the fore and she should do what manners always urge us to do—adapt oneself to what pleases people with whom we are, what makes them comfortable and at ease.

Ordering a cup of consomme and eating some of it certainly is an easy way of adapting herself to the happiness of the group.

REDS PLOT TO SEIZE COAST CITY WITH GENERAL STRIKE

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 6 (US)—Discovery of a widespread Communist plot to foment a general strike and bring about a condition of "revolution" was announced here by Mayor Charles L. Smith in an official statement.

Mayor Smith charged that agitators high in Communist circles had come to Seattle from Communist Pacific Coast headquarters at San Francisco with the hope of building up the current Fisher Flouring mill strike into a general sympathetic uprising.

A "pay-off man" whose name Seattle police know, the mayor said, recently brought from San Francisco between $4000 and $5000 to prolong the flour mill strike and to provoke a hostile attitude from peaceful unions toward employers in general.

The mayor, in announcing that he expected to clear the city at once of all known Communist agitators, declared that the Fisher strike had been engineered by a Communist "cell" among the workers in the plant, and that prominent San Francisco Communists were now directing, under cover, the activities of this cell.

Third Red Sought In Wisconsin Bombing

Milwaukee, Nov. 6 (INS)—Police today investigated the possibility a third Communist perished in Sunday's terrific explosion which is already known to have taken three lives.

A further search of the ruins of the garage in which Hugh Rutkowski, 21-year-old Red terrorist, and his 16-year-old pal, Paul Chavenek, were blown to bits as they experimented with a "super bomb," was to be made today as the result of the statement of Mrs. Clara Mylnarek that she saw a third youth enter the infernal laboratory just before the blast.

Mrs. Mylnarek's nine-year-old daughter, Patricia, was killed by the explosion. Her fourteen-year-son, Conrad, was severely injured.

Mrs. Mylnarek, who was also injured by the explosion, told police she "heard what sounded like the voices of three persons" in the garage.

Police continued their roundup of cronies of Rutkowski today, intent on capturing his accomplices in the five bombings which preceded Sunday's fatal blast.

They were also bent on breaking the Red terrorist organization which they believed he may have established among a gang of young hoodlums.

The city council was to meet in special session today to consider relief measures for the hundreds who suffered property damage totaling $100,000 in Sunday's explosion.

FLORIDA FEARS STORM RETURN

Jacksonville, Fla. Nov. 6 (AP)—Floridians braced today for a return visit of a freak hurricane which left more than $2,000,000 damage and seven dead.

The storm hammered 215 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico, then slowed down and began to curve northward.

Grady Norton, Jacksonville weather bureau meteorologist, said it was "fairly certain" the disturbance would pass over Florida again within 24 hours. This time somewhere north of Tampa.

He expected it to gain slightly in intensity on a northeastward course, the "proper" direction for the average hurricane.

The storm howled in from the Atlantic Monday, swept past Miami and the Everglades, leaving a trail of sunken boats, smashed homes and uprooted crops.

Navy Man's Son Joins 'Flag Rebels'

Lakewood N. J. Nov. 6 (AP)—School authorities were expected to act tonight in the case of the son of a naval air station employe who refuses to salute his country's flag because of religious principles.

The youth is Russell Sperling, 16 Lakewood high school junior and member of the football team.

His father, E. Hummer Sperling, employed at the Lakehurst naval air station for 15 years, is an ordained minister of the religious sect known as "Jehovah's Witnesses."

Luther to Visit Mexico

Washington, Nov. 6 (INS)—Dr. Hans Luther, the German ambassador, plans to leave within the next few weeks for a visit to Mexico and the Central American countries.

He Took It

Kansas City, Nov. 6 (AP)—Morris Rosenstein's last customer for a second-hand suit was particularly hard to please. Finally, he selected a gray suit.

"I'll take it," he said, producing a pistol, "and what I mean is, I'll take it."

He also took $15.

Getting News of School Committee Win

HENRY, JR. HENRY J. SMITH

BARBARA ANNE MRS. SMITH PAULA FRED

Here is Boston's new school committee member, his wife—and four reasons they're interested in educational affairs. Present as Dad Henry J. Smith of Brighton gets latest official figures confirming his election are Mrs. Smith, Barbara Ann, five; Henry, Jr., four; Paula, three, and Fred, two.

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

CAPE INN SWEPT BY FLAMES

Sagamore, Nov. 6—Fire of undetermined origin swept through the exclusive Bradford Arms on Sagamore Beach early today, causing a loss estimated at $30,000.

The fire was discovered by members of a coast guard beach crew on patrol along Sagamore Beach.

Before the first pieces of fire apparatus arrived the entire four-story wooden structure was in flames and firemen were forced to concentrate their efforts on saving adjoining property.

The Bradford Arms is one of the exclusive summer resorts on Cape Cod, being patronized largely by New York and Philadelphia society leaders.

The building has been closed since September 15.

Nichols Goes Home

Malcolm E. Nichols, former mayor of Boston, today is to leave the City hospital where he underwent an operation two weeks ago.

Carry Away Safe With $300 Loot

Thieves early today broke into Dunn's Ice Cream Stand in Providence Highway, Sharon, and carried away a 700-pound safe, containing two days' receipts.

The safe, cracked open and its $300 contents gone, was found in the woods off Walpole street, Sharon, a few hours later by Thomas O'Brien of Harvard street, who reported to State Police.

Name, Hair All They Need for Date

Chicago, Nov. 6 (AP)—Forty coeds and 40 men students at the University of Chicago were registered at the "dating bureau," but the only information listed was the student's name and color of hair. Through the bureau those who register on the "available" list may have "get acquainted" contacts made for them.

BUILDING BOOM SPEEDED BY LEADERS

A building boom, forecast for some months in Boston, will be given impetus tomorrow night at a meeting to encourage construction of new homes amounting to $5,000,000.

Aiding the Federal Housing Administration's program will be local banks and prominent citizens. P. A. O'Connell, President of E. Y. Slattery Company, will preside at the meeting in the Hotel Statler.

Three officials of the FHA will come here from Washington to speak at the meeting, which will inaugurate a series of "mortgage clinics" here. At these "clinics" individual attention will be given persons contemplating renovating or building a home.

Edward W. Roemer, city building commissioner, who finds a decided housing shortage in Boston, is authority for the building boom prediction.

Two families living in homes built for one, he said, has brought about necessity for building activity. He found that of all of Boston's apartments, only two per cent were unoccupied.

Building has already started on the upgrade, he said, and quoted figures to show that construction in October was 112 per cent greater than the same month a year ago. The total cost was $1,000,000 and was $512,000 greater than in October, 1934.

At the same time, a formal opinion rendered to Mayor Mansfield by Henry E. Foley, Corporation Counsel, gave as his belief that the city, under existing State laws, could not tax the $6,000,000 housing project of the government in the Old Harbor village section of South Boston.

He added that the city could be justified in levying a tax assessment pending determination by the United States Supreme Court of the question.

Former Film Star Files 'Broke' Plea

Los Angeles, Nov. 6 (US)—Elinor Boardman, former film actress, no longer is able to contribute $250 a month towards support of her two children, she declared in an affidavit, in which she asked that her divorced husband, King Vidor, their father, be required to pay $950 a month for their support.

Miss Boardman won a divorce from Vidor in 1933.

Raft Cuts Out Hot-cha Wardrobe

Copyright, 1935, International News Service

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 6 (INS)—Hollywood is in the midst of revolution, with some famous stars discarding old screen personalities for new.

Jean Harlow started it when she quit being a platinum blond and changed her hair to a dark shade which studio-make-up men have christened "brownette."

George Raft

Now, George Raft flirts the second shot by deciding to throw away his hot-cha wardrobe, which he feels will not be in keeping with the type of roles he intends to play in the future.

Raft's famous high-waisted pants will go, along with his form fitting coats, his shirts with tall, neck-pinching collars and his shoes with built up heels.

Hereafter, George's clothes will be cut with the English drape effect and show a new conservative tendency all along the line.

Curley Talks To Democrats

Most of the leading Democrats in Massachusetts are expected to be present tonight at a meeting of the Women's Division of the State Democratic Committee in Hotel Statler. Governor Curley is slated to address the gathering at 10 o'clock.

The meeting will be preceded by a supper dance from 8 to 10 and, after the governor's speech, there will be dancing until 2.

EVERYBODY'S Going! TO The STATLER for the best dance music in town JOE REICHMAN and His Orchestra DINNER DANCING in the Dining Room SUPPER DANCING in the BALLE MODERNE Every night except Sunday Hotel STATLER

NEW YORK VIA PROVIDENCE Line
The fun travelers choose the Providence Line. Boats for extra comforts and spacious staterooms. Hot and cold running water in every stateroom. Dormitory berths available without charge. Staterooms as low as $3. BOAT TRAIN (Air Conditioned Cars) Lv. South Station Daily—4:00 P. M. Connecting with motor coach at Providence for Steamer. BOAT Lvs. Providence (Pier Four, Point Wharf)—4:45 P. M.
$4.50 one way
$7.50 Round Trip
$6.00 Round Trip Week End
NEW ENGLAND STEAMSHIP CO.

HOLD THAT HAIR LINE

IF your hair line is climbing higher and higher on your forehead, you are surely becoming bald. Do something now—TODAY—to keep your hair line where it should be . . . to save your hair . . . or to grow new hair on the thin and bald spots.
"Do what?" you ask. Do as a quarter-million other men have done—consult Thomas. The reliable, proved Thomas treatment readily overcomes dandruff, stops abnormal hair-fall, and re-grows hair on the thin or bald spots. It is accomplishing these results for 1600 other men each day—and can do the same for you.
Come in today. You'll enjoy the quiet, restful dignity and privacy of a Thomas office. No charge is made for complete scalp examination nor for consultation. You are always welcome.
THE THOMAS
World's Leading Hair and Scalp Specialists—Forty-five Offices
453 WASHINGTON ST.
Opposite Jordan Marsh Co.
Men's Suite 810 Women's Suite 809
Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. Saturdays to 6 P. M.
Write for free booklet, "How to Retain or Regain Your Hair"

AUTUMN SAYS "GO PLACES"

Greyhound adds "SAVE AS YOU GO"
Make football, Thanksgiving and other Autumn trips this convenient, low-cost way
WITH so many places to go this Fall — Thanksgiving trips, football games, business trips, week-end jaunts, trips to Florida, Gulf Coast, or California—travel budgets will be all too limited! But you can make more of those trips for the same money if you go by Greyhound bus. Departures are frequent. Coaches are modern and comfortably heated.
VIA FRONTIER COACH TO: MONTREAL, CAN.
One Way, $8.50 $13.00
Round Trip
Five Day Round Trip Excursion $10.00
Burlington, Vt. $6.85
Montpelier 6.85
Barre 6.85
White River Junction 4.85
GREYHOUND BUS TERMINAL
3 Providence St.
COMmonwealth 5400
GREYHOUND Lines

Personality Hair Cutting
Personality Push Up Oil Permanents
Croquignole or Spiral, Reg. $10 value
You can set this wave yourself in a water. The curl is not over-done your hair soft and lustrous. They are long lasting and comfortable and give the natural appearance. Any shampoo and set can be given to your permanent arrangement. A complete trial set of directions and a test curl are sent prepaid to any address in U. S. A. upon receipt of 25c to cover cost of postage and handling.
4 Complete
Our $1.00 Value—Expert Shampoo & Finger Wave 50c
Vegetable Shampoo Tint for Coloring Gray Hair
NO ELECTRICITY WAT-R-STAT $6
"The Wave Ahead"
No electric heaters Cool—Comfortable Perfect results.
Artiste Shoppe
310 Dexter Building, 453 Wash. St. Bay Jarvis Revis Tel. LIberty 7581
With or Without Appointment—Open Evenings

CALVERT TONIGHT . . CAREFREE TOMORROW

Think before you drink! Use good judgment! Buy better whiskey! Call for CALVERT, best of the better blends. Enjoy it as a gentleman should—in moderation. You'll have a good night . . . a good morning. Greet tomorrow with a smile. Call for CALVERT.
CLEAR HEADS CALL FOR Calvert
© 1935 Calvert-Maryland Distilling Co., Inc. Executive Offices: New York, N. Y. Calvert's "Reserve" and Calvert's "Special" Blended Whiskies

MAJOR FRANCIS P. MURPHY ARRIVES IN BOSTON TO BUY BRAVES

Turn to Page 16, Sports Section

Sports BOSTON AMERICAN Comics

SECOND SECTION 13 WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1935

LUNCHEON RALLY PLANNED

THIS IS LIFE

By Robert E. Rogers

Letter from a gentleman who seems to be in the insurance business:

"I read with interest your editorial regarding automobile accident prevention in Monday night's issue of the American.

ROBERT E. ROGERS

"I was particularly interested in the suggestion regarding a five-year checkup on the physical and mental condition of a licensed driver. Because of this statement you may be interested in the following:

"I believe there is a consensus of opinion that a very large percentage of automobile accidents take place because of the physical or mental condition of the driver. This condition may result from pathological disturbances, either physical or mental, personal habits, such as excessive drinking, etc.

"If our present law could be changed whereby it was required that every individual receiving a license to drive a motor should show evidence of insurance as to his or her personal liability in connection with claims for personal injuries, the subject of physical or mental fitness could be easily cared for.

Proposes Drivers Present Certificate of Insurance

"If it were necessary that an applicant for a driver's license should present a certificate of insurance each year to the Registry of Motor Vehicles, in connection with his or her liability, it would obviously show that such a person had obtained such insurance protection from an insurance company.

"The above plan would have many advantages. It would make possible the experience rating of insurance, as it would be a simple matter to keep the record of individual's accident experience. It would do away with the necessity for "districting" in the state as to insurance rates.

"It would undoubtedly greatly reduce the cost of insurance to the owner of a car, unless he desired several members of the family to drive his car. It would probably considerably reduce the number of licensed drivers in the state.

Sees Road Hazards Reduced By Curbing Driving Hours

"It would, therefore, considerably reduce the road hazards by eliminating the number of driving hours for cars, where several members of the family were licensed to drive and where there was but one car in the family.

"There are also other angles in connection with the above plan. This letter covers the high spots of the plan. I shall be glad to get your reaction."

My reaction is prompt and clear. That I and a few hundred thousand fellow citizens will see the insurance industry in the everlasting soup before we put ourselves in a position where permission to drive a car is dependent on a physical examination managed by a commercial insurance company.

And I say this in spite of the fact that my late father sold automobile insurance. He would agree with, me!

Commerical insurance no longer gives the customer anything like an even break. The physical examination has been jacked up of late years to such a point that you can't get life insurance at all unless you can convince the company that you aren't ever going to die.

Apparently the companies are so jittery about their western farm mortgages that they do not intend to pay out any death claims, except by some miracle of bad luck which the actuaries did not foresee.

Insurance Companies Desire All the Breaks

The case of accident insurance is even worse. You can't get even accident insurance, except on much the same terms as death benefits.

There can't be any accident nowadays in accident insurance. If there's to be any break, the insurance companies insist on getting it.

My correspondent envisages one of the most perfect rackets in the world. Everybody who wants to drive must take out an insurance policy so drawn that driving insurance would be as difficult to obtain as life and accident insurance are now. And renewed every year in case the victim suddenly gets bad teeth or tonsils. Dost like the picture, love?

I wonder how my correspondent would like it if the policies were to be issued by the state. That would solve the essential problem, would it not?

Science Checks Dates

CLASSIFIED AT TECH

What it takes, she's got!
And this looks like a busy winter for Titian-haired Bobby Rapoport, Simmons College junior!

As climax to a career already well adorned with social successes, she has now achieved the honor of being first Greater Boston girl to be listed as "eligible" by Technology's new dating bureau.

You'd better believe that's 'somep'n," too! For a young woman needs a lot more than a clever line and a willing disposition, if she's to measure up to M. I. T. specifications.

It's probably their scientific training that gives the Tech boys their fussy notions. But they certainly are connoisseurs of femininity.

Under Microscope

A girl simply never knows when they'll out with a microscope and count the number of pores to the square inch of her peach-and-cream complexion

Or when they'll snip a lock of her platinum blonde tresses, not for a keepsake, oh dear no, but to dip in a phial of a chemical reagent to find out if it's bleached or dyed or natural

More like a bureau of criminal identification than like a "frist" station, for Mr. Cupid is Technology's "We-Furnish-the-Girl; You-Furnish-the-Evening" office

In charge is a dating expert of vast experience and incorruptible zeal, Junior George Levy

Assisted by a staff of intrepid investigators he has been conducting a survey of no less than eight educational institutions (feminine) with a view of determining their predominating social types.

On his list are the girls who are always hungry—and the girls who are always thirsty, too. Filed and catalogued are the football game girls and the tea-dance girls and the fastest girls and the trolley car girls and the girls who'll let you walk 'em home.

But when it comes to the all-around girls, 100 percent "eligibles," the Tech dating bureau isn't allowing itself to be stampeded.

The Only Girl

First—and only girl thus far—to be given the preferential rating is Simmons' Miss Rapoport, whose home town is Bridgeport, Conn.

Her qualifications?

A good line, of course!

And nice—er—lines, too, if mention of 'em here may be permitted.

A "just right" weight, 118 pounds.

Titian hair—and the vivacity that goes with it.

Height five feet, four inches, made to order for a dance partner.

Likes tennis, swimming, music—or what have you!

And she's studying to be a newspaper woman!

Pola Negri Quits Paris Hospital

Paris, Nov. 6 (UB)—Pola Negri, Polish-American film star, was discharged from the American Hospital, where it was officially announced she underwent a rest cure. Miss Negri left for London. She declined to discuss her illness.

MOST "ELIGIBLE" DATE

(Picture from International News [illegible])

No. 1" rating on the eligible list being compiled by Technology's undergraduate dating bureau has been won by this Titian-haired Simmons college junior, Miss Bobby Rapoport of Bridgeport, Conn. She is five feet four inches tall, weighs 118 pounds and has blue eyes. Dancing, tennis and music are her favorite recreations.

SAVING BABY LIVES

Breathing Machine a Success

New York, Nov. 6 (INS)—Eight "still-born" babies are alive in New York today, thanks to "machine-made breathing," which pulled them out of the shadow of death at birth.

They range in age from one week to four months.

"The only reason these babies are alive is we quickly used the new 'resticator and inhalator' recently installed here," said Dr. Joseph Povemano at Misericordia Hospital.

Dr. Povenzano demonstrated the device. In 500 births the last four months 45 babies received the machine's aid. Eight were "still-born" cases, where the device actually saved the infants' lives.

The apparatus comprises three cylinders, the middle one containing a mechanical diaphragm that pumps "air" in and out of the baby's lungs.

Through a mask over the nose, the infant breathes a mixture of two gases from the first and third cylinders—one 95 per cent oxygen to maintain life; the other 5 per cent carbon dioxide to stimulate the brain.

Old-fashioned methods of stimulating breathing in new-born babies are made unnecessary by the machine. There is no slapping infants, or dunking them alternately in buckets of hot and cold water, and no more nee dof "mouth-to-mouth" breathing, wher the doctor tries to blow the breath of life into a baby.

SMOKE, GIRLS, SMOKE

Two Ash Trays Big Aid at B. U.

After a year of "experiment," Boston University College of Practical Arts and Letters students, all girls, have a smoking-room.

Two tall ash trays are symbolic of a cherished dream—a place where the girls may smoke in quiet comfort.

Last year, after representations by the girls, they were allowed to smoke in the luncheoom during the noonday hour. The newly opened smoking room will allow the girls to smoke at any time.

Dean T. Lawrence Davis points out

"I expect no undue abuses. It is an experiment, but I expect that the room will remain open for convenience of students."

Kingford-Smith Off for Australia

Lympne, Kent, Eng., Nov. 6 (AP)—Sir Charles Kingford-Smith, transoceanic flier, took off early today on his second attempt within a month to fly from England to Australia.

He lifted his monoplane into the air at 8:28 a. m+ (1:28 a. m. E.S.T.) after hurriedly completing preparations for the trip.

Less than an hour later he was reported over Le Bourget Field, Paris, headed for Marseilles.

Tom Pethybridge, an Australian, accompanied him.

Jewish Leaders Meet

RAVREBY PRESIDES

A workers' luncheon was held at noon today at the Federal street headquarters of the Associated Jewish Philantropies.

Rabbi Samuel J. Abrams, spiritual leader of the Temple Ohabei Shalom, Brookline, was guest speaker.

The luncheon-rally was presided over by Edward Ravreby, commander of the Brotherhood division.

Brotherhoods and their captains participating in the drive include, Temple Israel, Henry E. Friedman; Kehilath Israel, Dr. John H. Messon; Temple Mishkan Israel, Harold H. Yoffa; Temple Mishkan Tefila, Alex E. Sokolove; Temple Ohabei Sholom, Harold Linsky.

Joseph Freundlich and Moses Rubenovitz announced that 130 contributions had been received from the Newspaper Distributors' Union, Local No. 259, of the Boston Evening American.

It is hoped other newspaper distributors will aid the drive by sending contributions to headquarters.

MEXICO STANDS BY CHURCH RULE

Mexico City, Nov. 6 (AP)—Catholic leaders in Mexico expressed extreme disappointment today at the latest declaration of the government's religious policies in which Silvano Barba Gonzales, secretary of interior, asserted there would be no modification of present laws.

"We had hoped that the government of President Lazaro Cardenas, which has shown some liberality in other ways, would give us back some of the rights we consider ours," a prominent Catholic said, "but the secretary of interior has made it clear that there will be no change.

"This means that the Catholic church cannot operate schools and therefore a majority of Catholics cannot obtain religious instruction for our children. In other words, there is in reality no freedom of education, despite what the government says."

U. S. MOVES TO AID FISHERMEN

Washington, Nov. 6 (INS)—A broad program designed to rehabilitate the nations fishery industry was recommended to Secretary of Commerce Roper today by his fishery advisory committee.

Immediate action leading to conservation, education of consumers, elimination of unfair trade practices, enlarged federal research work, uniform regulations governing fishing practices and rehabilitation of salmon fisheries in the Puget Sound-Fraser River area were embraced in the committee's proposals.

A treaty with Canada for protection of sustained production of fisheries in waters contiguous to both countries also was urged by the group.

Vets Relief Head Dies in Everett

Lieutenant John C. Gramstorff is really dead today. He was officially "dead" following the battle of Chateau Thierry

He went over the lines to bring back wounded and left his pack containing his identification tag with a buddy who was killed.

Gramstorff was decorated by the French government. He was soldiers relief commissioner of Everett.

At his home at 23 Clarence street, Everett, he kept framed his death "certificate."

BEES, FLORA, MAGIC

Professors Indulge in Hobbies

Just what does a professor do in his spare time?
Any guess would probably hit the bullseye.

At Boston University, for example, Professor Mervyn Bailey of the College of Liberal Arts, Fine Arts Department, raises gladioli during the summer months. His total crop of flowers is 16000, including 406 varieties. He is also an amateur geologist.

Professor James H. Houghton of the School of Theology, raises bees in his Melrose backyard. This little bee colony of 60,000 is but a small part of the entire horde that he has at his summer home in Martha's Vineyard—1250,000 honey makers.

Dr. Leland C. Wyman of the School of Medicine can lay claim to ten hobbies, but his best is that of prestidigitation—magic. He is a sleight-of-hand master.

GIRL ABOUT TOWN

By Annice Brink

Twenty-five men and one girl stood in the midst of a curious crowd on the Public Library steps one nippy twilight.

Men and girl each wore a white lace bonnet and clutched a bunch of carrots and one banana

Hovering around them was a bossy chap. And in his fist was a stout spanking paddle.

Could it be that the one girl, a gentle, brown-eyed little thing, was going to "know" the paddle?

It appeared that she—Pauline Merrill of Chelmsford—was the only girl in the freshman class at the College of Physicians and Surgeons. She was being initiated into the Phi Sigma Medical Society.

ANNICE BRINK

This was only the beginning, so the gent with the paddle said. The solemn ritual was to come off later that night. It included a blindfold journey from attic to basement in the college building, with each candidate receiving at each landing a generous face makeup of mercurochrome and gentian violet.

Oh—about the paddle? Yes, Pauline had it comng to her.

* * *

Try Calling Up the Blonde At the Corner Table

"Moonglow," in your choice of three separate recordings, just about indicates the pace of the newly re-opened Nippon Room at the Vendome.

Each table is equipped with its own telephone, so you may order cocktails, food, or your favorites among 426 records. These range from Basin Street Blues to Reminiscences of Chopin. Good dance numbers are in the majority; fast as they're issued, Prima to Noble, they're here.

Inter-table communication—quite continental—is also possible.

Miss Margaret Wright of Brookline, a debutante, made her dramatic entrance on the opening night in a wine gown with a silver monk's cord belt, over which she threw a hooded, yards-wide cape of sapphire blue velvet.

* * *

Mary Curley Donnelly loves dull, smoky black for evening, and would rather have fringe trimming an evening gown than sable.

* * *

"Is that Bette Davis?" is the query which beseges George, headwaiter at the Statler, whenever Mrs. Wallace McIlvaine Scudder, the former Betty Cram, lunches there with her father.

Not only is there remarkable resemblance, but, oddly enough, Betty always chooses the table which was Bette's favorite when she visited Boston last year.

* * *

A Will Rogers bust, of antique-bronze composition four inches high, is the sentimental purchase of a great many people (R. H. White's jewelry department). As should be, Will is caught with that unforgettable wry grin.

Go peasant in the modern manner, which suits the slim lines of today's girl. The Emily Shop, Temple place, points the way with a two-piece chenille knit that looks hand-made—a lacy, puff striped blouse over a straight skirt. Gold and brown; navy and red; turquoise and black.

* * *

Society Girls Earn Good Pay Modelling

Society mannequins have signified their willingness to earn a good day's pay by modeling for other than charitable purposes. Several have been photographed and "typed" by Photo-Media, who do commercial short subjects, photograph or sound movie.

Caroline Oveson is considered a find—a combination Earhart and Hepburn, with dramatic ability of her own.

Frederica Sargent, Brookline deb, has an elfin-imp aura that registers happily on a negative. Betty Wightman Palmer's smile photographs well. Janice Miner has a shining lack of camera-consciousness.

Others tested are Lewis Watson, Brookline; Joan Jacoby, Beacon Hill; Louise English, Brookline; Polly Long, Marlboro street, debutantes; and post-debs Agnes Osborne, Marlboro street; Margaret Hopewell, Wellesley; Camilla Alsop, Milton; Nancy Holdsworth, Brookline; Dorothy Knowles, Newton; Jane Dinsmore, Chestnut Hill; Eugenie Grew, Marlboro street, and Leslie Bremer, Milton.

PHONE YOUR NEWS TIPS TO THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN AND SHARE IN $50 CASH AWARDS THAT ARE OFFERED EACH WEEK

Do you want to make some money for being alert? If so, the Boston Evening American and the Sunday Advertiser are presenting the opportunity. A total of $50 in prizes will be given for news tips telephoned in to the News Tip Editor at Liberty 4000. Every week there will be given $25 weekly for the best first exclusive news tip received, $10 for the next best, $5 for the next best and $1 prizes for each of the 10 next most valuable tips.

ROBUST

Recovery IN WOOLEN Industry

By Hugh E. Bradshaw

With activity in New England woolen mills at the highest pitch since the way the industry presents all the aspects of a boom.

Prices, it is true, are such that it is easy to maintain profits will be somewhat restricted. But this is more than offset by a most promising picture of volume. Many mills report they have booked quite well into 1936. Under these conditions it is hard to place much credence in those who apparently find it impossible to ever take an optimistic view of the industry's future.

• • •

As for New England in general it must find a tremendous good amount of satisfaction in the robust health of this member of the its industrial family. Shoe and leather lines are going along at a lively pace while the latest reports on cotton textiles are decidedly cheerful. It means profits, no matter if currently restricted in some directions. It means more workers with pay envelopes to buy and trade and stimulate commerce. It is a revival. It means the end of an era of promises and hope and the beginning of an era of solid results.

• • •

Notebook: For the local trader it is not necessary to look far for promising speculative mediums . . . Not with an abundance of shoe, leather, wool and cotton manufacturing shares ready at hand . . . And American Woolen preferred still impresses as an distinctly worthwhile on dips . . . Along with Arlington Mills . . . Judging by the headsome rewards stockholders of motor concerns are receiving the industry is doing all it can to restore prosperity . . . The rebuff to the new deal in yesterday's elections may force a change in market plans.

• • •

We are prepared to reverse our stand on the market, but insist on naming the terms. Some minor encouragement will be given when the sails cross 36 and start a new stock on their old bearings at 36 on the 20 rail average. At the same rail bonds must continue to do well. And finally industrials must naturally climb above their old tops. This for both bonds and stocks. Especially those forming which have held in a very narrow range for weeks. To this one final condition is added that we have seen a crashing move into new high ground.

• • •

Shorts: Grant the above and we will go along with a vengeance . . . Concentrating in steels, various specialties, rail bonds and shares and utilities . . . Nowhere are two sides to the picture and if failure meets the attempts seen today we look for an upturn a sharp reactn will be sure . . . That is why we think it wise to caution reversal of interest in the bull cause en fully . . . Texas Corporation is doing its best to step out with the 20s . . . Once across 24 it should go places . . . And we would rather own it there than Phillips at 36.

BOSTON MARKET

Prices Strong

The Boston list moved forward with the "big board" as the market enjoyed one of the most active and strongest sessions for some time.

Old Colony at 31½ advanced 1¼ as First National Stores was up ¾ at 48¾.

Eastern Gas & Fuel preferred displayed a gain of ¼ at 89¾ while the prior preferred lost ½ at 58¾.

United Shoe Machinery was higher at 55 and Newly England Telephone, Boston Elevated and Merchants Warehouse remained unchanged from the previous closing prices.

Boston Stocks

| | High | Low | 12 00 Chge |
|---|---|---|---|
| Am Tel .... | 146½ | 145¾ | 145¾ + ⅛ |
| Bigelow-pf. | 96 | 96 | 96 |
| Bos & Albany. | 112¾ | 112½ | 112½ — 2 |
| Bos Elev .... | 68 | 67¾ | 68 |
| B & M A stp.. | 5¾ | 5½ | 5½ + ⅛ |
| B & M C stp.. | 8 | 8 | 8 — 1 |
| E G & F Asso.. | 3 | 3 | 3 |
| do pr .... | 40 | 39¾ | 40 +1 |
| do p pr .... | 59 | 58¾ | 59 — |
| E Mass Rr .... | 2¼ | 2¼ | 2¼ |
| Eastern S S.. | 6⅛ | 6 | 6⅛ + ⅛ |
| Edison ..... | 166 | 165¾ | 166 + ⅛ |
| Employers Gr. | 20¼ | 20¼ | 20¼ — ⅛ |
| First Nat St . | 47¾ | 47¾ | 47¾ + ⅛ |
| Hathaway B.. | 2¼ | 2¼ | 2¼ — ⅛ |
| Isle Royale .. | 95 | 95 | 95 — |
| Mass Util .... | 1¾ | 1¾ | 1¾ |
| Mergenthaler. | 33 | 33 | 33 — |
| N E Tel. .... | 109 | 109 | 109 — |
| New Haven .. | 2¾ | 2¾ | 2¾ |
| Old Colony .. | 51½ | 51 | 51½ + 1¼ |
| Quincy ..... | 85c | 72c | 85c + 15c |
| Reece B H... | 14½ | 14½ | 14½ — ½ |
| S D Warren.. | 12¼ | 12¼ | 12¼ + ¼ |
| Shawmut .... | 10¾ | 10¾ | 10¾ |
| United Fruit.. | 69¾ | 69 | 69 + ¼ |
| United Shoe.. | 55 | 54¾ | 55 + ¼ |
| do pref .... | 39½ | 39¾ | 39¾ — ⅛ |
| Utah Metal... | 65c | 60c | 60c — 5c |
| Warren Bros... | 4¾ | 4¼ | 4¼ + ⅛ |

Boston Bank Stocks

| Bid | Asked |
|---|---|
| First National .... 43 | 44¼ |
| Merchants ..... 343 | 360 |
| National Rockland . 3 | 5 |
| National Shawmut. 24¼ | 25¾ |
| New Eng Trust*.. 400 | 600 |
| Second National . 195 | 215 |
| State St Trust* .. 225 | 255 |
| U S Trust ..... 2 | 5 |
| Webster & Atlas.. 21 | 28 |

*Including extra. †Paid this year. ‡Stock to be sold must first be offered to directors of bank.

STOCKS Stage Wide ADVANCE in TRADING AT FAST PACE

New York, Nov. 6—The stock market staged a wide advance today, finding bullish stimulus in the setback received by the New Deal at the polls yesterday.

Gains ran to three points in active leaders with the volutile homestake Mining jumping nine points.

General Motors opened more than two points higher to touch a new six-year-high. Chrysler jumped two points and the preferred part of its new Timken Roller Bearing rose three points.

The General Motors extra brought a rise of nearly three points in DuPont to a new high. Other blue chips were strong including Eastman Kodak and American Can.

Steels were in larger demand on the price rise, but gains were small. Active dealings in the XW Central marked the advance in the rails, though gains here, too, were fractional.

Bullish Sentiment

Bullish sentiment predominated in most brokerage offices as the market resumed business after the election day recess.

While individual freight car loadings figures for the past week thus far received indicated another decline under the total of the previous week, in traffic circles the recession was attributed largely to weather conditions.

It was expected that the week's aggregate would still be considerably ahead of the corresponding 1934 period.

The "Iron Age" review of the steel industry was on the optimistic side, predicting that production of motor cars built in 1935-1936 by automobile manufacturers in November and December, it was said, seemed to be assured.

"Aside from indications of expanding steel consumption by the heavy industries," the survey added, "the prospect of price increases is likely to stimulate buying by consumers now and later. A large Pittsburgh producer has advanced rolling billets, slabs and blooms to $29 and sheet bars to $30, an increase of $2 a ton, and an advance of $1 a ton on finished steel is expected to follow."

At the beginning of foreign exchange dealings, sterling was firm, changed at $4.92¾, and the French franc was up .90¼ of a cent at 6.59¼ cents. The latter firmed .01¼ of a cent at 6.13 cents.

'Street' Loans Increase

The New York Stock Exchange reports members' collateral borrowings at the close of business October 31, 1935 amounted to $792,425,500 an increase of $11,795,000 compared with the September 30 total of $731,221,869.

Total face amount of government securities pledged as collateral for the borrowings in the above total on October 31 was $344,9.130, compared with $42,878,000 on September 30.

The low point for brokers' loans since the Stock Exchange started publishing these figures was reached July 31, 1932, when they amounted to $241,599,943, compared with the record high of $8,549,333,-979 on September 30, 1929.

POWER & LIGHT

Income Shown

American Power & Light Co. and subsidiaries report for 12 months ended Sept. 30, 1935, net income $6,823,129, equivlent to $3.90 a share on combined 793,581 shares of $6 preferred and 978,444 shares of $5 preferred stock.

This compares with $3,268,788, or $1.85 a share on combined preferred stocks in 12 months ended Sept. 30, 1934.

For quarter ended Sept. 30, 1935, net income was $1,276,607, equal to 89 cents a share on combined $6 and $5 preferred stocks, against $3,572,015, or 32 cents a share on combined preferreds in September quarter of 1934.

Eastern Utilities

Eastern Utilities Associates declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, payable November 15 to stock of record November 8. This restores the stock to $2 annual dividend basis and compares with dividends of 25 cents a share in recent quarters.

General Motors

General Motors Corp. declared an extra dividend of 50 cents and regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the common, both payable December 12 to stock of record November 14. On September 12, last, an extra of 25 cents was paid.

Bar Gold

London, Nov. 6 (AP)—Bar gold advanced 1 penny to 14s. 4½d. (U. S. equivalent $34.80.)

Bank Statement

Boston balance ..... $11,000,000
Boston clearance ..... $31,000,000

NEW YORK MARKET

QUOTATIONS TO 12:30

—A—
—B—
—C——D——E——F——G—
—H—
—I—
—J—
—K—
—L—
—M——N——O——P——R——S——T—
—U——V—
—W—
—Y——Z—

Bar Silver

London, Nov. 6 (AP)—Bar silver steady, unchanged at 29 5-16d. (U. S. equivalent 65.01 cents.)

Auto Sales Gain Predicted in 1936

Retail sales of cars and trucks in the United States, Canada and for to export should increase in 1936 to 4,250,000, says Richard H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales of General Motors Corp. This would represent an increase of 13 per cent over indicated 1935 sales of 3,762,000

"Cars selling at retail between $700 and $1200 will, I believe, continue to have the largest percentage gain, just as they have this year.

"For the nine months, including September, cars in this price classification increased 63 per cent over corresponding period of 1934, while those in the $1200 price group or below $700 at retail increased 31.3 per cent.

"I am convinced we will see larger sales of all cars in 1936, and possibly my estimates are conservative, but I don't believe we can forever maintain the percentage increases over previous years we have witnessed since 1933.

"I expect passenger car sales will increase by 13.3 per cent in 1936.

"In 1935 they increased 37.5 per cent over 1934, in 1934 the gain was 26.5 per cent, and in 1933 the rebound from the depression low of 1932 was 30.3 per cent."

LEWIS HANEY ON CHINA

Silver Standard ABANDONED; ON VERGE Of Financial Ruin

By Lewis Haney
(Professor of Economics, New York University)

New York, Nov. 6 — China has abandoned the silver standard.

Following the New Dealers' policy of buying huge quantities of silver, and dumping it in our so-called "monetary reserve," the Chinese are going to quit using silver as money, at least officially.

When the Roosevelt administration adopted its present silver policy, there was much talk about the benefits that it would bring to China. The silver senators and Father Coughlin were eloquent on the subject.

Now we find China on the verge of financial ruin.

For months her banks have been failing. For months her silver has been going out of circulation. It has either been hoarded in China or has been smuggled out of the country to sell at the inflated price which the stupid policy of the Roosevelt administration fixed for it.

• • •

We may well wonder what Professor Rogers found out when the President sent him on that jaunt to China. As far as I know, no report was ever made public. It is clear, however, that either the President concluded that silver policy was sound, or he decided to adopt it against expert advice. In either case, he made another bad mistake.

Now China is trying to do what the New Dealers did to our money.

(1) They have ordered that all silver in China shall be "nationalized." This means that their government will try to seize all the silver in China, as the New Dealers seized our gold.

(2) Then they propose to issue paper notes. A central bank of issue is to be set up for that purpose. This paper money will be given some nominal value, presumably in terms of silver, but will not be convertible into silver.

(3) The government controlled central bank will undertake to keep the new Chinese currency at some fixed rate of exchange with foreign currencies. Presumably the pound sterling will be taken as the basis. China would then support the international value of her new currency by selling silver. This is the same as buying her own currency.

• • •

In short, this is a "managed currency" program. Presumably the managing will be attempted as in England, and that means pegging the Chinese dollar according to the London price of gold as measured in pounds, shillings and pence.

But we should remember that England manages the pound, and therefore the "price" of gold in pounds, by operating against the French franc. She does her buying and selling of exchange on the basis of these currencies which are actually on the gold standard.

So the Chinese move really broadens the sort of gold exchange standard that now prevails, and which depends upon maintaining the gold bloc currencies on a convertible basis.

• • •

China's move is likely to make plenty of trouble for the New Deal treasury. China may be too weak to make her attempt to nationalize silver effective. In that event, it will leak out in large quantities, and Mr. Morgenthau will have to buy it at fancy prices, or else lose on the tons of silver already bought. Or if the Chinese scheme is effective, China will have to sell large quantities of silver in order to support her currency. Then Mr. Morgenthau will have to hold the bag.

In any case, the present administration has made a sad mess of our monetary policy, and is holding tons of useless silver bought at ridiculous prices. We have bid up the price of silver to a point where the rest of the world is saying you can have the stuff—we don't want it at that price.

This may hasten the return to a gold standard. Then what says we will be, holding our bag of silver.

Did "we" plan it that way?

CONTINENTAL
Gas Electric Corp.

Financial Statement

Continental Gas & Electric Corp. and subsidiaries report for 12 months ended Sept. 30, 1935, shows net income of $2,663,367, equivalent to $14.13 a share on 188,579 shares of 7% per cent prior preference stock.

Invest for Immediate Income
Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.
Class "A" Shares Still Available
Price $25 Per Share
Mail coupon or call Liberty 2000

THE NEW ENGLAND NEWSPAPER PUBLISHING CO., Broker, Securities Dept., 100 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

Please send further information regarding Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., Class "A" Shares.

Name
Address
City

Marshall Joins Cast

The latest addition to the star ranks of George White's "Scandals," which opens at the Boston Opera House next Monday night, is Everett Marshall, celebrated Metropolitan Opera baritone.

Everett Marshall

The distinguished singer will co-star with Bert Lahr and Cliff Edwards in the latest edition of the George White show.

Marshall made his memorable debut in an earlier White revue, introducing the now famous "That's Why Darkeys Were Born."

HOLLAND COPLEY'S "Katydid. So What?" Premiere

By GEORGE HOLLAND

To the joy of one of the dressiest audiences since the depression, a new play to any metropolitan stage "Katydid, So What?" had its premiere last night at the Copley Theater with Mary Young as author, star and director.

Miss Young was aided by some proficient players, and among the young veterans should be noted G. Albert Smith, Robert Ober and Edgar Mason, and, on the distaff side, Margot Stevenson, the most ethereal blonde in the theater, who suddenly, in "Katydid So What?" becomes almost fleshly. Of the young neophytes, Elaine Barrie, the Ariel of that Caliban-Ariel romance you may have read about, definitely qualifies herself as a youngster well worth watching.

Miss Barrie has the throatiness of voice, although a bit harsher and biting, that featured Elsie Barrymore's talent. She has poise, and tempo and appearance—particularly in a new model swim suit. I loved ten minutes of "Katydid So What?" Miss Young the playwright took a trifle long—an interminable first act in building to this particular ten minutes, but when it arrived, to be climaxed by a violent hair-pulling scene between a jealous wife and a younger rival, it held a real kick.

The trouble with this big scene was that the object of the gals' affections is perhaps the least attractive oaf ever characterized by a playwright. Even as played by Eric Kalkhurst.

Last night's dressiness was not confined to the audience. Wardrobing of Miss Young, Miss Stevenson, Miss Barrie, and Marjorie Clark and Mildred Dana, the other main female members of the cast, was spectacular. There were seven stage-settings that were different, too.

These stage-settings began as a four-part "Induction," a complex name for what I took to be a prologue. They went from there into a living room in the Bahamas, from there to a bedroom in the same house, and back to the living room.

Miss Young's quill sputtered somewhat in the writing, but her vivacious performance, her painstaking direction and her high courage contributed to the utter capitulement of the large following of fans on hand last evening.

The story is the one about the business-man husband, a "combination of Apollo and Parsifal" That would be Mr. Kalkhurst. When his lovely ward makes a pass for him as the new La Stevenson did so fervently last night—well, Well, what? The wife breaks in. Go along with your imaginings.

It was a very hilarious scene.

* * *

Miss Barrie made her big-time debut last night. I thought she was very good. (Beverly Hills papers please copy.) The play is one of those they once were wont to class as "sexy." The audience (I repeat), was joyful, and why should one audience differ greatly from another?

Hollywood Gossip

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service
Copyright, 1935, by Universal Service

Los Angeles, Nov. 6—The gentle-voiced Janet Gaynor, Fox's most carefully nurtured star, makes her next picture on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot.

When Hunt Stromberg decided that Little Gaynor would be ideal for the lead in "Small Town Girl," the Ben Ames play, he didn't have an idea that it would be possible to get her.

Janet is small but, oh, how determined and she knows just exactly what she wants, but Darryl Zanuck's persuasive powers and the Louella O. Parsons belief that she would have a picture that would bring her back with a vengeance, turned the trick.

You will remember that Robert Montgomery was originally set for the male lead and in all likelihood he will still play that part unless Irvin Thalberg decides he needs him for Mercutio in Romeo and Juliet."

* * *

I don't know any actress who dislikes publicity on her personal affairs as much as Claudette Colbert. You cannot blame her when news as broadcast and printed about her immediate marriage to Dr. J. J. Pressman, which is absolutely untrue.

Her marriage, you may take it from me, will not take place for nearly two months. Paramount has just arranged to co-star Claudette and Gary Cooper in "The New Divorce," by Victorien Sardou and Emile de Najac.

Even the critical Hays office cannot complain over what Samuel Goldwyn plans to do with "The Children's Hour." He has changed the title tentatively to "The Night Is Beginning" and will not use the suggestive angle which is now in the play.

The little girl whose dramatic life motivates the drama will tell an entirely different story. She will say that she saw the fiance of one of the young teachers making love to the other teacher.

Merle Oberon and Miriam Hopkins, who play the two teachers, are in New York and will return shortly.

* * *

Snapshots of Hollywood

The attractive ETHEL SHANNON JACKSON, widow of JOE JACKSON, planning matrimony she and CAPT. VAN EARLE P. SCHOONER announced at a dinner Sunday night that they are to be married during the holidays; FRANCIS LEDERER getting the antique hobby; he is building a new house and when it is finished he and MRS. LEDERER, now MARY ANITA LOOS, will occupy it; FRANCIS has obtained his divorce and is now free to marry her; MARION DAVIES' many friends dropping in at her beach house to say au revoir; she traveled East with MRS ELEANOR PATTERSON in the latter's private car. MARLENE DIETRICH dining with BRIAN AHERNE one night and FRITZ LANG the next. HARRY RICHMAN at the MAX FACTOR party previewing his new songs in Rolling Along" and getting a big hand.

* * *

There was never a sweeter character in Hollywood than Pop Warner, the father of the Warner Brothers. He loved his game of polo and it gave him a big thrill to see the names of his boys in the paper.

Every time I met him he had a story to tell me—for the column—he said and the story was always about Harry, Jack or Albert.

Cossacks to Return

The Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus, stalwart singers of the steppes, will return to Boston at Symphony Hall on Sunday afternoon, November 24.

Since their initial concert appearance here these singers have consistently electrified the musical world. They are for the most part former officers of the Imperial Russian Army, and made up one of the units of General Wrangel's White army. With its defeat, they were taken prisoners and later dispersed as refugees to various European countries.

Dr. Piaschnikoff, this group worked in factories and mines, devoting their evenings to choral practice.

The Movie Clock

METROPOLITAN—"Metropolitan"; 11:30, 2:04, 4:48, 7:42, 10:36.
STATE—"Barbary Coast"; 1, 4:10, 7:15, 10:20.
KEITH MEMORIAL—"The Three Musketeers"; 10, 11:56, 1:52, 3:48, 5:54, 7:50, 9:51.
PARAMOUNT—"The Payoff"; 9:15, 11:48, 2:20, 4:52, 7:24, 9:56.
KEITH-BOSTON—"Three Kids and a Queen"; 10:55, 1:07, 4:39, 7:31, 10:23.
LOEW'S ORPHEUM—"Barbary Coast"; 9:15, 1, 4:10, 7:15, 10:20.
FENWAY—"The Payoff"; 2:37, 5:08, 7:39, 10:10.
UPTOWN—"Top Hat"; 1:55, 4:35, 7:10, 9:45.
MODERN—"Shipmate's Forever"; 9, 12:05, 3:12, 6:25, 9:35.
GAIETY—"She Gets Her Man"; 10, 1:55, 5:50, 9:45.
SCOLLAY—"Shipmates Forever"; 11:25, 2:45, 6:05, 9:20.
BEACON—"Smilin' Through"; 9:15, 12:15, 3:20, 6:30, 9:50.
HOWARD—"Sweet Music"; 9:30, 5:36.
ROXBORO—"Top Hat"; 10:55, 2:26, 6:20, 9:53.
TREMONT—"Becky Sharp"; "Saunders of the River"; continuous, 9 to 11.
OLYMPIA—"I Live for Love"; 9:05, 11:32, 2:00, 4:46, 7:25, 10.

Amusements

PARAMOUNT FENWAY
TODAY: "THE PAYOFF" "SHIP CAFE"
TOMORROW
WHEN I'M IN A PENTHOUSE TWO HEARTS BEAT IN DOUBLE TROUBLE TIME!
"Two Fisted"
LEE TRACY • ROSCOE KARNS GAIL PATRICK KENT TAYLOR
ALSO YOWSAH! The Young Maestro And All The Lovely Lass a DANCE BAND
CHARLES (Buddy) ROGERS
JUNE CLYDE Holland & Hart
WASH. ST. OLYMPIA
"I LIVE FOR LOVE" Dolores Del Rio—Lyonel Barrymore
WARNER BRAND "Charlie Chan in Shanghai"
MODERN DICK POWELL MARY KEELER "SHIPMATES FOREVER" Jane Withers, "This Is the Life"
UPTOWN 1000 Seats 30c Starts A.P.M. Mass.-Mass Ave.
FRED ASTAIRE GINGER ROGERS TOP HAT
PIERRE BUTCHELETS in "Gems On Top" Latest Issue "REACH OF TIME"
MINSKY'S PARK BURLESQUE 3 Complete Shows Daily at 12:15—2:45—8:30
JEAN LEE Boston Burlesque Phenom
BIGGEST SHOW FRIDAY AT 11:30 All Seats Reserved
Next Sun.—Midnight Show at 12:01 A. M.

Today at YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATER

BROOKLINE

COOL 2 to 12 BEACON SHOW
COOLIDGE CORNER
THE FARMER TAKES A WIFE
JANET GAYNOR HENRY FONDA
CHARLIE CHAN IN SHANGHAI
WARNER OLAND
Friday—Dishonored Lady and Manhattan Moon

CAMBRIDGE

Hold Over Entire Week
UNIVERSITY KIR. 4560 HARVARD SQ.
"TOP HAT"
March of Time
CO-FEATURE THURS., FRI., SAT. Warren William "The Case of the Lucky Legs"

CHARLESTOWN

THOMPSON SQUARE THEATRE
Joan Bahle Burns & Allen "The Big Broadcast"
FREDRIC MARCH "ANNA KARENINA"

EGLESTON SQ.

EGLESTON
BARBARA STANWYCK "BRIGHT LIGHTS"
Allyn Joslyn Preston Foster "GOLDEN MINX"
Thomas A. P. Kopple "DOG OF FLANDERS"

MALDEN

GRANADA
F. Astaire-G. Rogers "TOP HAT"
R. Davis-"Special Agent"
STRAND
Clive Brook "DRESSED TO THRILL"
Mary Boland "STRANGERS ALL"
Chins, Wed., Thu., Fri. Evenings
MYSTIC
"David Copperfield" W. Field in "Charlie Chan in Shanghai"
ORPHEUM
W. Lowe "Streamline Express" C. Colbert "Private Worlds"

REVERE

BOULEVARD and REVERE
Jed. Robt.-Lyda Roberti "Big Broadcast of 1936"
RANDOLPH SCOTT "Village Tale"

SOMERVILLE

CAPITOL Sun. Mat. 25c CENTRAL
Clark Gable L. Young "Call of the Wild" Ray Francis-Ona Munson "Dangerous Waters"
Tom Brown-J. Greenwood "Annapolis Farewell" Ann Sothern-J. Haley "The Girl Friend"

E. M. LOEW'S DAVIS SQ. THEATRE

JEAN PARKER in "PRINCESS O'HARA"
SIDNEY BLACKMER in "GREAT GOD GOLD"
Glassware Free to Ladies

TEELE SQ. SOMERVILLE BROADWAY
"Here Comes the Band" Virginia Bruce-Ted Lewis
"Without Children"
With Grace Cabot
TONITE—TEELE SQ. AND BROADWAY GREYHOUND DERBY RACES

SOUTH BOSTON

STRAND
CLARK GABLE "Call of the Wild" Kay Francis-Ian Hunter "GOSSIP AND THE GARDENIA" BROADWAY
Ch. Boyer "BRIGHT LIGHTS" Robert Young "HACIENDA LADY"

SOUTH END

NATIONAL
Mats. 10c 20c Eves. 10c 20c
"We're in the Money" Joan Blondell-Al Shands, Farrell "DARING YOUNG MAN"
Watch of Time Bo. 6 Tonite—Jackpot, $100 Free

PATRONIZE YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATER

Matinee Tomorrow
50c to $1.50 Also Sat. Holidays
Nights, 50c to $2.50 plus tax
3 MEN ON A HORSE
PRIZE-WINNING STAGE COMEDY
HUGE HIT!
TONIGHT—8:30—TONIGHT
PLYMOUTH Theatre

now Lawrence TIBBETT in METROPOLITAN VIRGINIA BRUCE—ALICE BRADY
The 11th Emerson Hit
BOB HOPE
& Company ON THE STAGE
METROPOLITAN

FRIDAY!
COMPLETE! INTACT! AT POPULAR PRICES!
CECIL B. DE MILLE'S
THE CRUSADES
STAGE • "Buccaneers"
THE THREE SAILORS
GUS VAN with His CAST

BOSTON 15c NEW GAYETY 15c
TODAY-FRI.-SAT. SHE GETS HER MAN
VAUDEVILLE
ALL-STAR FAMILY-PARTY WIRE
TONIGHT AMATEUR RADIO AUDITION
BOWDOIN
Technicolor Cartoon "Scotty Of the Scouts"
DOLL EVER BY POPULAR DEMAND
"TOP HAT" GINGER ROGERS
"STRAIGHT FROM THE HEART" Bill "Bojangles" Robinson
"STRAWBERRY BLONDE" Cagney-Allyn Baxter
1st "DIAMOND JIM" — "STREAMLINE EXPRESS"

LOEW'S STATE-ORPHEUM
NOW! "Barbary Coast" Miriam Hopkins Ed. G. Robinson Joel McCrea
STAGE "MISCHIEF"
FRIDAY—BOTH THEATRES!
"Mutiny on the Bounty"
CARL LAEMMLE Presents
CLARK GABLE—CHARLES LAUGHTON
See no other 'BOUNTY'

SHUBERT Mat. Today 2:15 Sharp
2 WEEKS ONLY—Mats. Wed., but Seats Available All Performances
KATHARINE CORNELL in William Shakespeare's
ROMEO AND JULIET
Florence REED Maurice EVANS
R. RICHARDSON Chas. WALDRON

GOPLEY CIRCLE 6010 Prs. 8:30 Mats. 2:30
"KATYDID. SO WHAT?"
POP PRICE MAT. TODAY 50c to $1.50 plus tax
MARY YOUNG Eric Kalkhurst, Robert Ober, Edgar Mason, Margot Stevenson, Marjorie Clarke, G. Albert Smith, Mildred Evans and Elaine Barrie
Regular Ticket 50c to $2.50 plus tax

THE OLD HOWARD
3 Complete Shows Daily 12:15 2:45 8:30 P.M.
GEORGE BROADHURST'S "STEPPING STARS" Direct from Broadway
Introducing with PEGGY HILL
Extra Midnight Show at 11:30
Next Week—Nora Bayes, Tel. Cap. 1565
Next Sun.—Midnight Show at 12:01 A. M.

KEITH MEMORIAL
Now Showing
THE THREE MUSKETEERS
WALTER ABEL—PAUL LUKAS—MARGOT GRAHAME

Peabody Playhouse, 337 Charles St.
"MISTER GOD"
Next Week—"Ah, Wilderness!"
Seats 50c to $2.50 plus tax
Eves. at 8:30 Mats. Wed. & Sat. 2:30
For reservations phone CAPitol 1700

TREMONT
MIRIAM HOPKINS PAUL ROBESON
"BECKY SHARP" "SAUNDERS OF THE RIVER"
FRANCES DEE EDGAR WALLACE'S "MARRIED—UNDER DURESS"
15c

SCOLLAY
Extra Starts Today Double Feature Program
"SHIPMATES FOREVER" Ann Sothern—Tom Brown
"Smilin' Through" Norma Shearer—Randolph Scott

BEACON WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY
Norma Shearer in "SMILIN' THRU"
Randolph Scott in "VILLAGE TALE"

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE SEATS NOW
1 WEEK ONLY BEG. MON. EVE., NOV. 11
PREMIERE BEFORE BROADWAY
The Most Dazzling Theatrical Event of the New Season!!
ALL NEW 12th STAGE EDITION
GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS
ALL NEW
35 SPECTACULAR SCENES—CAST OF 100
BERT LAHR—EVERETT MARSHALL—CLIFF EDWARDS
GRACIE BARRIE—SHEILA BARRETT—DAWN O'DAY—SHEA & RAYMOND—STANLEY TWINS—HAL FORDE—SAM, TED & RAY—3 WIERE BROS.—EARL OXFORD
75 George White Beauties 75
MAIL ORDERS FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT
PRICES: EVENINGS—Orchestra and first seven rows Balcony $3.50; orchestra circle $3.00; next seven rows Balcony $2.50; next seven rows Balcony $2.00; next seven rows Balcony $1.50; remaining rows Balcony $1.00.
MATINEES—Wed. and Sat. Orchestra and first seven rows Balcony $2.50; next seven rows Balcony $2.00; next seven rows Balcony $1.50; remaining rows Balcony $1.00. All prices plus tax INCLUDED

M-P COMMUNITY Theatres M-P

ALLSTON

ALLSTON CAPITOL
"SPECIAL AGENT"
"TWO for TONIGHT" Bing Crosby Joan Bennett
SAT. "BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936"

ALLSTON-BRIGHTON

ALLSTON EGYPTIAN
REVIEW PROGRAM
W. Powell M. Loy "THE THIN MAN"
Evening Prices "Where Shall We Dine?"

CAMBRIDGE

WIDE RANGE CENTRAL SQ HARVARD KIR. 4605
Bing Crosby Joan Bennett "TWO for TONIGHT" P. Larry E. Beast
Cable Hatton Boyer "CHINA SEAS"
Starts Sat. "The Bride Walks Out" Barbara Stanwyck-Robert Young "Redhead"
A. Parnell & Armstrong "The Little Big Shot"

CHELSEA

Chs. 1060 CHELSEA
Ray Crosby Jack Haley "The Big Broadcast of 1936"
M 2 E 7-11
"The Gay Deception" Francis Lederer-Frances Dee

DORCHESTER

CODMAN SQ.
CODMAN SQ.
FIRST SHOWING IN DORCHESTER
Warren William-Genevieve Tobin "CASE OF THE LUCKY LEGS"
Dolores Del Rio "I LIVE FOR LOVE"

FIELDS
Mat. 2200 Evgs. 7 Sharp
"Page Miss Glory" "HOT TIP"

STRAND
COL. 2200
Greta Garbo Fredric March "ANNA KARENINA"
Warner Oland "Charlie Chan in Shanghai"

DORCHESTER AND ROXBURY

FAL. 5600 LIBERTY WARREN MAC. 0427
IDA LUPINO "SMART GIRL" KAY JOHNSON "ALIBI"
GEORGE O'BRIEN "RAIDERS OF RED GULCH"

JAM. PLAIN—ROXBURY CROSS.

JAMAICA
Powell-Dunn-A Brice "PAGE MISS GLORY"
"Redhead on Parade" With Ann Rowe

CRITERION
CAGNEY & DEITZ "IRISH IN US"
"Woman Wanted"

MATTAPAN SQ.

Mat. Sun. 2 ORIENTAL
Greta Garbo-Fredric March "ANNA KARENINA"
Warner Oland "Charlie Chan in Shanghai"

ROSLINDALE—WOLLASTON

PARK 3050 RIALTO WOLLASTON QUI 2640
M. Dunn-R. Powell "PAGE MISS GLORY"
John Boles "Redhead on Parade"
E. Nugent F. MacMurray "ALICE ADAMS" Evelyn Venable "BRIGHT LIGHTS"

ROXBURY

RIVOLI DUDLEY
Marlene Dietrich "ANNA KARENINA" "Chan in Shanghai"
Bert Wheeler-Dorothy Lee "DIXIE JAMBOREE"
Sat.—"Dark Angel" Special Agent
B. Davis-G. Brent "HOT TIP"

ROXBURY AND DORCHESTER

SHAWMUT GAR. 1700 GAR. 5300 MORTON
Marlene Dietrich Brian Aherne "RED DEADS OR PARADISE" Fairwell"
Joan Bennett Fredric March "PAGE MISS GLORY"

SOMERVILLE

Doris 9040
STRAND
M 2 E 5
LAST TIMES TODAY SHIRLEY TEMPLE "CURLY TOP"
Lew Ayres-Cicely Tyrrel "SPRING TONIC"

WALTHAM

EMBASSY CENTRAL SQ.
Gertie Hersh "Anna Karenina" "Red Heads on Parade"
DOLORES DEL RIO "I Live for Love" "CHARLIE CHAN IN SHANGHAI"

PATRONIZE YOUR COMMUNITY THEATRE

The TRUE drama of mutiny and primitive love. Stolen paradise that was heaven—after hell-at-sea in the most amazing human experience ever recorded. The story that has thrilled millions is at last on the screen.

All the world awaits METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER'S NEW THRILL!

Charles LAUGHTON · Clark GABLE in
MUTINY on the BOUNTY
with FRANCHOT TONE HERBERT MUNDIN • EDDIE QUILLAN DUDLEY DIGGES • DONALD CRISP
Based on the thrilling Saturday Evening Post serials and novels by Charles Nordoff and James Norman Hall
A FRANK LLOYD Production starts FRIDAY
Loew's State & Orpheum

BRAVES SALE DUE TODAY

DIAMOND AT TEPEE MOVED CLOSER TO FANS

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

Without any Ballyhoo, the Tribal authorities have been completely revamping Braves Field. When the work is completed the diamond will be fifteen feet nearer the grandstand. This will enlarge the outfield playing surface. The shift is certain to meet with the approval of the fans for one of the big objections to the Tepee in the past has been that the playing surface was so far away that it detracted from the intimacy the fans like. Above you can see how the entire surface is being ripped up, also a diagram of how the field will be when completed.

Plastic Surgery

Performed on Face of Braves Field

AUSTEN LAKE

Braves Pastoral

Scene; Club

Moves Its Diamond

SOMETIMES IT PAYS TO snoop in unlikely places for a spot of news. For example, at Braves Field you would expect nothing but barnswallows, a forsaken ache of emptiness and drifting peanut shucks.

Austen Lake

Not so! The park is teeming with industry.

Tractors are bulldogging the infield, which is now a pit, three feet deep. Squads of dungareed workmen are heaving and hoeing.

Braves Field is having its face lifted. And soon the diamond will be screwed around, 15 feet nearer to the grandstand, with its foul lines lengthened and adding an acre to its outfield area.

This is being done to bring the game closer to the people and dispel the old feeling of remoteness that was the park's worst feature.

* * *

Penalty for O'Hara's Leadership

WITH HIS WEAKNESS FOR putting things in print, Walter O'Hara, the Foobah of Narragansett's horse plant, is distributing a brochure, a cream-colored pamphlet with the pathetic title, "The Penalty of Leadership."

Inside is a decorative border of racing dobbins spraddled around the rail, and a half-page lament on human jealousies and the forked-tongued envy of commonplace people for "The leader"—who, by way of inference, is Herr O'Hara himself.

Excerpts from this wad of persiflage: "When a man's work becomes standard for the whole world, it also becomes a target for the shafts of the envious few, failing to equal or excel, the follower seeks to depreciate and destroy . . . If the leader truly leads, he remains—the leader . . . that which deserves to lives—lives."

There is no explanation for this typographical morsel of philosophy—no reference to place, persons or conditions. It bespeaks an outburst of ingrowing egotism, the persecuted soul, the artist who is in love with his own creation.

One thing is genuinely true—If Narragansett lives while extending its race meeting beyond the normal limit of stretch and while vacuuming up the bettors' rent and grocery money faster than it can be earned, it will be a miracle.

And O'Hara's hunger for quick profit will, in the end, not only knock himself off as "leader" but drag the whole New England racing structure down on his noggin.

That, forsooth, will be the penalty of his type of leadership, which is to get as much as quickly as may be.

* * *

Expired Time

EDITORIAL PHRASE-PAINTERS are still coloring their canvases with Notre Dame's immortal finish against Ohio State. It will live as a deathless football legend.

I have a letter from E. J. L. of Roxbury, demanding to know what would have been the ruling if Shakespeare's winning pass to Milner had been in the air when game-time expired.

"I'll answer that by citing the case of an even more remarkable windup, going back to Pennsylvania's victory over Michigan in 1912.

Then, with three seconds to play in the final quarter, Michigan punted while leading 21 to 20. Though time expired while the ball was spiralling down the field, Michigan lost the game, 27 to 21, because Dick Marshall, Penn safety man, caught the ball and whisked 68 yards for a touchdown.

The answer is, though time expires while a play is in progress, the game does not end until the final play is completed.

* * *

THOUGH TOM THORP, the football official, has added curves

Continued on Page 19

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS
NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER
16 BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1935

Louis Plans Active Winter Tour, Closing With Schmeling in Spring

HAVANA BOUT ON BOMBER'S ITINERARY

By Damon Runyon
(Copyright, 1935, by Universal Service)

New York, Nov. 6—In Chicago the other day, we came upon Julian Black, co-manager of Joe Louis, in conference with Mr. M. Strauss Jacobs, the Twentieth Century Club promoter.

They were concluding plans for a winter campaign for Joe Louis that will keep the brown, youth, who has been called "The Brown Embalmer," busy right into the glad springtime, when he is to meet Herr Max Schmeling, "The Black Uhlan of the Rhine."

This match is practically closed, with Schmeling getting a large sum of money, so you may disregard rumors, statements, theories, and suggestions that Herr Max is under agreement to fight anyone else.

James J. Braddock, the heavyweight champion of the world, has definitely announced that he does not wish to meet Louis until September, and on that announcement the Schmeling match has been arranged.

BASQUE FIRST

Julian Black told us that after one or two displays in Canada, Louis is all through with such assignments as refereeing jobs, and personal appearances, and that hereafter when he shows up in a hall it will be for the purpose of fighting somebody with the regulation gloves.

Black and his partner in the Louis enterprises, John Roxborough, are agreed that anything but actual fighting is a waste of time and money.

The Louis campaign will begin here in New York when "The Brown Embalmer" battles old Paolino Uzcudun, "The Beesark of the Basque."

Then Louis will fight an opponent yet to be selected under the joint auspices of Mr. M. Strauss Jacobs, Mr. Jeems Mullins and Mr. Nathaniel Lewis, in the Chicago Stadium.

Mr. Mullins and Mr. Lewis are canvassing their customers for an expression of opinion as to the opponent for Louis in the stadium.

Mr. Mullins and Mr. Lewis personally prefer Charley Retzlaff, the Minneapolis beanpole. Mr. M. Strauss Jacobs, the Messrs. Black and Roxborough and Joe Louis have no choice.

The beautiful thing for a promoter about dealing with Louis is the fact that the opponent makes no difference to his handlers.

He is the first big drawing card in flatic history who has not quibbled about opponents. Anybody the promoter can get suits Louis.

If Mr. Mullins and Mr. Lewis can get Charley Retzlaff, that's all right with the Louis crowd. Retzlaff will draw some money.

Next to Retzlaff, the Chicagoans are considering rubbery blubbery John Risko, Patsy Perroni, Abe Feldman, and several others. You see, an opponent who might be good in one town, isn't worth a dime in another.

CASTANAGA

He may have made a bad showing back down the years, and the paying customer, like the elephant, never forgets, especially the Chicago paying customers.

From Chicago, Louis goes into Detroit, also for Mr. Jeems Mullins and Mr. Nate Lewis, who promotes fights in the big Olympia there, because their Chicago stadium boss, Mr. Jim Norris, also controls the Detroit Arena.

The Detroit list of prospective opponents will include the name of Tony Galento, the Jersey Rolypoly, who once made a good showing there.

Mr. M. Strauss Jacobs and the Louis contingent want to get into Havana around Christmas time, and a rich Cuban brewer wishes to finance a display there between Louis and Isidro Castanaga.

He is a Spaniard who fought a couple of times here some years ago, and has been going good in Havana lately. Castanaga is a pretty good puncher.

From Havana, the caravan of "The Brown Embalmer" may go to California for a fight either in Los Angeles or San Francisco.

Mr. Harry Lenny's American giant, Ray Impellittere, has been suggested as an opponent out there.

Then a date for the Philadelphia promoters, Herman "Muggsy" Taylor and Bobby Gunness, possibly at the famous Convention Hall in Atlantic City, is under consideration.

When Louis is through with this business, he will go in training for Schmeling.

BRADDOCK GO OFF UNTIL FALL

Ed. Note: These plans for Louis' winter and spring campaigns were made before the announcement of Jack Sharkey's return to the ring wars was made. It is likely that shift in his timetable will be made to include the Squire should the latter meet with success in his comeback bout with Unknown Winston at the Garden Nov. 22.

OPERATION

For Teddy Yarosz

Philadelphia, Nov. 6—Teddy Yarosz, former world's middleweight boxing champion, will be operated on here for a knee injury that has hampered his ring career for almost a year.

Crusaders, Ahoy!

Sugar Bowl Committee Has Them in Mind

By Universal Service

New Orleans, La., Nov. 6—Reports from New York that Notre Dame might turn a deaf ear to the West Coast in order to participate in the second annual Sugar Bowl classic here on New Year's Day brought elation but no confirmation from officials today.

Warren Miller, chairman of the Sugar Bowl Committee, admitted that Notre Dame was one of several teams being considered for the game, but no selections or invitations will be made until early in December, he said, adding:

"My own opinion—but remember I have only one vote in the matter—is that Notre Dame would be a very desirable and acceptable team for the Sugar Bowl."

He pointed out, however, that several other teams, including unbeaten Holy Cross and unbeaten Syracuse are being considered.

Inaugurating the first annual Sugar Bowl classic, which was played last New Year's Day, Tulane University met and defeated the previously undefeated Owls of Temple University.

The reports from New York also said that either Southern Methodist or the conquering hosts of the University of North Carolina would be extended an invitation as the "Southern representative."

Miller admitted both these teams were being considered and added that the undefeated Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University are also being looked upon as a possible participant, along with several other elevens from the South.

Under the plan adopted last year no invitations are formally extended until the early part of December.

First, an eligible list is selected, and to these universities go a query asking their attitude toward such a post-season game.

Then come the final selections by the committee, and following this the formal invitations are tendered.

Murphy in Boston To Talk Turkey With Adams

By Joe Cashman

Major Francis P. Murphy, prominent Nashua, N. H., sportsman and shoe manufacturer, was in town today expecting to complete the purchase of the Boston Braves within 48 hours.

The wealthy Granite Stater, who is now a minority stockholder in the Tribe and heads a group of five reported to be willing to invest $1,000,000 to gain control of the club, has conferences carded with Charles F. Adams, present majority stockholder, and officials of the First National Bank, which holds a large note against the franchise.

"The outlook is most promising," Murphy said, "Our offer appears to be satisfactory to all concerned. Unless there's an unexpected hitch, I'm hopeful that the deal will be completed within 48 hours."

Murphy's name has frequently been mentioned as a possible purchaser of the Warriors.

He was dickering for the club before Judge Emil E. Fuchs stepped out of the Wigwam picture.

A SPENDER

The major has long been a prominent figure in the sporting world.

He owned clubs in the old Twilight and New England Leagues and is a golf and basketball enthusiast.

He spared no expense to make his minor league and semi-pro clubs winners, and it is expected he will lose no time in spending freely to strengthen the Braves if the deal goes through.

The names of his associates have not been revealed.

Charles F. Adams has repeatedly asserted that he wouldn't direct the club even if he remained majority stockholder, but it is believed he will retain a strong minority holding if Murphy buys control.

Considering the possibility of the deal falling through, Adams remains busily engaged in Tribal reorganization plans.

If he fails to reach an agreement with Murphy, he'll carry on himself providing minority stockholders supply a proportionate share of the sum he feels necessary to build the club into a winner.

Broken Heart Kills Joe's Father

New York, Nov. 6—The funeral of Detective-Lieutenant Timothy J. Sullivan, 62, will be held here tomorrow.

Lieutenant Sullivan, father of Joseph, Notre Dame football captain-elect who died last spring, was stricken with a heart attack while listening to a radio account of the Notre Dame-Ohio State game Saturday.

Manly to Start Lew Kyrios

In an effort to save at least one reserve guard, Coach Lew Manly indicates that he will start Lew Kyrios on Saturday against New Hampshire.

By using Kyrios at tackle, Ralph Smith, who plays guard and tackle equally well, will be able to fill in the guard berth left vacant when Captain Kendall tore the ligaments in his knee in the Northeastern game, putting him on the sidelines for the remainder of the season.

Gooch Lavargna and Lew Zimman are fighting it out for the left tackle berth, with Lavargna favored because of his greater experience.

Canadiens Hurt

Montreal, Nov. 6—Two Canadiens received broken bones in an exhibition game with the Boston Bruins in Halifax.

Pete Lepine, forward, and Irvin Frew, defenseman, arrived here today for treatment. Lepine for a broken finger and Frew for a broken collar bone.

Erwin's One Best for Today

INDIAN BROOM

(Fifth race at Narragansett Park)

(Hume Cronyn, who plays Erwin in "Three Men on a Horse" at Plymouth Theater, picks this one best bet every day in the Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser.

For those muscular cramps
RUB-INE
"EVERY DROP BRINGS RELIEF"
RELIEVES RHEUMATIC AND NEURITIS PAINS, SORE MUSCLES, SPRAINS, TIRED, ACHING FEET, MUSCULAR CRAMPS
25¢ AT YOUR DRUGGIST

LAWRENCE ABOUT TO START NEW WIN STREAK

Devlin Juggernaut Picks Up Steam After Slump

By Will Connell

So you thought Lawrence was on the skids, with its three-year victory string clipped and its teacher moaning low as he tried to draw a winning hand from the deck.

Don't believe it. Slim, silver-crowned Mark Devlin already is on the way back to the state peak with a varsity that includes only two seniors and a platoon of talented Young America marching up from the scrubs.

A most remarkable winning streak that started in October 1932 ended last month when Salem tipped over Lawrence by three touchdowns.

Then St. James held Lawrence scoreless and last week Somerville rang up a 21 to 6 decision. With Peabody, Haverhill and Lowell ahead, chances are none too good But don't tell Lawrence short

It has had a hard luck year, with a bad auto smashup just before the Salem game benching three regulars and upsetting the spirit of the squad.

Manchester, West, Lexington and Lynn English had been beaten up to that point, and it appeared Lawrence might keep its perfect record

THAT ACCIDENT

But, Wednesday before Salem Eddie Collins, left end a fine all-around wing; Vin Carroll, a guard, and Francis Coughlin, a back, all juniors and all first team, went out of the picture in the auto accident. Collins suffered a broken collarbone, Carroll a broken arm and Coughlin a severe shaking up and shock.

The affair also upset the remainder of the squad. Salem won The Witches might well have won anyhow, but the game probably would have been close. With the three-season streak ended, there was a temporary letdown. That's over now, and Lawrence is starting to pick up.

"I don't think it was a bad thing for that streak to end," said Coach Devlin today. "The length of the win record was such that tension had steadily increased, among the fans, student body and squad

"We minimized the team strain but even so the tension was in evidence.

"Now the boys are relaxed, and fighting to get into step again. By next season if all develops as we hope, there'll be a good team And we're not yet done this year, either."

The present varsity that faces Peabody next Monday has Sam Conte, 190 pounds, left end; John McKenna, 208, left tackle; George O'Connell, 146, left guard; Captain Dan Donahue, 185, center; George Kattar, 160, right guard; Nello Strocchio, 170, right tackle; Alben Antonavich, 189, right end

DAN SAGS

Of that line only Donahue and McKenna are seniors. Strocchio and Antonavich are sophs, the others juniors. Donahue is a fine pivot, good on defense, a flawless passer and offensive worker. He played every game of '33 and '34 who, this teams wins them all.

Perhaps captaining the team that dropped the great record depressed Dan somewhat, for his game has been below his high standard lately.

He has the stuff to stage a whirlwind finish and probably will, for he's college timber and will want to continue his school and football career.

Dick Weber, 145, quarter; Walter Muse, 157, left half; Bill Lombari, 185, right half; Jerry Perrochio, 158 fullback, form the present first backfield Coughlin, one of the injured trio, is about ready to step back. Important note about that backfield, Muse is a soph, the other three juniors

Lombari played last year and is a potential star. In games he has not played up to practise form, but they're blaming that on youth If Lombari finds himself, he'll be a headliner, as were Joe Savage Adolph Medalinskas, Henry Ouellette and the other aces of past few years

TALENT GALORE

The subs include America Lombari (Bill's brother), Leon Barraco and Joe Pash, ends; Joe Sestini and Rene Trudel, tackles; Norman Lister (near varsity rating), Alfred Concemi and Owen Beaudoin, guards; Wallace Andrews and Frank Bresnahan, centers; Bill Johnson and Frank Calabrese quarterbacks; Joe Geevice, Al Lapinskas, and Tony Tummineli backs

Head Coach Devlin, Ernie Perry and Aurel Tremblay work with the varsity group of 40, Jim Jordan and Eddie Donahue coach the remaining hundred

But the pass defensive will be tighter from now on. So perhaps the team won't wait until next fall to open a brand new victory chain

The squad enrollment, with 140 equipped from the starting turnout of about 250, gives Lawrence one of the largest rosters in the state and a notable achievement from the physical education angle.

The Road B army produces most of the future varsity players, though some sophs step directly into the first squad. A few of the promising B players are Bernard Fielding, a back, Maurice McLaughlin and Joe Donovan, ends, John Callary and Warren Bucavicz, tackles, all sophs

Of the subs mentioned above, only three are seniors, Joe Pash, Owen Beaudoin and Bill Johnson. With that setup, Lawrence doesn't have to worry about the next two years.

With Bill Lombari the sole back with much experience and he not yet at his best, the attack hasn't been too strong. Defensively the team has been first class in stopping ground plays, but Salem and Somerville found it easy to pass for their scores.

Lawrence Hurricane Gathers Strength For Title Sweep

Lawrence gridmen charge as they prepare for the Peabody invasion on Monday next. Lawrence won every game for three years, losing to Salem last month to end the streak. Only Capt. Donahue, center, and Tackle McKenna are seniors. A title rush next year is in the cards.

(From files International News Photo

In the backfield here are Quarterback Weber, Halfback Muse and Lombari, while Fullback Perrocchi is running very low. Ends are Conte and Antonavich, Strocchio, Kattar, Donahue, O'Connell, McKenna and Conte.

DODGERS Booted Up PRO LADDER

Philadelphia, Nov. 6 (US)—Ralph Kercheval, brilliant Brooklyn Dodgers quarterback, booted his team into a first place tie with the New York Giants in the eastern division of the pro football loop with a 21-yard field goal against the Philadelphia Eagles. The score was 3-0

The victory marked the third win in a row for the Brooklyn team, and the second in three days over the Eagles

Kercheval's mighty boots pulled the Dodgers out of holes all evening

Three times the Dodger line braced after sustained Eagle drives had brought the ball to the 10, 15, and 2-yard line in the final period, and three times Kercheval punted the Dodgers out of danger

The Dodgers' score came midway in the third period

School Results

FOOTBALL

Acton 8, Middlesex 34 8
Hallowell, Me. 33, Winthrop, Me. 0
Hyde Park 6, Brighton 6
Laconia, N. H 7, Rochester, N. H. 0
Punchard 27, Manning 6
Trade 13, Charlestown 0.

GIRLS FIELD HOCKEY

Braintree 1, Canton 0
Malden 0, Swampscott 0
Marshfield 3, Hanover 1.
Melrose 3, Lexington 0
Needham 4, Newton 1.
Walpole 0, Ashland 0.
Wellesley 2, Waltham 1.

SOCCER

Quincy 7, Wellesley 0.

REIGN Of Count May END TONIGHT

Count Casimir Polowski may come to the end of his ring career tonight at the Boston Arena

Polowski, called the "strongest man in the world," is stepping into his first main bout this season and will have to dispose of the suspicion that he's a short-distance wrestler, unable to carry all his thunder over the two out of three falls route

Henry Piers

McDougall, former foreman of a Canadian lumber camp, has been unable to curb his yearning for a free-for-all and is expected to give he gallant Polish nobleman a rough and tumble evening and possibly hand the Count his first defeat

Without doubt MacLean has one of the wildest bouts in years on tap and has abandoned his intention of having a strict official in there, at the request of both Polowski and McDougall, who are willing to throw the rules out the window

The semifinal looms as another larruper with Henry Piers, handsome Holland giant and leg scissors expert, in against Chief Little Moose, Cherokee.

Special bouts will be Leo Hyatt ex-Gold Secret, vs. Joe Allario, and John Schaeffer vs. Max Goldberg

Ethiopian Wins At Mechanics

Pat Schaffer was eliminated as a contender for the title held by Mephisto at Mechanics Building, when the latter defeated the challenger in a three-fall main bout

Mephisto scored the first fall with a top body press in 25 minutes 6 seconds. Schaffer evened the count by taking the second fall in like manner in 14 minutes 9 seconds. After 4 minutes 20 seconds of hectic milling, Schaffer was again victim of a top body press.

Chief War Eagle was disqualified for using his touted tomahawk blow in the semifinal bout with Jack Lutze The fray lasted 53 minutes 30 seconds.

Oso Samara, Ethiopian, subdued Dynamite Dunn in spectacular fashion, pinning the latter in 23 seconds with a flying head scissors, after delivering two hefty punches.

Ted Germaine downed Stonewall Polensky in a preliminary

Game Wanted

West Medford A. C. would like to arrange a football game for next Sunday, away. Call Carl Pelegge, Mystic 0363-W, between 6 7 p. m.

Strandway C. C. Challenges

The Strandway C. C. eleven is ready anywhere in New England seeking two games to complete its Al Lucas, 403 Seventh street, South schedule. The team, which has Boston, is manager. Tel. South made a fine record this fall, will Boston 9321.

Horse Show On

New York, Nov. 6—The 32nd annual horse show w... open seven days of competition this evening in Madison Square Garden

INVALUABLE AIDE

Downes' Description of Ormsby

By Harry Downes
Head Football Coach at Boston College
As Told to Walter K. Ivy

I feel myself most fortunate in having a man of the calibre of Bill Ormsby to assist me with the Boston College football team.

They call him "Pepperbox."

He is well named. Bill is all pep and fire and dash, 100 per cent sincere, tireless and loyal

His was playing and at Brown when I was in rompers. They tell me he was as good as they came, small but full of fight, a great pass catcher, fast down under punts and crashing in to nail the ball carrier in his own backfield time after time.

Bill's experience is a wonderful asset to me. He is level headed and has the respect of the team

Players realize his knowledge of the game, and they have seen him turn out Boston College wings who compare with the finest in the East.

Let him get his hands on an ordinary end and, if at all possible, Ormsby will make a first class man of him.

Look at some of the fine ends he has developed

Johnny Dixon of Norwood was one of his first. Then came Charlie Murphy, who was given All-American honors, Johnny Devenutl, Henry Buckley and Flavio Tosi. The last named is now with the Redskins

Ormsby was the man responsible for the success of all this group and several others in addition

Another fine group is already in the making. Ed Furbush of this year's team already commands respect. Jim Cahill is coming fast Bob Cash, John Kosiowski, Captain Joe O'Brien and Johnny Morris show definite promise. And a lot of boys from this year's freshman squad will be able to take advantage of Ormsby's coaching next season.

Bill is also an ideal scout. He knows what to go after, the necessary things to watch and returns home with accurate data, which eventually proves vital when we later meet that team

One could look far and long before finding a man better qualified to coach a college football team.

This is my first opportunity as head coach of a college eleven. It is fine to have Bill as an associate. I hope we are together for many years to come.

(To be continued tomorrow)

Western Maryland AT BOSTON COLLEGE Sat., Nov 9

DOWNTOWN TICKET OFFICES

James W. Brine Co., 92 Summer Street—Liberty 0771; W. H. Brine Co., Franklin at Otis Sts. Hancock 46,35; Wright & Ditson, 344 Washington Street—Liberty 2733; Iver Johnson Sporting Goods Co., 155 Washington Street—Lafayette 6515.

R.H.WHITE CO.

Thursday-Friday and Saturday Only.

Sale

Men... sounds too good to be true— but believe us...

These suits passed every rigid test for quality and details of workmanship before we put our label on them

Men's New England-made all worsted SUITS

$18.95

Single breasted suits....$18.95
Double breasted suits...$18.95
Sport suits.....$18.95
(not all worsted)
Patch pocket suits.....$18.95
in blues, greys, browns oxfords and fancies.

Men... use one of EASY PAY PLANS when buying clothing at White's

1. Use Our 3-month pay plan. No money down... pay 1-3 on the 10th of the following month and the balance on the 10th of the following two months
2. Use our 5-month pay plan. Make a small down payment and pay the balance in 5 monthly payments (small carrying charge). or use your regular charge account

Repeating at the same low price, the sale that made hundreds of new friends for White's in September... even though the price of woolens has advanced rapidly.

These are not suits bought to sell in a sale but our very own brand, and gentlemen... bear in mind that an R. H. White Co. suit does not look low in price... there are no short cuts taken in our tailoring... we can't permit careless tailoring processes and we insist on the details that distinguish well made, good looking clothes... these are not just $18.95 suits...

SIZES 36 TO 46 IN REGULARS, SHORTS, LONGS AND EXTRA SIZES

White's Men's Clothing Mezzanine

BEEFSTEAK SMOKIN' HOT

Wilson's Best Bet Starts in Sixth

By Dave Wilson

Narragansett Park, Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 6—Beefsteak, in the sixth race, is the class of the field entered in today's eight-race at the O'Hara oval.

He is my best bet of the day.

FIRST RACE

Sandy Mack, Edri, Col. Bixer

Just can't go past SANDY MACK in searching for the winner here. The Sandy Beal colt holds plenty of class but has been away from the race for a long time. Morning trials have been very good and is coming up fit to run for a big purse. EDRI was a gallopping winner over cheaper ones last time out. COL. BIXER merits better than a fighting chance on his last performance, which was a winning one.

SECOND RACE

Mah Grant, Tractable, Prince Drake

MAH GRANT looks all over the class. She received tighteners behind Singing Heart only a few days back at Empire City. TRACTABLE shapes up all over the route drub on general form. PRINCE DRAKE is dropping down.

THIRD RACE

Highest Point, Mantados, Dunrock

HIGHEST POINT stands head and shoulders over this indifferent lot of $1000 top and bottom sprinters. Contention, if any, will likely be furnished by MANTADOS. This plater has been freshened up slightly, and I look for him to turn a vastly improved race. DUNROCK figures to be along in time to save the minor award.

FOURTH RACE

Cynwyd, Golden Quest, Little Wing

This is the most wide-open affair on the card. CYNWYD gets the top figures, but she is down on the also eligible list and may not get a chance to parade postwards. GOLDEN QUEST, second to Bull Market, turned in a bang-up performance that day. A duplicate of that effort may result in brackets. LITTLE WING holds a world of early foot and may hang on.

FIFTH RACE

Indian Broom, Barnsley, Silver Fleece

INDIAN BROOM, a beaten favorite on Saturday, merits another chance in this number. The Brooke colorbearer was carried to the outside fence going into the clubhouse turn that day. BARNSLEY did not fancy the sloppy footing last time. SILVER FLEECE flashed good form in placing to Eddie's Brother last time.

SIXTH RACE

Beefsteak, Allen Z. Block Gift

I find it impossible to go past BEEFSTEAK in this affair. This consistent horse has won four outs of his last five races in this sector. ALLEN Z, runner-up to Prince Abbot, figures next best on the strength of that performance. BLACK GIFT is a keen possibility on New York races.

SEVENTH RACE

Vote Boy, Flashing Colors, Thomasville

VOTE BOY was a galloping winner over a similar field only a few days back. FLASHING COLORS move up closer.

turned in a dull performance in his most recent endeavor. In front of that he was a winner at Empire City. THOMASVILLE is the class, his recent performance have been so poor that I find it impossible to

EIGHTH RACE

Capt. Jerry, Thunderstone, Zembla

CAPT. JERRY just missed crubing Free and Dearsin last time. He will be meeting weaker opposition in this affair. THUNDERTONE displayed marked improvement last time. Mud moves him up. ZEMBLA is a plodding miss, but she figures to be along in time to snare the remainder of the spoils.

Pilney Examined, Leaves Cot

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 6 (INS) — Dr. James McNeel, Notre Dame team physician, today was to examine Andy Pilney, who gained gridiron immortality against Ohio State, to determine whether the husky back will be able to play any more football this season.

Pilney, who tore the muscles of his leg, is to be allowed to quit his bed for the first time today.

Only One Nips Sation In Thriller

By Universal Service

Pimlico, Md., Nov. 6—Only one, carrying the light blue silks of Mrs. Deering Howe, captured the Baltimore handicap at the Pimlico race track in one of the most sensational finishes seen here all year.

Only One flew past the judges' stand an inch or two in front of Sation, G. D. Widener's giant weight-carrier

Sation, brilliant five-year-old chestnut son of Galetian, carried the crushing burden of 135 pounds while Only One was in with only 110.

The Widener color-bearer was tone the best in the furlong race but met with all the misfortune possible. When the break came he was up in the air and broke with the tail-enders.

Jockey Don Meade steadied Sation and when he got the flying marvel running smoothly he was lengths off the leaders.

Only One, Good Harvest, Nautch and Sun Over were fighting it out in front. They stretched across the track in a solid phalanx. Then along came Sation in gigantic leaps, passing the front runners one by one until Only One remained to overtake.

Swinging into the stretch, Sation was traveling so rapidly that he made a wide turn. That cost him the race.

Good Harvest finished third, three lengths further behind with Accolade a close fourth. Eight started.

Only One, a four-year-old son of Luculite, covered the six furlongs in the fast time of 1.11 4-5 and paid $9.20 to $2 to win. He was piloted by Jockey Merritt.

Nott the Redskins?—Yes Sir! It Is

Doug Nott, former University of Detroit back, who came to the Redskins in a trade for Bill Shepherd, is shown wearing out in a Boston uniform. Nott achieved nation-wide publicity as a collegian for his brilliant passing ability. Played on the all-East team at San Francisco last New Year's Day.

BIG TEN 'Surprises' CLASH

MICHIGAN VS. ILLINOIS

By the Associated Press

Chicago, Nov. 6—The Big Ten's two extremes in "surprise" teams will get together Saturday when Michigan and Illinois renew their ripe gridiron feud at Champaign.

The surprise element in Michigan's season has been very pleasant to date. The Illini have turned up with several surprises, most of them unpleasant.

The Wolverines, who will go into battle favored to win their third straight conference victory, can do without a surprise verdict Saturday. Illinois, however, hopes to continue to do the unexpected by upsetting Michigan.

Wolverines and Illini face the engagement each in the position the other was expected to occupy at about this stage of the campaign. The experts figured Illinois as among the top flight elevens before the season opened.

OPPOSITES

Michigan, apparently little improved over last year, the Wolverines' most disastrous season in history, appeared doomed to accomplish little.

Michigan made the experts look good as they opened their season by losing to Michigan State's powerful team, 25 to 6. From there on, however, the Wolverines started going places, Indiana was defeated 7 to 0.

Then Wisconsin fell, 20 to 6. Michigan took time out from conference affairs the next two Saturdays to grab a pair of intersectional snaps. Columbia was downed, 19 to 6, and Pennsylvania got it by a 15 to 0 count last week. Meanwhile the Wolverines remained tied for the conference leadership.

Illinois handed its following a shock without delay, losing a 6 to 0 decision to Ohio University of Athens, O. The next week Illinois trounced Washington University of St. Louis, 28 to 0.

Then all was forgiven when the Illinois, rated as underdogs, passed and kicked Southern California dizzy for a 19 to 0 triumph at Los Angeles.

Something happened two weeks later, and most of it was Iowa. The same figured to be true, but the Hawkeyes, led by Ose Simmons and Dick Crayne, belted Illinois over, 19 to 6. The size of the score, at least, was a surprise.

Last week Illinois dropped into a last place tie with Wisconsin and Indiana by losing to Northwestern, 10 to 3. While Michigan will be favored, it expects a terrific struggle. The Wolverines probably will not be disappointed for Illinois always has been at its best against the traditional foe from Ann Arbor.

Wilson's Graded Handicaps At Narragansett Park

FIRST—SANDY MACK, EDRI, COL. BIXER

FIRST RACE—Claiming, two-year-olds, $1000, 3½ furlongs:

| PP | Horse | Wt. | Jockey | P. Odds | Comment |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 4 | Sandy Mack | 116 | Sacks | 6-1 | The class, on edge |
| 8 | Edri | 112 | Deering | 4-1 | Last race was |
| 7 | Col. Bixer | 110 | Lopez | 3-1 | Last two second |
| 6 | Small Devil | 105 | Cooper | 6-1 | Closer Agawam winner |
| 5 | Smiths Ed | 112 | Short | 8-1 | Second last time |
| 9 | Society Editor | 103 | Howell | 8-1 | May come to life |
| 10 | Golden Duchess | 104 | Rosen | 15-1 | Mud will help |
| 3 | Minute Gretchen | 107 | Smith | 10-1 | Has shown speed |
| 2 | Hope Durand | 105 | Cuevas | 20-1 | Poor form |
| 1 | Tullet | 110 | Harris | 30-1 | Nothing lone start |
| 11 | Wee Lamp | 101 | G Walker | 20-1 | Not for mine |
| 12 | Wishlist | 110 | Stevenson | 30-1 | Would surprise |
| 13 | Creme de Menthe | 102 | Ray | 8-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 14 | Jo Jenta White | 109 | Jolley | 6-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 15 | Mah Grand | 112 | Haas | 10-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 16 | Miss Mood | 112 | Hanford | 8-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 17 | Johnny Bane | 109 | Smith | 12-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 18 | College Boy | 110 | Rosen | 20-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 19 | Salem | 107 | Lindley | 20-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 20 | Tropical Moon | 107 | Foden | 20-1 | SCRATCHED |

SECOND—MAH GRANT, TRACTABLE, PRINCE DRAKE

SECOND RACE—Claiming, three-year-olds and up, $1000, six furlongs:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 6 | Mah Grant | 108 | Arcaro | 4-5 | Last out her on edge |
| 11 | Tractable | 110 | Wagner | 4-1 | Extra good chance |
| 7 | Prince Drake | 113 | Foden | 4-1 | Closer on last race |
| 10 | Kewaque | 103 | Stevenson | 10-1 | Three classy |
| 4 | Singing Heart | 107 | Haviland | 6-1 | Rates a chance |
| 2 | Air Line | 112 | Short | 8-1 | Speedy at times |
| 12 | Hubbie | 107 | Jolley | 8-1 | Second last time |
| 1 | Monks Time | 102 | Ray | 12-1 | Last race helped |
| 3 | Nina | 102 | Helm | 15-1 | Improvement needed |
| 9 | Takua | 102 | Conner | 15-1 | May wake up |
| 8 | Golden Sceptre | 106 | Seabo | 15-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 5 | Lolly B | 105 | Helm | 20-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 13 | Tudor Queen | 102 | Stevenson | 20-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 14 | Gainership | 102 | H Shilley | 8-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 15 | Nautch | 107 | Rosen | 8-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 16 | Lady Hornberger | 102 | Phillips | 20-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 17 | Parity | 111 | Critchfield | 12-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 18 | Turf Beauty | 108 | Rosen | 20-1 | Freshened up |
| | | | | | No record here |

THIRD—HIGHEST POINT, MANTADOS, DUNROCK

THIRD RACE—Claiming, three-year-olds and up, $1000, six furlongs:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 3 | Mantados | 112 | Short | 7-1 | Can better last |
| 11 | Dunrock | 115 | Critchfield | 8-1 | Excellent monkey chance |
| 4 | Mabo | 112 | Osburn | 6-1 | Must take it all |
| 6 | Regulo Maidan | 115 | Rosen | 8-1 | High early speed |
| 5 | Dark Thistle | 102 | Arcaro | 8-1 | Speedy at times |
| 12 | Allen L. | 112 | Seabo | 8-1 | Improvement likely |
| 7 | Highest Point | 107 | Stevenson | 10-1 | Fair chance |
| 8 | Protagonist | 118 | G Walker | 4-1 | Outside chance |
| 9 | Tudor Jr. | 110 | Stevenson | 10-1 | Fast company |
| 10 | Handy Man | 109 | Lopez | 10-1 | No the limit |
| 2 | Golden Princess | 107 | Deering | 20-1 | Tough sister |
| 1 | Magic Dream | 109 | J Hanford | 20-1 | Tough spot |
| 13 | Richard | 110 | Stevenson | 15-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 14 | Chanwell | 101 | Cooper | 15-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 15 | Nevertrade | 110 | Critchfield | 15-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 16 | Mardromeic | 109 | Howell | 15-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 17 | Roentgenologist | 110 | Luther | 20-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 18 | Highland Scout | 115 | Seabo | 20-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 19 | Prune | 110 | Woolfe | 8-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 20 | Prune Girl | 112 | Smith | 8-1 | SCRATCHED |

FOURTH—CYNWYD, GOLDEN QUEST, LITTLE WING

FOURTH RACE—Claiming, three-year-olds and up, $1000 sole and 70 purses:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 3 | Golden Quest | 107 | Wagner | 6-1 | Beaten favorite |
| 5 | Miss Easter | 111 | Short | 8-1 | Rates a chance |
| 1 | Little Wing | 105 | Stevenson | 6-1 | Stand rule last time |
| 2 | Hollstown Star | 109 | Helm | 8-1 | May beat this rating |
| 14 | Gettinoh B | 114 | Rosen | 15-1 | Good for races |
| 13 | Capoonyan | 111 | Cooper | 15-1 | Not in form |
| 8 | Cynwyd | 111 | Deering | 4-1 | Best here |
| 10 | Malwell | 100 | Howell | 15-1 | Speeds at times |
| 12 | Bull Market | 110 | Short | 15-1 | Winner, if stayed |
| 12 | Mabel Krug | 109 | Hanford | 8-1 | Last leaves races |
| 7 | Bonnie Bourne | 110 | Seabo | 8-1 | Nothing doing |
| 9 | Dancing Queen | 109 | Jolley | 10-1 | Nothing shown |
| 20 | Sandy | 111 | Woolfe | 8-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 15 | Cynwyd | 111 | Anderson | 6-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 4 | Little Wing | 108 | Phillips | 6-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 16 | Harky | 108 | Short | 6-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 17 | Cachalot | 107 | Hanford | 8-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 18 | Bow High | 111 | Helm | 15-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 19 | Dance | 111 | Deering | 15-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 20 | Gateway Kay | 109 | G Walker | 20-1 | SCRATCHED |

FIFTH—INDIAN BROOM, BARNSLEY, SILVER FLEECE

FIFTH RACE—$2200 added, "Cranston Claiming Stakes," two-year-olds, one mile:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 8 | Aladdin Broom | 115 | Cuevas | 5-1 | Needs intelligent handling |
| 2 | Barnsley | 112 | Arcaro | 4-1 | Last out fourth |
| 1 | Greg | 113 | Seabo | 6-1 | Speedy contender |
| 6 | Virginian | 108 | Short | 8-1 | Can better here |
| 3 | Attwick Lonk | 103 | Cuevas | 7-1 | Stablemate better |
| 4 | Imperial Rose | 103 | Howell | 20-1 | Needs experience |
| 5 | Silver Fleece | 111 | Arcaro | 3-1 | SCRATCHED |

SIXTH—BEEFSTEAK, ALLEN Z, BLACK GIFT

SIXTH RACE—$2200. "Three Men on a Horse Handicap," three-year-olds and up, mile and 70 yards:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 6 | Beefsteak | 112 | Short | 3-1 | The best on form |
| 10 | Black Gift | 112 | Cuevas | 8-1 | Rookmanship, good chance |
| 3 | Reparation | 110 | Stevenson | 4-1 | Fighting Reparation |
| 5 | Col. Greene | 110 | Luther | 8-1 | Lastly improved plater |
| 4 | Hanford | 111 | Hanford | 10-1 | Can better here |
| 2 | Royal Blunder | 101 | Helm | 10-1 | Stable wakes up dead |
| 1 | Beyond | 107 | Seabo | 15-1 | Hard to guess |
| 7 | Gay Shelly | 95 | Watson | 30-1 | Strong recently |
| 8 | Old Shoulder | 97 | Stevenson | 15-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 9 | Hermie Ray | 102 | Rosen | 6-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 11 | Allen Z. | 118 | Foden | 6-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 12 | Cross Buff | 108 | Smith | 6-1 | SCRATCHED |

SEVENTH—VOTE BOY, FLASHING COLORS, THOMASVILLE

SEVENTH RACE—$1000, claiming, three-year-olds and up, 1 1-16 miles:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 5 | Vote Boy | 101 | Stanford | 4-1 | Shows best, may repeat |
| 4 | Flashing Colors | 118 | Arcaro | 3-1 | Figures close up |
| 6 | Thomasville | 113 | Seabo | 4-1 | Has stood up two poor |
| 8 | Love One | 109 | Short | 8-1 | Canadian winner |
| 3 | Beaver | 116 | Deering | 8-1 | Beaten favorite |
| 9 | Blackmail | 109 | Jolley | 6-1 | Improvement likely |
| 10 | Bath Finance | 109 | Helm | 10-1 | Fair chance |
| 1 | Fake | 109 | Stevenson | 10-1 | SCRATCHED |
| 2 | Lord Jim | 117 | Hanford | 8-1 | Last race in mud |
| 7 | Lester Lane | 105 | Ray | 15-1 | Improvement needed |
| 11 | Slave Boy | 101 | Woolfe | 15-1 | Can't race helped |

EIGHTH—CAPT. JERRY, THUNDERTONE, ZEMBLA

EIGHTH RACE—$1000, claiming, three-year-olds and up, 1 1-16 miles:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 8 | Capt. Jerry | 107 | Arcaro | 3-1 | Fell on last |
| 4 | Thunderstone | 113 | Short | 4-1 | Improved last time |
| 3 | Beaver | 116 | Deering | 8-1 | Improvement likely |
| 5 | Harper | 110 | Jolley | 8-1 | In smart hands |
| 6 | Saint Shaun | 113 | Haas | 8-1 | Quit last time |
| 1 | Nebel | 107 | Stevenson | 10-1 | Nothing last time |
| 2 | Sweet Kiss | 103 | Seabo | 15-1 | Needs more |
| 7 | Zembla | 107 | Phillips | 4-1 | SCRATCHED |

SCRATCHES

AT NARRAGANSETT

1—Tropical Moon, La Junta White, Faleen, Johnny Bane, Creme De Menthe, Wise King, College Boy, Sunny Wood.

2—Polly B., Tudor Queen, Lady Hornberger, Starogan, Golden Septre, Cantersina.

3—Higest Point, Pryor, Dis Hard, From Girl, Chanwell, Neverfade, Mardromel, Roentgenologist.

4—Little Wing, Donee, Calgary Kay, Cachalot, Cynwyd, Harky, How High, Donday.

5—Silver Fleece.

6—Allen Z, Hermie Roy, Cold Shoulder, Cross Ruff.

7—Fake, High Finance.

8—Zembra.

AT PIMLICO

1—High Music, Cusfer, The Swagman, Kathleen F., Mate Tea, Sky Ride.

2—Pordina, Tuleyries Wand, By Surprise, Cash Customer, Lady Marlboro, M. J. Brennan.

3—Arab, Behemoth.

4—Marshall Flying Dere, Sabin, Makeit, Counterpass, Bullfinch.

7—Merely.

Weather clear; track fast.

AT ARLINGTON DOWNS

1—Calculus, Enimrac, Coventry Lady, Blue Hood.

2—Uleadus, Lucy Dear.

3—Polyphole, Benares, Naughty Polly.

6—Coin, Be Mine, Hereon, Civilian.

7—Owen Martines, Easy.

Weather raining; track sloppy.

Consensus of Selections at NARRAGANSETT PARK

(Compiled from Selections of 19 Leading Handicappers)

| First Race | Second Race | Third Race | Fourth Race | Fifth Race | Sixth Race | Seventh Race | Eighth Race |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Creme De menths (42) | Tractable (27) | Highest Point (41) | Cynwyd (39) | Ind an Broom (44) | Beefsteak (40) | Vote Boy (37) | Thunderstone (45) |
| Col. Bixer (36) | Kewaque (33) | Mantados (31) | Bethlehemstar (33) | Silver Fleece (35) | Allen Z. (32) | Live One (35) | Capt Jerry (39) |
| Small Devil (21) | Prince Drake (26) | Dunrock (29) | Little Wing (19) | Barnsley (29) | Thomasville (25) | Thomasville (25) | Stormer (23) |

How Experts Figure NARRAGANSETT PARK Card

| Selectors | First Race | Second Race | Third Race | Fourth Race | Fifth Race | Sixth Race | Seventh Race | Eighth Race |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Dave Wilson | Sandy MacEdriCol. Bixer | Mah GrantTractablePrince Drake | HIGHEST POINTMantadosDunrock | CynwydGolden QuestLittle Wing | Indian BroomBarnsleySilver Fleece | BeefsteakAllen Z.Black Gift | Vote BoyFlashing ColorsThomasville | Capt. JerryThunderstoneZemba |
| Gaby | Small DevilCreme De MentheSandy Mack | TractableMah GrantMoane Keala | Regular RaddusHighest PointAdvocate Junior | BethlehemstarGolden QuestDouble Sweep | INDIAN BROOMSilver FleeceBarnsley | BeefsteakBlack GiftCol. Greene | ThomasvilleLove OneVote Boy | ThunderstoneCapt. JerryCapt. Jerry |
| Tap | Creme De MentheCol. BixerSmall Devil | TractableKewaqueMoane Keala | Advocate Jr.Highland ScoutNeverfade | CYNWYDLittle WingHarky | Silver FleeceGregIndian Broom | BeefsteakTragedytwoCol. Greene | FakeVote BoyFlashing Colors | ThunderstoneCapt. JerryZembla |
| Bindman | Col. BixerCreme De MentheSmiths' Ed | TractableKewaqueLester | Highest PointMantadosPryor | LYNWAIBLittle WingHarky | Silver FleeceGregInd an B oom | BeefsteakAllen Z.Breakfreest | Vote BoyFakeFlashing Colors | ThunderstoneCapt. JerryZembla |
| Clocker | Creme De MentheCol. BixerLa Junta White | PRINCE DRAKELesterMoane Keala | MeloyHighest PointAllen G. | Golden QuestCracinaCalgary Kay | Brookmeade entryBarnsleyGreg | Allen Z.Black GiftBeefsteak | ThomasvilleLove OneVote Boy | ThunderstoneCapt. JerryZemula |
| Railbird | Creme De MentheSmall DevilCol. Bixer | Prince DrakeMoane KealaTractable | Golden PrincessP ghest PointDichard | Little WingGolden QuestCachalot | BROOKDE EN,Silver FleeceGreg | BeefsteakAllen Z.Regardless | ThomasvilleVote BoyFlashing Colors | Capt. JerryThunderstoneStormer |
| Judge | Small DevilSandy MackCol. Bixer | Mah GrantTractableMoane Keala | Highest PointMeloyPreakness | BethlehemstarSilver FleeceCacha ot | Brookmeade entrySilver FleeceGreg | Black GiftBeefsteakAllen Z. | Love OneVote BoyThomasville | CAPT. JERRYThunderstoneStormer |
| Trackman | Col. BixerSmiths' EdSun Camp | LesterMoane KealaAir Line | ManadosRegular RaddusMeloy | Irene FosterLittle WreckCappoquin | Indian BroomGregBarnsley | BeefsteakAllen Z.Col. Greene | Flashing ColorsLove OneThomasville | THUNDERTONECapt JerryStormer |
| Gallop | Smiths EdSandy MackSociety Editor | Moane KealaPrince DrakeTractable | Aileen C.Highest PointDunrock | Irene FosterCachalotGolden Effort | BARNSLEYGregIndian Broom | Gen. JohnnieBeefsteakRegardless | Flashing ColorsLove OneCenter Lane | Captain JerryUndertone |

Consensus of Selections at ARLINGTON DOWNS

(Compiled from Selections of 18 Leading Handicappers)

| First Race | Second Race | Third Race | Fourth Race | Fifth Race | Sixth Race | Seventh Race | Eighth Race |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2 Bee (46) | Uptodate (45) | Gen. Pulaski (46) | Polish Beau (49) | Infidon (60) | Communist (48) | Easy (51) | Captain Danger (46) |
| Torchbee (31) | Polybiola (36) | Born Happy (31) | Fort Jay (36) | Turf (36) | Her Hero (31) | Ballyboo (30) | High Hatter (34) |
| Kaimrac (30) | Bettina M. (31) | Striken (29) | My Peter (36) | Black Highbrow (30) | Civilina (31) | | Printemps (30) |

Consensus of Selections at PIMLICO

(Compiled from Selections of 18 Leading Handicappers)

| First Race | Second Race | Third Race | Fourth Race | Fifth Race | Sixth Race | Seventh Race | Eighth Race |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Chamberlayne (46) | Venetian (37) | Tredford (40) | Spanish Way (39) | Apprentice (44) | Miss Dignity (50) | Naval Cadet (50) | |
| Lets Prevail (35) | Red Badge (34) | Creditina (30) | Charmeas (37) | Rough Diamond (34) | Still Alar (36) | Saltmarsh (34) | |
| Aura (35) | War Saint (30) | Tiempo (28) | Silent Shot (32) | Mahrook (36) | Aziz (38) | Fairly Wild (30) | |

WEBER DUCK INN

"We Raise the Ducks We Serve"

Lobster, Steak and Chicken Specialties

Beer Lowe and His Rowdy Debaters

Route 1 Ajp-Phone Wrentham 106

Take

YOUR PICK OF THE TOWN'S BEST USED CAR VALUES FROM TODAY'S FORD DEALER CLASSIFIED LISTINGS

Today's classified advertising will give you a good idea of the outstanding values Ford Dealers are offering in used cars. A wide range of prices and many makes and models are shown. Yet this is just a cross-section of the great selection you'll find on Ford Dealers' floors and used car lots. Choose today for the pick of the market. Lowest prices and top allowance for your present car.

AUTHORIZED FORD DEALERS OF NEW ENGLAND

ARMISTICE DAY EXCURSIONS TO NEW YORK

2 FULL DAYS

Going Saturday Night, Nov. 9

LV. BOSTON (Bos. Tel.) 12:00 P. M. $5
LV. BACK BAY ..... 12:05 A. M. Round
LV. NEW YORK ..... 6:00 A. M. Trip

Returning Monday Night

LV. NEW YORK ..... 12:30 A. M.
DUE BACK BAY ..... 7:55 A. M.
DUE BOSTON (So. Sta.) 8:00 A. M.
*Grand Central Terminal

EVERY SUNDAY

Excursion to New York

Leave Saturday Night, Return Sunday Night, on same train schedule as above..... $3.50

ROUND TRIP

CHILDREN 5 AND UNDER 12 YEARS, ONE-HALF PRICE

BUY TICKETS IN ADVANCE

Tickets good only on trains indicated now on sale at South Station, North Station, Back Bay and 67 Franklin Street, Boston

THE NEW HAVEN R.R.

TO WASHINGTON $10. ROUND TRIP

Baltimore and Philadelphia

Sleeping Cars and Coaches

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9

Lv. Boston (So. Sta.) ..... 7:00 P. M.
Lv. Back Bay ..... 7:05 P. M.
Lv. Providence ..... 8:00 P. M.
Due Philadelphia (Cambria St.) 4:34 A. M.
Due Baltimore ..... 5:30 A. M.
Due Washington ..... 6:30 A. M.

RETURNING NOV. 10 NOV. 11

Lv. Washington ..... 8:00 P. M. 7:40 P. M.
Lv. Baltimore ..... 8:55 P. M. 8:30 P. M.
Lv. Philadelphia ..... 10:39 P. M. 10:12 P. M.

Tickets to Baltimore and Washington good in sleeping cars upon payment of charges.

REDUCED ROUND TRIP PULLMAN FARES

| No. of Persons | RETURNING SUNDAY Lower Berth | Upper Berth | Roll Ticket Entered |
|---|---|---|---|
| One | $5.50 | $4.75 | One |
| Two | $8.50 | $7.50 | Two |

| No. of Persons | RETURNING MONDAY Lower Berth | Upper Berth | Roll Ticket Entered |
|---|---|---|---|
| One | $5.50 | $5.50 | One |
| Two | $7.50 | $6.00 | Two |

Drawing Room $24.00

CHILDREN 5 AND UNDER 12 YEARS, ONE-HALF FARE

BUY TICKETS IN ADVANCE

Tickets good only on trains indicated now on sale at South Station, North Station, Back Bay and 67 Franklin Street, Boston

THE NEW HAVEN R.R.

Bender Back

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 6—Coach J. Wilder Tasker of Rutgers has Cuno Bender, out of the lineup with an ankle injury since the Lehigh game, back in uniform.

'Gansett Mutuels

For Tuesday, Nov. 5

1—2—7 Races ..... $135.60

1—2—3—5—7 Races ..... 211.90

7 Races ..... 300.30

Horses on Tap

College Boy—All osteopaths will get the point. Could knock the "tote" board out of joint!

Die Hard—The jocks say "Eat and drink for tomorrow we die!" This nag may prove to be a live number.

Barnsley—Top weight and best horse. Should make every post a winning one. They're off!

Fake—Dangerously weighted. May fly in with ease. Ready to run his best race.

Trackman's Best

Narragansett—Thunderstone, 8th race.

Pimlico—Leguine, 4th race.

Arlington Downs—Uptodate, 2nd race.

Trackman's Parlay

Barnsley—Narragansett, 6th.

Infidex—Arlington Downs, 5th.

Track Condition

Narragansett Park—Fast.

Pimlico—Fast.

Arlington Downs—Fast.

EAGLETS STRONG Meet H. C. Monday

Coach Frank Maloney is busy this week preparing his crack Boston College freshman eleven for its feature battle with the Holy Cross freshmen at Alumni Field next Monday.

The teams appear evenly matched. Both the Eaglets and the Crusader Cubs have stopped the Providence College frosh and the St. John's Prep school.

The Eaglets are undefeated, untied and unscored upon, and hope to protect their perfect record when they close their season against the Holy Cross freshmen

Mr. Boston Wrong 'Fair Play,' Wrong

By JACK CONWAY

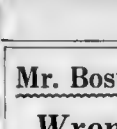
I HAVE received a letter from a reader in Providence who signs himself "Fair Play."

The writer protests against what he terms my "panning" of Dan O'Mahoney, who has signed to defend his world's heavyweight wrestling championship against youthful Leo Numa at a Christmas Basket Fund show at the Garden on November 15. "Fair Play" writes:

"I am making a protest of your panning of Dan O'Mahoney, a boy came from Ireland 10 months ago and defeated all of our wonderful wrestlers. Now that O'Mahoney is champ champion, you are accusing him of meeting setups.

"I should judge from your name that you are Irish. Give the boy a chance.

"The sports writers in Providence say you are trying to get O'Mahoney defeated."



Mr. Boston

* * *

NUMA GO

I HAVE no desire to see O'Mahoney defeated, but I do insist that when he defends his championship in Boston he meet an opponent who has an even chance of pinning him.

This is why I wrote that the Irishman should meet Leo Numa, Chief Little Wolf and Ray Steele rather than some shop worn grappler who is trying to make coffee and doughnut money.

If O'Mahoney had persisted in his original plan to avoid Numa, Chief Little Wolf and Ray Steele, I couldn't have gone along writing he was a great champion.

My idea of a title holder is one who isn't afraid to meet any legitimate challenger.

When O'Mahoney signed to oppose Numa, he proved he was ready to take a real risk in the ring. Numa is one of the most powerful as well as one of the most capable wrestlers in the world. Like Danno, Leo carries the torch of Flaming Youth and won't tire in a long bout.

I consider Numa a more finished grappler than Danno. His toe hold from behind is at least the equal of the "Irish Whip." Numa is also master of every other wrestling hold.

O'Mahoney is more aggressive than Numa, and is a past master of the art of using his forearms when in tight jams. He recently knocked out Ed Don George in 5m. 8s. in the New York Garden.

The fact Jack McGrath kept O'Mahoney away from Numa as long as he did is proof as to the rating the champion's manager gives the former "Black Secret."

If Numa should win from O'Mahoney, he will make a popular champion. He has public appeal and wrestling class and would go a long ways as title holder.

I hope my friend "Fair Play" will agree with me when I say the public will be much more interested in seeing O'Mahoney battle Numa than it would in watching the champion in action against some mat veteran.

* * *

JACK SHARKEY

JACK Sharkey will be able to find out just how good a fighter he is when he opposes Unknown Winston in a ten-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on November 22.

Winston can't claim to rank with "Bomber" Joe Louis, whom Sharkey says he can floor, but the Holyoke heavyweight is better than the average run of big fellows.

Sharkey has been a training for a month, but he will not be able to give himself a real test until he sweeps into action against Winston.

Sparring partners are helpful in getting a heavyweight into condition, but training matches never furnish the fire one gets in a contest with small gloves.

Triple Wing Play Is Crowd Pleaser

PAT HANLEY EXPLAINS TRIPLE WING REVERSE

Havens to Lead Young Team Here

Good Men Needed

THAT'S WHY TUSS GAVE IT UP

By L. B. Pat Hanley
Head Coach at Boston University
(Copyright by Boston Evening American)

One of the most intricate and prettiest plays to watch is the triple wingback, which "Tuss" McLaughry made famous at Brown.

The speed necessary for execution and the baffling reverses, laterals, passes and fakes which evolve from this wide spread, always make a hit with the football spectators.

I have purposely refrained from stressing this type of offense heretofore because it is one of the toughest to operate.

You must have the proper type of men or it is useless. I honestly believe it is this lack of material which forced Tuss to abandon it this season.

STRONG LINE

Your line must naturally be strong. There is so much time spent before reaching the line of scrimmage that one defensive lineman slicing through can ruin everything.

Then your backs must not only be fast but must have perfect coordination and be expert ball handlers. Hours and hours of practice are necessary before this offense can be run with any smoothness.

Today I have chosen a wide reverse from the triple wingback. The photos and the diagrams make it easy to follow the play.

You can see that there is plenty of power ahead.

The only difficulty is that the man may be caught from behind, and it is here that speed, ball handling and blocking are so essential.

CLUBS? NAY!

If the left halfback can successfully reach the line of scrimmage, there is little reason for the play not clicking, for he has enough men ahead of him to get out in the open.

As for a club eleven using this intricate offense, I would not advise it unless it has a man who can coach it properly and the group of boys are willing to spend long hours in developing the speed and finesse that is necessary.

(Famous Plays of Famous Coaches, a Pat Hanley series which appears exclusively in the Boston Evening American, runs every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.)

The fullback on this triple wingback formation has started to his left giving the ball to the left halfback, who is starting around to right end. The left end, left guard and right guard have already boxed out to lead the play.

(Picture from Inter

The left halfback about to cut and scoot around left end. He has plenty of interference. The left guard, left end and quarterback all lead the play, with the right guard turning to take care of anybody who is coming the play from behind. The fullback, after passing to the left halfback takes a shot at the tackle. The ba carrier is expected to outrun the defensive right end.

Specials

Elevated Helps B. C.

Beginning this Saturday for the Western Maryland game and continuing every Saturday thereafter, free motor coach service from Lake street to the gates of Alumni Field will be furnished by the Boston Elevated, according to an announcement by the Boston College Athletic Association.

Another co-operative move made by the Boston Elevated for the convenience of B. C. fans will be the inauguration of a special car service from Park street Saturday afternoons.

These special three-car trains will make the run out Commonwealth avenue and connect with the buses at Lake street.

These moves by the street railway company will make Alumni Field a mere 20 minute ride from Park street.

AUSTEN LAKE

Continued from Page 16

and bulges where there were once flats and hollows, his brain is just as nimble as his legs were when he played for Columbia.

Thus Tom, who handled the Dartmouth-Yale game, in which the goal staves were flattened by an over-enthused crowd two minutes before the final curfew, was asked what he would have done had either team scored a touchdown and desired to try for the point.

Indeed, said Sir Thomas, he had the possibility all figured.

I would have stationed two of my officials just over the goal-post stumps, with their arms pointed straight aloft and their eyes sighting along their fingers.

"Then, on the kick, I would have measured the flight of the ball by rule-of-eye to determine whether it passed over at cross bar height, and have consulted my human goal-posts as to whether the ball carried inside or outside their fingers."

Nice going Tommy!

* * *

Confession at Fenway Park

AT FENWAY PARK TODAY, the Red Sox office family were doing finger exercises, known as salary motions. On the field below Professor Casey's Redskins, minus their gold pants and la. ragety, tramp costumes, were slogging through formations.

Only profit in your correspondent's visit was a confession by Phil Troy, old money-bags, who is a miserly man with the club's traveling funds. Troy relaxed that he was shooing his athletes into contract taxies during the club's last visit to St. Louis.

While he was counting his chickadidees in the hotel lobby, an "outlaw" taxi driver presented him with a $1.00 fare for someone in the Sox party who had ridden an opposition cab.

Troy's roar blew the palm fronds back on their potted stalks, scattered magazines on the newsstand, wind-milled the revolving door.

"Who," he shouted, naming the seven mortal furies, "had the gall to charge this cab ride?"

The cabbee timidly ventured that the man's name was written on the back of the check. Troy flipped it over and read the copper plate signature of "Thomas A. Yawkey."

Assorted whinnies, cackles and harnyard snorts bathed his blushes as he paid meekly from the community purse—Yawkey's purse.

The New England heavyweight wrestling title seems to be a matter of geography. On the same night that Bibber McCoy was billed in Boston as N. E. champion against Billy Bartush, Charley Strack, of the same fraternal chapter of grampuses, was being billed in Holyoke as N. E. champion against Leo Numa. Maybe Bibber gave Charley his proxy for the night!

FORD May Start FOR ADZIGIAN

There will be no weekend cuts on Harvard's varsity grid squad Coach Dick Harlow served notice today.

Henry Adzis, 18-year-old junior who was one of the outstanding figures on the Harvard team as a sophomore last fall, has been dropped to the junior varsity squad for the second time this season.

It was to Adzis that Harlow looked to replace the injured Bobby Downes in the Princeton game Saturday. But Adzis reported with a slight injury so rather than delay the rest of the squad any longer, Harlow dumped him.

Harlow has used a different set of starting tackles in each game to date, five pairs for five games. And in desperation it appears that he will have to mold a sixth pair for the Princeton game.

Bob Watson appears certain of holding the ranking he gained in the Brown game. Who his running mate will be not even Harlow knows, though Bill Burton appears to have the edge.

The tackle worry, however was partially offset by a change in George Ford's offensive play. Ford slow and uncertain in Harvard's early games, broke out in a scoring rash in the Tuesday scrimmage.

Throwing a 20-yard pass for one touchdown and galloping 30 yards for another, the former Belmont high star was the sensation of the scrimmage. In case Johnny Adzigian is not ready to go against the Tigers, Ford probably will be in at the left halfback job.

Ford, constitutes a real triple threat. He is the best kicker on the squad, and a fair passer. Only a lack of speed and offensive spark prevented him from taking a larger part in the earlier games.

Mat Results

Memphis Tenn.—Dan O'Mahoney, Ireland, threw Waldo Green, Lubock, Texas, in straight falls, first in 11:40 with flying scissors, and second in 6:15 with a series of body slams.

New Haven—Irish Jack Dempsey, Boston, took two out of three falls from Karl Schultz, 210, German.

Boxing Results

Los Angeles—Midget Wolgast, Philadelphia, 121½, shaded Small Montana, Manila, 18 rounds.

New York—Eddie Cool, Philadelphia, 137, took 10-round decision from Al Lemonis, New York, 138½.

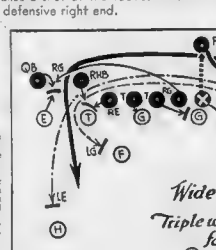

Diagram of the triple wingback wide reverse which requires plenty of speed, expert ball handling and good blocking. The above diagram explains the exact duties of each lineman and back.

1903, 1905 BEST OF GREEN ELEVENS

By Bill Grimes

You'd have a tough time convincing any Dartmouth man that the 1903 and 1935 elevens were not the greatest of all time Big Green teams.

Possible there's something to this rating, but to some extent it is prompted by the fact that Capt. Myron Witham's team was the first Dartmouth outfit to beat Harvard, and Capt. Jack Kenny led the Indians to their initial victory over Yale.

That 1925 Dartmouth team was a pretty fair country aggregation of pigskin chasers, and back in 1929 the Big Green was potent on the gridiron.

By a strange coincidence, Heine Hooper, of the '03 eleven, and Carl "Mutt" Ray, are the best centers Dartmouth ever produced. From the stands, Ray looks squatty, but he stands five feet ten, and weighs 192.

Can you visualize Hooper on the Stadium gridiron standing only five feet six and weighing 246? But, mister, he was a center. Make no mistake about it.

The Boston College and Holy Cross freshmen will stage their annual football classic at the Heights next Monday afternoon, and the game promises to be one of the best in years. The boys on Mt. St. James are of the opinion—and willing to put the old mazuma on the line—that the Crusader freshmen to take the Eaglets over the jumps. As the B. C. undergraduates think pretty well of Coach Frank Maloney's crew some money will change hands after the tilt.

* * *

Temple was a 5 to 1 favorite to beat Michigan State, and the boys went for plenty on that one . . . Carl "Mutt" Ray does not call the signals for Dartmouth. Nor does Capt. Jack Kenny.

You'd be surprised to learn the name of the signal caller . . . Paul Flaherty, the B. C. quarterbacking triple thret, will be out of the Western Maryland game. He came out of that wild battle with Providence with a bad chirlo horse. Incidentally, the Eagles are starting to roll . . .

Only Two Vets

SEVEN SOPHS IN TERRORS LINEUP

By Walter Kiley

The Green Terrors of Western Maryland, with the familiar figure of Dick Harlow no longer leading the procession, will arrive in Boston late tomorrow night.

Northeastern University offered its field to Coach Charlie Havens for a Friday workout, last before the Saturday game with Boston College at University Heights. Havens gladly accepted.

It is a sophomore team that Havens brings to Boston, seven second year men holding down first team positions.

Only Captain Nick Campofreda, a tackle, and Louis Lasasso, an end, were regulars on the 1934 team which trounced the Eagles 40-0 at th. Baltimore Stadium.

The Terrors have won and lost three games to date.

Yet their actual playing has been far more impressive than their record would indicate.

They are particularly strong defensively. They lost to Penn State 0-2 on a safety and to Bucknell 0-3 on a field goal.

POINT FOR B. C.

They played their best game in what turned out to be their most decisive defeat, Harry Sturidreher s Villanova team beating them 20-0.

The Terrors outdid the Wildcats in first downs, 15 to 10, three long runs going for touchdowns and offsetting the splendid defensive line play of the victims.

Western Maryland has pointed for Boston College. Its cripples are back. Man for man the squad is confident of making it two in a row over the Eagles.

Havens has stuck much along the lines of his predecessor, mixing up power and deception as Harlow himself did in the past when he had such players as Bill Shepherd and Jimmy Dunn.

Havens knows football and knows how to coach it.

A year ago he was on hand as Boston College met a great Fordham team at University Heights. The Eagles played inspired football that day and even the hardened New York scribes admitted that the Rams were lucky to pull out with a 7-0 victory.

KNOWS STUFF

Naturally enthusiasm over the Boston team was at fever heat. Havens was driving into town with us after the game.

"Western Maryland will beat Boston College easily" he told us.

We thought he was talking out of his head.

As subsequent events happened and the Eagles were hammered from pillar to post by the Terrors, we came to realize how much this man Havens knew his Western Maryland. His counting data permitted Harlow to plan a defense which stopped Boston cold.

Havens makes no such statement this year. But he is confident. And favored though the Eagles may be, they must realize they have a very rugged assignment on their hands on Saturday.

Racing NARRAGANSETT PARK
Oct. 21 to Nov. 16 FIRST TIME $15
6 RACES DAILY
SPECIAL TRAINS and BUSES TO TRACK

JOE PALOOKA

SAY BRENNER, AIN'T YOU GOIN' A BIT HEAVY ON TH' ENTERTAINMENT? THAT'S A TERRIFIC NUT YOU'RE SPENDIN' ON TH' SPORT SCRIBES.
DON'T BE SILLY, WE WANT THE NEWSPAPER GUYS T'FEEL GOOD DON'T WE? WE NEED PUBLICITY!
YEAH — WELL HOW ABOUT THIS BOWL WE'RE BUILDIN'? THE DARN THING'LL COST SEVENTY-FIVE G'S.
SO WHAT? WE WON'T EVEN NOTICE THE EXPENSE WHEN WE COUNT THE TAKE AFTER THE FIGHT!
WELL LOOK, EVERYTHING THAT'S DONE THEY COME T'ME TO OKAY, WHAT'S TH' IDEA? WHY ME?
THE IDEA IS TO MAKE YOU LOOK LIKE ANOTHER TEX RICKARD AND BUILD YOU UP. THE RECEIPTS WILL PAY FOR EVERYTHING. WHAT ARE YOU WORRIED ABOUT?
EVERYBODY'S TALKIN' ABOUT THE BIG WAY WE'RE CROOKING THIS ONLY YOU GET THE CREDIT, AND NOT ONLY THAT BUT A PROMOTER'S CUT BESIDES YOUR GUARANTEE.
WELL — UH — MEBBE I WAS WRONG, SAY, DO TH' GANG REALLY COMPARE ME T'RICKARD?
HAL FISHER

Another Tex

A TRULY "MAGICAL" INVENTION relays "temperature messages" to special electric furnaces—actually predetermining the hardness of Gillette steel. This assures unequaled uniformity of hardness and perfect shaving performance in every Gillette "Blue Blade." Try it and see!

Reputable merchants give you what you ask for. In stores where substitution is practiced—insist on Gillette "Blue Blades."

GILLETTE BLUE BLADES

Mr. Boston Wrong 'Fair Play,' Wrong

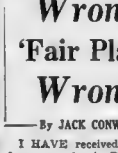
By JACK CONWAY

I HAVE received a letter from a reader in Providence who signs himself "Fair Play."

The writer protests against what he terms my "panning" of Dan O'Mahoney, who has signed to defend his world's heavyweight wrestling championship against youthful Leo Numa at a Christmas Basket Fund show at the Garden on November 15. "Fair Play" writes,



Mr. Boston

"I am making a protest of your panning of Dan O'Mahoney, a boy came from Ireland 10 months ago and defeated all of our wonderful wrestlers. Now that O'Mahoney is champ-champion, you are accusing him of meeting setups.

"I should judge from your name that you are Irish. Give the boy a chance.

"The sports writers in Providence say you are trying to get O'Mahoney defeated."

* * *

NUMA GO

I HAVE no desire to see O'Mahoney defeated, but I do insist that when he defends his championship in Boston he meet an opponent who has an even chance of pinning him.

This is why I wrote that the Irishman should meet Leo Numa. Chief Little Wolf and Ray Steele rather than some shop worn grappler who is trying to make coffee and doughnut money.

If O'Mahoney1 had persisted in his original plan to avoid Numa, Chief Little Wolf and Ray Steele I couldn't have gone along writing he was a great champion.

My idea of a title holder is one who isn't afraid to meet any legitimate challenger.

When O'Mahoney signed to oppose Numa, he proved he was ready to take a real risk in the ring. Numa is one of the most powerful as well as one of the most sensible wrestlers in the world. Like Dan, Lea carries the torch of Flaming Youth and won't tire in a long bout.

I consider Numa a more finished grappler than Danno. His toe hold from behind is at least the equal of the "Irish Whip." Numa is the master of every other wrestling hold.

O'Mahoney is more aggressive than Numa, and is a past master of the art of using his forearms when in tight jams. He recently knocked out Ed Don George in Six Min. in the New York Garden.

The fact Jack McGrath kept O'Mahoney away from Numa as long as he did is proof as to the rating the champion's manager gives the former "Black Secret."

If Numa should win from O'Mahoney, he will make a popular champion. He has public appeal and wrestling class and would go a long ways as title holder.

I hope my friend "Fair Play" will agree with me when I say the public will be much more interested in seeing O'Mahoney battle Numa than it would in watching the champion in action against some mat veteran.

* * *

JACK SHARKEY

JACK Sharkey will be able to find out just how good a fighter he is when he opposes Unknown Winston in a ten-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on November 22.

Winston doesn't claim to rank with "Bomber" Joe Louis, whom Sharkey says he can defeat, but the Holyoke heavyweight is better than the average run of big fellows.

Sharkey has been in training for a month, but he will not be able to give himself a real test until he sweeps into action against Winston.

Sparring partners are helpful in getting a heavyweight into condition, but training matches never furnish the fire one gets in a contest with small gloves.

Triple Wing Play Is Crowd Pleaser

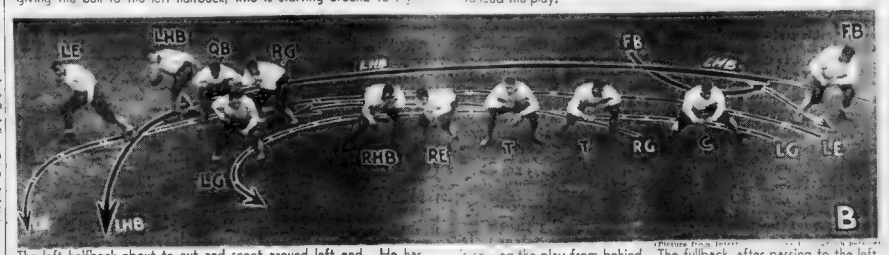
PAT HANLEY EXPLAINS TRIPLE WING REVERSE

The fullback on this triple wingback formation has started to his left, giving the ball to the left halfback, who is starting around to right end. The left end, left guard and right guard have already pulled out to lead the play.



The left halfback about to cut and scoot around left end. He has plenty of interference. The left guard, left end and quarterback all lead the play, with the right guard turning to take care of anybody who comes in the defensive right end.

(Picture from Issue...) ...ng the play from behind. The fullback, after passing to the left halfback, takes a shot at the tackle. The ba' carrier is expected to

Good Men Needed

THAT'S WHY TUSS GAVE IT UP

By L. B. Pat Hanley

Head Coach at Boston University

(Copyright by Boston Evening American)

One of the most intricate and prettiest plays to watch is the triple wingback, which "Tuss" McLaughry made famous at Brown.

The speed necessary for execution and the baffling reverses, laterals, passes and fakes which evolve from this wide spread, always make a hit with the football spectators.

I have purposely refrained from stressing this type of offense heretofore because it is one of the toughest to operate.

You must have the proper type of men or it is useless. I honestly believe it is this lack of material which forced Tuss to abandon it this season.

STRONG LINE

Your line must naturally be strong. There is so much time spent before reaching the line of scrimmage that one defensive lineman slicing through can ruin everything.

Then your backs must not only be fast but must have perfect coordination and be expert ball handlers. Hours and hours of practice are necessary before this offense can be run with any smoothness.

Today I have chosen a wide reverse from the triple wingback. The photos and the diagrams make it easy to follow the play.

You can see that there is plenty of power ahead.

The only difficulty is that the man may be caught from behind, and it is here that speed, ball handling and blocking are so essential.

CLUBS? NAY!

If the left halfback can successfully reach the line of scrimmage, there is little reason for the play not clicking, for he has enough men ahead of him to get out in the open.

As for a club eleven using this intricate offense, I would not advise it unless it had a man who can coach it properly and the group of boys are willing to spend long hours in developing the speed and finesse that is necessary.

(Famous Plays of Famous Coaches, a Pat Hanley series which appears exclusively in the Boston Evening American, runs every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.)

AUSTEN LAKE

Continued from Page 16

and bulges where there were once flats and hollows, his brain is just as nimble as his legs were when he played for Columbia.

Thus Tom, who handled the Dartmouth-Yale game, in which the goal staves were flattened by an over-enthused crowd two minutes before the final curfew, was asked what he would have done had either team scored a touchdown and desired to try for the point.

Indeed, said Sir Thomas, he had the possibility all figured.

I would have stationed two of my officials just over the goal-post stumps, with their arms pointed straight aloft and their eyes sighting along their fingers.

"Then, on the kick, I would have measured the flight of the ball by rule-of-eye to determine whether it passed over at cross bar height, and have consulted my human goal-posts as to whether the ball carried inside or outside their fingers."

Nice going Tommy!

* * *

Confession at Fenway Park

AT FENWAY PARK TODAY, the Red Sox office family were doing finger exercises, known as salary motions. On the field below Professor Casey's Redskins, minus their gold pants and L. raggety, tramp costumes, were slogging through formations.

Only profit in your correspondent's visit was a confession by Phil Troy, old money-bags, who is a miserly man with the club's traveling funds. Troy related that he was shooing his athletes into contract taxies during the club's last visit to St. Louis.

While he was counting his chickadees in the hotel lobby, an "outlaw" taxi driver presented him with a $1.50 fare for someone in the Sox party who had ridden an opposition cab.

Troy's roar blew the palm fronds back on their potted stalks, scattered magazines on the newsstand, wind-milled the revolving door.

"Who," he shouted, naming the seven mortal furies, "had the gall to charge this cab ride?"

The cabbee timidly ventured that the man's name was written on the back of the check. Troy flipped it over and read the copper plate signature of "Thomas A. Yawkey."

Assorted whinnies, cackles and barnyard snorts bathed his blushes as he paid meekly from the community purse—Yawkey's purse.

The New England heavyweight wrestling title seems to be a matter of geography. On the same night that Bibber McCoy was billed in Boston as N. E. champion against Billy Bertuzis, Charley Strack, of the same fraternal chapter of grampuses, was being billed in Holyoke as N. E. champion against Leo Numa. Maybe Bibber gave Charley his proxy for the night!

Specials

Elevated Helps B. C.

Beginning this Saturday for the Western Maryland game and continuing every Saturday thereafter, free motor coach service from Lake street to the gates of Alumni Field will be furnished by the Boston Elevated, according to an announcement by the Boston College Athletic Association.

Another cooperative move made by the Boston Elevated for the convenience of B. C. fans will be the inauguration of a special car service from Park street Saturday afternoons.

These special three-car trains will make the run out Commonwealth avenue and connect with the buses at Lake street.

These moves by the street railway company will make Alumni Field a mere 20 minute ride from Park street.

FORD May Start FOR ADZIGIAN

There will be no weekend stars on Harvard's varsity, and so said Coach Dick Harlow served notice today.

Henry Adzigian, 18-year-old junior who was one of the outstanding figures on the Harvard team as a sophomore last fall, has been dropped to the junior varsity squad for the second time this season.

It was to Adzigian that Harlow looked to replace the injured Bobby Downes in the Princeton game Saturday. But Adzigian reported with a slight injury so rather than delay the rest of the squad any longer, Harlow dumped him.

Harlow has used a different set of starting tackles in each game to date, five pairs for five games. And in desperation it appears that he will have to mold a sixth pair for the Princeton game.

Bob Watson appears certain of holding the ranking he gained as the Brown game. Who his running mate will be not even Harlow knows, though Bill Burton appears to have the edge.

The tackle worry however was partially offset by a change in George Ford's offensive play. Ford slow and uncertain in Harvard's early games, broke out in a scoring rash in the Tuesday scrimmage.

Throwing a 20-yard pass for one touchdown and galloping 30 yards for another, the former Belmont high star was the sensation of the scrimmage. In case Johnny Adzigian is not ready to go against the Tigers Ford probably will be in at the left halfback job.

Ford, constitutes a real triple threat. He is the best kicker on the squad, and a fair passer. Only a lack of speed and offensive spunk prevented him from taking a bigger part in the earlier games.

Mat Results

Memphis, Tenn.—Dan O'Mahoney, 225, Ireland, threw Willie Green, Duluth Minn., in straight falls, final in 11:30, with flying scissors, and scored in 4:45 with a series of body slams.

Troy, N. Y.—Irish Jack Donovan, 225, Boston, took two out of three falls from Karl Schultz, 210, Germany.

Boxing Results

Los Angeles—Midget Maigret Philadelphia, 121½, shaded Jonah Montana, Manila, 122, 10 rounds.

New York—Eddie Cool, Philadelphia, 133, took 10-round decision from Al Lastmiski, New York, 138½.

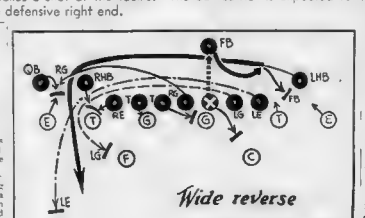

Diagram of the triple wingback wide reverse which requires plenty of speed, expert ball handling and good blocking. The above diagram explains the exact duties of each lineman and back.

1903, 1905 BEST OF GREEN ELEVENS

By Bill Grimes

You'd have a tough time convincing any Dartmouth man that the 1903 and 1935 elevens were not the greatest of all time Big Green teams.

Possible there is something to this rating, but to some extent it is prompted by the fact that Capt. Myron Withams team was the first Dartmouth outfit to beat Harvard, and Capt. Jack Kenny led the Indians to their initial victory over Yale.

That 1905 Dartmouth team was a pretty fair country aggregation of pigskin chasers, and back in 1920 the Big Green was potent on the gridiron.

By a strange coincidence, Heine Hooper, of the '03 eleven, and Carl "Mutt" Ray, are the best centers Dartmouth ever produced. From the stands, Ray looks squatty, but he stands five feet ten, and weighs 195.

Can you visualize Hooper on the Stadium gridiron standing only five feet six and weighing 256? But, mister, he was a center. Make no mistake about it.

* * *

The Boston College and Holy cross freshmen will stage their annual football classic at the Heights next Monday afternoon, and the game promises to be one of the best in years. The boys on Mt. St. James are of the opinion—and willing to put the old maxim on the line—that the Crusader freshmen to take the Eaglets over the jumps. As the B. C. undergraduates think pretty well of Coach Frank Maloney's crew, some money will change hands after the tilt.

* * *

Temple was a 6 to 1 favorite to beat Michigan State, and the boys went for plenty on that one . . . Carl "Mutt" Ray does not call the signals for Dartmouth. Nor does Capt. Jack Kenny.

You'd be surprised to learn the name of the signal caller . . . Paul Flaherty, the B. C. quarterbacking triple thret, will be out of the Western Maryland game. He came out of that wild battle with Providence with a bad charlie horse. Incidentally, the Eagles are starting to roll.

Havens to Lead Young Team Here

Only Two Vets

SEVEN SOPHS IN TERRORS LINEUP

By Walter Kiley

The Green Terrors of Western Maryland, with the familiar figure of Dick Harlow no longer leading the procession, will arrive in Boston late tomorrow night.

Northeastern University offered its field to Coach Charlie Havens for a Friday workout, last before the Saturday game with Boston College at University Heights. Havens gladly accepted.

It is a sophomore team that Havens brings to Boston, seven second year men holding down first team positions.

Only Captain Nick Campofreda, a tackle, and Louis Lazahn, an end, were regulars on the 1934 team which trounced the Eagles 40-0 at the Baltimore Stadium.

The Terrors have won and lost three games to date.

Yet their actual playing has been far more impressive than their record would indicate.

They are particularly strong defensively. They lost to Penn State 0-3 on a sofety and to Bucknell 0-3 on a field goal.

POINT FOR B. C.

They played their best game in what turned out to be their most decisive defeat, Harry Sturidreher's Villanova team beating them 20-0.

The Terrors outdid the Wildcats in first downs, 15 to 10, three long runs going for touchdowns and offsetting the splendid defensive line play of the victims.

Western Maryland has pointed for Boston College. Its cripples are back. Man for man the squad is confident of making it two in a row over the Eagles.

Havens has stuck much along the lines of his predecessor, mixing up power and deception as Harlow himself did in the past when he had such players as Bill Shepherd and Jimmy Dunn.

Havens knows football and knows how to coach it.

A year ago he was on hand as Boston College met a great Fordham team at University Heights. The Eagles played inspired football that day and even the hardened New York scribes admitted that the Rams were lucky to pull out with a 7-0 victory.

KNOWS STUFF

Naturally enthusiasm over the Boston team was at fever heat. Havens was driving into town with us after the game.

"Western Maryland will beat Boston College easily" he told us on the way in.

We thought he was talking out of his head.

As subsequent events happened and the Eagles were hammered from pillar to post by the Terrors, we came to realize how much this man Havens knew his Western Maryland. His couting data permitted Harlow to plan a defense which stopped Boston cold.

Havens makes no such statement this year. But he is confident. And favored though the Eagles may be, they must realize they have a very rugged assignment on their hands on Saturday.

JOE PALOOKA

SAY BRENNER, AINT YOU COIN' A BIT HEAVY ON TH' ENTERTAINMENT? THAT'S A TERRIFIC NUT YOU'RE SPENDIN' ON TH' SPORT SCRIBES.
DON'T BE SILLY, WE WANT THE NEWSPAPER GUYS T'FEEL GOOD DON'T WE? WE NEED PUBLICITY!
YEAH—WELL HOW ABOUT THIS BOWL WE'RE BUILDIN'? THE DARN C. THINGALL COST SEVENTY-FIVE G'S.
SO WHAT? WE WON'T EVEN NOTICE THE EXPENSE WHEN WE COUNT THE TAKE AFTER THE FIGHT.
WELL LOOK, EVERYTHING THAT'S DONE THEY COME T'ME TO OKAY, WHAT'S TH' IDEA? WHY ME?
THE IDEA IS TO MAKE YOU LOOK LIKE ANOTHER TEX RICKARD AND BUILD YOU UP. THE RECEIPTS WILL PAY FOR EVERYTHING. WHAT ARE YOU WORRIED ABOUT?
EVERYBODY'S TALKIN' ABOUT THE BIG WAY WE'RE PROMOTIN' THIS ONLY YOU GET THE CREDIT, AND NOT ONLY THAT BUT A PROMOTER'S CUT BESIDES YOUR GUARANTEE.
WELL—UH—MEBBE I WAS WRONG. SAY, DO TH' GANG REALLY COMPARE ME T'RICKARD?
HAM FISHER

Another Tex

A

TRULY "MAGICAL" INVENTION relays "temperature messages" to special electric furnaces—actually predetermining the hardness of Gillette steel. This assures unequaled uniformity of hardness and perfect shaving performance in every Gillette "Blue Blade." Try it and see!

Reputable merchants give you what you ask for. In stores where substitution is practiced—insist on Gillette "Blue Blades."

GILLETTE BLUE BLADES

FLOYD GIBBONS' PAGE OF THRILLS AND MYSTERY

Eighteen-year-old James T. Chfford of 6 Downer court, Dorchester, is a daily reader of the Adventurers' Club column, he tells us, and enjoys the originality of each individual story and that they are true.

James is a graduate of the Mechanic Arts high school and, judging from his sketch herewith, we would say that there is a great deal of strength and sincerity in his work.

Pencil sketches do not reproduce as well as ink, But, but here's hoping this does justice to your efforts. —The Editor.

FLOYD GIBBONS

The Crawling Death

Nick Scarantino Stands and Watches While Doom Comes Creeping Nearer and Nearer

By the FLOYD GIBBONS Adventure Club

HELLO, EVERYBODY:

You know, about the only nightmare I ever had in my life was a dream that a thunder storm was chasing me. Streaks of lightning were shooting from the sky straight down into the ground. Those streaks kept coming nearer and nearer, along a straight line that led right to the spot where I was standing. And I couldn't stir a single step.

It was only a dream, but I remember the terror it instilled in me—and so, maybe I can understand, a little bit better than most people, what Nick Scarantino, of 107 E. 26th st., New York City, must have felt like, when death was roaring his way as inevitably and as inexorably as those streaks of lightning that came toward me in that nightmare.

It happened in the Spring of 1928, down in Pittston, Pa. Nick was a youngster then, still going to High School, and, in his spare time, trying to help out the family. Nick's family needed all the help it could get just about that time. Nick's dad was a coal miner, and the miners were out on strike. Money had just about run out in the Scarantino family. They were right smack up against the well-known verge of starvation.

Starvation was bad enough, but one day the family found itself without coal. It would have been a swell bit of irony for people to freeze, right in the heart of the coal country, but Nick wasn't going to let things go that far just for the sake of irony. Not far from his home was an abandoned coal mine, and Nick determined to go there and dig enough of those black diamonds to keep his people warm through the shag end of the Winter.

Nick didn't tell his dad what he was going to do. He had often heard Dad say that it was very dangerous work in an abandoned mine, and he was afraid that if he said anything, Dad would forbid him to go. So he and his fifteen-year-old brother sneaked off on the quiet, taking along the necessary tools, some empty bags, and a wheelbarrow.

Trundling their wheelbarrow, the two boys went down into the mine. The first chamber had been pretty well worked out so they passed on into the second. There they blasted out a sizable heap of coal and began loading it into bags. Then, suddenly Nick began to feel a curious, stinging sensation on his face and hands.

Nick had been brought up among miners—had listened to their tales and stories all his life. He knew in an instant that the stinging was caused by flying particles of coal, and that flying coal particles was a signal that a cave-in was coming. He knew, too, that the cave-in would occur in the front end of the chamber—the opposite end from where he and his brother were standing—and that the best thing to do was to stay right where he was, and take a chance that the avalanche of coal would not spread all the way to the rear.

"My first act," says Nick, "was to get a good grip on my brother's arm. I was afraid he might become panic stricken, try to get out, and get caught in the slide. I had just begun to explain the situation to him when my voice was drowned by the roar of falling coal. The roar lasted about two minutes, and ceased abruptly."

Yes—the roar stopped. But only for a moment. Nick knew from old miners' stories that it was only the first cave-in of a whole series—a series that would work its way down to his end of the chamber.

"For a quarter of an hour after that," Nick says, "we stood motionless and terrified, staring at the huge piles of coal that covered the floor at the far end of the chamber. My brother wanted to take a chance and rush out before another cave-in came, but I remembered the classic story of Bill Hooper who stood still in a similar situation and Jed Powers who made a dash and was killed, and told my brother he would have to stay where he was. Soon we heard creaking sounds, and then another avalanche of coal fell on a section of the floor nearer to us. After that came another long wait."

That next wait seemed like the longest ten years of Nick's life, but he says it probably was not more than twenty minutes. The third crash was closer than the second. Half the chamber was now filled with fallen coal. And a few seconds later a fourth load of coal fell from the roof of the chamber, only fifteen or twenty feet away from where Nick was standing.

"I made up my mind then," Nick says, "that if another crash occurred in the regular order of the last four, it would mean that the walls and ceiling over us would be the next to go. Accordingly, I decided that right after the next cave-in we would make a dash for the heaps of fallen coal and crawl as quickly as we could over what I considered to be the danger zone. I told my brother my decision, and with white face and clenched teeth, he nodded his agreement. Thus we stood and waited.

"About this time, my state of mind was undergoing a change. We were no longer standing like cattle, waiting for the slaughter, but ready, like men, to do something to save our own lives. The terrible fear in my breast was disappearing when, suddenly, my brother grasped my arm, saying, 'Nick—my neck! It doesn't sting any more.' Then, for the first time, I realized that the specks of coal had stopped flying. The pressure on the walls and ceiling had been relieved, and there would be no more cave-ins. We lost no time crawling out to the highway—and safety."

Well sir, Nick Scarantino can write the letters D. A. after his name now. That stands for "Distinguished Adventurer," and Nick certainly is one. Come on now, you boys and girls. Send in those yarns of yours and have a try at being Distinguished Adventurers yourselves.

And now I'm going to dig up tomorrow's yarn,—it's "Monster of the Sea."

Floyd Gibbons, famous war correspondent, author and adventurer, wants YOU to collaborate with him in writing the story of YOUR most thrilling moment. Floyd believes that everyone has had at least one hair-raising adventure. He is bringing the adventurers of Boston together in a city-wide Adventurers' Club, and he wants YOU to become a member. You can join simply by sending your adventure story in to Floyd. And the only membership fee is the $10 that Floyd pays YOU for every story he prints in his column. YOU can win prizes for your story, too. For details, see next column.

HOW TO WIN $100.00

And Membership in The Floyd Gibbons Adventurers' Club

Earn $10 just by writing a letter. Win $100 for that same letter. Everyone is eligible, and the only rule is this: YOUR STORY MUST BE TRUE. Just write down the facts of your most thrilling adventure and mail them to Floyd Gibbons, care of the Boston Evening American. Don't worry about how well you can write. Floyd will whip your story into shape if necessary. He will pay $10 for each story printed and an extra $100 for the best yarn of the month. Keep a copy of your story. NO STORY CAN BE RETURNED. And do not send valuable pictures or souvenirs. Send the Facts.

SECRET AGENT X-9 — A Baited Trap

MARKHAM WAS RECEIVED A TELEPHONE CALL
MY MOTHER HAS BEEN TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL AT TRENVILLE --I'M AFRAID IT'S SERIOUS OR THE DOCTOR WOULDN'T HAVE SENT FOR ME
IF YOU MUST GO, I CAN'T STOP YOU---YOU OUGHT TO BE SAFE IN TRENVILLE SO LONG AS NO ONE KNOWS YOU'RE GOING THERE---
MM--- TOO BAD
YOU OUGHT TO BE ALL RIGHT NOW--I MUST GET BACK AND LOOK AFTER DENTON
WE'LL CALL UP AS SOON AS WE GET TO THE HOSPITAL---THANKS FOR ESCORTING US THUS FAR--- A FEW MILES FARTHER ON THE MARKHAMS OUGHT TO BE ALONG ANY MINUTE NOW--- THEY OUGHTA BEEN HERE A HALF HOUR AGO---
MEBBE THEY HADDA FLAT TIRE ER SOMETHIN'

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK — Lemon Aid

(Follow Red Barry in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

YOU'LL HAVE TO WRITE THIS NOTE OVER! NOBODY CAN READ THIS SCRIBBLING—
Y-YESSIR-- I-I GUESS IT'S BECAUSE I W-WAS SO N-NERVOUS, S-SIR--
WE'VE GOT TO GET LIEUT MARTIN AWAY FROM THE STOCKADE, BEFORE WE ATTEMPT TO DELIVER THE MESSAGE TO MONA, RONNIE
THAT'LL BE EASY, HAKIN, I'LL BRIBE ONE OF CHIEF ASABA'S WARRIORS TO—TIM REWRITES THE NOTE -THEN TURNS THE PAPER AND SCRATCHES A FEW INVISIBLE WORDS WITH LEMON JUICE!
LATER
SPEED, WHERE ARE YOU GOING?
A MOLOKOO WARRIOR JUST BROUGHT ME NEWS THAT HIS CHIEF, ASABA, HAS BEEN INJURED! I'LL RETURN BY SUNDOWN, MONA DEAR—

RED BARRY — The Ace of Spaces

(Follow Red Barry in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

THE MONK PROCEEDS WITH HIS PLAN TO ANNOY SCOTTY--
...AND FOR A SLIGHT TOUCH OF IRONY, I WANT YOU TO PICK YOUR VICTIM RIGHT OUT OF PETER PRUNTY'S HAVEN FOR DERELICTS... THOSE ARE YOUR ORDERS!!
ORDERS RECEIVED AND SHALL BE CARRIED OUT!!
THE MONK'S TRUSTED LIEUTENANT SCOUTS PRUNTY'S MISSION FOR HIS INTENDED VICTIM--
Come ye who are needy
COME YE WHO ARE NEEDY, EH--I OUGHTA BE ABLE TO FIND A PAL GUY OUT OF THAT MOB!!
Peter Prunty

MANDRAKE, THE MAGICIAN — Welcome Warmth

AT A WAVE OF MANDRAKE'S HAND, THE UNKNOWN GIRL IS SUDDENLY CLAD IN A HEAVY ROBE.
I--I--SUPPOSE YOU THINK I'M INSANE, RUNNING AT YOU LIKE THAT--AND--
NOT AT ALL. NOW YOU SIT DOWN AND TELL US ALL ABOUT IT.
DON'T BE AFRAID TO TELL US. WHAT DID YOU THINK WAS FOLLOWING YOU?
I--I--LIVE IN THAT HOUSE BACK THERE. YOU'LL--THINK--I--I'M NO-FOOLISH, B-BUT BEFORE YOU GO ANY FURTHER, I THINK YOU'LL NEED A LITTLE FIRE SO YOU CAN WARM UP TO THE SUBJECT.
AT A GESTURE OF MANDRAKE, A FIRE SUDDENLY APPEARS BEFORE THE SHIVERING GIRL. . .

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY — Snowbound

(Follow Little Annie Rooney in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

DON'T STAND THERE LIKE A STUPID NINNY, TELLING ME YOU CAN'T FIND THAT LITTLE BRAT YOU MUST FIND HER!
I TELL YOU, WE'VE HUNTED HIGH AND LOW, AND THERE'S NO TRACE OF THE KID AND THE OLD LADY. IT'S TOUGH GOING, SINCE THE BLIZZARD EVERY ROAD IS BLOCKED WITH SNOW
SO MUCH THE BETTER, THAT OLD JUNK HEAP THEY WERE TRAVELING IN COULDN'T STIR A WHEEL IN THIS WEATHER. THEY'RE HIDING SOME PLACE NEAR HERE.
THERE YOU ARE, ANNIE. THERE'S A HILL ACROSS THE CREEK THAT WAS JUST MADE FOR SLIDING DOWN. I SPENT ALL MY TIME, THERE, WHEN I WAS YOUR AGE.
GEE!

THE LITTLE WOMAN — His "Silent" Partner

HE BROKE THE NEWS GENTLY — IF THERE'S ANYTHING GENTLE IN LOSING YOUR JOB! BUT THE LITTLE WOMAN CAN TAKE IT ON THE CHIN AND STAY ON HER PINS —
YEH- HE FIRED ME AGAIN! HE GAVE ME THE BRONX CHEERIO; THE AIR AND TA' BIRD, ALL IN ONE - I MADE AN AWFUL SAP OF MYSELF, TELLIN' HIM HIS GLUE WAS DANGEROUS FOR FOLKS TO HANDLE - I'M A FLOP!!
WHO CARES? YOU'D NEVER GET ALONG WITH THAT OLD GROUCH, ANYWAY - I'D RATHER SEE YOU IN A BUSINESS OF YOUR OWN!
-AND I'D LIKE TO BE IN A BUSINESS OF MY OWN - BUT MY STOCK OF IDEAS IS EXHAUSTED!
WELL - WHY NOT GO BACK TO YOUR OFFICE AND ANSWER THE ADVERTISEMENTS? THAT'S HOW YOU LANDED THE JOB OF COMBINING THE GLUE COMPANIES!
AND LANDED ON MY EAR!
ANYHOW - I'LL TRY IT!!!

THIMBLE THEATRE, Starring POPEYE

BRINGING UP FATHER

(Follow Jiggs and Maggie in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

Easy Employment

BY GOLLY-THERE ISN'T ENOUGH WORK AROUND HERE TO KEEP ME AWAKE-I'M GOIN' TO FIND OUT WHAT ALL THESE PEOPLE DO AROUND THIS STUDIO-
HEY- YOU-WAKE UP-HOW LONG HAVE YOU BEEN EMPLOYED HERE?
WHO ME? OH-I'VE BEEN NOW WORKING HERE FOR FOUR YEARS-
WELL-WHAT ARE YOU SUPPOSED TO DO?
I REALLY DON'T KNOW-I'VE TRIED TO FIND OUT, BUT NO ONE IS ABLE TO TELL ME-

HENRY

(Follow Henry in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

The Right Time

JUST KIDS

The Queen Bee

MY SON! FATHER!
FATHER-THIS IS MILSH STEBBINS IN WHOSE HOME I'VE BEEN STAYING-HE'S A VERY FINE FELLOW!
I'M SURE HE IS A VERY FINE LITTLE GENTLEMAN!
I'M VERY GLAD TO MEETCHA YOUR HONOR!
MR. STEBBINS-I DON'T KNOW HOW TO REPAY YOUR KINDNESS-AND MRS. STEBBINS, YOU ARE EVERY BIT AS CHARMING AS MY SON DESCRIBED YOU!
IMAGINE-'TIS ENTERTAINING ROYALTY, JOHN! IT'S JUST LIKE BEING PRESENTED AT COURT!
IT'S BETTER, BECAUSE I'M SURE NO ONE'S EVER BEEN PRESENTED AT COURT AS SWEET AS YOU!!
OH-GO 'LONG WITH YOUR BLARNEY!

POLLY AND HER PALS

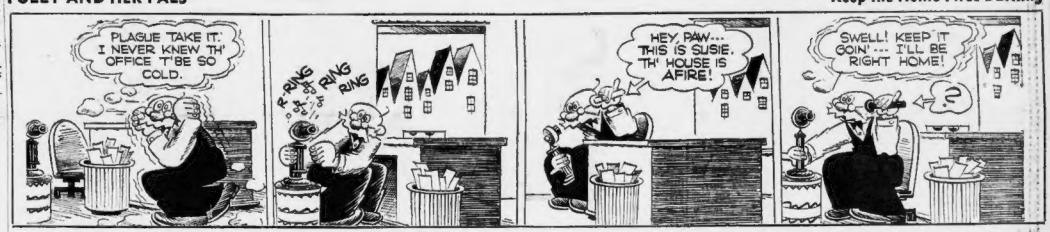
Keep the Home Fires Burning



PLAGUE TAKE IT. I NEVER KNEW TH' OFFICE T'BE SO COLD.
RING RING RING
HEY, PAW... THIS IS SUSIE. TH' HOUSE IS AFIRE!
SWELL! KEEP IT GOIN'--- I'LL BE RIGHT HOME!

SKIPPY

(Follow Skippy in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

Free Air

WHERE ARE YA GOIN' WITH THAT?
OVER TO HECKY'S.
ONE OF HIS BICYCLE TIRES NEEDS AIR.
Percy L. Crosby, Great Britain rights reserved.

LITTLE JIMMY

Old Indian Isn't Telling

THE OLE INDIAN IS BRINGIN BACK THE PROSPECTOR'S HAT
"ASK HIM WHERE HE GETS HIS GOLD"
"HOSH-INCUH TOKUM-JAY NESITO-HAY NEEZIE-HO"
"WHAT DID HE SAY?"
"HE SAYS HE THINKS IT A VERY NICE DAY IF WE DON'T HAVE RAIN"
© 1935, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

BLONDIE

(Follow Blondie in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

In Self-Defense

WE DROPPED IN TO TELL YOU IT WASN'T DAGWOOD'S FAULT HE GOT IN AT MIDNIGHT THE OTHER NIGHT..WE TRICKED HIM!
WE SET THE CLOCK BACK TWO HOURS ...HE REALLY THOUGHT IT WAS JUST TEN O'CLOCK WHEN HE LEFT US!
DAGWOOD!
OH, THE POOR DARLING... I'VE BEEN SO MEAN TO HIM EVER SINCE!
DON'T RUN, DEAR, I JUST WANT TO GIVE YOU A NICE, BIG KISS!
ARE YOU SURE?

Join X-9ers; Get Your Badge

Become a member of the X-9 Club. Write your name, street number, city or town on plain paper and enclose five cents to pay for handling of badge and membership card.

By return mail you will receive your card and a new shiny badge.

Mail your application to SECRET AGENT X-9, BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, Post Office Box 1086.

Cross-Word Puzzle

By Eugene Sheffer

HORIZONTAL

1—Blames
8—Harmed
15—Amorphous substance
16—Abstract
17—Independence
18—Relating to stars
19—Malay-Negrito savage
20—Chemical suffix
21—Letter
22—African antelope
23—Foundation
25—Title
27—Group of three
29—Legal claim
30—Carry
32—Poker stake
33—Village of Palestine
35—Printer's measure
36—Attached a label to
38—Ventilate
40—Butt
41—Substance used to join bricks
45—Pronoun
46—Waste-allowances
51—Salt inland sea
52—Store
54—Biblical name
55—Ripples
57—Be indebted to
58—Narrow woven fillets
59—Mountain in Asia Minor
60—Hostility
62—Beverage
64—Buddhist pillar
65—Mends temporarily
67—Having made a will
68—Family of spiders
70—Allurer
71—Commanders
72—Those who scrape

VERTICAL

1—Courteous
2—Fixed
3—Wrinkled
4—Suffix
5—Borders of a surface
6—English collegiate town
7—Period of six months
8—Abandon
9—Sacred Egyptian bull
10—Middle
11—Consumed
12—Eating greedily
13—Arise
14—Imposed upon
24—Daughter of Cadmus
26—Electrified particle
28—Tatter
31—Greek letter
34—Hurried
37—Territorial division of Norway
39—Possessive pronoun
40—One who iterates
41—Chief
42—Learned
43—Genus of herbs
44—Length measure
45—In what manner
47—Inlet
48—Put into position
49—Entertainer
50—Daughters of same parents
53—Quadrupeds
56—Native of Sweden
58—Tries
61—Sandarac tree.
63—River in Siberia
66—Young goat
68—Tilt

YESTERDAY'S ANSWERS

| | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| E | S | T | E | | R | E | D | | B | E | T | T | A | |
| R | O | A | R | | A | V | E | R | | A | N | T | I | E |
| T | A | M | | T | A | N | K | | | I | | I | | N |
| | | | I | E | N | O | S | | O | H | | | | |
| A | S | P | | D | R | E | A | D | | R | A | M | | |
| M | A | L | A | Y | | S | T | Y | L | I | T | E | | |
| A | L | A | R | M | S | | A | S | I | T | I | A | | |
| T | A | C | T | I | O | N | | S | P | E | L | L | | |
| I | D | E | | O | L | I | V | E | | S | T | Y | | |
| | | E | N | | N | O | U | S | | I | | C | | |
| A | B | E | T | | E | L | | S | I | T | I | C | | |
| L | A | M | B | | A | T | E | | A | I | D | A | | |
| A | N | S | A | | D | Y | E | | M | E | A | N | | |

FRED ALLEN ON AIR AS LION WITH LADIES

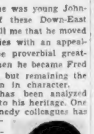
By N. F. T.

Long before broadcasting, Fred Allen always was one with winning ways where the fair sex flourished.



Even when he was young Johnny Sullivan of these Down-East thickets, they tell me that he moved among the ladies with an appealing air and the proverbial greatest of ease. Then he became Fred Allen by name, but remaining the same Don Juan in character.

Which fact has been analyzed and found due to his heritage. One of his loyal comedy colleagues has therefore appropriately written sketch material labelled "Wild Women of the Wilderness" for the "Mighty Alien Art Players" to stage (WEEI) during Fred's funny "Town Hall Tonight" turn between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Said setting promises to shatter the seemingly shy exterior behind which Allen has managed to bashfully create the impression that he is awkward among ladies. Fred's friend figures the comedian should rank second only to Romeo when the history of romance through the ages is written.

Not for a thousand dollars! Word just comes to hand that Clark Gable gets the starring "mike" role (WNAC) when the full hour of "Radio Theatre" dramatics dominate the dial next Monday night. One prominent Broadway actress offered the thousand to be permitted to play opposite the movie idol. Program planners declined, however, since a youthful newcomer to theatricals, named Lillian Emerson, has been selected as the lucky co-star.

Classic and semi-classic gems sung by John Charles Thomas, famed baritone, and played by Frank Tours' orchestra, will be presented (WBZ) in the concert period this evening from 9:00 to 9:30 p. m.

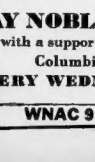
Selections include "Bellee's Fancy" and "Ich Liebe Dich," by Beethoven; an "Ich Liebe Dich" by Grieg; Herbert's "Punchinello," "In the Time of Roses," by Reichhardt; Manna-Zucca's "Nicholas"; "Here's to Romance," from that production, and "My Message" and "Because," by D'Hardelot.

1150—K C WCOP 267.7M
TODAY

Time
12:30 p. m.—King's Chapel Service.
12:45 p. m.—Treasure Box.
1:00 p. m.—Francis Marioranotenor.
1:15 p. m.—Tone Poems
1:30 p. m.—ERA Chorus
2:00 p. m.—The Romance of Photography.
2:15 p. m.—Bert Muller, Modern Pianistic Interpretations.
2:30 p. m.—B. U. College of Music.
2:45 p. m.—Jerry Hambro and her Rhythm.
3:00 p. m.—Radio Orchestral Hall "Peer Gynt Suite."
3:45 p. m.—Flagstaff Professional Women's Club Double Quartet.
4:00 p. m.—Ital Radio, "The Voice of Italy."
4:15 p. m.—Along Dance Avenue.

MARCH OF TIME LISTEN TO-NIGHT
BOSTON TYPEWRITER CO.
Authorized Remington Rdsts.
EST. 1910 Liberty 7411
61 BROMFIELD ST.

TUNE IN TONIGHT
"Refreshment Time"



Coca-Cola
PRESENTS
RAY NOBLE and His Orchestra with a supporting cast of stars
Columbia Network
EVERY WEDNESDAY NIGHT
WNAC 9:30 P. M.

"PRISONER OF THE OGPU"

CHAPTER 43

The next day the whole work post knew that Mosagin had shot Golubetnikov in a fit of jealousy, when the latter took advantage of his standing as an old friend to kiss his wife in front of the others.

Our medical attendant said that the wound was mortal.

It was a ticklish situation. According to penal camp regulations, it was the duty of the local commander to arrest the murderer.

But the local commander was a prisoner and the transgressor a free official of the administration who could not be arrested by a prisoner no matter what his position.

Therefore Mosagin left on his own accord, carrying with him the victim of his unbridled jealousy.

This incident caused but little commotion at the work post. Life went on as usual. But the mercury went down to 30 below.

300 Inmates

It was cold and damp in our barracks in spite of the heat exuded by the bodies of three hundred inmates.

The ordinary prisoners in the camp of the OGPU are not furnished bedding. Those who have their own may use it, but the state supplies only the wooden sleeping-shelves.

The space on the shelves is determined by the number of prisoners to be housed rather than by the needs of each prisoner. Exceptions are rare and are limited to office workers, members of the sanitary corps and those prisoners who have a "pull."

I was cold in spite of the fact that my place on the shelves was next to my constant companion, the fat Kornikov. There was a crevice between the logs near my head through which I could see the stars.

Our shelf adjoined the entrance door, which was constantly opened by groups of prisoners going in and out with the lantern. The lantern was the official pass.

Every time a group left the barracks, a stream of icy-cold air hit me, made me shiver, and increased the pain in my sore legs. I tried to shove my feet under Korolkov, but he pushed them back in his sleep.

All my efforts to stop up the hole in the wall with a handkerchief or with my precious mittens proved futile. My head was thoroughly chilled and I was getting drowsy.

Still after several hours I fell sound asleep.

* * *

At five a. m. the loud signal bell put an end to my dreams and at half past five we were already standing in the yard waiting for our commanders.

Shapovalov gave instructions that the "intelligentsia" was to have an easy assignment for the first day in order to be gradually accustomed to manual labor.

When we came to the forest the foreman appointed the army flyer Simanko to take charge of our group and left us. Simanko distributed the work and started on our task.

I was among the group who had to carry the boards out of the forest, the weaker ones carried them along the road, and the rest, among whom were Professor Yanushevsky, engineer Chernayev, Korolkov and the acting foreman Simanko, stayed in the forest, kept warm around the fire and helped load the boards on our backs.

At three o'clock the work was finished. We were all pretty cold and were hoping, for a good meal. Upon our return to the work post we tried to find our foreman, but did not succeed and went in to the barracks to wait for our dinner.

Back to Forest

Shapovalov came in, saw us sitting around, and got furious. In spite of our explanations he said that we had no right to leave the forest without orders and as a punishment he gave us an additional assignment to bring the unused logs out of the forest and to place them on the road.

Our foreman was found and threatened with confinement to the dungeon. In the meantime, he was to see to it that we completed the additional assignment.

The foreman led us back to the forest, swearing like a trooper. The new work was much more difficult. The snow was deep, the little crooked paths wound their way among the trees and the logs were very heavy.

The largest log was abandoned in the forest as we simply could not move it. We finished our additional assignment at eight o'clock and waited for our foreman. He did not come and we sent one of our old men to fetch him.

The foreman brought us grief instead of joy. The large log had to be brought out and we could not go back until it was done.

Finally we succeeded in heaving it up on our shoulders and carried it forward. The heavy load pressed unmercifully on our shoulders. The foreman walked ahead and yelled at us.

We were within 20 feet of the road when the agriculturist, who was at the head of line, uttered a loud scream and fell down in the snow.

The foreman pounced on us with a torrent of licentious cursing.

"You, weak swine, dare your tra-la-la-la-la," he shouted. "Lift that log or I'll make you stay here all night."

He stepped up to the agriculturist, who was still lying in the snow, and kicked him in the groin. He cursed at him and ordered him to get up. Dull moaning came in reply.

Torrent of Curses

The foreman lowered his lantern to the man's face. It was pale and covered with perspiration. A dark stream of blood trickled down to the snow. Everybody got excited. Some ran to the work post looking for the medical attendant, others improvised a stretcher and carried the moaning agriculturist towards the work post, stepping carefully.

When we brought our load in, Orlov, our medics' attendant, quickly undressed the agriculturist and diagnosed the casualty as a burst intestine. It was a serious case and the loss of blood was considerable.

Until morning he tried to stop the flow of blood. All requests to provide a horse to take the sick man to Ust-Sysolsk met with refusal.

The commander said horses were more urgently needed in the forest and that the medical attendant was talking nonsense.

"He won't die," he stubbornly retorted to all arguments. "No, he'll come through well enough, don't worry. You may carry him there if you like, but I won't give you a horse."

(Continued Tomorrow.)

Police Battle Insect Attack

A swar mof insects, resembling mosquitoes, descended on Milk Street station early today, making policemen decidedly uncomfortable.

Most severely bitten were James McCabe, clerk, and Joseph Dailey, signalman. Another casualty was Lieutenant E. William LeBlanc.

Armed with a half-dozen gunas teed never-to-fail insecticides, the officers are today waging relentless war on the pests.

PORT OF BOSTON MAILS

EUROPEAN MAILS

Closing of Foreign Sections, main post office. Registered mail closes at 7:45 p. m. on S p. m. closings; otherwise at 7:45 p. m. on day before.

S. S. American, Merchant, Thursday, 8 p. m.

S. S. Aquitania, Merchant, Thursday, 8 p. m.

THE TIDES

(From U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey)
Time and heights of tides at Commonwealth Pier, No. 5, South Boston.

| | HIGH WATER | | LOW WATER | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Time | Height | Time | Height |
| | 6:45 a. m. | 9.7 | 0:31 a. m. | 0.2 |
| | 7:10 p. m. | 9.8 | 1:00 p. m. | 0.0 |

WEATHER
(From U. S. Weather Bureau)
Atlantic Coast: Eastport to Sandy Hook: Fresh to strong southwest winds shifting to west, northwest tonight. General weather with light rain tonight. Wednesday generally fair.

FISH ARRIVALS
At Boston Fish Pier.

Haddock
W. J. O'Brien (str.) ..... 25,000 lbs. 15,000
Sea (str.) ..... 45,000 " 12,000
Ryan (str.) ..... 25,000 " 7,000 4,200
Storm (str.) ..... 15,000 " 6,000 2,000
Gertrude M. Fauci ..... 600
Delight ..... 1,200
Additional—Scout: W. J. O'Brien 22,000, Storm 15,000, Fleet 25,000, Sea 14,000, Pelican: G. M. Fauci 75,000, Famiglia 40,000.

Also Arrived: Small shore boats 27 trips, 2000 mixed fish; Rosie C. (str.) Providentia, 3500; Eddie & Lois M., 2200; Ann Frances, 3000; Ida Brothers, Ann Francesca, 3000; Lucy, 2400; Maria Cinderella, 3000; four unidentified boats, 6400.

Wholesalers' prices yesterday: Haddock 4 to 9 cents; cod 7 to 11 cents; large cusk 5 to 7, pollock 4½ to 5½, cusk 5 to 7, halibut 15 to 18, grayasie 13 to 14, flounders 5½ to 6½, fancy mackerel 5½ to 6½, and butterfish 11 to 12 cents per pound.

SHIPPING RECORD
DUE TODAY

This record based on latest possible information; subject to change due to weather conditions.

Arrivals, New York: docks India wharf. Cities Service Oske, Port Arthur, Oct. 26, for Braintree, Hingham.

City of Chattanooga, Savannah, Nov. 2, via New York; docks pier 42, Hoosac-Charlestown.

Cold Harbor, Baltimore and Norfolk, via New York; finish loading for Manchester and Liverpool; New York, Army Base.

Commercial Guide, New Orleans, Oct. 26, for Boston; docks pier 46, Hoosac-Charlestown.

Commercial Oriole, Galveston, Oct. 26, for Boston; docks pier 46, Hoosac-Charlestown.

Dunkirk, Baltimore and Norfolk; docks pier 2, Boston.

Pennsylvanian, San Francisco, etc., via New York and Philadelphia; docks pier 10, Hoosac-Charlestown.

Sagadahoc, Portland, Me., Nov. 6, for Everett.

Suffolk, Newport News, Nov. 5, for Everett.

Mystic wharf (3 miles south of Shannock, noon tomorrow.

Yarmouth, Yarmouth, N. S., Central wharf.

DEPARTURES TODAY

Chemnitz (Ger.), Hamburg, Oct. 19, and Bremen, 20th, via New York; due 10 a. m.

Commercial Orleanian, New Orleans, Oct. 31, via New Bedford; for Hoosac, Charlestown.

Freeman, Newport News, Nov. 5, White Pine Co.

Norfolk, New York; Lewis wharf.

Pan American, New Orleans, Oct. 21; Mobile, 26th; Panama city, via Philadelphia (arrived Nov 2); and New York, Nov 13, Hoosac, Charlestown.

Tallinn (Dutch M.S.), Batavia, etc., via Newport News; due Nov. 20.

Wyoming, Philadelphia; docks pier 2, Boston.

2 Burned in Attleboro

South Attleboro, Nov. 6 (AP)—A father and son were burned today in a fire in their home, which firemen said was caused by the explosion of a stove.

Frank Jarnicka, 60, suffered burns of the chest and arms and his son, Frank, Jr., 35, was less severely burned.

JUNIOR BIRDMEN OF AMERICA

DEVOTED TO THE INTEREST OF THE YOUTH OF THE AMERICAS IN AVIATION

TODAY'S PILOTS OF MODELS —TOMORROW'S MODEL PILOTS!

Thirteen more members officially have entered the 1935 Indoor Model Plane Air Races to be held Saturday, November 30, at South Armory for the Boston wing of the Junior Birdmen when the New England championship will be decided. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to runners-up.

More than 100 boys and girls are now building and test flying their three models, a glider, a stick model and a cabin model, which will be launched on endurance flights on air race day.

Specifications of these models, as well as a list of prizes, rules governing the tournament and other information, are contained in contest manuals which are distributed free to all Junior Birdmen upon request.

Members have been urged to return their entry blanks as soon as possible, after they receive their manuals.

The chief prize will be the title of New England's indoor champion for 1935, a handsome trophy engraved with the name of the winner and a free trip to Chicago to compete in the national contest during Christmas week for the William Randolph Hearst trophy and $400 in cash awards.

There is still time for additional members to make their bid for these prizes. All they need do is send to headquarters for their manuals and contest blanks.

JUNIOR BIRDMEN OF AMERICA

(Membership is open to all boys and girls 10 to 21 years of age, inclusive.)

I wish to join the Junior Birdmen of America. I inclose a ten-cent coin (well wrapped) for my membership materials.

My address .....

My city ..... State .....

My age now is ..... GIVE YOUR CORRECT AGE

Print name .....

Mail to Junior Birdmen of America, Boston Evening American.

UNEVEN SIDEWALK ADJUSTMENT ASKED

By MR. FIXIT

This department has been installed as a public service for Boston Evening American readers. It will endeavor to solve problems and fix troubles dealing with city, state or public utility service. Requests must be specific and brief. No anonymous requests nor matters of a purely private nature can be considered.

Mrs. M. A. F. of Newland street, Boston, writes:

"I would like to call your attention to the condition of the sidewalk and roadway of Newland street between Rutland and Newton streets. The sidewalk is uneven and street is likewise."

"Mr. Fixit" will investigate through the highway department.

"Would it be possible to have traffic lights placed at the corner of Savin Hill avenue and Dorchester avenue? I believe it to be a necessity at such a busy intersection."

The communication is from Mrs. H. C. of Minton street, Dorchester.

Because there are no funds available at present for the erection of traffic signals, the request as such cannot be granted just now. But "Mr. Fixit" will make a survey of the section through the traffic commissioner and see if substitute can be installed that will adjust the trouble.

* * *

Communicants who have had no action on any complaint, request, or suggestion for over four weeks are asked to write again. Most of these cases are still to be worked on. But it is possible that the complaint did not reach "Mr. Fixit."

Best Bets Tonight

8:00 p. m.—WNAC—"Cavalcade of America," dramatized, historical series with Harold Levey's orchestra. "Faith in Education."

8:00 p. m.—WBZ—Ben Bernie and his orchestra, musical program with Phil Duey, Jane Williams, Men About Town, and Clyde Lucas' orchestra.

8:30 p. m.—WBZ—House of Glass, featuring Gertrude Berg, Bill Artzt, and his orchestra.

8:30 p. m.—WNAC—George Burns and Gracie Allen, with Jacques Renard's orchestra. "O Paradiso."

9:00 p. m.—WNAC—Nino Martini in a song recital. Meyerbeer's "O Paradiso" featured.

9:00 p. m.—WBZ—John Charles Thomas sings the newest song of an American composer, Mortin Broones.

9:30 p. m.—WEEI—Fred Allen and Mighty Art Players," give "Wild Women of the Wilderness."

9:30 p. m.—WBZ—20,000 Years in Sing Sing with Warden Lewis E. Lawes. "Scarred" is the drama.

10:00 p. m.—WEEI—Mobilization for Human Needs Program; WBZ—Dr. R. S. Millkan; Canon Stokes; WAAB—Philips Armour; Thomas S. Lamont.

Best Bets Tomorrow

10:30 a. m.—WEEI—Breen and De Rose, harmony duo.

10:45 a. m.—WAAB—Barbara Holmes Rental Service under the auspices of the Boston Evening American.

Slayer of 5 Doomed

Draguignan, France, Nov. 6 (AP) —Joseph Sasso, who killed five shepherds and robbed them of a small sum of money, was condemned to the guillotine today.

FINANCIAL
Money to Loan

THERE'S NO FRIEND LIKE AN OLD FRIEND
When You Need $300 or Less in a Hurry

Loans on your own signature. Easy repayments.
Phone LIBERTY 7242
INDUSTRIAL BANKERS, Inc.
CAMBRIDGE
852 Mass. Ave. Kirk. 2200
Cor. Post St. Central Sq. License 7-2
SOMERVILLE
130 Dover St. Som. 3836
2nd Floor, Parks Sewe Bldg. License 33

BOSTON 73 Tremont St. Lst. 3337
2nd Floor, Tremont Bldg. License 27
BOSTON 369 Harrison Ave. Hub. 0085
2nd Floor, Coolidge Cor. Bldg. License 160
CHELSEA 117 Broadway Chel. 1000
2nd Floor, Broadway Bldg. License 1295
DORCHESTER 765 Dorchester St. Bra. 0100
2nd Floor, Dotson Corner License 736
EVERETT 471 Broadway Eve. 2140
2nd Floor, Gilchrist Bldg. Mat. 1077
MALDEN 110 Pleasant st. Mal. 3472
2nd Floor, Batary Bldg. License 1107
MEDFORD 25 High St. Mfd. 1036
2nd Floor, Flint Nat. Bk. Bldg. License 1276
QUINCY 313 Washington St. Fed. 0300
2nd Floor, Quincy Trust Bldg. License 1294
ROXBURY 1402 Hamond St. Rox. 0210
2nd Floor, Grenfell Trust Bldg. License 136
SOMERVILLE 765 Sixth St. Som. 1000
2nd Floor, Sullivan Bldg. License 1294
WALTHAM 371 Main St. Wal. 1080
2nd Floor, Bacon 104 License 135
WOBURN 322 Main St. Wob. 1430
2nd Fl., Tanner Nat. Bk. Bldg. License 205
*Open Friday evenings till 8 P. M.

INDUSTRIAL BANKERS, Inc.

AUTO LOANS
A dignified loan service to people of good character
Convenient Half-Day Service
BOSTON ACCEPTANCE COMPANY, INC.
Small Loan Dept. License 31
515 Statler Bld. Hancock 1000-7-8

Salaried People!
both married and single
Can Borrow up to $300
AS LONG AS 20 MONTHS TO REPAY
6 Loan Plans—Quick Service
Come In — Write — or Phone
NEW ENGLAND EQUITY CORPORATION
453 Washington St., 3rd Fl., Rm. 303
Phone LIBerty 1534 License 53

MONEY for FALL and WINTER
OUR LOAN PLAN ALWAYS HELPS
WITHOUT ENDORSERS—LOANS TO $300
SMALL AMOUNTS USUALLY LOANED ON BORROWER'S SIGNATURE ONLY
Ideal Financing Ass'n, Inc.
53 Washington St., Rm. 408-11. Lic. 83
Phone for Information HUB. 4753

PROMPT LOANS COURTEOUS
Bankers Finance Corp., 18 Tremont St., 1st. Q'ty

LOANS $ AUTO, FURNITURE, LOW RATES, BORROWER'S SIGNATURE ONLY
C. A. STAPLES, 202 Wash. St. Rm. 804. Lic. 5816

FINANCIAL
Money to Loan

DID YOU KNOW YOUR CREDIT IS GOOD FOR $300
at this time to enable you to buy
WINTER NECESSITIES
and that the cost of service, including interest, is often less than the cash saving on purchases?
BUY NOW!
Call, write or 'phone most convenient office
24 SCHOOL STREET - BOSTON
Room 301 Lafayette 0036
689 MASS. AVE. - CAMBRIDGE
Room 318 Trowbridge 3715
1 SALEM STREET - MALDEN
Room 4. 2nd Nat'l Bank Bldg. Malden 0685
License 62-117-177 Respectively
NATIONAL LOAN SOCIETY

AT YOUR SERVICE
Let the Pilgrim Help You
We take pleasure in helping you with your financial problems. Loans of $50 to $300. To suit your needs.
Loans made within one day. Call, phone or write.
PILGRIM PLAN
24 SCHOOL ST. CAPITOL 724-5
Rm. 205 5th FLOOR LICENSE 35

LOANS
ON YOUR OWN SIGNATURE
No single persons, married couples and co-makers necessary.
QUICK 6 HOUR SERVICE
Call, write or phone LIB. 7338
GLOBE FINANCE CORP.
431 Park Sq. Bldg. License 115

Auto Truck Loans
AMERICAN FINANCE CORPORATION, LICENSE 23
Room 217, York Square Bldg., HUB. 3333

LOANS on SALARIES, Business, Autos Furniture, Pianos
License 238
CELTRON FINANCE CORP.
333 Washington St., Boston. HUB. 2253

WE SPECIALIZE IN END MORTGAGE
LOANS TO HOME OWNERS
Very Small Requirements. Hub. Finance Co. 600 Washington St. Liberty 8110

LOANS $ AUTOS & TRUCKS, TRUMBULL FINANCE CO., 89 STATE ST., RM. 91.

LOANS FURNITURE, CO-MAKERS, M.-A.-N. PLAN. LICENSED
333 Washington St. LIB. 5067, Room 1012

LOANS $ on furniture with 20 months to pay. BORROWER'S SIGNATURE ONLY. Licensed No. 2. 309 Washington St., Boston.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

3 Bids and Proposals

PROPOSALS

Department of Education, Mass. State Project E-31, F. W. A. Project 300-F-1-Mass.

Separate sealed proposals for (A) Construction of Classroom Building; (B) Heating and Ventilating, (C) Plumbing, (D) Electrical Work, at the State Teachers College, Framingham, Mass., prepared on the prescribed form and in accordance with instructions therein will be received at the Department of Education, Room 206, State House, Boston, Mass., until 2 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, November 20, 1935, and at that time and place publicly opened and read.

Plans, specifications, and other contract documents may be seen at the office of the State House, Boston, upon the deposit of $250 for Proposal A, $150 for Proposal B, $150 for Proposal C, and $100 for Proposal D. This amount is to be included in the bid and all checks but that of the successful bidder will be returned. Such proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for the sum of $5,000 for Proposal A, $1,000 for Proposal B, $1,000 for Proposal C, and $1,000 for Proposal D, made payable to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. All checks except those of the three lowest bidders will be returned within seven (7) days after the awarding of the contract.

The proposed work is financed and constructed under the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1935, and Chapter 365, Massachusetts Acts of 1935, as amended, and attention is called to the "Construction Regulations" prescribed by the F. W. A.

Attention is called to the fact that a schedule of minimum wage rates, as established for the project by the Commission of Labor and Industries under the provisions of Chapter 481 of the Acts of 1935, is annexed to the contract documents.

The office of the United States Employment Service designated by the Commonwealth for this project is Municipal Building, Framingham.

The right is reserved by the Commonwealth to reject any or all bids or to accept any bid which it deems most advantageous, subject to the approval of the State Director, F. W. A. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

A surety bond by an approved surety company satisfactory to the State Director, F. W. A., and in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price will be required from the successful bidder.

PATSON SMITH,
Commissioner of Education.
nov 6 3t

Legal

I WILL NOT be responsible for any bills contracted by my wife, Alice, who has left my bed and board. REGINALD HARRIS, 20 New Hampshire Avenue, Somerville. Philadelphia papers please copy.

Musical Instruction

PIANO lessons, experienced man teacher, pupil's home, $; reasonable. Parker 3855.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

1 Legal

NOTICE—United States of America, District of Massachusetts, Boston, Nov. 1, 1935.—Pursuant to Rules of Practice in District Court of the United States, for the District of Massachusetts, notice is hereby given that GEORGIE W. GOLD, of Boston, in said district, has applied for admission as an Attorney and Counsellor of said District Court.

JAMES R. ALLEN, Clerk.
By Edith G. Bolton, Deputy Clerk.
nov 6 3t

NOTICE—United States of America, District of Massachusetts, Boston, October 31, 1935.—Pursuant to Rules of Practice in District Court of the United States, for the District of Massachusetts, notice is hereby given that G. RICHARD HART, of Cambridge, in said district, has applied for admission as an Attorney and Counsellor of such District Court.

JAMES R. ALLEN, Clerk.
By Helen I. Tweedy, Deputy Clerk.
nov 6 3t

MODERNIZE, RE-PAINT, REPAIR YOUR HOME NOW!

WELDING & ENGINEERING CO. of BOSTON, 29 BORDER, FAUL FRIEDRICO, Prop.

Samuel Kravitz, Est. 15 yrs. Painting Decorating. 10 Bowdoin Sq. Boston. Cap. 4754.

HEATING SYSTEMS, $120.00. Low Supply Co. LIBerty 3824.

FEDERAL STEAM & GAS SUPPLY CO., 55 Purchase St. Boston. HUB. 2100.

RENOVATING SERVICE—GORDON & CO. MALDEN 2094.

VAPPI and MACDONALD—Masons, Contractors—240 Sidney St., Cambridge.

BURKE OIL BURNER SERVICE Co. 108 Medford St. Mystic 4720.

TENETIAN BLIND STUDIO—Hemstitching Cloths. Free Estimates. Call Hancock 3187.

Cleaning, Refinishing and Restoring Color of window shades. Call High. 3824.

Hot Water or Steam Heat Installed. Prices reasonable, time payments. Dor. 0899.

BARBARA HOLMES

BROADCASTS RENTAL NEWS EVERY THURSDAY AT 10:45 A. M.

10:45 A. M., WAAB

Barbara Holmes of the American-Advertiser-Hub-Sphere Chain Free Rental Bureau.

Guest Speaker on Barbara Holmes Program

Mrs. Frank Goddard, president of the Boston Homeseekers Club, will be guest speaker on the Barbara Holmes weekly broadcast, tomorrow at 10:45 a. m. Mrs. Goddard adds to the long list of prominent people in the real estate field and in many social and civic activities who have spoken during this program on timely and interesting topics. Other prospective radio real estate men, who desire to share in this program, are requested to write to call Mr. Ralph J. Meyers, at 15 Derby street.

THE FREE RENTAL BUREAU IS A COMPLETE RENTAL SERVICE CO-OPERATING WITH MANAGERS, REAL ESTATE MEN, OWNERS and OPERATORS

PICTORIAL RENTAL BOARD IS ADDED SERVICE FOR RENTERS AND RENTORS LOCATED AT R. H. WHITE'S FOURTH FLOOR, THE FREE RENTAL BUREAU

To order an ad telephone Liberty 4000.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

7 Deaths

BATTLES—In Hyde Park, Nov. 4, Della M., beloved wife of John Battles. Funeral from her late residence, 7 Fairmount st, Thursday, Nov. 7, at 8.30 A. M. High mass of requiem at Sacred Heart Church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.

LAVIN—In Allston, by accident, Nov. 4, John Francis, son of the late John J. and Mary Keane Lavin. Funeral from his late home, 50 Easton st., Thursday at 8 o'clock. Requiem high mass at St. Anthony's Church at 9. Relatives and friends invited.

LEARY—In Great Neighte, East Boston, Nov. 4, John, beloved husband of the late Anna Leary, son of Margaret Funeral from his late residence, 7 Thurston st., Thursday at 8.15 A. M. High mass of requiem at St. Joseph's Church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited to attend.

McBRIDE—In Charlestown, Nov. 4, Catherine (nee Mahony), beloved wife of the late Daniel McBride. Funeral from her late home, 15 Trenton st., Thursday, at 8.30. Solemn high mass at St. Francis de Sales' Church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends kindly invited.

In Loving Memory of

David H. Posner

1934-1935

MRS. DAVID H. POSNER.

10 Funeral Directors

WATERMAN & SONS SINCE 1870 FUNERAL SERVICE

Local and Suburban

Graham Funeral Service
3770 WASHINGTON ST.
Special Funeral $125 Non Sectarian
Special Funeral Metal Casket, $316
Service Available anywhere in N. E.
JOSEPH J. KELLEY
Successor to J. J. Kelley & Son
334 BROADWAY, CAMBRIDGE, MASS.
24 hour service. TRO. 6378 or DET. 3563

DOHERTY, Joe, Funeral Director, 1 Church st., Charlestown. Chas. 4949.

Kelly Jos. D., Funeral Service, 1 Monument St., Charlestown. Chas. 4949.

11 Granite

Sullivan-Westerly Granite
USED FOR THE FINEST MEMORIALS SINCE 1837
Sullivan Granite Co., Westerly, R. I.

11A Monuments

10% SAVING Rome, Vt., Stamp $139 or Westerly Granite $147 Set with Bronze Panel as specified in R. I. Write for designs and prices

CRAIG 4-0 Line

THEO. J. CRAIG
1154 Tremont St., Boston
Mass. Granite 1607-R.

MONUMENTS—Send for free catalog, Memorial Granite Co., Box 440, Quincy, Mass.

15 Lost and Found

WCOP

All Lost and Found Ads Appearing in This Paper Are Broadcast Daily at 10:55 A. M. Over WCOP

(for information) Call Miss James 2242 Wash. St., Roslin

K—267.1M

Found on Sunday, near Dutchland Cafe, Revere, Beach, Thom. Parrington, glasses containing small sum of money. Owner may have it by calling at this advertisement. Tel. Kirkland 7249.

Found Boston Terrier, brindle, female, Miss James, Liberty 4600.

Found Collie, Police, Apply to Commonwealth Hospital for Animals, 26 Cummington st. Boston. Kenmore 6800.

LOST—Lady's Waltham wrist watch bet. Winter st., Scollay Square and Dudley Sta. 3-5:30. Mrs. Minns, E. Boston 1400. Rew.

LOST—Scotch puppy, female, brindle; Nov. 2, Newton Center. Rew. Call Jerron 2553-M.

LOST—Gold watch, knife and chain, between Parker House and Copley Plaza, Nov. 4. Call Boston, Hub. 0200.

LOST—Cambridge, male German police pup, singe limp, "Prince." Rew. Town, Cambridge.

AUTO ROBE—Lost, plaid, brown, green; Oct. 26, Harvard Law Rev. Rew. Kenmore 6800.

LOST—Small black female Cocker spaniel named "Gypsy." Reward. Belmont 0501.

18 Special Notices

TOPCOATS, SUITS OVERCOATS
$9.95 $12.95 $14.95 $16.95
UNITED CLOTHIERS, INC.
103 WASHINGTON ST. OPEN EVE.

19 Beauty Aids

Latest Croquignole Wave

Self setting, beautiful elastic curl. All the curls the latest fashion requires. Shampoo and Cleansing by our own Instantly Expert operators only. Open daily and Sunday—No appointment necessary.

$3.50

STUDLEY BEAUTY PARLOR
328 Tremont St. Ba. 9053.

FREDERICK Permanent Wave $5
Individual Service
Suite 3, 9 Winter St., 8th. 612. Lib. 3460. Open Sat.

HAIR Removed forever by Multiple Electric NEEDLES; cure guaranteed; physician's refs.; limit one. 10-16
MILLER, 90 Edmed St., Dorchester, Cbl. 6869.

MARCELLING Finger waves dried, 75c; wave, 75c. Permanent, $2.50 up, complete. Annette, 8 Winter St., Rm. 910. Dev. 7250.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

21 Professional Service

Adelia M. W. Wilcox, making magnetic treatments. 45 Kingsly Rd. Ken. 5343.

24 Dancing

Boston's Foremost Ballroom Dancing School
15 Private Lessons $5
Uptown School Dancing
330 Mass. Ave., at Hunt.
Private lessons any time. Studio hours 10 A. M. to 12 P. M. Class hours Evening Nightly with Orchestra

DON'T WASTE TIME AND MONEY
BALLROOM LESSONS 4 Terms!
"My REPUTATION is Your PROTECTION"
PROF. RITTER 197 Tremont St. DEVonshire 7330

BALLROOM 7th, 8.30 to 12 TAP
Classes in Ballroom Dancing taught at any time
PAPARONE STUDIO
Copley Sq. ESTABLISHED 1916
1078 Boylston St. near Mass. Ave. Tel. Com. 8073

COPLEY SCHOOL OF MODERN DANCING
177 Newt. Ave., at Berkeley St. 12 Private $5
(Abroad Hotel.) Tel. Copley 7344. 10 Class Lessons

MABEL G. HALL 234 HUNT. AVE. CIRCLE 0481
$1 2 STRICTLY PRIVATE LESSONS
BALLROOM, STAGE, Classes Every
Learn at Lerner's Dance Studios
Ballroom, Tap, Limit Private $1 A to 11 P. M.
Class Lessons Every Evening Included
175 Mass. Ave., cor. Forest. Tel. Back Bay 9191

3 PRIVATE LESSONS. 60c Thirty Hours, $1
3 330Mass. Ave. at Newt. Tel. Circle 9566.
Spanish Classes Every Evening Included.

Boston School, Cor. 6B½ 4 Private $1
1078 Boylston St. Class Lessons

WM. H. O'BRIEN 240 Newt. Ave., Cor. 6328
Private, Class & Reception

16 Private Lessons, 295 Hunt. Ken. 4896 $5
SILVER DANCE STUDIOS

18 Private Lessons, 335 Mass. Cor. 3248 $5
SYMPHONY DANCE STUDIO

1 PRI. LESSON—Learn the art of DANCING $1
1 1098 BOYLSTON ST., near Mass. Ken. 0328

26 Where to Dine

GOOD FOOD 31 LAF. 8023.
6 Course Business Men's Lunch Carnation Restaurant, 31 Temple Place, Boston. 40c

34 Travel Opportunities

FLORIDA passengers wanted for east or west coast or Miami. Packard limousine. Com. 8630.

41 Medical

SEND FOR THIS
FREE BOOKLET!
20 Pages, fully explaining in simple language this NEW treatment—which quickly removes—
FISTULA Piles Pilonidal Etc.
Cut out this ad and mail with name and address to
THE DOVER STREET CLINIC
15 Dover St., Boston A-11-8

EMPLOYMENT

63 Positions Wanted by Men

Young man employed days would like job evenings with excitement for more excitement, rather than pay. Box D-163 American.

Young man wishes work; printer, elevator operator, chauffeur, factory help. Dev. 3018-M.

64 Employment for Agents and Canvassers

$5,000 XMAS CARDS! $1 BOXES FOR 35c. Other items less than half price. Mailed on approval. TRADING POST, 30 Cross st., Medford, Mass. Myrtle 5345.

REAL ESTATE MARKET

75 Houses for Sale

Little Farm on meadow road. Good 2 Acres room, town water, electricity, stone foundation, basement, garage, chicken land. Beautiful trees, handy to everything. Terms. CENter ham 3743.

3 FAMILY HOUSE, $3000
Somerville-Cambridge line, 5 rooms each floor. Low cash payment to mechanic with small payments.
GEORGE A. GILES & SON
689 Mass. Ave. Kirkland 2566

3 FAMILY HOUSE $2000
Dana Hill Section. House needs repairs and can be had for much less than cost.
GEORGE A. GILES AND SON
689 MASS AVE. Kirkland 2566

Dorchester, 2-Family, $4800
10 rooms, steam heaters, hard wood floors, open plumbing, baths, newly painted and painted, $150 cash, balance bank mortgage, payable as rent. Morna, 74 Isbel road.

South Boston Single, $1800
$300 down and balance easy monthly payments, 6 rooms, electricity and tub. In good condition. Very convenient location. Morna, Talbot 1400.

DORCHESTER TWO FAMILY $4800
$500 cash and small monthly payments pay for this modern home. Finish Pine floors, open plumbing, tiled bath, steam heat, open plumbing, baths. Owner, 74 Isbel road. Morna, Talbot 1400.

Buy DIRECT from builder ● Brand new 6rm. house ● garage ● Porch or Gil ● $7,900 Easy ● 316 Ashmont, Dor. Near Neponset Circle. Open Sunday 2 to 5 P. M. Take Ashmont car to Neponset Circle, walk 1 block to Ashmont. Or Neponset bus to Ashmont. Or Neponset bus to Ashmont. Or Neponset bus

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1935

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION BY MORE THAN 80,000

Our Natural Market

Latin-American Nations

THE threat of a new European war has helped thoughtful Americans to perceive in sharper perspective the authentic economic destiny of the United States.

Obviously it does not lie in reliance on trade with Europe, which is our natural competitor rather than our logical customer.

Furthermore, with Europe defaulting on the ten thousand million dollar war debt, there is no incentive for supplying additional credit to bolster up trade with nations which dishonor their debts.

Gradually these fundamental facts were delineating themselves in the American business consciousness.

But it took the impact of the neutrality resolution and the new war threat to jolt the public into a full realization of the changing world set-up.

It is now apparent that economic and political forces are at work which will tend to separate the world into natural trading areas.

To a large measure, this new trend spells more or less economic self-containment for a great and variegated country, such as the United States.

But it indicates only a tendency in this direction.

THE great raw material producing countries of Latin America will be able to pay for our manufactured goods by shipping to us non-competitive products of the farm and mine.

Historically, these Latin-American countries have not yet gone so far in the direction of self-containment as Europe, and until they develop full economic independence we can find a rich market in their midst by supplying the essentials which they still lack.

And in doing so we should not shut our eyes to the efforts there, as elsewhere in the world, to develop a balanced economy, and ultimately attain freedom from dependence on foreign sources of supply.

But until they go through an intensive period of development, Latin-American countries offer the best outlet in the world today for the surplus products of American industry.

Mounting Taxes

Liming Sounds Warning

GENERAL SECRETARY M. D. LIMING of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, addressing a body of Boston high school students this week, voiced a needed warning.

He pointed to this city's having earned a glorious record for "enterprise and business common sense."

Mr. Liming predicted continued maintenance of our proud position "unless the present generation forsakes the ways that made this community great and chooses policies that not only discourage new enterprises, but which tend to drive away those we already have."

He referred to the rising tide of taxation.

"Commerce and industry are forced by necessity to avoid places where it is unnecessarily costly to carry on," warned Mr. Liming.

This should tend to stimulate the campaign to get MORE OUT OF THE TAX DOLLAR instead of trying for more tax dollars.

And the beginning is to take the deadwood and waste out of government, particularly by ELIMINATING USELESS AND OBSOLETE DUPLICATIONS OF PUBLIC OFFICES.

Education Helpful

In War on Crime

President Arthur A. Hauck of the University of Maine rightly pointed out at the Maine Teachers' Association's Bangor convention that education is a powerful factor in arousing the public from indifference toward crime.

Dr. Hauck called for emphasis in "character education."

He cited the fact that, before the Hoover G-men got into action, gangsters were extracting an estimated three billion dollars annually from American business.

"This is more than it costs to maintain the school system of the country for a year," declared Dr. Hauck.

"Tax dollars that go into education mean fewer dollars for the detection, prosecution and care of delinquents."

Education is a powerful factor in helping young people to win success.

Crime's recruits are mostly from the ranks of those who fail to follow the ideals and guidance of our public school system.

Terrorism's Victim

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

"And Among the Victims Was a Little Child."—Police Report.

Marasco, Milwaukee cartoonist, shows here the result of that city's terror siege. The broken body of a little girl, Patricia Mylnarek, 9, shows what happens when twisted minds plot death by bombings. Hugh Rutkowski, Red disciple, and Paul Chavanek, his chum, also died in the blast of one of Rutkowski's bombs.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

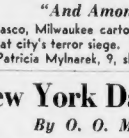
New York, Nov. 6—The newspaper crowd is mighty proud of the showing of a member of its gang, Ford Frick, as head man of the National League. His days as a Denver reporter are not far behind, yet he has shown an executive seasoning that surprises even his boosters.



O. O. McIntyre

Despite his years, he has proved he can display proper dignity and firmness at a gin-scrapped desk. Yet after sundown can take his porringer and eat supper with the boys. He has ironed out rough places with the ease of a born diplomat.

His experience on the radio has resulted in some of the most neatly turned speeches ever heard at luncheon or dinner hereabout.

His exuberance might give the impression that life melts in his mouth like butter, but when he has to face an issue he displays another side. Quite gritty.

He indulges the familiar rigamarole, forming committees, listening to pleas, offering a timid word now and then.

But when it comes to a showdown he is out there like a ringmaster, cracking the whip and adding perhaps a few last minute touches authenically Caesarish.

---

I dropped in to see two sisters at one of the restaurants depicting the Gay '90 mode not long ago. Years ago they became a symbol of the worst possible performance on the stage and there were legends they had to appear behind screens to protect them from hurled fruit.

Now almost creaking with years, they were still on the receiving end for hoots and jeers. Somehow a wrench. Not the awfulness of their outdated act, but that humanity could be so derisory to such half-tone lives.

---

There's a sadistic touch to almost every crowd watching the despair of failure. It even pops up when finished stars boot their lines at first nights. In Cincinnati one Sunday matinee Elbert Hubbard began his first vaudeville engagement. He was facing an audience craving red nosed and baggy pantaloned comics, jugglers, cross-fire patter teams and such.

His appearance suggested Lord Oxford at a levee shindig. And he scarcely opened his mouth when the house fomented the crudest demonstration I ever saw. And he had to walk off, crushed.

---

The toughest audiences in flush vaudeville days were not at the ace houses. The Palace and Hammerstein's—but at the uptown Colonial on Broadway in the 60's now a movie. The gallery filled with hoodlums from Hell's Kitchen. Even such finished performers as Frank Tinney and George Jessel were bombarded there.

The one act always sure fire at the Colonial was Maggie Cline, yowling, "Throw 'Em Down McCloskey." Jim and Bonnie Thornton were high favorites, too. But poor Harry Lauder. He could never make the grade there.

---

Along that Pomader Walk of lay-off actors near the Somerset the other afternoon there developed of all places—a religious argument. The controversy was attaining a red-faced fury when one of the arguers called to a listener on the sidelines to support one of his claims.

"What's you religion?" he was asked. He replied: "I'm just a bass singer."

And moved quickly down the street.

---

Morris Gest has again tossed his battered and fuzzy black Fedora in the producing ring. He has been ranging the Riatios of Europe and picked up a play or so upon which he pins Alpine hopes. No one has mounted the upper slopes or descended the valleys of theatricals so dramatically.

He is the embodiment of a transition period—the last of the old-time showmen who knows every phase of the theater from selling sidewalk tickets to taking a curtain bow for a first night triumph. And now wonders what!

---

Moniker maneuvers: Joe Santley and Ivy Sawyer, musical comedy team of happy memory, had the inspiration for the naming of the newest little stranger to their household. He has been christened Tom Sawyer Santley.

---

George Schneck tells the story of the roaming mountaineer stumbling upon a group of surveyors pausing beside a shady spring for a midday lunch. Looking them over carefully he let go a spray of amber and drawled:

"Which one you boys adoin,' nooning a little?"

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

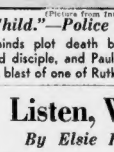
LIFE DOESN'T RUN IN PLOTS

The trouble with most of us Americans is—WE THINK LIFE'S GOING TO RUN LIKE A PLOT, WITH ONE A MAZING ADVEN TURE LEADING INTO ANOTHER, AND A THRILLING ENDING CAPPING IT ALL.

It's natural, perhaps, that we should feel that way. We're still so young. The claim our of our dramatic beginning yet hangs about us—blinding us to reality.



Elsie Robinson

Life, for us, is supposed to be a Success Story.

And this alluring notion is reflected in our movie thrillers, magazine tales, popular fiction, and even in our ads, with their dazzling rewards for beauty and grim penalties for ugliness.

LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

So, naturally, we expect our private lives to unfold like seven-reel thrillers and, conscious or unconsciously, we shape our acts toward that end.

Nor are these melodramatic expectations confined to romantic ushertettes, palpitating school girls, or marcelled young gentlemen in the shipping department.

Many a grim-jowled bank president and overstuffed Lady Chairman toy coyly with day dreams that might serve as musical comedy themes.

And, on their death beds, still secretly await the Fairy Prince or the Armored Knight.

America—the land of opportunity? Yes—but we don't want opportunity. We want fairy tales Aladdin's Caves and Cinderella Slippers—and we won't play unless and until we get 'em!

So the grocer's daughter rejects the butcher's son because she's waiting for the Prince on the coal black charger to claim her for his own—provided, of course, she doesn't gum up her chances by getting halitosis or dishwater hands.

CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE

And the college graduate turns down a job at the service station because he's heard of some young fellow that stepped right into a diplomatic post by being handy when an extra was needed at bridge.

And thousands of others plug dreamily through their days, and die embittered because they've always been expecting "something to turn up"...always been sure that "things would come out right in the end"...as happens to every well organized fairy tale.

But life isn't a well organized fairy tale.

There are no dramatic plots to life. No nicely-planned continuity—dramatic crises—happy finales.

Nothing is ever finished off tidily in life. Nothing is ever perfectly explained nor settled. There isn't even a definite beginning or an ending.

Life is a continuous performance . . . messy and mysterious . . . without understandable plan or purpose. And we humans are plunked down in the midst of it, to sink or swim, according to our own efforts.

A tragic prospect, yes — if you're a case of arrested development, sappy and spineless, lacking gall or gumption. But a passionate and enormously profitable adventure if you have the courage to grow up and face reality as a grown up should.

HOW TO LIVE

Taking life as it comes and people as they are—without trying to fit either of them into some pre-conceived, childish picture—

Accepting untidiness, uncertainty, loneliness and risk as you'd face the lush and careless abandon of some jungle trail—or the vast, star-set immensity of some gypsy camp—

Loving life for what it is and not for what you'll get out of it.

Living each present moment up to the hilt, regardless of past or future—

Above all, going on when you're called, without looking back . . . and stopping when you must, without whining—

That's one live life like that, then believe me, partner—you won't waste your time dreaming of an Aladdin's Cave—FOR EACH DAY WILL BE ONE.

'Dear Govt.' -:- By Winston Norman

BRAINS DEPT.
The New Deal,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Brains Dept.:

My Next Door Neighbor says that the Govt. is like his wife, full of ideas that make him sick. We was having a Fireside Chat over the fence, and he says:

"Well, I see where the Govt. has went in the Ferry Tail Business, they claim they are going to save the Taxpayer's money for a change."

That give me a shock, because saving money looked Radical and Anti-New Deal, so I says:

"But good gracious, I thought the New Deal was crazy to spend money for their country."

"They are," says my neighbor, "but they are also crazy to save money & borow it, which makes them crazy 3 ways at once."

I asked my Neighbor why his wife was like the Govt, and he says:

"Because she is a Boon-dogger from way back. She blew our Family Budget on a fur coat today, and then she came home and says, We are having beans to-night darling, I want to economize."

I told my Neighbor he hadn't ought to moan about his wife and the Govt, he ought to set down & think up Plans to help them out.

He thunk a minnit and says:

"Alright, here is a Plan. Why don't the Govt. save money by fireing Congress and hiring you instead? Congress don't do nothing but vote 'Yes,' and with a mouth like you got, you could 'yes' Mr. Roosevelt louder than 531 Congressmen."

I asked my Neighbor how much that would save the Govt, & he says,

"Well, you are worth about $2 per day, but Congress is costing us $5,310,000 in Wages every year, so figger it out for yourself."

I seen where his Plan was good, and I would be glad to vote "Yes" for $2 per day.

That way the U. S. People would get an even cheaper Govt than they been haveing to date, because if you will just study the figgers on our Congressmen, you will see where they are about the most expensive thing that isn't doing the American People no good. Yours very truly,

W. NORMAN.

Daily Bible Text: "Let all things be done with charity."—I Corinthians 16:14.
Suggested by the Rev. Albert Jackson, Methodist Church, Acushnet.

Believers in Prayer

Human Side of the News

By Edwin C. Hill

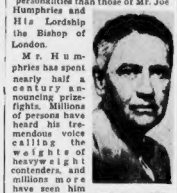
THE GLOBE TROTTER OF HEARST METROTONE NEWS

I doubt if there could be a more arresting juxtaposition of personalities than those of Mr. Joe Humphries and His Lordship the Bishop of London.



Edwin C. Hill

Mr. Humphries has spent nearly half a century announcing prize-fights. Millions of persons have heard his tremendous voice calling the weights of heavyweight contenders, and millions more have seen him lifting the right arm of the victor.

He has been associated by force of circumstance with rough and salty characters. He has seen much of the seedy side of life and kept himself without a decent and honorable fellow.

The Bishop of London has spent his half century of labor in interpreting to humanity the goodness of God. A tranquil, gentle, elderly ecclesiastic, far removed, indeed, from the turbulence of the mob.

Yet, Humphries, the prize-fight announcer, and the benign bishop have this in common: they both believe in the all-powerful efficacy of prayer.

A little more than eight years ago there was a championship prize-fight in one of the vast New York baseball stadiums.

The preliminaries were over and done with. Some sixty thousand fight fans tensely waited the appearance of the two principal antagonists.

There was the usual huddle in the center of the ring. The conference of referee, seconds and principals. The bell was due to clang for the beginning of Round 1.

Suddenly Joe Humphries threw up a hand and blared out a far-carrying demand for silence. He got it.

PRAYER FOR LINDBERGH

In a voice shaking with emotion, he reminded that vast assemblage that a young man named Charles A. Lindbergh was somewhere in the darkness of the night far out over the Atlantic Ocean, flying his plane, the Spirit of St. Louis, toward Paris.

"I ask you," shouted Joe Humphries, "to pause one minute in silent prayer for the safety and success of Charles Lindbergh."

For one minute utter silence succeeded the bedlam of a New York open-air fight group. I don't know how many in that 60,000 or so actually murmured or thought a prayer, but there is no question but that the spirit of prayer fell like a mantle over this prize fight group.

And we were to learn in succeeding days that this remarkable episode was typical of 10,000 public gatherings throughout the United States. Ten thousand public gatherings, and I dare say a million private ones.

I have heard some very hard-boiled gentlemen assert that it was not so much the wings of his stout little plane, or the fortunate chances of weather, or his skill which set Charles Lindbergh down safely at the flying field in France, as it was the prayers of all America.

I recall this decidedly thrilling episode, because I read that the Bishop of London has just said that there is only one way to assure the peace of the world, and that is by the sincere prayers of all humanity.

If the Christian will pray to his Christ, the Jew to his Hebraic Jehovah, the Mohammedan to his Mosiemic Allah, then, in the faith of the bishop, nations will cease their bickering; ancient antagonisms will be eased; a finer, sweeter spirit will descend from on high and the ideal of permanent world peace would be assured.

Who with any faith in a Supreme Being could actually doubt it? After all, man gets about what he asks for. One is almost driven to the conclusion that he doesn't want peace ardently enough to plead for it en masse. Some such idea is in the mind of the bishop.

In a recent communication to the Sunday Chronicle of London, he says that the history of mankind reveals that man has always prayed.

Some of the oldest discoveries in the world are broken-down altars which were created to unknown gods—some being whom man considered superior to himself.

The bishop finds, after a lifetime of observation, that in every human heart is an instinct for prayer.

Foes of Constitution

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, Jr.

There are no American students now touring the British Isles attempting to convince British students in schools, colleges and universities that they ought to abandon their system of government and establish in its place the American system.

But a group of English students has recently arrived in this country to advocate the superiority of the British system of government to the American system. In justice to the visitors, however, it should be said that this extraordinary expedition is not sponsored by the government or people of Great Britain.

It is sponsored by an organization operating under the name of the National Students' Federation. This is an organization which is apparently closely affiliated with the so-called "Student League for Industrial Democracy," and "The American Youth Congress," and "The National Student League" and "The Committee on Militarism in Education."

These organizations are apparently disseminating propaganda among American schools, colleges and universities which is intensely hostile to the American system of government.

This propaganda includes the notorious "slackers' oath," by the terms of which its signers pledge themselves "to refuse to go to the defense of the government of the United States" even when the country is attacked by a foreign foe.

These organizations backed by a group of radicals in politics, are waging war on the American system of training with the Colors which George Washington recommended, Abraham Lincoln inaugurated and every President and Congress since his time has strongly supported.

The English students, although sponsored by these same agencies as the Common Defense in particular and the American system of government in general, have not included the Common Defense in the list of subjects open for debate.

But the list of subjects reveals the anti-American purpose which the debaters have been apparently scheduled to serve.

The students from Oxford University, England, will uphold the following contentions:

First: That "The Judiciary should have no power to override the decisions of the Executive and the Legislature."

Second: That "Unemployment is a national responsibility"—that is to say a responsibility in which the sole and local governments have no share.

Third: That "A written constitution is a hindrance rather than a safeguard to social progress."

The apparent purpose of staging a debate in American colleges and universities on the last mentioned subject is to discredit American newspapers in the eyes of the American people and especially those newspapers which are loyal in their editorial beliefs to the American system of government and daily commend its advantages for the American type of democracy as against the alien system, be it British, German, Italian, Russian, Japanese or Hottentot.

In justice to the British people in general, and their college students in particular, they have not yet attempted "to undermine what cannot be directly overthrown" in their system of government by sponsoring an alien invasion and offering them the British system of government as a free target for attack.

Young Man's Conceit

By WINIFRED BLACK

The young man who has just come to town from somewhere else has two phobias. He hates the town and he thinks women are nothing but poor, inferior creatures who must be kept in their places. He airs these views every time he gets a chance, and he just can't see why he is unpopular.

He is looking for a job, too. And hasn't the faintest idea that he won't get one.

He doesn't seem to have the faintest idea that every time he opens his mouth he makes an enemy. Where on earth do they get their good opinions of themselves, these poor, misguided creatures who think they can get through the world without friends?

Everything everyone else does is a botch. He, himself and his work, of course, are perfect. He is a bit of a joke, isn't he?

Only I can't laugh when I hear him telling about how inferior women are. Inferior to him, I suppose, he means, poor soul!

The mother of this young gentleman has five times the brains in her little finger than he ever will have in his whole body. She is attractive, charming, and she fills her life with service to him and his brothers and sisters when she could have been accepting invitations from several well-known and not unattractive gentlemen of fortune.

But the cub doesn't think much of women. So he sits up in the presence of his devoted mother and says as every time he gets a chance, and lots of times when he really hasn't any chance at all.

What on earth can a clever woman like that be thinking of to allow a creature like that to offend every one of her friends and never lift a finger to interfere? She is bringing up a pretty bad husband for some unfortunate girl, isn't she?

Copyright, 1935, King Features Synd., Inc.

Isn't It So?

Despise your enemy and you may soon be beaten.

Compliments cost nothing, yet many pay dear for them.

He that does not ask, will never get a bargain.

You shouldn't keep your holidays before they arrive.

Words of Wise

It is much easier to be critical than correct.—Disraeli.

Wise men hold their tongues in dangerous times and see results.—John Seiden.

How much folly there is in human affairs!—Franklin Pierce.

No sound is sweeter than the sound of praise.—Xenephon.

The typewriter has done more for women of this generation than the ballot ever will accomplish.—Helen M. Moody.

Love and death are the two great hinges on which human sympathy turns.—S. R. Hayden.